MALTREATED AND MANACLED!

Forty Europeans Held as Slaves in the Soudan—Terrible Tales of Cruelty.

CAIRO, Dec. 19.—More news of the Austrian missionaries whose arrival at Korosko, near Wady Halfa, after escaping from the hands of the Mahdists at Omdurman, was reported from here on the 14th, has been received. In an interview at Korosko after, Ohrawalder, one of the members of the Austrian-Soudan mission, who fell into the hands of the Mahdists in 1883, when Kordofan was captured, states that 40 Europeans are still held in captivity at Omdurman. These captives, he says, are kept loaded with manacles and often cruelly beaten, and are so strictly guarded that they have lost all hope of ever being able to effect an escape. The priest declares the people are tired of strife, and desire to have the Egyptian Government of the country restored. He also states that the Province of Darfur, which was formerly overrun by the Dervishes, has been deserted by them, and is infested with wild beasts.

COLD STEEL.

A Business Establishment That Merits Patronage in the Hardware Line.

The beauties of cold steel are very nicely illustrated in the window of a large store at 151 Dundas street. At this season of the year business establishments put on their very brightest face to the public, and Mr. G. McLean, the popular hardware merchant, has a fine display that suggests the excellence of his large and complete stock. "We have had a brisk trade this fall," said Mr. McLean in reply to a reporter's question. The busy appearance of the store with its throng of customers was the best confirmation of his statement. Everything that should be found in a first-class hardware house is kept at this well-known headquarters, and customers may be assured that every want in this line will be supplied to their entire satisfaction as regards quality and price. Remember the place—151 Dundas street.

APPEALS AGAINST ASSESSMENT.

The Caretaker of Queen's Park to Get $400 a Year and a Free House.

Aldermen Spencer (chairman), Ivey, Judd, Gartshore, Taylor, Mayor Taylor and Treasurer Pope attended Friday night's meeting of No. 1 Committee. This was the second last regular meeting of this year's committee. Louise Richardson asked for rebate of her husband's income tax of $10 80. He had died in June. Granted.

Roger Dart complained that two of his houses, precisely of the same value, were assessed differently—one for $800 and the other for $600. He was away at the time the Court of Revision met. Mayor Taylor explained that it was a mistake. The assessment commissioner will look into the matter and it will be dealt with at the meeting of the City Council.

The petition of the Protestant Orphans' Home Board for the usual grant was read. In 1889 the grant was $500, and in 1890 it was $300. They will be granted the same as last year.

The London Furniture Company claimed that they were wrongfully assessed for their lumber yard. The agreement between the city and the company exempted the company from taxation for ten years. They claimed that the yard was part of the plant, and that therefore they should not be assessed for it. They are assessed for $70,000 real and $25,000 personal property. Referred to the Council.

A communication from the mayor was read, recommending that the committee communicate with the Western Fair Board regarding the percentage of the salary of the caretaker of Queen's Park they were willing to pay. Capt. Porte, president of the Board, stated that they were willing to pay part of his salary. They mayor suggested that a code of duties be drafted, to which Captain Porte agreed. The chairman suggested that the caretaker be instructed that his time must be fully occupied, and that he shall carry out the orders of the engineer or the secretary of the Fair Board. It was decided that a committee of the Board and No. 1 Committee will draw up the rules. The mayor moved that his salary be $400 and a free house. Ald. Taylor moved in amendment that his salary be $300 and house rent. The motion carried.

Caroline Parkinson complained that the assessment on her property on the Hamilton road was two high. Ald. J. F. Fitzgerald stated that she was taxed for $42 and thought that half of it ought to be allowed off. She will be allowed one-third off.

J. H. McMechan complained against assessment on real property. Filed, no power.

Samuel Scott stated that he did not use the sewer pipe in front of his property and complained that he should not pay sewer rate. Filed, no power.

Appeals of M. D. Dawson, John Thompson and Geo. Atkinson against dog tax, and John Daly against statute labor tax of $2, were allowed.

Benjamin and Thomas Green complained that there was an error in their assessment. The mistake will be corrected.

Gavin Park complained that $400 had been added to his assessment without any reason. Filed, no power.

J. McCarthy appealed against income tax. He earned less than $700. Filed, no power.

The W. C. T. U. asked that taxes on Aged Women's Home on King street be remitted. Granted.

The statement of the receipts and expenses of the Seventh Band during the year was read, showing the receipts to have been greater than the disbursements by about $5.
