The Inquest at Mitchellstown.

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—At the inquest over the victims of the recent affray at Mitchellstown, Head Constable Doherty's evidence differed from the statement made by Chief Secretary Balfour in the House of Commons. IN ENGLAND THIS TIME.

A Collision on the Midland Railway in Which 24 Persons Were Killed.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A dreadful collision occurred to-day on the Midland Railway. A train filled with excursionists who were going to Doncaster to witness the races collided with another train and wrecked both.

The Midland train was standing on a crossing a mile from Doncaster while tickets were being collected, when the Liverpool express dashed into it. The guard box was smashed to atoms and the first carriage of the Liverpool train was telescoped by the next succeeding carriage and broken into splinters. It was a long time before the injured and dying, who were wedged in the ruins, could be rescued. Twenty-four persons were killed and many of the injured cannot recover. The damage was caused by defective signalling.

A FLEET OF BANKERS SAFE IN.

The Lockport Boats Ride Out all the Storms in Safety.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 16.—A Lockport despatch says that with the exception of one vessel, the schooner Ardella, Capt. Goodwin, the Lockport fleet of bankers are all in. From the time of fitting out in March until the present it has been an exceptionally stormy season on the banks. Many of the fleet passed through all the heavy gales, none escaping entirely, yet with the exception of the loss of cables and some fishing gear the vessels sustained no loss whatever.

A Strange Disease Among Cattle.

DUQUOIN, Ill., Sept. 16.—A new and strange disease is affecting cattle in this part of Illinois. Milch cows suffer most. The disease is in the eyes, some cows being reported totally blind. Some cows kept on pastures are affected.

Worse Than Was Thought.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The failure of J. Pope & Bros., the metal merchants appears to be much larger than it was first thought to be. The liabilities will probably amount to $800,000, a large part of which, it is said, is in accommodation paper. The assignee declared that the firm would pay from 75 to 100 cents on the dollar.

CHAT ACROSS THE CABLE.

The scarlet fever epidemic in London is increasing. There are now 1225 cases in the hospitals.

It is reported at Berlin that the recent mobilization experiment in France showed that the troops were unable to bear the strain of long marches.

Two brothers named Juergensen, who have resided for twenty years in America, and recently returned to their home on the Island of Fohr, have been ordered to quit Prussia.

The council of the Liberal League has invited the leaders of the Irish National League to discuss the feasibility of starting branches of the Liberal League in Ireland wherever National League branches are suppressed by the Government.

THE COMTE'S MANIFESTO.

It is Attracting a Great Deal of Attention in London.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The manifesto issued yesterday by the Comte de Paris is attracting a good deal of attention here and across the channel, where the amazing rapidity with which it was circulated all over the country is a matter of wonder in itself. Under ordinary circumstances such a document would have been puerile and futile, but with the acumen of an experienced statesman, the Comte timed its appearance, and has issued his manifesto at a moment when it will be most potent and most likely to have the desired effect on the minds of Frenchmen. Rouvier's ministry, never strong, holds now a precarious condition, and France is ready any day to hear of its downfall. To the Loyalist party it looks for support, and if this is withheld the influence of the minority in its feeble condition would speedily dissolve. In fact the Loyalists occupy much the same position in France toward the Government as the Unionists do in England. For the Government to cut loose altogether from the council of the Loyalists, and to ignore their suggestions, would be to court political death.

The appearance of the manifesto at this particular time gives an emphatic check to the exuberance of joy with which France is convulsed over the manœuvres of the Seventeenth army corps, which has successfully demonstrated the scheme of mobilization. It diverts the public mind from the absorbing satisfaction it feels in the fancied possession of an army that is now able to punish Germany, and directs it into other channels than those which lead to a desire for revenge. It, however, threatens the fall of the Rouvier ministry, which cannot openly accept the terms of the manifesto, and between the desire to retain the support of the Loyalists and its perplexity in regard to pleasing the Republican portion of France, the Government is in sore straits. The Comte's manifesto may thus have a decided influence on the minds of the fickle Gaul, and go a long way toward taking the first step in the direction of a monarchy.

The French Cabinet Will Do Its Duty.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The Republique Francaise says the manifesto of the Comte of Paris has broken the Conservative coalition, which is a piece of good fortune for the Republic. The Cabinet will not fail to do its duty if the conspirators pass from words to acts.

