Rev. Mr. Sanderson of Almonte Tells What Befell Him Within the Gates of the Wicked City of Syracuse—Church Court of Enquiry Will be Appointed at Once.

Smith's Falls, Aug. 23.—Both Rev. D. Cook Sanderson of Almonte and Rev. Foster McAmmond of Perth, are here to-day to attend the financial meeting of the Methodists of this district. Their names have been connected with a story from Syracuse, and their many friends are anxiously and confidently awaiting their explanation.

In interviews to-day the two gentlemen concerned acknowledged that they had a bitter experience, but positively deny that they did any wrong intentionally.

Mr. Sanderson's Story.

Mr. Sanderson said that he was on his way to Massena, and Mr. McAmmond to Kingston, N.Y. They met and journeyed together to Syracuse, and put up at a hotel there on Tuesday night. They went to bed in good time that night, but found their room too hot to stay in, and, after opening up the windows, they went downstairs again and out for a walk.

When only a short distance from the hotel Sanderson says they became separated, Mr. McAmmond stepping down a side street for a minute.

Took Some Candy.

Just then two well-dressed men came up to him and asked him where a certain hotel was. Mr. Sanderson told them he was a stranger and did not know. He says that one of them then produced some candy and offered him some. It was done in an off-hand manner, he says, and he took it. They then asked him to go with them for a glass of ginger ale, and he consented.

From that time he did not know what took place. After a while the discovered that his gold watch was gone. The two men were yet with him, and pretty soon they stood him up against a door of a house and told him he would get his watch inside. He rapped on the door and got in some way, altho he was only dimly conscious of what he was doing, and found himself among a number of the demi-monde of Syracuse.

Wanted His Watch.

He demanded his watch, but one of the girls told him it was not there. This was about 2 o'clock in the morning. He says he was drugged and left there. He found a young man in the house or passing the house, and he sent him down to the hotel for his friend, Mr. McAmmond. Mr. McAmmond went up to the house, where Mr. Sanderson was still waiting, and together they went to the police office to report the case.

Strange to say, the inspector insisted on detaining Mr. Sanderson on a charge of being intoxicated, and despite all that he and his friend could do he was put in the cells for the rest of the night. They both protested and told the inspector who they were, but they could not move him, and down Mr. Sanderson had to go. The woman Pearl Ashley was also sent for and put under arrest. The next morning the woman in her evidence charged both Mr. Sanderson and Mr. McAmmond with having been at her house on Tuesday afternoon and again that night, and with acting most disorderly.

They both denied her story, and Mr. Sanderson was allowed to go, the inspector in the meantime having telegraphed to Perth and Almonte to ascertain if they were known. They both left the wicked city by the first train, and started for home, both of them very much chagrined and dejected. They came here to the district meeting to-day to deny the meaning put upon their experience, and to ask for an immediate investigation.

They admit having registered under assumed names, but, while that looks bad, they say it was done in a spirit of fun, and arose out of a standing joke between them. Mr. McAmmond looks a good deal like a priest, and several times on the journey had been called "Father." When they got to the hotel Mr. McAmmond did the registering, and put down the name that Mr. Sanderson had jokingly called him, and at the same time put down a fictitious one for Mr. Sanderson. The latter saw it, and says he laughed and thought no more about it.

Inquiry to Be Held.

The matter did not come before the district meeting to-day officially, tho it was the sole topic of conversation among the members. The district meeting has no power to investigate such matters. The chairman of the district, however, the Rev. Mr. Pitcher, states that, as both gentlemen have asked for a full investigation, he has decided it wise to hold one as soon as the necessary formalities can be gone thru with.

NECESSARY PROCEDURE.

The formalities to be gone thru are: The chairman of the district will select five ministers under his charge, and constitute them a committtee of investigation, to take evidence and report. They will be empowered to go even to Syracuse to obtain the necessary facts. When the case has been fully sifted, the chairman of the district will, before the district meeting, formally arraign the ministers for alleged indecorous conduct, and the meeting will proceed to try the accused and pass sentence. The ministers may appeal to the Conference, in which case the Conference's decision will be final.

