Tim Shannahan On the Good Old Carpet Bag.

This is the age of improvements, says Delaney, everywhere you squint you behold some new idea, and we have people who lie awake half the night thinking out something new. But as we gaze on the newness around us we feel a kind o' lonely for there are many things we prized kicked overboard, and amongst them is the good old carpet bag. The bag we used when travelling, the bag we slept on when all tired out, the bag we locked so securely. But why we locked the carpet bag I know not, says Delaney, and now that I think of it, it certainly appears more than ridiculous. But when the carpet bag was locked, all hands treated it with a reverential respect that would do credit to a house placarded with a contagion poster. Of course if any one wanted to rob all that was in the bag, all they had to do was to cut the bottom and the lock would count for little. But as I said before no one stooped so low as to insult the carpet bag, so it occupied prominent positions on all our trains, travelled on the old "Curlew" and "Plover," and no one ever heard of any one who'd even dream of laying a hand on it.

Stout, fat, prosperous and bulgy was the carpet bag. You had confidence in the owner the very moment you clapped eyes on the carpet bag. Children hugged it, and awaited with bulging eyes the happy moment that the key clicked in it, for the carpet bag was ever generous and never arrived home without bringing its share of "nice things." To day the scene is changed, and the lean, mean, miserable looking "suit case" has taken the place of the carpet bag.

More fuss has been kicked up over robberies on schooners since the carpet bag has been discarded than ever before. For my own part, says Mrs. Tucker, I don't know why a few schooners, crews and all, have not been taken "holus-bolus" this fall, and considering that we have all the latest kind of alarm clocks advertised at one dollar and twenty a dozen, 'tis a wonder how the outharbormen sleep so soundly. You can't help lifting money, says Mrs. Tucker, if you go on board of a schooner this fall. 'Tis no trouble to trip over thirty or forty dollars in a vest pocket, and the man who goes asleep and leaves that temptation hanging under a light, would be disappointed if he awoke and didn't find it gone.

But to return to the carpet bag; all I have to say said Mrs. Tucker is that it gives me the cold shivers to behold a suitcase, there's 'a poverty look about it that always reminds me of the "Crash," and to tell you the truth, says she, quite solemnly, between me and you, I wouldn't trust the fellow lugging a suit case with a week's board "on tick."

The man who invented the suit case, said she, turned his collar inside out the last three days of the week, you can see his generous soul reflected in his work. The suit case, says she, is bad under any conditions, but when carried by a man with red leather on the bottom of his pants, and his neck shaved, I make tracks and take shelter behind the nearest policeman.

TIM SHANNAHAN.

PATIENTS FOR HOSPITAL.—Two women patients came down by the Portia from Fermuse to go to Hospital. One suffers from an internal disease and the other from an affection of the head. A boy who broke his arm by slipping on the ice at St. Mary's also came down for treatment.

The Curlers' Annual

As Reported in the Daily News.

Editor Evening Telegram,

Dear Sir,—I have been expecting to see some old curlers step forward and contradict that false and misleading report, but it seems no person had the thought to do so. It stated our new President was unanimously appointed, such was not the case. He only scored about 10 or 12 votes over his opponent, and I must say, Mr. Editor, the election was not in keeping with the spirit of curlers here a few years ago. It always has been the custom to appoint a first Vice President to the office of President on the retirement of a President. But what did we see at our last meeting? A few petty minded, so called curlers went all over the city canvassing against the very man who was the instigation of having our new and up to date curling rink in St. John's to-day. I am surprised and disappointed we have such small minded and ungrateful men in the Curler's Association. The other offices which were filled at the meeting clearly demonstrated the feeling that existed, as fully twenty nominees refused to run for them.

Yours truly,
NOT A SCAB CURLER.

Hundreds of Craft Fishing

We hear that hundreds of craft of various sizes are now at work fishing at Rose Blanche, and as their crews go ashore there nightly and in stormy weather, Sergt. Crane has been sent down there to do special police duty; not that the men are not law abiding, but to prevent the possibility of a disturbance of the peace.

Fish Plentiful.

By the Portia, we learn, that codfish are very plentiful at Channel, Rose Blanche and neighborhood, and of large size. Want of bait, however, has been a great impediment to success in catching it and the ship brought down from Bonne Bay a large consignment of herring for bait purposes. The fishermen believe that with this they will do exceptionally well.

Couldn't Reach Botwood for Ice.

Harvey & Co. were apprised last night by wire that the schr. Grace which left here 3 weeks ago for Botwood with a load of machinery for the A. N. D. Co. could not get there owing to ice. She is now at Twillingate awaiting orders.