The Journal Des Debats, referring to the manifesto, says the Conservatives understand that the Republic is henceforth the sole government under which they can fight their cause without a sacrifice of their principles and dignity.

The Conservative papers refer to the manifesto as a prelude to vigorous action on the part of the Monarchists.

A WHALER CAST AWAY.

The Wreck of the Amethyst Discovered on a Desolate Island.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 16.—Advices received from San Francisco state that the fate of the missing whaler Amethyst is settled. The mate of the sealing schooner Angel Doty recently arrived in San Francisco and reports that while cruising near Castle Rock a wreck was discovered on the island. It was found to be the Amethyst, broken in two. Everything was in confusion in the cabin. The whaling gear was covered with rust, looking as though it had been lying there for months. The Amethyst sailed in the spring of 1886, was commanded by Capt. Cooley, and was last seen in the ice fields in June, 1886. She was supposed to have on board five of the crew of the missing bark Rainbow of this port. The crew of the Amethyst numbered thirty-eight men and their fate is still a mystery. The Amethyst was valued at $25,000.

SHOT BY A SALOONIST.

A Drive and a Few Drinks Pave the Way for a Funeral.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Sept. 16.—Charles Plank and John McCarty, aged 19 and 22, sons of respectable residents of this city, were out driving last evening and stopped at the saloon of David Hallam. A quarrel occurred between the young men and Hallam, during which the wife of Hallam was knocked down. The young men retired into the street and threw stones through a window of the saloon, Hallam being struck by one of the missiles and also by a revolver flourished by Plank, and by a club in the hands of McCarty. Hallam secured a pistol and pursued the young men, who had entered their buggy. He fired two shots. The first one struck Plank one inch above the left eye and lodged at the base of the brain; the other lodged in the left side of McCarty's neck. Plank died at 9 o'clock and McCarty cannot live.

SHE WALKED OFF A TRAIN.

The Strange Experience of a Lady Passenger on the G.T.R.

LANCASTER, Sept. 16.—At daylight this morning a lady was found lying unconscious alongside of the Grand Trunk track, about one mile east of this place, and was brought here and cared for till noon, when she recovered consciousness. It was then learned that her name was Mrs. Birrall, and that she had been a passenger on No. 4 express going west last night. She knows nothing about how she came to leave the train, and it is supposed that she arose in her sleep, walked out on to the platform and fell off. She is badly bruised and, it is feared, has sustained severe internal injuries. Her friends have been telegraphed to.

The flag-staff and gazle on the Page building fell and injured several firemen.

THE THIRD COMMISSIONER

SIR JOHN WOULD SUIT THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT.

It is the Unanimous Wish of the Members of the Canadian Cabinet That He Should Act, as it Would be in the Best Interests of the Country.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—A despatch has been forwarded to the Governor-General from Downing-street, intimating that the appointment of Sir John A. Macdonald as third commissioner would be very agreeable to Her Majesty's Government. The Premier has not yet agreed to act, but as it is the unanimous wish of the members of the Cabinet that he should, it is more than probable that he will comply. The appointment will give general satisfaction to the Canadian people, who can feel that the country's interests will not be neglected while Sir John is within gun shot of the negotiations. The joint commission will first sit at Washington, and then in all probability will adjourn to Halifax. The Premier will have the assistance of Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, and Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, both of whom have given the case a vast deal of study, the first from a legal and the latter from a historical standpoint. It has not transpired yet whether additional counsel will be employed, but it is safe to assume that no stone will be left unturned to present the Canadian case in as favorable a light as the facts warrant. A Cabinet Council meeting was held to-day, when the fisheries correspondence was, it is understood, taken up.

Mr. L. Vankoughnet, Deputy Superintendent of Indian Affairs, is going to the Northwest shortly on matters connected with the Indian Department.

The sanction of the Governor-in-Council to the transfer of the St. Martins and Upham Railway to the Central Railway Company of New Brunswick has been obtained. The former road runs from the Intercolonial at Hampton to St. Martins on the Bay of Fundy, and as part of the Central Railway will give an almost straight line from the City of Fredericton, in the centre of the province, to the sea. Mr. C. N. Skinner, who has been here in the interests of the transfer, goes east to-night.

