SECOND EDITION

ONLY FOUR ALIVE NOW

Hon. Wm. McDougall, One of the Fathers of Confederation, Dead at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29—(Special)—Hon. William McDougall, one of the fathers of Confederation, died at his residence, 10 Dalhousie street, today. He was 83 years of age, and had been confined to his room for the past eight years. Sir James Grant, who was his physician, as well as his friend, for many years, states that death was due to general debility. The death of Mr. McDougall leaves only four of the makers of Confederation compact alive. They are Sir William P. Howland, Sir Hector Langevin, Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. A. A. McDonald. About 12 years ago Mr. MacDougall fell and broke a leg, and he was never able to be around very much since that time. The last political contest he was engaged in, was in South Grenville when he ran in the Liberal interest and was defeated by the late Walter Shanly. Mr. MacDougall was always recognized as one of the ablest men in the Dominion. He leaves a widow and family.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Young Ottawa Man Shot Himself Through the Head in Regina.

REGINA, N. W. T., May 29—(Special)—While despondent George Bethune, a clerk in the Northwest Mounted Police offices shot himself through the head last night and died instantly. His parents reside in Ottawa. Mr. Bethune had his feet badly frozen last winter and since then had been in hospital until a few days ago. This no doubt inspired self-destruction. OBIT

IT AFFECTED STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 29.—Stocks had a buoyant opening today in sympathetic response to the London market. The Russian naval defeat was interpeted as indicating early peace. Three classes of Japanese government issues are dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange; bankers' certificates for the 4½ per cent bonds opened 4½ higher than Saturday and then reacted 1¼ on realizing. Certificates for the second 6 per cent series rose 1⅝ and the first series 1⅝. Industrials opened 1 to 2 points higher than Saturday. The demand proved dull at these advances, and part of the gains were lost during the first hour.

NEW YORK, May 29.—There was great activity and excitement at the opening of the cotton market today, following a very bullish crop report by a New Orleans newspaper, a tremendous advance in the Liverpool market and reports of a Japanese victory in the Far Eastern sea fight suggesting an early peace settlement. First prices here were 10 to 15 points higher, followed by a gain from the close of Saturday of about 35 points. Trading was very active with both commission houses and professional heavy buyers.

NEW YORK, May 29 (noon).—Prime mercantile paper 3¾ 4½.

NEW YORK, May 29 (Wall street, noon)—Opening prices were recorded during the first hour the markets showing the effect of profit taking by the room traders. Trading was quiet on the decline. Later prices were supported and showed somewhat above the opening level on light dealings, but receded again at noon. There were active declines in Japanese bonds. Railroad and miscellaneous bonds were dull and steady.

BERLIN, May 29.—Prices on the Bourse today generally were somewhat higher, owing to London advices and hopes of peace in the Far East. Russians were 4.10 per cent. lower.

SANDFORD IS SHORT OF CASH

Reported He Does Not Pay Bills Promptly and Has Asked More Time on Farm He Bonded---Shilohites on Short Rations.

AUBURN, Me. May 27—The Boston Herald correspondent was told today that "Elijah" Sandford is evidently pressed for money; that he is not paying his bills promptly, and has asked a man to whom he recently gave a bond for the purchase of a farm to extend the time. Another man from whom a farm was purchased says a payment on it is now overdue.

There are now between 700 and 800 people at Shiloh, and if all reports are true, their rations are exceedingly scanty. A day or two ago one of the members of the colony went to a farm house and bought a quart of milk and some apples and said he was going to have a real feast all by himself. The report is that only skimmed milk is purchased for the use of the members of the colony. Farming is being carried on, but with no system whatever, and the results are meagre.

Sandford and his friends are evidently very much pleased that the trial for manslaughter has been postponed until September.

Judge William H. Newell today filed a petition in the supreme judicial court asking for a preliminary injunction against the inhabitants of Durham and William D. Trufant, treasurer of the town, to prevent the payment of salaries to teachers in the school said to be under Sandford's control. The substance of the petition was printed in The Boston Herald this morning. The court is also asked to grant a restraining order to prevent the defendants from interfering with any of the matters set out in the petition.

This petition is signed by David Crockett, Jr., Fred Harrington, Joseph E. Davis, Henry M. Snow, Francis W. Bowie, Emery J. Bowie, George H. Lancaster, William W. Brown, C. H. Greene, and J. B. Greene, citizens and taxpayers of Durham. Lawyers believe the preliminary injunction will be granted.

The defendants will be given until July 4th to file their answer, and the hearing will be held as soon after as possible. The case cannot come up in June because the law requires that 20 days' notice shall be served. The town officials probably will fight the case. The position of the school board is that it has done what it believes best for the town.

