ADMIRAL SCHLEY COMES TO THE RESCUE OF DR. COOK

PEARY RIDDLED BY A FORMER COLLABORATOR

Former Peary Boatswain Substantiates Cook's Allegations Of Discoverer's Practices.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 13.—Allen Whitten, who was boatswain of the Peary auxiliary steamer Erik in 1905 and again in 1908, adds his quota to the Polar controversy today. On his expeditions, he naturally saw much of Peary and knew of Peary's plans. He was also in the Erik in the summer of 1907, when she lay for a week at Sydney alongside the schooner John R. Bradley in which Dr. Cook was starting for the Pole. The Erik that year went to Hudson Bay for the Canadian government. Whitten says that the Bradley was abundantly equipped for Cook's expedition, having supplies for at least three years. He confirms Dr. Cook's charge at Copenhagen that Peary's men took Cook's provisions, adding that not only did the crew of the ship take Cook's supplies that were at Etah, but boats were sent to Annatok, thirty miles distant to remove Cook's provisions which were stored there.

Strange Proceedings.

Whitten admitted that he did not know whether this removal was by arrangement between Rudolph Francke, who was left in charge of the provisions by Peary or Peary's representatives, but he thought that in any event, it was a strange thing to do, in view of the fact that Cook was then away on the ice floes and might return and find his provisions gone.

The boatswain also made the statement that both Cook's and Francke's collections of ivory and skins, some of them very valuable were likewise taken. He said that the trouble with Peary's previous expeditions had been the lack of supplies. Instead of remaining away for three years, Commander Peary was compelled to return after about fifteen months, the real reason, Whitten declared, being that he did not have enough supplies to remain longer.

That Brooklyn Man Is Not To Be Wholly Deserted By Navy Was Made Manifest Yesterday.

Famous Commander Declares That Cook Has Shown the More Generous Spirit Throughout.

Paris Temps Raises Interesting International Question as to Sovereignty of Pole.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 13.—That polar polemics could not only generate but maintain unabated such heat needed the proof of seeing and hearing to believe, but with Dr. Cook homeward bound and Commander Peary now in touch with the correspondents, comment and criticism lack none today of their previous acidity and rather gained than lost in volume.

Previous assumption that Commander Peary would have the United States navy solidly behind him was not borne out in a letter from Rear Admiral Schley (retired) made public today, by Captain B. S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic Club of America, of which Dr. Cook is a member. The letter under date of September 11 from Poco Manor, La., reads in part as follows:

"I like Cook's attitude immensely in this unfortunate, unnecessary and unwise controversy. He certainly has been dignified and manly in the stand he has taken in this matter."

Captain Osbon's Lecture.

Captain Osbon followed up his letter from the admiral tonight with a lecture on "Who Discovered the North Pole?"

"Dr. Frederick A. Cook," he said, "was for two years my wife's physician. I saw him two or three times a week and we chatted many hours. He was secretary of the Arctic Club while I was chairman of the executive committee. If I have ever known a man of integrity, probity, sincerity and modesty, it is Dr. Cook.

"I have known also the other fellow—known him to depart from the truth by large margins. A man who will open a cablegram and keep it four days from his superior; a man who could prevent the club from giving a dinner to the Duke of Abruzzi, is capable of other things.

"He has also opened letters addressed to me. One letter opened by him he subscribed 'opened by Peary' and sent it to me. When this thing happened a second time I told him that if he opened more of my letters I should be very energetic with him."

Dr. Cook's Attitude.

Dr. Cook's attitude in withholding details of his discovery was attributed to his desire not to anticipate the publication of his book.

"But as soon as the other claimant got within reach of the wireless," said the captain, "he sent despatches to everybody he could think of, but delayed in informing the mother of the unfortunate Marvin, who perished during the expedition.

"Dr. Cook is but an ordinary physician," continued the speaker, "the other being in the navy is supposed to have received the training of a gentleman. Yet when Cook heard that Peary had discovered the pole he congratulated him. When Peary heard of Cook's claim, he wired that the doctor had handed the public a gold brick. Some men dig pits under themselves.

"There is a mystery in the disappearance of Mr. Whitney, who is coming home with Cook's papers. I think," Capt. Osbon continued, "he got on board the Roosevelt, took his letters and left for his own ship, the Jeanie, because of Peary's attitude."