The pulpits of Rev. C. Sanderson and Rev. Foster McAmmond will not be filled

ISLANDER'S DEAD BROUGHT TO PORT PITIFUL SCENES ATTENDED LANDING

Total Loss Placed by Purser at Forty—Only Nineteen Bodies Have Been Recovered—Inquest at Juneau Renders Verdict That No One Can Be Blamed for the Disaster.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—With her flags at half mast and the caskets of some of the dead of the Islander disaster on her decks, the C.P.R. steamer Hating returned from the north to-day. She was met by over five hundred people, altho there had been no warning of her coming. The scenes attendant to the landing of the bodies were pitiful. As one after another of the five caskets were carried ashore there were plaintive cries from the assembled relatives as they hurried forward to claim their dead.

GOVERNOR'S SAD JOURNEY.

Governor J. H. Ross, administrator of the Yukon, who started from Dawson as soon as the wires told him the dreadful news from Skaguay, arrived by the steamer accompanying the remains of his wife, her niece and child. Their bodies, together with those of the late Captain Foot, master of the lost vessel, Dr. John A. Duncan and Mrs. Minnie Ross, were brought to Victoria. It is not known whether the remains of Mrs. Ross and family will be taken east, for it is understood that the parents of the dead lady here desire that they be interred locally.

Purser Bishop places the death list at 40, made up as follows:

DEAD.

Passengers: E. D. Mills, Mrs. Dr. Phillips and Dorothy Phillips, J. W. Bell, Dr. Duncan, Miss Kate Larkin, Mrs. Minnie Ross, A. W. Jerry, J. Dahl, M. J. Brocelen, Mrs. Nickerson, Mrs. Ross and child, Andrew Keating, a millionaire, and his son, Arthur Keating, F. R. Douglas, F. Rekate, Mrs. J. C. Henderson, H. T. Rogers, William Meadows, N. Caspar, Louisa McKay.

Crew: Capt. Foote, H. Fowler, Miles Jock, Claude Burkholder, H. Porter, Norman Law, S. J. Pills, George Allan, A. Kendall, P. Burke, James Hatch, James Baird, E. Miles, cool passer, name unknown, and three Chinese.

BODIES RECOVERED.

The following bodies were recovered: Miss Kate Larkin, H. T. Rogers, Mrs. J. H. Ross and child, Dr. Duncan, Dorothy Phillips, Mrs. Minnie Ross, Joseph Dahl, two passengers, name unknown; A. W. Jerry or Jorg, Thomas Brocelen, Alf Kendall, S. J. Pitts, Ah Yet, Chinaman, Miles Jock, Hugh Porter, P. Burke, Capt. Foot.

These make 19 out of 40 lost; 21 bodies are still missing.

BODIES BURIED.

The following bodies were buried last Saturday at Juneau: J. Dahl, passenger; T. Rogers, passenger; Miss Kate Larkin, passenger; an unknown passenger; S. J. Pitts, cook; A. Kendall, waiter; H. Porter, coal passer; Chinese boy, helper. On Sunday one unknown passenger and Burke, the oiler, were buried. These were first recovered and hence could not be kept longer.

George McL. Brown, executive agent of the C.P.R., said to-day that the bodies of the victims buried in Juneau would be brought down to Victoria as soon as arrangements can be made. The recovery of the remains immediately after the accident necessitated their temporary burial at Juneau.

LOOTED BY INDIANS.

Some of the bodies recovered at Juneau have been looted by Indians, who had been seen paddling amongst the wreckage and purloining any valuables they could lay their hands on. The United States marshall at Juneau has gone in pursuit of the Indians to endeavor to capture those charged with looting them.

COULD BLAME NO ONE.

