He also spoke of the motto and aims of the order, and stated that their position was not antagonistic to the Roman Catholic Church. He referred to different periods in the world's history and the part which Orangeism had played in the making of great historical events.

Rev. Mr. Purdie, in closing, made a touching reference to the late Grand Master, Dr. A. W. MacRae, speaking of him as a man of sterling qualities, a scholar of renown and a man who had much influence in every sphere of life.

NEW THEATRE FORMALLY OPENED IN NEW YORK

Representatives of State and Nation Take Part in Ceremonies---Dedicated To the People.

New York, Nov. 6.—The new theatre, at Central Park west, from 62nd to 63rd street, built through the generosity of private subscriptions, for the encouragement of American dramatic genius and for the presentation of the best in all literature of all times, was formally opened this afternoon by representatives of the state and nation, who dedicated it to the people.

The ceremonies began with an overture rendered by the Metropolitan Opera Company, following which the keys were delivered by the architects to the founders, represented by J. Pierpont Morgan, who then introduced Senator Elihu Root and Governor Hughes.

MADAME STEINHEIL IS UNABLE TO TAKE STAND

Paris, Nov. 6.—Madame Steinheil was led fainting from the court room yesterday, and was not called to the stand when the trial was resumed today, somewhat to the disappointment of the spectators. Those who had witnessed the dramatic situations of the past three days were prepared for new thrills today. The court, however, elected to continue the examination of the state's witnesses, which was begun after the accused woman had collapsed.

67 Witnesses.

The prosecution had announced that it would call 67 witnesses, and three of these were heard late yesterday. The opening examination today was along the same lines, police witnesses being introduced to describe the appearance of the Steinheil home immediately after Adolphe Steinheil and his mother-in-law, Madame Japy, who been murdered. The purpose of the testimony was to show that there was no genuine evidence to support the claim of the widow that robbery was the motive for the crime. As upon preceding days, everyone who had been granted permission to hear the case was on hand early, and those who failed to gain admittance gathered around the entrance to the court room.

The first witnes today was Remi Couillard, formerly a servant in the Steinheil household, but now in the military service. It was Couillard who discovered Mme. Steinheil bound and gagged in her bed, and the bodies of her husband and step-mother in adjoining rooms. He recounted today the story which he had told the police, but nothing new was developed. In his examination special emphasis was laid upon the condition in which Mme. Steinheil was found. After the crime, Couillard left the service of Mme. Steinheil, and on November 18, 1908, he was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the murders. A pearl which Mme. Steinheil had claimed was stolen from the home at the time of the murders had been found in his possession, but after he had been held in jail for several days he was released upon Mme. Steinheil's confession that she had placed the jewel in his pocket.

MANAGER CONFIRMS STANDARD'S REPORT OF PREMIER DEAL

A. B. Wetmore Gives Some Interesting Facts Regarding Sale Of Clifton Ferry—Dr. Pugsley Endorsed a Note.

To the Editor of The Standard.
Sir:—

The evening Times of Nov. 4th makes a cowardly attempt to ridicule the statements of The Standard of the same date, regarding the management and sale of the Str. Premier. But the statements of The Standard were correct.

Dr. Pugsley did not tell the people at the launching of the Premier, that he was a subscriber, but Mr. E. S. Carter had informed the people time and again of this fact, as those who were at Clifton that day or had an interest in the boat, knew that Dr. Pugsley was one of the largest stockholders although he was by no means the first stock subscriber.

The writer in the Times and Telegraph also states that Dr. Pugsley had loaned the company $2500 and was bitten to that extent. Dr. Pugsley endorsed a note of the directors of the company for $2500 but up to the time of this announcement the directors had no knowledge that Dr. Pugsley had any intention of assuming the amount. I assure you that they will be greatly pleased to learn that he has done so.

How the Times writer received his knowledge of the receipts of 1909 is a mystery, but if the receipts of 1908 are in excess of those of 1909 the company will be glad to know that there is still a nice sum from that year's work to come into the treasury.

The statement that the new owners have no intention of taking the boat off the route is welcome, but past experience has net been successful, and one of the party on the day of the sale, made the following statement: "We can make her pay. We have the job of tending the dredge for next season, where the Winnie now is, at $25 per day. We can make her pay."

As to the so called disappointed group from Clifton, I was one of them and I alone was bidding on the boat for the purpose of keeping her on the route, where she was. Nor did I have to wait for the nod of the head from the organizer of a political party, either Liberal or Conservative. If politics never before has been brought up in connection with the company's work, the author of the article in the Times introduced it.

BOUDREAULT TO TRY ONTARIO COURTS

Unable To Secure Speedy Decision In Quebec In Case Against Mr. Van Filsen Of The Marine Department.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—After the inquiry into the Marine Department conducted by Judge Cassels last year, Mr. J. B. A. Boudreault, assistant accountant of the department, entered action for $50,000 in the Quebec courts, against Mr. VanFelsen, the Quebec manager, who swore that he gave Boudeault $3000 as a rakeoff in connection with the Holliday Bros., steamship contract. The action has however, never come to trial and Mr. Boudreault has now decided to enter suit for five thousand dollars in the Ontario courts in the hope that the case will be decided without undue delay.

