LAURIER'S EMISSARY

Has Been Sent to Treat With the Manitoba

REGARDING THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

Has Archbishop Langevin Agreed to Accept a Compromise

That will Give Them Public Schools in Name, in which the French Language May be Taught and Religious Instruction Given?—The Story Published by La Patrie—Le Soir, the Laurier-Tarte Organ, and the Stars and Stripes—Toronto's Dead Sunday—Sir Donald's Return to England.

Montreal, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Your correspondent learns that Hon. Mr. Laurier has sent an emissary to treat with the Catholic authorities of Manitoba regarding the settlement of the school question, and on this question La Patrie makes the following rather startling announcement: "Before Mgr. Langevin's departure for Rome, His Grace ordered his representatives to accept a compromise that will give our compatriots schools in which French may be taught as well as religious instruction. In fact, the Manitoba clergy have so far recovered from their apprehension of Hon. Mr. Laurier that they will accept schools, public in name, and under a Protestant superintendent. We guarantee the truth of this affirmation, and in a few days we will be able to explain the nature of the mission undertaken by the delegate sent to Manitoba by Hon. Mr. Laurier."

Is This the Laurier-Tarte Flag?

Le Soir is the especial organ of Hon. Messrs. Laurier and Tarte, since the Premier threw La Patrie overboard. The office is located on Notre Dame-street, and a large American flag is flaunted in a most conspicuous manner in the window, and causes no end of surprise and criticism. The small corner of an English flag is visible, and the tri-color is hidden altogether, so it is plainly evident that the organ-in-chief intends people to understand that their flag is the Star Spangled Banner.

Toronto's Dead Sunday.

Montreal hotelkeepers are rejoicing over the fact that great numbers of tourists swarm down upon them every week, in order to get clear of what they call Toronto's dead Sunday. One of them, an American, explained to The World that he and his family of three daughters got caught in the Queen City last season, but as there were no street cars, it cost him an outrageous sum to get about. This year he gave Toronto the go by, and others have done likewise.

Sir Donald Sailed.

Sir Donald Smith sailed from New York yesterday for Liverpool, having remained less than a week in Canada.

MOVEMENTS OF POLITICIANS.

The Conservative Leaders Leave for Home—Major Sutherland, the Liberal Whip, Continues to Hold the Fort.

The three members of the late Administration who have made the Queen's their headquarters during the past few days parted company on Saturday, Hon. Dr. Montague going west by Grand Trunk Railway, en route to Dunnville; Hon. A. F. Wood and Hon. John Haggart going east, the latter taking the steamer at Kingston.

H. Cargill, M.P., who has been in the city for a few days, in consultation with them, also left for his home.

Although the Liberals filed their protests in 11 constituencies on Saturday, Major Sutherland continued his levee yesterday and fresh arrivals of Liberals on Saturday and Sunday kept him busy. The entirely unseated and disqualified gentleman from Welland, Mr. W. M. German, spent Sunday in the city, and occupied the next room to Major Sutherland at the Rossin House, with whom he was in close consultation during the day.

Major Lister, M.P., of Lambton, and A. F. Wood, M.P., of Hamilton, also arrived in the morning and they also at once made their way to the "Mecca" of all politicians of the Liberal stripe.

Among other callers upon the Liberal Whip were S. C. Warner of Napanee, John Carruthers of Prescott, W. A. Van Tassel and James Reddan of Kingston, and W. C. Caldwell of Lanark.

J. R. Minhinnick and Fred S. Trebilcock of London were at the Rossin House on Saturday.

JUNCTION POLICE CASES.

Bunccoats Busy in the Railway Town—A Watch Thief Wanted.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 2.—James Maw, a wheelwright resident in the town, was out last night with some companions, and the party was having a good time until late in the evening, when some dispute arose. In consequence fight some one grabbed Maw's watch and made off. The victim of the robbery called for help, and Constable Graham, who was hurrying to the scene of the row, pursued the thief, who threw the watch away, and after a hard chase made good his escape. He is said to be known, and will probably appear before the Magistrate to answer for his misdeed. The watch was found in a nearby yard.

