TISSOT'S GREAT PICTURES,

Illustrating the Life of Our Saviour, to Be Shown at Massey Hall.

As the time draws near for the Exhibition of Tissot pictures illustrating the Life of Our Lord Jesus Christ, the interest is becoming more extended among the people of Toronto. It has spread beyond the circles of art into that of the general public, especially as they come to understand the influences which dominated the great artist in his work, which seems to have been simply a labor of love on his part. People who have viewed the works in Europe and in America are unanimous in their praise, and those who have traveled through the Holy Land are those who most easily see the fidelity of the figures and landscapes. The characteristic of the artist very plainly runs through all his works, which will require a good deal of study in order that their beauties may be seen and understood. In New York and Philadelphia people were known to have brought their Bibles with them seemingly securing light on the various passages by appealing to the pictures.

As Tissot said: "I wanted to know the truth—to see Jesus of Nazareth as He walked and talked in His native haunts, and then to give back to the millions of my fellow Christians this real conception of the Founder of my Faith. If I spent ten years in the Holy Land, treading in the very footsteps of the Saviour, it was only that I myself might better realize all that He was, all that He did, before I gave it to the world. I had studied the Gospels until I knew them by heart, and had located as nearly as I might every act of that Divine One who came on earth to save mankind. It was necessary for me to restore the Temple of Jerusalem in order that I might place the child Jesus there. To do this properly I had to understand the Talmud of the Jews as well as the Old Testament, and examine the ruins of the ancient buildings found beneath modern Jerusalem. To understand the Life of Jesus it is requisite to grasp the civilization of the Jews of His time. All of this I have tried to put in my pictures. Over and over again I visited each sanctified spot. I wandered along the banks of the Jordan and saw the spot where John had baptized His Master. I wandered around the shores of Lake Tiberias seeking those rocks from which tradition said Christ had preached. I saw the spot where Peter's boat had been moored, and at last understood why he had 'gone up into the boat to preach,' for the shore was so level that there was no elevation from which Jesus could have spoken. Jesus has been kept too far away from the minds and hearts of men. If by my pen and pencil I have made Him more real to the millions who worship Him from afar, I have accomplished my purpose."

Arrangements are already being made for special rates for Sunday schools, etc., to view these works. The exhibition opens to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in Massey Hall, and will continue for two weeks, being open from 9.30 till 6 o'clock, and in the evenings from 7.30 to 10 o'clock. The admission, 25 cents, admits to all the pictures.

HE WANTED THE OLD TUNE.

Rev. Alfred Gandier Stopped the Choir and Asked for a Change—And All the People Sang.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 19.—Rev. Alfred Gandier, formerly of Ontario, and pastor of Fort Massey Presbyterian Church, the leading church of that denomination in the city, created a big sensation on Sunday. The choir were singing a new tune called "Gethsemane," from the Presbyterian Book of Praise, passing over the familiar music that so long has been wedded to "Rock of Ages, Cleft For Me." The end of the verse reached, Mr. Gandier raised his hand, and, turning to the choir, said "Stop! The congregation do not seem to know that. The choir will please select another and more familiar melody, so that all may unite in the singing with hearts and voices." The command was obeyed. Not a moment was lost. It was a matter of ease for them to change the tune, as the words are of the same page of the hymn book, and they at once took up the old, familiar refrain. It must have done Mr. Gandier's heart good to hear that singing when it started the second time, for it was hearty and full. The people showed their appreciation of the good old music, and everyone joined in the harmony. Now people are busy discussing Mr. Gandier's action, but a majority of the congregation approve of his act. Of course, the choir are kicking vigorously.

THE MAYOR IS A PROUD MAN

More Than Pleased With the Success That Attended the Opening Ceremonies.

PORTRAIT OF ARMOUR CADETS

Presented to the City Yesterday as a Token of Appreciation for Past Kindnesses.

The Mayor was in a very jubilant frame of mind when he reached his office yesterday morning. "I am more than delighted," he exclaimed, "at the success that has attended the opening of the new City Hall. Everything went off without a hitch, and it redounds greatly to the credit of the citizens of Toronto that, with the thousands of visitors who thronged the buildings yesterday, not a dollar's worth of damage was done."

They Have a Grievance.

Mayor Shaw received yesterday a copy of a resolution passed by the Trades and Labor Council, objecting strenuously to the reduction in number of its representatives on the Technical School Board. A letter accompanying the resolution says that a special committee has been instructed to wait upon the City Council for the purpose of prosecuting their rights.

In a letter so pitiful that it almost brought tears to His Worship's eyes when he read it, Mrs. Ellen Armitage said that she wished to bring action against the city for $5000 damages. She further set forth a list of her troubles, and, according to her story, she has been a much persecuted woman.

Ask a Hearing.