An inquest was held at Juneau on the body of Dr. Duncan and the following verdict was rendered:

"We, the jury, empanelled, and sworn in the matter of the inquest upon the body of Dr. J. A. Duncan, deceased, find that he came to his death on Aug. 15, 1901, by wreck of steamship Islander, and by evidence produced, we find that we can blame no one for the accident.

Signed, J. J. Beaty, foreman; John Ols, J. C. Davies, C. Goldstein, J. L. Osborne, R. P. Nelson.

On the northbound steamer a representative of the C.P.R. and Lloyds agent will go up to take into consideration the question of salving the Islander.

LORD SALISBURY WILL ABDICATE IN FAVOR OF DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE

England's Prime Minister Said to be Piqued at the War Policy—His Rumored Action Considered a Severe Blow to Ambitions of Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—The North American's London correspondent cables: Britishers, aristocratic and "common," are excited by a vigorous and apparently well-founded rumor that the Marquis of Salisbury, Prime Minister of England, will retire from his office and political life prior to the reassembling of Parliament in January. He will be succeeded by the Duke of Devonshire, and this in itself will be a bitter blow to the ambitions of Joseph Chamberlain, whose whole scheme of political activity has had for its goal the Premiership.

Chamberlain was Gladstone's Judas. He played a similar role to the Liberal party. He threw over the Radicals with whom he first affiliated. As far as a non-military man could, he has tried to be "the man on horseback," but it would seem now as if his great ambition would fall short of its full fruition.

Duke of Devonshire Popular.

The Duke of Devonshire is immensely popular. As the Marquis of Hartington he was Gladstone's right-hand man, but he broke away from that great leader on the question of giving Home Rule to Ireland, and has since been a guiding force of the Liberal Unionist party, which has out-Toried the Tories in its jingoism. His wife is one of the most brilliant women in England, and has long been acknowledged the leader of nobiliary society.

Lord Salisbury's retirement will be attributed to failing health, but it will really be due to chagrin over the prolongation of the Boer war, and to disagreements with Chamberlain and Balfour. He has tacity consented to the stringent measures adopted in South Africa, but he has been an inactive quantity in their consideration and execution.

This representative of the historic house of Cecil may be too proud to be jealous, but there can be no questioning the fact that he has for some years looked with disapproval on what he considers the unwise activity of the younger element in British political leadership. He believes that this activity is inimical to the best interests of the Empire and opposed to all the traditions of the Conservative party.

Thinks Chamberlain a Plebeian.

He dislikes Chamberlain, whom he looks upon as a plebeian who has risen to power by what Americans would call "gall." Salsbury has a certain aristocratic modesty. Chamberlain is noted for a habit of "butting in" to departments of the government that do not immediately concern him. He has more than once tried to usurp the functions of Premier. His "butting in" habit would entitle him to the designation of political goat. Salisbury is friendly to the Duke of Devonshire and will abdicate in his favor. He will leave no stone unturned to keep Chamberlain from absolute control in Downing-street.

No Sympathy.

It is an odd fact that King Edward, who, when Prince of Wales, was intimate and at home with Gladstone, has no sympathy with Salisbury. The cause of this may be traced to his attempted tutorship of Edward in the ways of morality. Queen Victoria did not like some of her eldest son's convivial exploits and made Salisbury her ambassador to influence the Prince's well-doing. The Marquis got snubs for his pains, and the snubs have carried added interest since the Prince became King.

The Tory party will be in power for many years, and this change in the Premiership may mean much to the future of England.

FINAL BLUFF FOR TURKEY.

French Ambassador Asks Sultan to Pay Up, Threatening to Withdraw His Entire Staff.

BRIEFEST DELAY IS ALLOWED.

Letter in the Nature of an Ultimatum—M. Constans Given a Free Hand.

Constantinople, Aug. 23.—The French Ambassador, M. Constans, to-day sent a letter to the Sultan, personally informing him that he would leave Constantinople with the entire staff of the Embassy if the matters in dispute were not settled immediately. The letter has the nature of an ultimatum. It accords the Sultan the briefest delay within which to comply with the demands.