A homeless wanderer, whose latest place of abode, he said, was Toronto, was arrested last night while begging in the streets. He was intoxicated, and acted in an unbecoming manner. The police say. He said his name was George Rain.

Double Charge To-Day.

Some time ago Policeman Bogart was making an arrest in the west end of the city, when a man named Robert Sheppard, who lives at 230 Euclid-avenue, interfered in behalf of the prisoner. Bogart endeavored to capture Sheppard also, whereat the latter is alleged to have assaulted him and then got away. On Saturday night Policeman Craig (124) came across Sheppard and ran him into No. 3 Police Station, and he will appear in court to-day to answer a charge of interfering with and assaulting an officer while performing his duties.

Return of Johnny Johnson.

New York, Aug. 1.—Johnny Johnson, the Minneapolis racing man, who went abroad some time ago under "Tom" Eck's management, returned on the Paris yesterday, accompanied by J. W. Parsons, the Australian champion. The latter's chief claim to fame lies in the fact that he once defeated Zimmerman. Johnson said he expected to start this evening for Chicago, and thought very likely he would take part in the National races at Louisville next week. Parsons announced his intention of riding against any man who was willing to make a match.

THERE IS NO FRIGHT HERE.

Canadian Banks are Not Importing Gold Owing to Any Nervousness as Stated in New York Despatches.

Montreal, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—The despatches from New York to the Canadian papers stating that Montreal banks were withdrawing gold from the United States on account of a nervousness in the Dominion over the currency question in the neighboring Republic are not borne out by facts. On the contrary, the leading banks here deny that gold is being brought into Canada for the reasons given in the despatches in question. The general manager of the Bank of Montreal was found in his office yesterday by The World correspondent and certainly did not betray the slightest degree of uneasiness while discussing the question.

"We have not brought any gold into Canada for a good while," said Mr. Clouston, "and it is not probable any is coming in for the reasons alleged in the Toronto and New York despatches. However," concluded the banker, "the sound money men should not be too sanguine over the result of the Presidential campaign, as overconfidence might put them into a hole."

What Manager Galt Says.

Mr. John Galt, who has lately been appointed manager of the Merchants' Bank of Canada in New York, arrived in Montreal yesterday, and was likewise interviewed by your correspondent. Mr. Galt states that whatever gold is being brought into Canada is certainly not for speculative purposes, but rather for the legitimate requirements of the Canadian banks. At the present season the banks cannot sell New York funds and they bring in gold at a much cheaper rate. A good deal of our exports, such as cattle, butter and cheese, is now going forward, and Mr. Galt was not aware that any more than the ordinary quantity of gold was coming in. The legitimate requirements of the banks were considerable at midsummer, and this was all there was to the story of a withdrawal of gold by the banking institutions of Canada.

The Feeling in New York.

"What is the feeling in New York financial circles just now?" Mr. Galt was asked.

"Things," he replied, "are at a standstill and little will be done until the election. A feeling of great uncertainty exists, and although the gold men express the greatest confidence in McKinley's return there is in spite of this fact a strong feeling in favor of free silver."

Mr. Galt also referred to the great combination of bankers in New York who had pledged themselves not to export gold, and these men are bringing all possible pressure upon others to act in the same manner.

"And will they succeed?" asked the correspondent.

"Well," replied Mr. Galt, "I am of the opinion that they have a big contract in hand, although they are doing their best to help the United States Government in the present financial difficulty."

Mr. Kennedy of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who was seen later in the day, said that they had brought in $800,000 during the month of July. This had nothing whatever to do with speculation but simply to meet the requirements of their legitimate business.

THE STRIKING TAILORS.

There Was Some Rioting in New York—Many Going to Work With Bosses Who Signed the Agreement.

New York, Aug. 2.—Rioting was the chief feature of the tailors' strike on the East Side to-day, on account of the Contractors' Association declining at a meeting on Saturday night to open their shops to-day and to take union or non-union men to work. The Brotherhood of Tailors had committees in front of every shop at 5.30 o'clock in the morning, and as the men came to go to work tried to persuade them to join the strikers. In most cases the committees were successful, but not without several small fights, which the police quickly stopped.