WAR TO THE HILT IN TROUBLE OVER SCHOOLS

Government Action In Effort To Induce Parents To Send Children To Public Schools And Church.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The situation resulting from the French episcopate's declaration of war against the public schools and the effort to mobilize the Catholic voters, for the coming general election is rapidly entering an acute stage. The utterances of ecclesiastical and both the secular and clerical press indicates that the fight to bring Catholic children back to the confessional schools will be bitter.

Monsignor Gely and other bishops have publicly forbidden Catholic parents under penalty of a refusal of the sacrament to send their children to the schools if Catholic schools are available, and parents everywhere are urged to refuse to allow their children to use the interdicted textbook, under similar penalties.

Considerable demoralization of the schools has been caused already.

HAD NO OBJECTION TO RECENT SUCCESS MADE BY AVIATORS

Rev. G. H. Beamen Discusses David's Desire For Wings—Thinks It Showed Weakness On Psalmist's Part.

Speaking from the text "Oh, that I had wings like a dove," Rev. George H. Beaman, pastor of the Coburg street Christian church yesterday morning discussed problems of aviation. His subject was "David's desire to aviate or a weak spot in a strong character."

The speaker contended that in giving utterance to the words of the text, David had shown a moment of weakness. He wished to flee from the wrath of the enemy and the persecution of the wicked. As a Christian, David could not do this, but had to remain and bear the burden. David wished to fly away to get rest, the preacher said, but this he could not do, except in God's own way.

In illustrating his points Rev. Mr. Beaman referred to the recent success achieved by inventors of heavier-than-air machines and said he had nothing to say against these attempt as might be construed from his application of the text.

WINNECKE'S COMET IS COMING TOO

Another Celestial Wanderer Has Been Sighted At La Plata—The More The Merrier Says One.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Winnecke's comet, which has just been discovered by astronomers at La Plata, is one of the regular and orderly members of the solar system, whose return to visibility may be predicted with accuracy. It was first seen by Pons, who discovered a number of comets on June 12, 1819. Encke determined that it was moving in an orbit of about five and one half years' period, which subsequent returns and their consequent observations have shown to be very nearly right. It has Winnecke's name because he was the first who detected it in 1858—he was the strong[illegible] who detected it. Subsequent returns have been noted almost without failure, sometimes in the northern and at other times, and now, in the southern skies. The comet has been so closely observed that Oppolzer believed that like Encke's, its motion gave evidence of a resisting medium in space. The return in 1886, however, upset this conclusion. Winnecke's comet is moving in a rather broad ellipse (for a comet) the farther end of which extends some distance beyond the track of Jupiter, being one of a group of thirty known comets that this great planet by its attraction has turned into closed paths and made to be recognized as orderly attendants on the sun. They all may be depended on to appear with regularity in their predicted places at the proper times. The one irregularity is that on returning to the neighborhood of the planet's orbit, it might be at a time when the planet itself is again in the vicinity, as at the time of capture, and then the perturbations may lead to such change in the motions of the comet that it will be lost so far as relating it to its former orbit is concerned. Astronomers have noted some physical changes in Winnecke's comet, but nothing of the serious nature that related to Biela and one or two others, in which the original object was physically divided. It is in no wise likely that Winnecke's comet will be visible without a telescope, but it will probably remain for a few weeks within reach of the astronomers' telescopes and give to them an opportunity to refine still more their determination of its path, after which it will again pass to its long trip to the outer end of its orbit.

Bought by the City.

On Saturday Mr. T. T. Lantalum offered for sale the Robert Donaly properties situated in Prince of Wales and Musquash, including the Menzies lake and stream. The properties were sold under a mortgage claim. There were many bidders, some no doubt on speculation with the idea in mind that same day in the near future the water on the lake would be wanted for the West Side, while others had an interest in the properties and of course wanted them to bring a high price. After the figures reached $1200 the biding practically was between Mr. W. A. Quinton and Ald. James H. Frink. Mr. Frink purchased the property for the city at $1305.

ALL LIQUOR GOING TO PLASTER ROCK WILL BE SEIZED

Commissioner Farris Imposes Fines Amounitng To $650 For Illegal Selling — Undesirables Are Deported.

Mr. L. P. Farris, Commissioner of the G. T. P. Police, was in the city yesterday en route to his home from Plaster Rock, where he had presided at the trial of a number of cases for the illegal selling of liquor. Speaking with The Standard, Commissioner Farris said that six men had been brought before him charged with illegal selling and all had been convicted. Their total fines, which amounted to $60 were paid. Hon. W. P. Jones appeared on behalf of Chief of Police Foster, who laid the information, and Mr. J. H. R. Simms, of Bath, for the prisoner.

Four men were found guilty on one charge, and were fined $50 each. These were Gideon Day, John Day, Peter Crota and Thomas Wright. Rocco Crocco, found guilty of five violations, was fined $250, and Louis Perzeo, guilty of four violations, $20.

Cases of this kind, the Commissioner said, were very difficult to prove as it was hard to obtain the necessary evidence. One case of whiskey addressed to Reginald Curtis, Plaster Rock, had been seized by the police officers and advertised for sale as Curtis stated he had never ordered it. The Commissioner added that he had given instructions to seize all liquor that came to Plaster Rock.

Robert Buneo, and three women were deported last week from Plaster Rock by Immigration Officer Cameron, assisted by the police officers of the G. T. P. as they were undesirable citizens.

Mr. Farris will leave for his home at White's Cove this morning.

Besides cash a large number of notes that are maturing are also in the vault.