The petitioners for this injunction are all well known citizens of Durham, and their counsel believes they represent the sentiment of the majority of the citizens of the town. Mr. Davis, one of the petitioners, has served as selectman of Durham.

OUTLOOK NOT HOPEFUL

May Not Be a Very Bright Lumber Season---Drives Bring Up.

The outlook for a successful lumber season is not very hopeful. The driving is about over and it is estimated that about 30,000,000 feet of lumber will be hung up. This will mean a considerable shortage for some of the mills, though a portion of the lumbermen will have enough to put them through the season. About the only thing that would help the situation now would be a heavy freshet in June, and this is very unlikely. The scarcity of rain this spring is accountable for the shortage, and although a heavy rain now would be a help, it is thought that the most of the logs will have to remain where they are until next spring. Last year there were only about 15,000,000 held up, but this year there is double that amount, so it is probable that the business will be hampered considerably.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 28.—The dory picked up off the Fire Island life saving station was probably one of the dories sold recently by the Captain of the Gloucester fishing schooner Paragon to "Netters" at the Banks. The Paragon is now in this port, having arrived last week with a cargo of halibut, and none of her crew are missing.

NORFOLK, Va., May 28—With fire raging in her forward hold and her crew exhausted from two hours and a half hard work fighting the flames the old Dominion steamship Hamilton, after leaving port for New York, returned to Norfolk at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon. There were no passengers aboard.

The Hamilton left here at 4.30 o'clock this morning and when she was about five hours out the automatic fire alarm sounded in the engine room, indicating a fire somewhere between decks in the forward hold.

When the crew responded to the alarm it was found that it would be impossible to reach the fire without shifting the cargo. As much of this was done as was possible, but Captain Boaz decided that it would not be safe for him to try to reach New York and it was impossible for him to put out the fire at sea, so he turned back to Norfolk.

When the steamer had been docked employes of the company went aboard and started to work. The crew was too worn out to continue their labors.

"JUST AS GOOD"

(Providence Journal).

They were matching experiences in order to kill time and one of them remarked that he had struck a new wrinkle in the drug stores that puzzled him.

"It's well understood," he explained, "that wherever you go these days when you're on a shopping expedition something that's 'just as good' as the thing you ask for and want will be forced on you, whether you're after a yeast cake or a smoked ham. That's to be expected. And half the time you'll have to take something that's just as good, or go without, because they don't keep your brand. Moreover, you'll be informed that nobody keeps your brand and that there's precious little demand for it among people of intelligence, so that before you're through you'll be more than half ashamed of yourself for expressing a preference. All that's commonplace; but lately, as I said, I've noticed a new one. I'll order a bottle or a package of a mixture I've always used, and when the apothecary is wrapping it up with that deft touch apothecaries have he'll look at me compassionately and say in a soft, purring tone of voice: 'We've a preparation of our own we consider far superior to this and we sell it nineteen cents cheaper.' His bottle or package, he adds, is much larger than the one you're buying.

"That kind of conversation makes me a little tired and provoked, and I don't quite see what it means. What difference does it make to the druggist which portion of his stock I carry off? I have to pay his prices and he can charge me whatever he sees fit, whether I take one thing or another."

A BRIDE'S SAD DEATH

Mrs. Ahern Drowned While Wedding Festivities Were Almost in Full Swing.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Almost in the presence of a party of friends who had spent most of the night in celebrating her marriage which took place yesterday, Mrs. Delia Ahern early today lost her life by drowning. Her husband, who was within a few feet of the spot where the tragedy occurred, was ignorant of his bride's plight until it was too late to save her life. Mrs. Ahern, who was 30 years old, was with her husband Captain Patrick Ahern and a party of friends, on Captain Ahern's barge which was anchored in the Hudson river. The festivities continued until early today, and when the visitors made preparations to leave the barge it was intensely dark. As she stood at the side of the vessel, bidding her friends good night, Mrs. Ahern lost her footing and plunged into the river. Michael Creegan, who was standing beside her, saw the woman fall, and at once jumped to her assistance. The splash made by the two bodies was almost simultaneous, but when Captain Ahern and a policeman reached the river, only Creegan was in sight. They pulled him out of the water, but when he was able to tell the reason for his plunge, the woman's body could not be found.

WHY HE DIDN'T LIKE IT

(New York Times).

One of the ecclesiastical stories credited to Bishop Potter concerns a Scotch clergyman who was preaching on trial before a critical congregation. Now, the one thing that the Scot despises is a sermon read from manuscript, and this one was not only read but was exceedingly laboured and involved. At the end of the service the clergyman rather anxiously asked one of the elders how he liked the sermon.

"I didna think weel of it," replied the elder.

"Why not?" asked the anxious minister.

"Weel," said the elder, "there were three reasons. First, ye read the sermon; second, ye didna read it weel; and, third, it wasna worth reading."