While the officials of the French Foreign Office decline to confirm or deny the despatch of the Associated Press from Constantinople, announcing that the French Ambassador has sent the Sultan a letter which has the nature of an ultimatum, they admit having received a telegram from M. Constans, which has been laid before the Council, now sitting at the Elysee Palace. Only three Ministers were absent. The Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau; the Minister of Agriculture, M. Dupuy, and the Minister of Public Works, M. Baudin, are absent from Paris.

The correspondent learns that M. Constans has been given a free hand. Any step he finds proper to take will be fully endorsed. The Foreign Minister, M. Delcasse, if he deems it necessary, will withdraw the French Embassy from Constantinople, and Munir Bey, the Turkish Ambassador, who is now in Switzerland, will be notified not to return to Paris, in which case Munir Bey probably will withdraw the legation to Berne, as he is also accredited as Minister to Switzerland.

No naval demonstration is yet contemplated, but the Sultan will probably be seriously inconvenienced by the closure of the Turkish Embassy here, which is the centre of the espionage maintained to watch the numerous young Turks and other disaffected Ottoman subjects and voluntary exiles, who make their headquarters in Paris, and who will have a free hand if diplomatic relations between France and Turkey are completely broken off.

It has been suggested that the French government issue orders for the bourse to cease dealing with Turkish securities. But it is not likely that this step will be taken, as it only injures the French bondholders. The entire Turkish group fell on the bourse to-day, in some cases going down 10 to 12 francs.

According to a special despatch received here from Berne, Munir Bey has already leased a villa there for the use of the Turkish Embassy.

TO BLUFF TURKEY.

Brussels, Aug. 23.—A despatch to The Petit Bleu from Vienna says: According to advices from Galatz, 20 Russian torpedo boats and several despatch boats have arrived at the Dniester Delta, and Russian troops are commencing to mobilize along the Turkish frontier.

LANDED A MONSTER FISH.

Peterboro, Aug. 23.—Mrs. David Law of Ashburnham, who was trolling near Robinson's Island yesterday, hooked a monster maskinonge, which weighed 24½ pounds, and was 3 feet 8 inches in length. She succeeded in pulling the fish into her boat, but it threw itself into the water again, and rather than run the chance of upsetting she paddled to shore, where the fish was landed and killed.

SHIPBUILDERS PROTEST.

Queen City Lodge, 128, Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, at their meeting last night passed a resolution opposing the proposition of the Cleveland syndicate to allow American-built ships to come into Canada and engage in the coastwise trade free of duty. It was pointed out that there is in Canada at present enough skilled labor and plenty of building plants to supply all the ships necessary, and the proposal of the Cleveland people was looked upon as unwarranted assurance.

WHERE IS DAVID M'GEE GONE?

Fifteen-Year-Old Daughter of A. G. McIntyre of West Queen-Street Also Missing.

BELIEVED TO HAVE ELOPED MONDAY.

Warrant Charging McGee With Abduction Sworn Out—Last Seen in Richmond Hill.

A. G. McIntyre of 509 West Queen-street is an irate father who is looking for his kinsman, far removed, David McGee, who is supposed to have eloped with McIntyre's daughter on Monday last. McGee has been charged with abduction.

The girl is 15 years of age, and McGee is 20. He is also described as "medium light complected, dark sandy and curly hair, 5 feet 9 inches."

The McIntyre girl was employed in Eaton's millinery department. Monday McGee went to the big store and saw the girl, who immediately left with him. They have not been seen since by the irate father. It is asserted they were at Richmond Hill on Monday night, and their friends believe they were married and decided to flee together. It was a real affair of the heart, those who know them say, and McGee was worried because there were strong objections to his marriage with his relative. She was far too young to "keep company," and, consequently, the love-making had to be carried on without the knowledge of the father.

Mr. McIntyre has furnished particulars of the abduction to the police, and asks his brother Oddfellows to assist him in getting his daughter back under his roof and McGee some place else.