Messrs. Moir and McCaul, carpenters, who improved the old Armouries for the Dominion Cold Storage Company, write through their solicitors, Kerr, Macdonald, Davidson and Paterson, stating that the city has benefited to the extent of $600 through the work they did on the Drill Shed, and they would like to place their claim before the Board of Control. The matter, they think, can be easily settled if the architect will attend.

The president of the Wentworth Historical Society, Mr. F. W. Fearman, in a letter to the Mayor, asks for information regarding the management of public parks.

Mr. James Craig writes to say that he does not approve of granting free of charge rooms in the Civic Buildings to any society, because it would establish a precedent and encourage others to ask for similar favors. The writer further trusts that the W.C.T.U.'s application will accordingly be refused by Council.

A Paving Contract Recommended.

The Board of Control is advised by the City Engineer to give the contract for paving Grove-avenue to the Dominion Paving Company. Their figure is $3820, which was the estimated cost made by the Engineer.

Building Permits Granted.

A permit has been granted to the Blackwell Varnish and Oil Company for a two-storey factory and warehouse on the north side of Dupont-street, to cost $800. Margaret Lennox was also granted one for a two-storey brick dwelling on the corner of Metcalf and Amelia-streets, to cost $2500. J. H. Han, for improvements to No. 175 Borden-street, to cost $800, took one out, too.

More American Visitors.

At a meeting of the sub-committee of the Reception Committee re arrangements for the entertainment of the American Society of Municipal Improvements, which opens a three-days' convention here on Oct. 3. The visitors will be given a trolley ride by the Toronto Street Railway Company, and a drive around town by the City Council. Medals to commemorate the occasion will also be struck.

Showed Their Appreciation.

The Armour Cadets of Chicago, who visited Toronto last July, were more than delighted with the warmness of their reception, and to show their appreciation two members of that corps, Capt. McCreary and Sergt. Klein, journeyed to the city, and yesterday afternoon, in the Mayor's office, before a number of aldermen and citizens, they presented the City Council a handsome picture of the officers and non-commissioned officers of their corps. In making the presentation Capt. McCreary thanked the Council for the right royal manner in which they were treated during their stay here.

Mayor Shaw, in accepting it, said that everyone had a pleasant recollection of the boys' visit, and he was pleased to know that they had enjoyed themselves. Personally, he would liked to have kept them here altogether, but since that was impossible, he was gratified to know that they returned with the best wishes of Torontonians. In conclusion, His Worship thanked them again, and accepted the portrait as a token of their visit and as a memorium of goodwill.

The City Clerkship Again.

One of the aldermen at the City Hall yesterday remarked that a subtle influence that could be felt rather than seen was at work in connection with the appointment of a successor to City Clerk Blevins. If Mayor Shaw got the position, it would be necessary for Council to elect a man to fill his place for the balance of this year, and being so near election time, the deal would be fresh in the minds of the electors, and consequently the action of the aldermen would be remembered next January. In view of this, he thought they would think twice before taking any steps in the matter.

To Whom Does It Belong.

Who will be the custodian of the golden key that opened the new City Hall? Messrs. Ryrie Bros. presented it to the city, but some say it should go to Mayor Shaw. Those who are of this opinion, quote as a precedent, ex-Mayor Clarke, who became the possessor of the silver trowel that was used in laying the foundation-stone.

A special meeting of the City Council has been called for Monday.

AHEM!

When I had—ahem—completed Niagara Falls—[applause]—and had them running properly—[applause]—and had finished erecting the Rocky Mountains—[applause]—and had seen the oceans connected by rail—[applause]—it naturally devolved upon me to open Toronto's new City Hall. [Deafening applause.]

THE VANDERBILT MILLIONS

No Division Can be Made Until Alfred Returns From Far-Off Japan.

PRIVATE CHARITIES VERY LARGE.

The State and Federal Governments Will Probably Have $3,500,000 Between Them.

New York, Sept. 19.—The Herald this morning says: Cornelius Vanderbilt's vast estate must remain tied up hard and fast until Alfred Vanderbilt, his second son, can arrive home from Japan. For four weeks, therefore, the millions bequeathed by the head of the house will be legally without a master.

Until the legal formalities have been complied with William K. Vanderbilt will continue to manage the property, as he has done practicaly ever since his brother's first illness, three years ago.

The State's Tax $1,000,000.

Assuming that the estate will amount to $100,000,000, and that it is devised to the direct heirs, it will pay an inheritance tax to the State of $1,000,000, of which one per cent., or $10,000, will go to Controller Bird S. Coler, to compensate him for the cost of collection. Another tax upon the estate will be collected by the collector of internal revenue as a war tax, and will be paid into the Treasury of the United States. The law provides for a tax of 2½ per cent. on bequests of $1,000,000 or more to children of the testator, 4½ per cent. on legacies to nephews and nieces and 15 per cent. on bequests to others than blood relations.

General Government's Slice.