Sovereignty of Pole.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Temps today, in discussing the sovereignty of the North Pole, expresses the opinion that the relative permanence of the ice there might properly raise the question whether this territory comes under the ordinary international rules applying to land and the high seas. The paper insists, however, that exploring expeditions such as Cook's and Peary's, cannot give title and to this end it quotes Calvo to the effect that the acquiring of sovereignty is involved with effective occupation, namely, accompanied or followed by the commencement of administrative organization or commercial and industrial exploitation. A majority of the authorities agree, the paper says, that the simple planting of the flag is not sufficient. It points out that this doctrine was affirmed by the international conference at Berlin of 1884, and that it was applied by the Pope when he acted as mediator between Germany and Spain in 1885 in the dispute regarding the Caroline Islands. The Pontiff held that Spain was obliged to occupy the islands effectively. More recently the entire question between Turkey and Italy regarding Massouah hinged upon this point.

COOK VIOLATED POLAR ETHICS SAYS BALDWIN

Distinguished Explorer At Sydney Awaiting Peary's Arrival Takes a Hand In Controversy.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 13.—That Dr. Frederick A. Cook violated the accepted code of Arctic etiquette in utilizing the Etah Eskimos is the firm belief of Mr. Evelyn Briggs Baldwin of New York, who knows the rival explorers intimately and the conditions under which they labored. Mr. Baldwin is now at Sydney awaiting the return of Peary under whom he served as meteorologist in the North Greenland expedition in 1893-94. In an interview yesterday Mr. Baldwin said:

No Right.

"Cook had no right to take the Etah Eskimos. By Arctic etiquette their services belonged to Peary. It was a recognized fact that Peary was operating from certain territory to make his dash for the pole. Therefore, I hold that the fair thing to do was to leave that territory to him. When I was with Peary I saw the advantage of using the Eskimos but when the Baldwin-Zeigler expedition started in 1901, I refrained from trespassing on Peary's ground and began operations from Franz Joseph Land, which was unoccupied territory. As a consequence I had to engage a large force of white men including trained Siberians for handling the dogs and horses."

Baldwin's Activities.

Baldwin's various Arctic activities have brought him into more or less intimate contact with Peary and Cook for the last sixteen years. After the return of the North Greenland expedition of 1893-94 he did not make an attempt on the pole until 1898-99 when he was second in command of the Welman expedition to Franz Joseph Land. While there he helped to discover numerous islands among which was Graham Bell Land, named after the Canadian inventor. But it was on his second visit to the north that the foundation of his connection with Cook began.

Mr. Baldwin was interviewed later about the relative claims of Cook and Peary.

"I have not the slightest doubt that Peary reached the pole and that his account is accurate and complete," he stated.

"What about Dr. Cook," he was asked.

"I have no reply whatever to make at present," he replied.

He was then asked some questions as to Cook's claims.

"What do you think of Cook's statement that there are now 30,000 square miles of land opened up for discovery?"

"Perhaps Cook meant 30,000 miles of the earth's surface," he replied, "this including sea area. As to that, there may be much more. One cannot state with any definiteness just how much land, or whether there is any land visible above the sea beyond, say, the 86th parallel."

"Do you regard the appearance of the two boats referred to by Cook as mysterious?"

"No," was the reply. "It sounds strange but it is not impossible that he may have had boats."

"Do you think it possible for Cook and his Eskimos to live for over a year upon what food they could secure on their return journey."

"I can scarcely answer that question because I do not know what game exists within the neighborhood of the pole," replied Mr. Baldwin. "Below the 82nd parallel there is enough wild game available to sustain human life. Beyond that point it does not seem impossible that some animal life exists."

MISSING ITALIAN FOUND AT GRAND FALLS

Special to The Standard.

Campbellton, N. B., Sept. 13.—Lingi Giambaoli, the Italian who disappeared from a construction camp on the International Railway near here about two weeks ago, and who, it was feared, had met with foul play, has been discovered working at Grand Falls. The man's account of his adventures is to the effect that he became lost in the woods while hunting and on finding himself far from camp, made his way across to Grand Falls, instead of returning to his own camp.

BEACH AND PASS CASES GO OVER.

YANKEES FOUND NORTH POLE BUT CANADA OWNS IT

Ottawa Enters Pole Controversy Claiming All Lands North Of United States Border—Question Being Discussed.

CLAIM BASED ON WORK OF BERNIER.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The Cabinet is understood to have under discussion the discovery of the North Pole, and the placing of the Stars and Stripes thereon.

A question as to the ownership of all the land intervening between the pole and territory now marked as Canadian on the map has been put by Sir Gilbert Parker in the British House and it is understood that the Canadian Government has sent to the colonial office a statement insisting that Canada claims all the land intervening between the United States border and the North Pole.

