Chief Justice Meredith Decides in Favor of the Trustee in the Case of the Mackenzie Trusts—The McRae Will.

In re Mackenzie Trusts, Chief Justice Meredith has decided that the trustee who invested $8000 of the trust fund in the stock of the Huron & Lambton Savings Company is not liable for a breach of trust. The deed of settlement required the funds to be invested for the benefit of certain infants in Dominion, provincial or municipal bonds, and debentures, or first mortgages, on land, and also contained a clause allowing an alteration of the trust by the settler with consent of trustee. The shares were bought by the trustee upon the written request of the settler to the trustee.

AN ADVERTISING CONTRACT.

At the non-jury sittings judgment was reserved in The Mail v. Clarkson. The plaintiffs ask to rank in the estate of Sampson, Kennedy & Co. for $1000, under an advertising contract.

MRS. McRAE DIED LATER.

In Bell v. Ottawa Trust & Deposit Company, Justice Rose has decided that the local master at Ottawa was right in finding upon the evidence that Margaret R. McRae survived her husband. Mr. and Mrs. McRae and their son, with others, were sailing in Lake Deschene in a boat, which upset and all three McRaes were drowned. He also affirms the Master's finding, that, under Mr. McRae's will and codicil, the proceeds of policy of insurance must be distributed for the benefit of creditors, and not go to his infant child, and says that the language of 59, Vic. (O.), chap. 45, sec. 2, and proviso to sub-sec. 2, is not clear, but the fair meaning is that a declaration may be made under the statute by will, and that declaration by will shall take effect in priority to any declaration made before the date of the will, but there is nothing to say that a will shall speak save from the death of a testator, or that a declaration by will is not revokable as decided in 21 A.R. 87. In this case the codicil forms part of the will, both speak from the same date, and there could be no effectual declaration by will except it be by last will, and so the proviso which declares that "the assured shall not, by virtue of section 2, be authorized to direct moneys or benefits from all of said class to a person not of said class or to assured himself or to his estate," does not apply to a declaration by will.

GEORGE HARRINGTON BURIED.

Asleep in God's Acre in St. Michael's Cemetery—Tokens of Respect.

In the winter solitude, with the keen breeze blowing athwart the snow-covered ground, there was laid to rest Wednesday morning in St. Michael's Cemetery all that remained of an old-time newspaper man—George M. Harrington—whose disposition was as bright as the sunshine which streamed down on the sombre casket, relieved by lovely flowers, eloquent alike of the affection of the donors and of life's brief span.

It was a grief-stricken group of relatives and friends that witnessed the closing of the grave over one whose genial and useful career had closed all too soon. Calmly, after life's fitful fever, George Harrington sleeps well, beside the graves of a much-loved sister and a father whom to know was to admire, and of whom the deceased delighted to talk when in reminiscent mood.

Nine o'clock was an early hour for a meeting of newspaper men and the house of mourning away in the West end, yet sad as was the errand loving esprit de corps prompted old colleagues to forego the wonted hours of sleep to take the last look at the well-remembered features of one whom all esteemed.

The Harrington residence in Fenning-street was soon thronged, whence the funeral cortege started for St. Mary's Church, Bathurst-street. Deceased was a devout Catholic, with never a taint of bigotry, but love for all unconfined by nationality or creed. Here, in the presence of a numerous congregation, low mass was said by Father John Kelly.

Prominent on the casket was a beautiful wreath inscribed "In Memory of Our Old Friend Harrington—From the City Officials."

An hour later St. Michael's Cemetery was reached, where repose so many of Toronto's blessed dead. To a new-made grave the remains were borne by old friends of the deceased: Patrick F. Cronin of The Catholic Register, Henry T. Howard of The Toronto World, Thomas McQueen and David A. Carey of The Evening Telegram; George Watson, John McGowan and Charles McCurdy.

Other former colleagues of the deceased who attended the obsequies were Mr. H. J. F. Good of The Saturday World and Mr. John Ewan and Mr. John Lewis of The Globe.

For a number of years George Harrington was vice-president of the most flourishing of the local Irish societies, and old associates joined in wishing rest and peace to his remains.

There was a very large attendance at the meeting and after business was concluded the sergeants of the company provided refreshments in the supper room and a jolly evening was spent.

THE PRINCESS DE CHIMAY.

Fannie Edgar Thomas writes to The New York Musical Courier from Paris: "One of the most charming American vocal students in Paris is a protege of Mrs. Ward-Cameron-Morrow, who is the mother of the notorious Princess de Chimay, and is at the moment at Cannes with her. The Prince, who is an ardent musician and a good critic, in passing through Cannes recently, heard the young woman sing and predicts for her a brilliant future. A son of Mrs. Cameron is also at Cannes, while his once wife is in Canada. The mother, herself three times married, possesses incontestable charms, of course. Her recent visit at the Chateau Chimay was to conduct the Christmas peasant fetes—a traditional custom. The chateau is a marvel of beauty and elegance, and the two little abandoned babies adorable. The mother attributes the folly of her daughter to madness. The daughter says, "No such a thing." She is simply a worm turning, she says, sick to death of the legend of man's right to infidelity and her own sufferings as a result of it, and she adds that she prefers the honesty of a "common fiddler" to the hypocrisies of a prince, and for one she proposes to say and to show that a woman has a right to feelings as well as a man, and that she has done with the deceits in modern usage. Voila! The new woman strikes out from the shoulder!

