Dear Sir:

As an old timer, interested in the Conservative Party since the early 60's, I would like to draw your attention to the condition then in Old Canada, when there were three elections held in about the same number of years, with small majorities for either party. I would also like to recall Sir John A. MacDonald's action in the Fall of 1873 when he had the pluck to resign without awaiting a small adverse vote of Parliament.

No doubt you know all about the condition I refer to, although I see no reference in the Toronto papers