Taken Possession Of.

All the known islands in the Arctic Ocean west of Greenland were formally taken possession of for Canada two years ago by Capt. Bernier. Commander Peary in his report of his trip does not tell of finding any land north of Grant Land, which is recognized as Canadian territory. From there to the pole is evidently an ice covered ocean. Consequently, although Canada claims all land as far north as the pole as being part of the Canadian hinterland, there is not likely to be any basis for any rival United States claim to ownership.

QUEBEC BANK THUGS ARE STILL AT LARGE

No Trace Has As Yet Been Found Of Robbers Who Entered Bank — Detectives Working On Case.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—The correct amount of money which the robbers got away with at the robbery of the Yamachiche Bank, was as follows: Dominion bills to the value of $1,688; Provincial Bank, $5 bills, $395; and other bills on other banks to the value of $2,225.

Overlooked $4,000.

When the doors of the safes of the bank were blown in with dynamite $4,000 worth of bills dropped on to the floor and these, in their hurry, the thieves overlooked. Up to the present nothing has been heard of the robbers. Detective Demas, of Quebec, who is working on the case, received a telegram, which he believes to be bogus, stating that ten men had been seen hiding in the bushes on Saturday near Yamachiche. The affair has created considerable interest in Quebec, and a thorough search of the district will be made.

It is reported that the robbers were well armed, and it is expected that they will put up a stubborn resistance to avoid arrest.

KIDNAPPING CASE GOES OVER FOR WEEK

Sussex, Sept. 13.—In the case of Mrs. Bridget Humphrey, of Lawrence, against James McManus, of Hampton, this morning, Stipendiary Hornbrook adjouraned the case until the 21st inst. after hearing two witnesses for the prosecution. The case promises to be interesting from start to finish. E. S. Ritchie is prosecuting, being associated with Mr. Mahoney, a Lawrence, Mass. lawyer, who is here with Mrs. Humphrey. Mr. Mahoney gave evidence, showing that he was acting in behalf of the estate in the matter of the recovery of the child, who is three years of age. Mrs. Humphrey's evidence was then taken. She deposed that the child had been allowed to accompany its grandmother, Mrs. Humphrey, of Hampton, on a visit one year ago, and it was the intention of the father to take it back, but before this could be done he took ill and died. In March last the plaintiff made a demand for the child's return, but was refused possession, and as a result this action was now being taken. At the request of F. M. Sproul, M. P. P., who is acting for the defence, adjournment was granted. Bail was granted, the amount being fixed at $15,000, defendant in $5,000, and F. M. Sproul and Mayor McLean in like amounts.

Lord Charles wrote in part:

"Unfortunately my time is very limited, as I expect to go south on important business and after that I shall have to get to England and do what I can to secure for us an all-powerful navy. Nothing can exceed the loyalty, the patriotism and generous feeling that I have observed among Canadians for the older country. Canada any way is determined that the Empire shall remain intact."

QUEBEC WILL STOP EXPORT OF PULP WOOD

Province Decides To Prohibit Exportation Of Pulpwood Cut From Crown Lands—Increase In Stumpage.

CANADIAN PAPER INTERESTS WIN.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The Province of Quebec has definitely decided to prohibit the exportation of pulpwood cut from Crown lands. In September, 1900, the Premier of the province made a promise that the stumpage rates of 60 cents per cord on wood cut from Crown lands would not be raised for a period of ten years. It is intended to carry out that pledge and no increase in stumpage charges will be made until September, 1910.

United States Claim.

The Canadian paper-makers are urging the provincial authorities to stop the exportation of pulpwood cut from Crown lands, but the American owners of rights to cut timber on more than 12,000 square miles of those lands represent that the pledge of September, 1900, implied a right of importation for ten years and that in good faith no prohibition should be made until the lapse of that period. The Canadian paper and pulp interests retort that the pledge specifically related to stumpage taxes, not to exportation and that the extension of that privilege to American owners for another year will retard Canadian plans and discriminate against Canadian manufacturers who now suffer because of the retaliatory clauses of the United States tariff on print paper.

A Question of Dates.

The provincial authorities are balancing the question whether they should prohibit the exportation of pulpwood on January 1, 1910 or September 1, 1910. They calculate that the new policy will add over $200,000 per annum in revenues. They are informed that the interests controlling the Berlin mills property in New Hampshire are planning to install a print paper mill plant at La Tuque, Que., and that the International Paper Company has prepared plans for numerous locations for paper mills in Canada—that company having stopped the manufacture of print paper at a number of its more expensive mills in the United States.