"The worst of this whole thing was when a weak and pale-faced lawyer, in his slimy legal attempts to console a noble old French family in its "mishap," said that the N. O. F. F. was not to blame, that it was the inevitable result of marriage with one of those crazy Americans, the outgrowth of a too free, too careless and altogether vicious system of American feminine morals (sic); that this was simply one of those wild and wayward Americans who could not of course bring herself under the strictures of refined French morality!

"Full many an American girl, no doubt, would have willingly given the ignorant advocate a good 'giffle' for his pains. At the same time it must be said that the capricious and unreasoning affectations of many American students in Paris leave much to be desired toward creating a true estimate of our superb system of American womanhood.

"This was not all. A city paper undertook to reply to the lawyer, saying that really it was not fair to judge a nation by one example, and citing some dozen marriages of this type more or less passable, closing with that of the young Count who had just been presented with a real French heir by a daughter of a noted American railroad magnate.

"It must be acknowledged, the writer added, 'that France needs new blood and new money, and she may as well get it in that way as any!'"

Bryan in the House.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The appearance of W. J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for President last fall, upon the floor of the House was the most notable event of the day's session. He has the entree of the floor as an ex-member, and came into the hall at 4.30 about an hour after his arrival in the city. His appearance evoked applause from many members, a few of whom gave vent expression to their pleasure. From his old seat he responded to the greetings of friends and acquaintances, his face beaming with smiles. Among those who shook his hand was Gen. Grosvenor (Republican), the most prominent Republican who extended a welcome to the late Democratic leader. Before leaving the hall Mr. Bryan paid his respects to Speaker Reed.

Her Shaft Broken.

London, Feb. 25.—The British steamer Cambrian, Capt. Morgan, from London, Feb. 4, for New York, was sighted in lat. 46n., long. 41w., with her shaft broken. The point at which the Cambrian was sighted on the 18th inst. is about 1200 miles east of New York. At that time the steamer was nearer St. John's, Nfld., than any other port and was in the path of ocean steamers.

A large calf sold for $15, two others for $21 and eight for about $5 each; small "bobs" $1.50 each. Sheep for shipment 3c, mixed lambs and sheep 4c to 4¼c, choice lambs 4½c; fat hogs 4½c to 4¾c.

TRADE IN CANADA.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Daily Bulletin says: The volume of trade at Montreal shows no material increase since a week ago, though in one or two special lines there has been some improvement of demand in a moderate way. Sugars have recovered somewhat from their long continued dulness, and an advance of an eighth of a cent has been established by refiners, who claim that their figures are still considerably below the New York level. Teas and other staple lines of groceries remain dull. Drygoods orders are reported moderately numerous, but are, as a rule, small in extent, and show that careful buying is being practised. Dealers in raw wool, are not apparently anxious to push sales, in view of the unsatisfactory state of woolen manufacturing interests, and a second cargo of Cape wool, for Montreal account, just arrived in Boston, is likely to go into store in that city. Boot and shoe manufacturers are now making active delivery of spring footwear, on orders booked during fall and winter, but are not large buyers of leather at the moment. Values in this latter line, however, tend to strengthen in sympathy with the general strong tone of the hide market. Pig iron, bars, etc., still move slowly, but for plates of various kinds there is more enquiry, with considerable stiffening of prices; Canada plates have advanced 20 cents a box, and of certain sizes there is decided scarcity, coke tins and Terne plates are also in limited supply and dearer. Cut nails have been reduced 15 cents a keg as a result of the manufacturers' meeting last week.

General business at Toronto is hardly as active at the present time as merchants had anticipated. In some lines there is reported an improvement, while in others the movement is limited. Dealers, however, are hopeful that the turn for the better will come soon. The number of business failures is smaller than for several weeks, and the prevailing sentiment has improved. Many weak houses have been weeded out, and the easy money market will be of advantage to manufacturers. The export trade of Canada for the past fiscal year was the largest in her history. The value of total shipments was $121,013,000, as against $118,564,000 in 1893, the previous largest year for exports. But while our imports in 1893 were $129,074,000 they were only $118,011,000 last year, an indication of economy, which gives the impression that we paid off foreign obligations to some extent at least. The grain markets have been quiet during the week. There is little or no export demand, and prices are lower for wheat in sympathy with the decline in Britain and the United States. While wheat in Ontario is 11c to 12c lower than at Detroit, a circumstance accounted for only by the fact that while the supply in this province is large, there is a scarcity across the border. Coarse grains are also lower in many instances.