If the estate is $100,000,000, therefore, the Government tax will be at least $2,500,000, so that to the State and to the nation $3,500,000 will be paid before the property is divided. The sum that will actually be paid may reach $4,000,000, as the State collects 5 per cent. on collateral bequests. This will probably be the largest tax ever levied on an estate in this country.

New facts in regard to Mr. Vanderbilt's private charities, concerning which he always observed the greatest secrecy, are becoming known. Senator Depew said last night that he probably dispensed $500,000 a year in these benefactions.

DREYFUS' PARDON IS SURE.

Council of Ministers Decided Upon It Yesterday—Dreyfus Relinquishes His Appeal.

PARDON TAKES EFFECT SHORTLY

French People Took It Calmly—Belief That Dreyfus Will Be Secretly Sent Away.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The Council of Ministers to-day decided to pardon Dreyfus in principle. The pardon will take effect in a few days. Dreyfus has relinquished his appeal for a reversal of the judgment of the court-martial.

"What "In Principle" Means.

"In principle" is an idiom sometimes used in semi-official announcements of forthcoming action. It seems to have but slight bearing on the matter, except, perhaps, that it implies the fulfilment of various formalities before the pardon is actually issued, thereby qualifying the announcement of the pardon with slight tentativeness. It is not known yet whether the pardon includes amnesty.

The Pardon Actually Signed.

Up to 6 o'clock this evening the utmost calm prevailed throughout Paris. The decision of the Cabinet to pardon Dreyfus seemed to have passed unnoticed. The only remark heard was, "We expected it."

The official announcement was made in the form cabled to the Associated Press, in order to avoid demonstrations of any kind at Rennes and in Paris. But the pardon of Dreyfus was not merely imminent, but was actually signed this morning. Measures have been taken in Rennes in connection with it and it will have a good effect generally.

May Go to England.

The newspapers now publish the first semi-official announcement of the Cabinet's decision without comment.

The Journal des Debats, however, says: "We are assured that the family will receive an order for Dreyfus to leave Rennes unperceived very shortly, during the night time. The Government does not know or, in any case, does not say where Dreyfus is going."

The Journal des Debats, however, follows the foregoing with the report that Madame Dreyfus has taken a villa at Folkestone, near Dover, England. This report has been denied, but many believe Dreyfus will go to England on his release, which may take place even to-night. The result of a telephonic enquiry at Rennes this afternoon shows Dreyfus has not yet left his prison.

People Took It Calmly.

The announcement that Dreyfus was to be pardoned had already been discounted by predictions, and there was absolutely no excitement displayed anywhere along the boulevards when the newsboys ran along at about 3.15 p.m., with the first editions containing the statement that the Cabinet had decided to pardon Dreyfus. The newspapers sold quickly, but there was no rush for them upon the part of the boulevardiers.

Those who bought the papers sat down in front of the cafes and read the announcement without comment. Everyone expected it, and the decision met with no opposition.

The Droits de l'Home (Rights of Man), the Socialist organ, said: "Our task remains the same after as before the liberation of Dreyfus, to continue the campaign against all those who are responsible for the lamentable affair."

Will Be Spirited Away.

It is said that Dreyfus will be sent abroad before the promulgation of his pardon, in order to avoid demonstrations.

There is much remark here on the strange coincidence of the death of M. Scheurer-Kestner, the first champion of Dreyfus, and to whom Dreyfus will virtually owe his freedom, on the very day the Cabinet decided to pardon him.

M. Scheurer-Kestner's death was sudden. He had been ill during the last few days, but it was not thought that his illness would prove fatal.

Rennes People Excited.

Rennes, Sept. 19.—The news that the Council of Ministers had decided to pardon Dreyfus was received here with intense excitement. Dreyfus is still a prisoner.

THE ODDFELLOWS.

Fifty Thousand Are in Detroit at the Sovereign Grand Lodge Meeting—Richmond Next Year.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—Next year's convention of the Oddfellows order will be held in Richmond, Va. The streets are bright to-day with the uniforms and regalia of Oddfellows from all parts of the country who are here attending the order's diamond jubilee. Estimates place the entire number of Oddfellows visitors in the city at 50,000. At the session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge to-day little business was done. When the call for new business was announced so many propositions were presented that all were referred to committees without reading.

The Exuberance of American People Ridiculed by the English Newspapers.

London, Sept. 19.—The English papers daily have been printing ridiculous despatches regarding the international yacht race. The Daily Mail, which a short time ago seriously announced by a New York despatch that a number of Americans had gone mad because they could not discover the Shamrock's lines, today pictures the whole of New York in an almost similar condition, saying: "We are the most emotional people in the world," and, in addition to the yacht race, Admiral Dewey's coming has made the people "frenzied with excitement."

The English people take all this literally and many unpleasant comments over our lack of control are heard.

Most of the English papers to-day have specials speaking approvingly of the Shamrock's trial yesterday, but The Times' correspondent cables that it compared favorably with the Columbia's performance under similar weather conditions.