MONEY STOLEN.—Two weeks ago the house of Mr. Fred Butler at Middle Bight was entered by some persons unknown and $50 in cash, a saving bank book and a lot of valuable papers including land grants. Head Dawe has been working on the case.

A HANDSOME PRESENT.— To-day Capt. Fitzpatrick and the officers and crew of the S. S. Portia presented Mr. H. A. Crossman, the Chief Steward, of the ship, with a handsome marble clock as a wedding present. Mr. Crossman's marriage took place this afternoon.

ENGAGED IN THEATRE. — Miss Kitty Ring, daughter of Mr. W. Ring, of the Lunatic Asylum, has been engaged as pianist at the Star Theatre. Miss Ring is a most accomplished musician and must certainly please the large audiences who go to this popular resort.

GOT A DRUBBING. — When the Rosalind left here going up to Montreal last trip she met the full force of the storms which prevailed here over a fortnight ago. She met a hurricane from the S.E., later veering to N.W., with thick snow, and she only averaged 6 knots per hour.

YOUNG COASTER HURT. — A young boy named Worrell of the West End, while coasting on his slide over Flower Hill last night ran into Mr. Simms's house at the bottom of the hill and was terribly cut about the face. He was taken to Mr. Channing's Drug Store where the wound was dressed.

WAS BADLY CUT. — Yesterday Const. Stamp found an inebriated man in Beck's Cove applying snow to a nasty cut over the eye in an effort to staunch the blood which flowed from it. He had received it as the result of a fall. The officer took him to the police station, where he was attended to.

SCHR. EMPIRE SAFE.—Messrs. G. M. Barr received a cablegram from Horta, the Azores, this morning, from Capt. Benson of the Empire, saying that the Empire had arrived there last night leaking badly and with most of her canvas carried away. She is 64 days out from Oporto to St. John's, and was seen by the Tobiatic and Lake Simcoe three weeks ago.

The Reid Nfld. Coy were to-day awarded the contract of making repairs to the S. S. Albenga. Though no cargo will be discharged the ship will be dry docked and quite a number of new plates will be put on the hull, while the repairs generally will be more or less extensive. This will give employment to a goodly force of mechanics and laborers.

At 10 a.m. to-day a slight fire was discovered at the residence of Mrs. Doran, on Duckworth Street East. Sparks from the stove in the kitchen ignited the wood work of the mantel piece and a report of the matter sent to the Eastern Station brought the firemen to the house. A few buckets of water extinguished the blaze. Little damage was done.

STOP—READ THIS!—And don't wait till Christmas week to order your Overcoat. We have a nice selection of Tweed and Melton Overcoatings which we make up in the very latest style from $15 to $24. Have a look at them, then you will order. SPURRELL BROS, 365 Water Street, next door to Parker & Monroe's West End Store. 'Phone 574. dec7,eod

Insurance Bill in the Lords.

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.

Lloyd George's Natural Insurance Bill pasesd the third reading in the House of Commons by 324 to 21. The Unionists for the most part abstained from voting in the explanation that the amendment moved by them while approving the objects of the bill, they considered that it had neither been adequately discussed in the House nor explained to the country. Therefore they argued further consideration should be resumed next season. The bill passed the first reading in the House of Lords yesterday.

Live and Let Live.

Shame to those who, secure in their thriving,
Yet fain would keep poorer ones down—
Those who like not the crust of the striving
To grow to a loaf like their own.
Shame to those who forever are grasping
At more than one mortal need hold;
Whose heart-strings are coiling and clasping
Round all that gives promise of gold.
Shame to those who, with eager attaining,
Are willing to take, but not give,
Whose selfishness—coldly enchanting—
Forgets it should "Live and let live."

There is room in the world for more pleasure,
If man would but learn to be just;
And regret when his fellow man's measure
Runs over with tear drops and dust.
We were sent here to help one another,
And he who neglects the behest
Disgraces the hope of his mother,
and spreadeth life's gloom o'er his breast.
And the spirit that covers unduly
Holds sin that 'tis hard to forgive;
For Religion ne'er preaches more truly
Than in the words, "Live and let live."

Floating a Republican Loan.

Special to Evening Telegram.

SHANGHAI, To-Day.

The Southern revolutionaries apparently are more than ever determined upon the effacement of the Manchu, even to the Child Emperor, as the only terms upon which peace will be made. The abdication of the Regent is regarded with suspicion by the revolutionary leaders. Notwithstanding peace negotiations at Wu Chang and Shanghai, those at the head of the Republican movement at a meeting last night decided to float the first issue of the Republican War Bonds, covering a patriotic and sympathetic loan of 10,000,000 taels payable in six years by the agent of the new Republic Bank, which has a capital of 5,000,000 taels at the present time, subscribed entirely by Chinese.
