crew saved. A barque owned by G. E. Barss, Esq. of Liverpool, also lost at the same place in the same storm —crew saved by ropes from the shore. Other wrecks are reported, but no names or other particulars have been received.

Extract of a Letter, dated Petite Riviere, Jan'y 20, 1855:—"On Thursday night or rather Friday morning last, the tide rose higher on our shore than has been known for many years. The wind blowing furiously from the S. W. at the time, caused great destruction of property to our poor people. In Petite Riviere, one of your subscribers, Mr. J. Hermann, lost from 15 to 20 cords of wood, which was on the wharf ready for exportation. A large quantity of lumber was also carried away belonging to Captain Gammage. A fish store belonging to Nicholas Wolff, Esq. was carried with all its contents clear off the wharf on which it stood, and landed in its proper position on shore. On the Islands a fine schooner belonging to Mr. Alexander Bell, went ashore where she now lies, far above the ordinary high-water mark, with her stern-post and keel badly started. His fish house and stage were also carried away, together with 40 bbls. of herring, which were lost. Several other fish-houses and stages were destroyed, and several vessels driven ashore in a creek at the Islands, where their owners had laid them up for the winter. A number of boats on the Dublin Shore have been wrecked, and the road along the shore rendered impassable in various places for carriages. The whole shore is strewn profusely with drift-wood, sea-weed, shells, &c."

Apoplexy prevented by Holloway's Pills.—Mr. A. Head, of Gibson-street, Lambeth, was subject to giddiness with heavy and drowsy feelings, his blood flew to the head at the least excitement, and he so frequently fell down insensible that it was unsafe to leave him without an attendant. His medical man told his family candidly, there was no hope for him, whereupon they dismissed him, however, Holloway's Pills cured him in two months, and he now attends to business. These Pills are equally serviceable in all disorders of the liver and stomach.
