MISS ATKINS

I have a confession to make, one that will, I fear, damn me in the eyes of all good women (and I only hope none of their own sex are in danger of the same condemnation). Until a few days ago I had never so much as heard of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

But Providence sometimes manages to educate us, in spite of our own and our teachers' folly, and having been brought lately into business relations with that gallant corps, curiosity has led me to enquire more closely into its doings, and I should now like to make the amends honorable for my ignorance by making public the result of my enquiries.

We are pretty well accustomed now to the "male impersonators" in real civilian life, to the 'bus conductress, the ticket collectress, the milk-woman, the chauffeur, the munition workers, and the rest of them; so much so that we cannot in the least realize how surprised we should have been to meet ony one of them so little as three years ago. And you have only to extend the idea to the army, put the product into a military uniform with a proper military organization and an "A.G." department to run it, and an authorized issue of Army Form this, that and the other, and a scale of equipment with all the names written the wrong way round (such as "Guards, fire, hanging" or "Drawers, chest of, painted"), and then you have the W. A. A. C. There is already quite a bunch of Army Council Instructions setting forth the organization and the rates of pay and the rules of procedure and the rest of it, and at Devonshire House, Piccadilly, the Headquarters Staff are busy getting the various sections into operation, and every day now you may read the first appointments to the Corps in the London Gazette, between the Army Pay Department and the memoranda.

The general public, however, is not interested in details of administration. It wants to know, rather, what the women do, what are their ranks, their badges and their uniforms, and perhaps, how to join.

First as to what they do. One of the A. C. I's above referred to sets forth the "main categories of employment" under seven groups, A. Clerks, etc. B. Cooks and other domestics. C. Motor Transport Service. D. Store house - women, Tailors, Shoemakers, Bakers, etc. E. Telephone and Postal Services. F. Miscellaneous, which covers Printers, Grooms and Gardeners. G. Technical women, for R. F. C. and A.S.C. repair shops; and all these things the Corps is to do both at home and in France.

Of these categories B. & C. cover the activities of the Women's Legion which has been at work for a considerable time, and is now being absorbed into the W.A.A.C. These two categories and A and E are already working, the others are still in the incubation stage, though they may be expected to hatch out any day now.

The pay of the Corps is, as near as may be, at civilian rates, and therefore varies according to the occupation. Herein, of course, the system differs from that of the Army, where there is a uniform rate, supplemented by a varying amount of proficiency pay. Thus, a cook (who will always be supervised by a forewoman) gets £26 a year, and the forewoman £45 a year, plus board and lodging and washing in both cases. A motor car driver gets 35s a week; a gardener 26s a week, a shorthand-typist 39s 6d in London, 2s less elsewhere, board, lodging and washing having to be paid for by the employee in all cases except the domestic servants. The exclusive charge in government hotels and billets is 14s a week and the rations of meat, bread and sugar is a generous one.

The upper grades are paid £120 a year, upwards, with free quarters, and pay 15s 6d for their messing in hotels or billets. The chief appointments are those of Controller (chief, Deputy Chief, Section Assistant Section, Area, etc.). Administrator (Unit, Deputy, Assistant) and Quartermistress the appointments being denoted by badges, made up of roses and fleur de lis worn on the shoulder strap. The colored shoulder strap, which may have evoked the curiousity of the observant, denote, blue, headquarters (controllers), orange, all Administrators and Quartermistresses; red, the cookery section; claret, the mechanical; brown, the clerical; purple the miscellaneous. The next grade is that of a forewoman, whose sleeve sports a laurel leaf only. The actual uniform is by now pretty well known though many do not realize what it stands for. It is, in the case of the women (this is only the term used to cover all sections below the administrator grade), a garment known as a coat-frock, of a reddish-brown colour, with shoes, gaiters, stockings and wideawake felt hat to match, and a military pattern great-coat. The motor drivers are an exception, wearing a coat and skirt in place of the coat-frock. The corps, it is interesting to note, does not trust itself to the tender mercies of the Army Clothing Department, but receives instead a cash grant and arranges for its own supplies. There are some in the Army who wish that battalion commanders had the same discretionary power.

The administrators wear an exceedingly becoming coat and skirt of the same color, open at the neck and cut fairly full, with a shirt, soft collar and tie after the military style.

The term of service is one year or the duration of the war. To join, the recruit has simply to apply to the nearest Employment Bureau, where she will find particulars, and in due course appear before a local medical board and selection board of the W.A.A.C. As the machinery for employing her services is now in full working order she need have no fear of such vexations waits as some of the earlier recruits have had. She may enrol for home or foreign service at her pleasure, and the only restrictions are that she must be over 18 for home service, and over 20 and not the fortunate owner of a husband serving in the same theatre of war, for service overseas.

Administrators are appointed by headquarters and apply on forms to be obtained from the Chief Controller or the Area Controllers.

Only one important thing is at present lacking and that is a name. As Tommy's sisters we may call them all "Miss Atkins" though many of them are really Mrs. Somebodyelse. But we should like, when we know them better, to call them by their Christian name. What is it?

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If Peevish, Feverish and Sick, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

HUNS SEEKING SUBSTITUTES

Amsterdam, Nov. 2—(Associated Press)—Substitutes for textiles and food stuffs constituted an important feature of the recent autumn fair at Leipzig, Germany, according to the Schlesische Zeitung.

"The food stuff industry shown at the fair which might be better described as a 'substitutes industry' still is in the development stage," says the paper, "but it already has given such strong proofs of the justification of its existence that it deserves the greatest encouragement on the part of the authorities. The true value of the substitutes for tea, coffee, oil, tobacco, soup flavorings, meat extracts and vegetable soups will only be realized after the war, if the too numerous regulations are rescinded and good raw material is available.

"In the paper section there were exhibited manufactured articles which had attained a surprising degree of success. To a certain extent it was difficult to distinguish tablecloths, napkins, aprons, hat ribbons and even petticoats, for the manufacture of which paper had been chiefly employed, from similar articles made of the real material.

"The general characteristic of the Seventh War Fair was the want of goods. This was due to dearth of raw materials and shortage of labor.

Sponge Cake.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion Land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homesteader may secure an adjoining quarter-section as pre-emption. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—reside six months in each of three years after earning homestead patent and cultivate 50 acres extra. May obtain pre-emption patent as soon as homestead patent on certain conditions.

A settler after obtaining homestead patent, if he cannot secure a pre-emption, may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Holders of entries may count time of employment as farm labourers in Canada during 1917, as residence duties under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honourably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for entry at local Agency's Office (but not Sub-Agency). Discharge papers must be presented to Agent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.