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The Department of Labor has received from Saskatoon a majority report from the board which adjudicated between the city corporation and its workmen. No agreement was reached on the minimum wage scale and the recognition of the Federal Labor Union.

The majority of the board recommended a minimum wage of 20 cents an hour with 22½ cents in August, September and October; the men would not recede from their demands of 25 cents.

The board declined to recommend that work be confined to members of the union on account of the number of homesteaders of small means who wish to work in the city at certain seasons of the year.

HARRIMAN IS SUCCEEDED BY ROBERT LOVETT

Expected Happens In Rearrangement Of Union Pacific Board Of Management And Lovett Gets Job.

HARRIMAN POLICIES TO BE CARRIED OUT.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The continuance, temporarily at least, of the Harriman policies in the management of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and the chain of allied railroads, was made certain today, when Robert S. Lovett, E. H. Harriman's personal counsel and close friend, was elected to succeed him as the head of the executive committee of the Union Pacific R. R. To further strengthen the dominance of the Harriman Idea, Jacob H. Schiff and William Rockefeller—both heavily interested in the Harriman enterprises—were elected directors in place of Mr. Harriman and the late H. H. Rogers, respectively and were also chosen to places on the executive committee.

The Union Pacific still remains without a president as Mr. Harriman occupied this position also. It is understood, however, that an operating man probably L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, will be elected for the place at the annual meeting of the stockholders to be held on October 12.

CHATHAM INSPECTOR IS ASKED TO RESIGN

Scott Act Official Declared To Be a Disgrace To Town And Suggestion Is Made That His Report Be Barred.

Special to The Standard.

Chatham, N. B., Sept. 13.—Tonight's meeting of the town council was enlivened by several breezy discussions the chief of which was one one over the Scott Act and its enforcement. This was precipitated by Ald. Logie after the reading of Scott Act Inspector Lawson's report for August.

Four Convictions.

The report showed four convictions for the month of August and this small number was not satisfactory to several aldermen.

Ald. Logie declared the report unsatisfactory. Inspector Lawson in his opinion was going from bad to worse. He was not doing his duty, he was only playing at it. He moved that the inspector be discharged.

Ald. Haley also was not satisfied. He moved in amendment that the report of Scott Act Inspector Lawson be burned. "It is a disgrace to the town of Chatham and a disgrace to the inspector who hands it in," he declared.

Ald. Gallivan thought this was an absurd way to deal with a report.

Ald. Logie then moved, seconded by Ald. Haley, that the services of the Scott Act inspector be dispensed with.

Ald. Gallivan said this was too abrupt. "Why not give him thirty days' notice," said he, "his salary will have to be paid for this month, and the town will therefore be paying two salaries for this work."

He moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Carvell, that the matter lay over until the next monthly meeting.

This was carried. Yeas, Ald. Gallivan, Wyse, Carvell, Cassidy and Williams; nays, Logie, Haley and Tweedie.

MRS. ROGER FLANAGAN DEAD IN BOSTON

Sudden Demise Of Well Known Chatham Lady At Massachusetts Hospital — Relatives Too Late.

Boston, Sept. 13.—Roger Flanagan, one of the most prominent hotel men of Chatham, N. B., accompanied by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen Riley, after a race against death, arrived in Boston yesterday too late to see his wife alive. His daughter, Marguerite, hurrying from Albany, N. Y., was also too late to see her mother, Mrs. Mary Flanagan, who died late Saturday evening in a hospital on Newbury street. Mrs. Flanagan came to Boston two weeks ago to undergo an operation for a serious disease. An operation was performed and at first seemed to be successful. Late on Saturday night, only a few hours before the arrival of her relatives, Mrs. Flanagan died. When the three dearest to her arrived at the station, they were met by friends who broke the news to them that their race had been unsuccessful.

VILLIFIED ALDERMAN HITS ACCUSER HARD

Alderman Clearihue Of Montreal On Stand Before Royal Commission Implicates Former Witness.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—There was a sensational incident before the Royal Commission which is investigating civic affairs today when Ald. Clearihue went on the stand and swore that he had been offered $3,000 by Mark Workman, one of the big stock holders in the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company on condition that he vote for that company's tender for the street lighting.

Ald. Clearihue said that he had given Workman a tongue lashing he would not soon forget. Previously A. D. Porcheron, another stockholder, had made him an offer of stock in the company for his vote. Ald. Clearihue was most indignant because last Friday, W. McLea Walbank, vice-president of the company had gone on the stand and testified that the alderman had come to him looking for graft and that he had refused to pay.