FULL OF SMALLPOX.

District Twenty Miles From Ottawa Has Thirty-Five Cases.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—The Evening Journal says, to-night: Thirty-five cases of smallpox are reported in the St. Pierre de Wakefield district, about 20 miles from Ottawa. The patients are said to be all French people, and it is stated that the Quebec Board of Health has been notified, and will act at once to stamp out the disease.

TAYLOR'S PAPER MILLS ON FIRE.

This morning shortly after 2 o'clock a bright light over the northeastern part of the city attracted the attention of all people who were astir, and from the best reports that could be got by telephone the conflagration was at the Taylor Paper Mills up the Don Valley. Appearances indicated that the total destruction of the premises was inevitable.

BRITAIN URGED TO ACCEDE.

Glasgow, Aug. 23.—Cephas Brainerd of New York presided to-day at the session of the International Law Association. A motion was adopted urging the United States and Great Britain, who are not parties to The Hague convention dealing with reciprocal rights regarding pauper litigants, to accede thereto, and urging the formation of a bureau where the poor could obtain counsel free of charge. It was contended that such a bureau would put a stop to improper litigation.

WHOLE CONVOY CAPTURED

Eighty-Six Wagons, With Ammunition and Supplies, Much Stock and Eighteen Prisoners.

COMPLETE WIRE-TAPPING APPARATUS

Together With the Operator Brought Into the Fold—Fresh Martial Law Order.

London, Aug. 23.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, dated to-day, says:

Col. Williams, after a sharp fight, Aug. 19, captured in the vicinity of Klerksdorp, Transvaal, an entire Boer convoy of 86 wagons, loaded with ammunition and supplies, much stock, and 18 prisoners, including the Landrost of Bloemhof, and Dutoit, a telegrapher, with a complete wire-tapping apparatus.

FRESH ORDER.

Cape Town, Aug. 23.—A fresh order, proclaiming martial law, has been issued, providing for the closing of all the country stores in the Queenstown district, requiring that all goods, likely to be useful to the enemy, shall be taken to certain specified towns, and forbidding country residents to have in their possession more than a week's provisions.

CHATHAM MAN INVALIDED.

Chatham, Aug. 23.—Word has been received in Chatham that Pte. Gideon Albert Jewell, who enlisted in London with the Baden-Powell Mounted Police Force, is on his way home, having been injured in an engagement. Pte. Jewell is the son of Mrs. Jewell of Harwich Township, and has lived around Chatham all his life. Pte. Jewell was seriously wounded, and is now on his way to England, where he will enter a hospital for treatment, after which he will return to his home in Canada. Pte. Jewell was the best shot in the contingent which enlisted from London, having stood the highest in the list for target shooting while on horseback.

SAYS ENGLAND FORGETS.

Christiania, Aug. 23.—Prof. Hagerup, Prime Minister of the last Conservative Cabinet, and a great authority on international law, has published a study of the British proclamations during the Boer war. He shows that many of them are undoubtedly hostile, not only to the articles of The Hague convention, but to the principles acknowledged and embodied in a handbook published 20 years ago by the Institut de Droit Internationale.

M. Hagerup asks how England can thus openly act against principles which she has theoretically acknowledged herself, and says he finds no answer, except that the English generals' sense of the rights of war has become corrupted because of their incessant fighting of savages. Such traditions, declares the learned professor, are a danger to Europe.

TREMENDOUS FINE.

Topeka, Aug. 23.—George Klauer, a "jointist," to-day received the most severe penalty for violation of the prohibitory liquor law ever visited upon an offender during the 21 years since the constitutional amendment was adopted. Justice Disney fined Klauer $7500, sentenced him to 1350 days in jail, and placed him under $10,000 bond to appear in the District Court. He was found guilty on fifteen counts. Assistant Attorney-General Redden, who appeared for the state, will get $20 on each count, or $300, from the State Treasury.

WILLING TO BE INOCULATED.

