TERRIFIC TORNADO IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Sweeps Onward to Texas and Takes Terrible Toll of Life and Property.

Winnipeg, May 30.—Special dispatches received here state that seven dying and over a score are seriously injured as a result of the tornado which swept over northwestern North Dakota late yesterday. The storm was especially severe at Langdon, twenty miles from the Canadian border, where the residence section of the city was practically wiped out, four people killed and twenty injured.

The tornado swept up the James River from Ypsilanti to Jamestown, demolishing farm houses and destroying much valuable property. The farmhouse of George Graves near Ypsilanti, was blown into the James River, and Mrs. Graves and her two young daughters instantly killed. The other members of the family were injured.

The tornado demolished all the buildings of the Jamestown Fair Association, the loss being $50,000, and several other large buildings. Forty residences were destroyed at Langdon, and huge elevators were crushed into kindling wood by the terrific wind.

Several towns have been completely cut off from communication, and it is feared that the death list will be greatly increased by later reports.

Dispatches from Thornhill, Snowflake, Crystal City, Morden, Emerson and other towns in Manitoba near the border report a heavy wind, but no damage.

Bad in Texas.

Brownwood, Texas, May 30.—A tornado wrecked Zephyr, a village in Brown County, early today, killing more than 30 persons, seriously injuring 50 and hurting a score of others. Extreme darkness made the catastrophe awful.

The known dead are C. A. Cabler and wife, County Clerk Thad Cabler, wife and two children, C. M. Carter, wife and child, Gertrude Houston, Oscar Ware, wife and three children, M. G. Simmons, wife and three children, Mrs. W. A. Ramsay and child, B. F. Brown and wife, Mrs. Tom Hart and child, Gibson Cloiss.

Among the seriously injured are Robert Campbell, wife and four children, Dr. Wreen and wife, Prof. Cloyes and family, and Captain Collier and wife.

The storm formed half a mile southwest of Zephyr, and swept down on the village, cutting a wide swath directly through the residence and business quarters.

Nearly fifty houses were demolished. Lightning struck a lumber yard and started a fire which destroyed an entire business block. No effort was made to fight the flames as the care of the dead and wounded demanded all attention. A section hand pumped a handcar to Brownwood and spread the alarm. In two hours the Sante Fe Railway was speeding a special train to Zephyr, with nine surgeons and a score of Brownwood citizens.

Hundreds of persons in the country around Zephyr saved themselves by taking refuge in storm cellars.

The big stone school building and two churches at Zephyr were razed.

Daylight found sixteen surgeons working on the wounded. Brownwood hurried her second relief train at noon today, loaded with provisions, clothing and necessary articles and forty nurses.

Tonight three persons are still unaccounted for.

PANIC FOLLOWS FIRE

Wild Excitement Prevailed in Poor Jewish District of Toronto.

Toronto, May 31.—A fire in a shed stuffed with rags, the property of Louis Rothstein, 188 Chestnut street, a rag and bone wholesaler, caused intense excitement among Jewish residents in the ward tonight. For several blocks around the scene of the fire, the houses and stores are occupied by Jews of the poorer classes, and when flames in the shed got well under way these people began to rush their belongings into the street. Bedding, furniture and clothes were thrown out of the windows and doors with reckless abandon, in many cases the people being so crazed by fear that they smashed the windows and doors in their haste to get their belongings out.

For hours the section looked as though a wholesale moving was in progress, and the shrieks and cries of the people added to the confusion.

The damage was confined to the shed and its contents, and totalled $2,000.

The stench from the burning rags and bones almost suffocated a number of the firemen who had to take turns in getting at close range for that reason.

DEATH OF RICHARD DONAGHY

Died in Detroit—Brother of Mr. Andrew Donaghy, of West London.

Mr. Andrew Donaghy, 98 Wilson avenue, West London, received a telegram on Saturday announcing the death of his brother Richard in Detroit. Deceased, who was 71 years of age, was an old and highly respected former resident of this city, having come from Ireland in 1854 and served time at wagonmaking with Henry Dart. During the last fifteen years of their residence in London, the family lived at 567 Piccadilly street. Mr. Donaghy is survived by a wife, two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Leavitt, of Belleville, and Mrs. W. P. McBride, of Detroit, Mich., and one son, John, formerly of London, but now of Detroit. The interment takes place in Detroit on Tuesday.

LORD ROBERTS' SPEECH A GREAT MISTAKE

Declaration That Army Was a Sham Bad Advertisement for Britain.

London, May 31.—A certain section of the press after a brief career of scare mongering over phantom airships and German spies is now lecturing the country over the folly of hysterical headlines and other vagaries of summer madness. There are moments when the English people do not seem to deserve the reputation for sobriety of judgment, well earned in the past; yet the nation is not declining in power and moral influence, whatever may be the German sneers over the decadence of the rival country. The yellow press is merely over-anxious to sell its newspapers by means of display headlines.

Lord Roberts' pessimistic reference to the British army as a sham army is greatly deplored by veterans in the service. They assert that expressions like this from the greatest English soldier will be repeated through the continent and cause endless mischief to the national prestige.

Lord Charles Beresford, who has finally broken silence, at the Australian dinner, has not joined the panic mongers. His self-restraint has been admirable, as his opinions regarding the state of the navy were well known and strongly expressed to his personal friends. Even now he does not attack the Government, which is evidently preparing to lay down eight Dreadnoughts before the end of the year. He complains of the insane advertisement of the Dreadnought type, which has proved so costly to the naval powers, and contends that the empire, with the federated nations, must organize for actual war, and experts cease to count tons and guns.

Lord Charles' declaration that the Dreadnought theory has made the two-power standard impracticable may be the first sign of a return to reason on the part of the admiralty. The official mania for Dreadnoughts has been almost as fantastic as the passion for aerial scareships.

WHAT WILL LORDS DO?

Professor Goldwin Smith Writes of the British Budget.

London, May 31.—Goldwin Smith evidently believes that the House of Lords should be with the budget on its merits when it reaches the Upper House instead of following the modern precedent of pro forma approval. He writes from Toronto as follows:

"What will the Lords do is once more the cry as it was when the first reform bill was going up to the House of Lords. It is the cry, here, too, though in a less serious strain, for Canada is still under the supreme power of the British Parliament.

"It seems to me hardly possible that the Lords should be const