A vote will be taken in Cornwall on Oct. 3 upon a by-law granting a bonus of $35,000 to the Ontario Pacific Railway Company, which has a charter from Cornwall to Perth. The road is to run from Cornwall through Russell, Manotic and Franktown to Perth, where it connects with the Midland Railway, which is already graded eighteen miles west of Perth. A branch will also be constructed from Russell to Ottawa. The aim of the company is to carry the road through to Sault Ste. Marie and connect with the American lines at that point. There is a Government bonus voted of $3200 per mile from Cornwall to Perth. In return for the proposed subsidy Cornwall is to have the repair shops for the roads in Perth and Ottawa, and the railway is to carry all the gravel wanted by the town at not more than 5 cents per cubic yard.

The organization of "D" Royal School of Infantry at London is not being proceeded with as rapidly as the department would wish, owing to the necessary buildings not being completed. As soon as the contractor reports the barracks ready for occupation Lieut.-Col. Smith will at once commence recruiting. It is understood that there will be no drafting from the other schools to form the nucleus of "D," but that Col. Smith will have to organize the corps from the raw material.

Mr. Josh Marmette, of the Dominion Archivists' Department, returned yesterday from Paris. He has been engaged in France for some weeks copying the records of the Marine Department bearing on Canada under the old regime. The result of his labors will be embodied in a report to the Minister.

The Fisheries Department is advised that the Lobster Commission has just concluded its labors. The secretary will at once set to work to prepare the report, which will afterwards be submitted to a final meeting of the commission for revision and then forwarded to Ottawa.

The work connected with the deepening and enlarging of the Welland Canal has been completed, with the exception of some filling on the bank, which will be finished very shortly. The Chief Engineer is now engaged in preparing the final estimate for the different contractors and also for Mr. Beemer, the contractor for the new aqueduct, whose work is about finished. This remarkable piece of work, strange as it may appear, carries the canal through and over the Chippewa River. The bottom of the canal is seven feet under the surface of the river.

The Canadian authorities have received no confirmation of the rumor that the seizures in Behring Sea are to be discontinued pending negotiations for an amicable settlement of the whole fisheries question.

Some misconception appears to prevail with reference to the action of the Department of Justice to restrain the Red River Valley Railway from trespassing on Dominion lands. The case has no connection with the question of disallowance. It is separate and distinct, protecting merely the rights of the Crown. The legal adviser of the department alleges that the Crown were only made aware of the intentions of the railway company to cross their lands towards the end of August last and authorized the step taken, as they would in any case where Federal rights were endangered.

The officials of the Department of the Interior incline to the belief that there will be unusual activity in the land branch before the next season is ushered in. The magnificent harvest which has rewarded the industry of the husbandmen of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories will line the pockets of the people, and a goodly proportion of the surplus may reasonably be expected to find it way to the land offices. Added to this the encouraging report of the success of Russian wheat in ripening several weeks earlier than the red fife, will materially enhance the value of Northwest lands.

From The Gazette.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—The Canada Gazette to-day will contain a copy of a certified copy of a report of a committee of the Privy Council, approved by the Government-in-council on July 7, 1886. The Minister of Justice, to whom the question was referred, recommends that under the authority of the ninth section of the Northwest Territories Acts, 1880 (43 Vic., chap. 26, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council of the Northwest Territories, or the Lieutenant-Governor by and with the advices of and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Northwest Territories, as the case may be, be empowered, in addition to the powers already conferred on the Lieutenant-Governor in-council, as by and with such advice and consent to make ordinances in relation to the following subjects, that is to say: 1. Direct taxation within the territory, in order to the raising of a revenue for territorial (including municipal) purposes; 2. The incorporation of companies with territorial objects with the following exceptions: (a) Such companies as cannot be incorporated by a provincial legislature; (b) Railway, tramway, steamboat, canal, transportation, telegraph and telephone companies; (c) Insurance companies.

The committee concurring in the recommendation of the Minister of Justice submits the same for His Excellency's approval.

In to-day's Gazette the Blind River Navigation Company (limited) will make application for letters patent of incorporation. They have a capital of $10,000, with headquarters at Sarnia. "NEGLECTED CHILDREN."

The Subject of an Address in New York by Mayor Howland Next Friday.

Rev. Fred. H. Wines, Secretary of the National Prison Association and Secretary of the Illinois Board of Chars. Charities, Superintendent Brockway of the Elmira, (N.Y.) Prison and other members of the association, called on Mayor Howland yesterday to bid him, and through him, the city a final farewell. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with the session, which they regarded as the most profitable ever held. The visitors and the Mayor discussed what His Worship considers to be the most important work, viz., preventive work by looking after the children and reclaiming them before they degenerate into hardened criminals.