Paris, Aug. 23.—Firmly disbelieving Dr. Koch's theory that bovine tuberculosis cannot be transmitted to human beings, Dr. Paul Garnault, one of the most eminent physicians in this city, is nevertheless willing to have the theory tested on his own body. He has written to Dr. Koch offering to allow the German expert to inoculate him with bovine bacilli, but has received no answer, and the indications are that he will be ignored.

A PRAYER.

"The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man; help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces; let cheerfulness abound with industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day; bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep. Amen."

AFFECTED THE MARKET.

London, Aug. 23.—The rumors that Charles M. Hays, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and former general manager of the Grand Trunk, is to again become general manager of the Grand Trunk had a favorable effect to-day on the stock exchange.

Visitors to Toronto will not see the city without they visit the Temple Building, the finest Cafe in America. Everything in season.

TWO BRITISH PEERS AT ODDS OVER ONE CORONATION HONOR

Earl of Ancaster and Marquis of Cholmondeley Rivals in Claim Which It Would Take Wisdom of Solomon to Decide.

New York, Aug. 23.—The Herald says: A knotty problem requires solution before King Edward VII. can be crowned. It was submitted to His Majesty some time ago, and he turned it over for the consideration of that astute body known as the Committee on Privileges, who are presumably giving it their best attention. To use a slang phrase, they have their work cut out for them.

Who is properly entitled to act as Lord Great Chamberlain at the King's coronation? There are two claimants to the privilege, or rather the right—the Earl of Ancaster and the Marquis of Cholmondeley. Both peers are joint heeditary Lord Great Chamberlains, a fact duly set forth in Burke, but at the forthcoming coronation one must take precedence of the other in attendance on the King, and thus the Committee on Privileges must establish which, so to speak, holds the seniority and is entitled to be regarded as chief.

Briefly, as summed up in The London Daily Mail, the Earl of Ancaster founds his claim on being a descendant of the defunct earldom of Oxford, while the Marquis of Cholmondeley bases his case on a marriage with the same family in 1791. Both families are very ancient and their branches are numerous. For example, few peers have had to change their mode of signature so frequently as the present Earl of Ancaster. Before the death of his father he was Mr. Gilbert Heathcote; then he succeeded as the second Baron Aveland; subsequently, on the death of his mother, he became the twenty-second Lord Willoughby de Eresby, and finally, in 1892, he developed into the Earl of Ancaster.

His lineage stretches back to the misty days when England's history had scarcely begun to be written. The lordship of Eresby was conferred by William the Conqueror.

None the less ancient or honorable is the name of Cholmondeley, altho in the eleventh century it was spelt Calmundeleigh. In the reign of Henry III. the family patronymic became de Cholmundeleigh, and it was not until the days of Henry VIII. that Sir Hugh Cholmondeley adopted the present style of spelling the name. Sir Hugh's son, who succeeded to the title in 1507, took to him a remarkable woman for wife. For 40 years he fought a lawsuit with a relative over some land, and James I. dubbed her "the bold lady of Cheshire," in recognition of the vigor with which she conducted that unprecedentedly protracted action.

The position which the two noblemen contest will be an important one at the coronation. The Lord Great Chamberlain is really the "handy man" of the occasion. Time was when he had to dress the King and serve him with water, in return for which services he received as perquisites the basins, towels, and cup of assay, forty yards of crimson velvet, the King's bed and bedding, the furniture of the bedchamber where the King slept the night previous to the ceremony, together with his wearing apparel and nightgown. But at the forthcoming coronation the Lord Great Chamberlain's duties will probably extend no further than handing the regalia to certain officers of state and making himself generally useful to the King.

A SINGLE DAY'S DEATH RECORD TWO MEN SUICIDE IN ONTARIO

Colborne Man, Thrown From a Rig, Dies in Winnipeg Hospital—Farmer Near St. Thomas Falls on a Hayfork and Succumbs to Injury.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 23.—John Bell, a laborer of this city, aged 73 years, suicided by drowning himself this morning. He had been ill for six weeks, and walked the streets during the night to relieve pain. This morning he left his home about 1 o'clock. About 6 o'clock Policeman Giles noticed a rope attached to a Grand Trunk rail, running close to the edge of the dock at the foot of Brock-street, and extending into the river. His curiosity led him to investigate, and on hauling in the rope he found the body of deceased attached to the other end, which was tied securely around his body. Deceased leaves a grown-up family. He came here from Lucknow 13 years ago.

SUICIDE NEAR OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—John Wesley Scoble of Westboro to-day committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. Scoble was about 23 years of age, married, and the father of two children. Mrs. Scoble and the children are away at Campbell's Bay, and deceased had been working as a special constable on the Canadian Pacific Railway. He returned home last night and had breakfast this morning about 9 o'clock, at the home of Mr. John Kenny, a neighbor. After breakfast Scoble went to his own house. Mr. Asa Lascelles, a friend of his, who had loaned him a revolver, went to the house later to get it, and found Scoble was upstairs. He called to him, and Scoble replied that he would be down shortly. Mr. Lascelles waited for some time before Scoble appeared and saluted Lascelles with his hand in a sort of military style and said: "I am done. I've taken carbolic acid." This said, he fell forward, and was caught by Lascelles, who summoned some of the neighbors. Every effort was made to save the unfortunate man's life, but without avail.

DROWNED AT STRATHROY.

Strathroy, Aug. 23.—Last evening, shortly after 6 o'clock, Charlie Cummings, a lad about 14 years of age, in company with Donald Brown, another lad, were in bathing in the river south of the old Scott residence, North Victoria-street. Charlie was unable to swim, and just before Brown took a dive off the springboard he noticed his companion on the bank, but on coming to the surface saw that Cummings had disappeared. It is conjectured that he fell off the bank into deep water. Every effort was made to rescue him. The alarm was given and the body was soon located and brought to the surface by John Brothers, after being in the water twenty-five minutes. Every means was tried to resuscitate him, but without avail.

TWO W. B. HAMILTONS,

The writer of the open letter addressed to Mr. Walker in yesterday's World, dealing with the banking situation, is a gentleman of that name at No. 256 Markham-street, not the gentleman of that name, head of the old boot and shoe manufacturing concern, and a director of the Bank of Commerce. It is hardly fair that the elder gentleman should be held responsible for the economic views of his nephew; or the nephew for the fact that his uncle and he are of the one name.

A VERY REMARKABLE ESCAPE

Postal Automobile Frightened a Team and the Horses Ran Over Mrs. Hamm.

THE LADY WAS RIDING A BICYCLE

Escaped the Horses' Hoofs, But a Wheel of the Wagon Went Over Her Body.

Mrs. Hamm, who resides at the corner of Brock-avenue and Shirley-street, was yesterday the victim of a runaway accident, and was rather seriously injured. Mrs. Hamm at about 11 o'clock was bicycling westward just west of Lansdowne-avenue, on Queen-street. John Foster of Mimico had left his team untied in front of the grocery at the corner of Lansdowne-avenue. The horses were startled by one of the small red postal automobiles, and started off at a gallop. Mrs. Hamm was immediately overtaken, and knocked down by the horses, one of which passed on each side of her. The wagon, which was fortunately empty, passed over the woman, the wheels bruising her very badly. The bicycle was smashed. Mrs. Hamm was carried into J. A. Austin's pharmacy, and Dr. Griffith and Dr. Hall were summoned. It was an hour before she had rallied from the shock sufficiently to be conveyed in a hack to her home. The owner of the team expressed deep regret at the accident. He agreed to pay all the expenses entailed. He explained that he was merely calling at the grocery to take up a few empty boxes, a momentary matter, or he would have fastened his horses. Mrs. Hamm sustained no fractures, but it has not yet been definitely ascertained whether or not internal injuries were caused by the wagon wheels passing over her.