The Mayor will go to New York on Thursday night for the purpose of delivering an address on "Neglected Children" before a convention of mission workers of the United States and Canada in the Broadway Tabernacle on Friday afternoon. He will leave for home on Friday night.

The Anti-Poverty Society.

The regular meeting of the Anti-Poverty Society was held in their rooms, 96 King-street west, last night. President Jas. E. Day was in the chair. Several new members were elected. A communication was read from Dr. McGlynn, stating that he will be unable for some time to lecture in Toronto. Encouraging reports were read regarding the progress of the campaign in New York.

Among the items bearing on the land questions read before the meeting was the fact that a lot in the city was bought about ten years ago for $17,000, and the owner recently refused $450,000 for the same.

A discussion ensued regarding the effect of commercial union on the Henry George taxation scheme. Opinions were divergent, several speakers supporting commercial union chiefly on the grounds that its adoption would lead to direct taxation, and others opposing it as likely to divert public attention from a question of greater economic importance.

President Day, Secretary S. T. Wood (135 Church street) and A. F. Jury were appointed to receive subscriptions in aid of the New York campaign.

Indian Princes in Town.

Two Indian Princes occupied the blue and red parlors at the Queen's last night. One of them is the Thakose Sahib of Linebdi, a province of Bombay, and assumes the incognito, whilst traveling, of Sir Joseal Singhsee. The Thiskose arrived yesterday morning from Ottawa, where he had been a guest at Rideau Hall, and was driven to the Queen's in Sir Alexander Campbell's carriage. In the evening he dined with Hon. Mr. Mowat. Last night the Thakose was joined by Prince Schebi, who also holds sway in Katawai. The latter also came from the east. The Indian princes were accompanied by a large retinue. They represented their countries at the Queen's jubilee celebration, and during their present tour in America have visited the principal cities. They will probably leave for Chicago to-day, and thence go to San Francisco en route to India.

The grounds can be reached by the Yonge-street and Metropolitan cars.

He was removed to his home, and at a late hour last night Mr. Brown was doing fairly well, although his injuries are considered serious. Still he is of a strong constitution and has every chance of a quick recovery.

Many have viewed the great housefurnishing depot, 179 Yonge-street, and no doubt those who have not yet availed themselves of this treat will do so, and take home with them some suitable memento, and remember where they got it. too. x

THE ANARCHISTS' APPEAL

THE DECISION OF JUDGE MAGRUDER OF THE SUPREME COURT.

A Review of the Haymarket Tragedy and the Events Leading Thereto—The Confirmation of the Finding of the Court Below.

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 16.—In rendering the decision of the Supreme Court of Illinois on the matter of the appeal of the anarchists, Judge Magruder, speaking for himself and the court, said in substance, quoting much of the testimony:

"About May 1, 1886, the workingmen of Chicago and other industrial centres were generally worked upon by outside influence and greatly excited, especially as to the eight-hour movement. In the midst of this excitement a meeting was held May 4, 1886, at the Haymarket, and it was addressed by defendants Spies, Parsons and Fielden, and while the latter was making his closing speech, at some time between 10 and 11 o'clock in the evening, several companies of policemen, numbering 180 men, marched into the crowd from their station on Desplaines-street and ordered the meeting stopped. As soon as the order was given some one threw a bomb. The plaintiffs in error are charged with being accessories before the fact. There are sixty-eight counts in the indictment and these charge the eight defendants with being present and abetting, etc., and some of them say that they advised and encouraged these lawless acts."

The court then quotes chapter 38, division 3, sections 2 and 3, Revised Statutes of the State of Illinois, and the Judge continues as follows: "If the defendants advised and encouraged, aided or abetted in the killing of the policemen, they are as guilty as if they had taken these men's lives by their own hands. If any of them stood by and saw or aided in the throwing of the fatal bomb each of the aiders and abettors is as guilty as he who did the fatal deed. It is charged that the defendants were united and had conspired to do this awful work and that their common design was fulfilled in their terrible plot, and the evidence shows that while not perhaps a combination of the same culprits there was a desire on their several parts to accomplish the same ends. The questions presented are:

"Did the defendants have a common purpose or design to murder these police?

"Did they combine for that purpose, and was the result of such combination death to men who were the guardians of the law?

"The answer is, who made the bomb that killed Degan? The bomb was round, as big as a baseball, says a credible witness, and a witness says: 'I saw the bomb and knew it was a round bomb.'"

The court follows in the description of the various bombs in use or known to anarchists and scientists, correctly mentioning four different varieties of these destructive compounds, and concluding that these, or the most deadly of them, were made by Louis Lingg, judging from what had been found in his possession and his acquaintance with William Seliger, who was a German carpenter and made his appearance in Chicago in 1885, and who seemed to be an expert in bomb making, and in April, 1886, brought to Chicago, and thence go to San Francisco en route to India.

K. Kerr, Q.C. There will be music, tennis, football, croquet, and refreshments during the afternoon. The price of admission is but 25 cents, and as the fete is given in a commendable cause the attendance ought to be large. There is every indication that the weather will be favorable. Two Ribs Broken and a Dislocated Shoulder

A runaway accident that resulted rather seriously for an elderly gentleman of about 65, Mr. Brown of 81 Seaton-street, occurred on Yonge-street, a little north of Queen, yesterday morning. A runaway horse, attached to a buggy, knocked the old gentleman down. His injuries are two broken ribs and a fracture of the right collar bone. Dr. Verner was summoned and attended to him. He was removed to his home, and at a late hour last night Mr. Brown was doing fairly well, although his injuries are considered serious. Still he is of a strong constitution and has every chance of a quick recovery.

Nearly Over.

The "Fair" is just about over and one of the best Toronto ever had, and never before was such a large number of visitors in the city. Many have viewed the great housefurnishing depot, 179 Yonge-street, and no doubt those who have not yet availed themselves of this treat will do so, and take home with them some suitable memento, and remember where they got it. too. x ings the Court was required to make, the wonder with me is that the errors were not more numerous and more serious than they were.

"In short, after having carefully examined the records and given the decision and the questions arising upon it my very best thought, with an earnest and conscientious desire to faithfully discharge my whole duty, I am fully satisfied that the conclusion reached vindicates the law and does simple justice between the prisoners and the state, and that it is fully warranted by the law with the evidence."

A CASE OF TECHNICALITIES.

The Appeal of "Dell" Seymour Against a House of Ill-Fame Conviction.

Before Judge McDougall, in the Court of General Sessions yesterday, Agnes Burns, a semi-demented woman who lives all alone in King Township, was acquitted on the charge of stealing three cheese. The woman was afterwards taken before Mr. Wingfield, J.P., and committed to the County Industrial Home at Newmarket as an indigent person.

James C. Symons, charged with the larceny of a $5 receipt, was remanded till Tuesday.

Nearly the whole of the day was occupied by the hearing of the appeal of Adelaide ("Dell") Seymour against a six months' sentence to the Mercer Reformatory, on a conviction last month by Justices of the Peace Baxter and Miller for keeping a house of ill-fame at 49 Queen-street east. Mr. N. Murphy appeared for the appellant, while County Crown Attorney Badgerow prosecuted. The chief witness was Police Inspector Stephen, who testified that on a Sunday night in August he, acting upon a search-for-liquor warrant which he had sworn out, raided the house in company with two constables. He found a King-street merchant in one room and a woman, who was understood to be married, in another room. The indications were that they had not been long at the game. He did not mention the name of the pair, and neither counsel asked for the names. He found "Dell" Seymour and another woman drinking ale in the back parlor.

Mr. Murphy, in his cross-examination, gave Inspector Stephen, a red-hot scorching. He elicited the fact that while the Inspector's sole authority was a liquor search warrant he rushed up stairs without looking for liquor. He and his men escorted the married woman out of the house and sent her home, acting "on the law of sympathy." Referring to another visit, the Inspector said that Staff-Inspector Archibold had given Miss Seymour "some good advice."

After Mr. Badgerow had finished his case, Mr. Murphy raised the objection that the two magistrates had signed the conviction as "justices for the city of Toronto," and that there was no such title, but that they were magistrates for "the County of York." He also objected that no justices of the peace can act for the Police Magistrate except in the case of the absence or the illness of him, and then only by his written request, and that when this conviction was made the Magistrate was in the city and had not made a written request. His Honor reserved the case until Tuesday and Miss Seymour was admitted to bail.

The Grand Jury returned no bills against Elijah Songer, larceny and receiving; Charles Lorell, sr., and Charles Lorell, jr., larceny and receiving; David Hastings Porter, assault. True bills, however, were returned against David Hastings Porter, Charles Porter and Edwin Langstaff, charged with the kidnapping of Harry Sylvester.