During the afternoon it was figured that about 1500 non-union men who were going to work this morning had joined the strikers.

All the shops that signed the agreement with the Brotherhood were working during the day, and took in about 1800 of the strikers.

From reports received from Brooklyn and Brownsville, it was learned that the men there were still out. A mass meeting of the striking tailors was held in the Windsor Theatre, on the Bowery, during the afternoon, and the house was crowded from the orchestra to the gallery. Over 4000 men and women were present. All of the speakers counselled the men to hold out. Their addresses were received with much enthusiasm, but there was nothing disorderly in the demonstration.

FLOOD IN VIENNA.

A Cloudburst Causes the Loss of a Number of Lives.

Vienna, Aug. 1.—A cloud-burst occurred here to-day, and several districts of the city were flooded, the residents in a number of the houses in the submerged districts being obliged to leave their homes. One dwelling house collapsed, killing one of the inmates and injuring several others. Three persons were drowned. The damage to property is very great.

Mr. Harty Improving.

Sixty-two Years Solid. Hut—

Burlington, Aug. 2.—After the Chicago convention, The Burlington Gazette, one of the oldest Democratic papers in the state, announced that it would stand by the Democratic ticket, although free silver was almost too much for it. Last night, however, it said editorially that, although it had fought the battles of Democracy for 62 years, it must now refuse to support the Chicago nominee.

Nearly Died to Death.

Annie Cavanagh, who is 70 years of age, and lives at Cummings and DeGrassi-street, is in the General Hospital suffering from a cut in the right temporal artery, from which she has almost bled to death. Late on Saturday night the old woman fell against a stove at her home while she was alone in the house, and when she was discovered by neighbors was lying unconscious in a pool of blood. Dr. Rowan was called in, and after he had fixed the injured woman up temporarily, ordered her immediate removal to the Hospital, where she was taken in the police ambulance.

THE CONVENTION AT DUBLIN

Mr. John Dillon Writes a Statement for the United States and Canada.

IT IS A GENUINE PEACE MOVEMENT

Whereby All the Irish Factions Can Settle Their Differences

And Make a Strong, United Stand, Which is Their Only Hope of the Revival of the Cause of Self-Government for Ireland—All Denominations Invited to Take Part in the Gathering—The Question of Leadership will be Discussed, and Mr. Sexton May be Asked to Re-Enter Politics.

New York, Aug. 2.—The Sun's London correspondent says: I have been authorized to make an announcement which contains the only hope of the revival of the cause of self-government for Ireland. It is welcome news that a genuine, earnest effort will be made at Dublin, a month hence, to harmonize all factions in the ranks of the Irish Nationalists. Messrs. Dillon, Healy, Redmond and all their fellowers are willing to admit that there is no hope of the accomplishment of the object for which all are supposed to be striving, until the disputes which have divided them since the death of Mr. Parnell, are abandoned and their forces are united under a single leadership once more.

Concessions Must be Made.

It is, of course, impossible to gain this fusion without important personal and other concessions on all sides. These concessions the great majority of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament are not only ready but anxious to make. They will make them at the convention to be held next month in Dublin. Meantime, the preliminary announcement of their purpose is contained in the following statement prepared by Mr. John Dillon, after consultation with his associates, and handed to me for publication in the United States and Canada.

Mr. Dillon's Statement.

"The national convention which is to meet at Dublin on Sept. 12, was summoned with a view of affording an opportunity to all who desire to see unity restored among the Irish Nationalists, to come together and lay down a platform in support of which Irish Nationalists throughout the world might act together. With that object in view, the proposals for the convention were made so wide as to embrace all Irish Nationalists who desire to give a fair trial to the constitutional methods.

A Representative Convention.

"It is now manifest that, so far as Ireland and the Irishmen in Great Britain are concerned, the convention will be the most representative which has assembled since the split of 1891; and it will have, as compared with previous conventions, the advantage of the presence, at its deliberations, of many representative Irishmen from other parts of the world. Its decisions must, therefore, have great weight with the Irish race, and lasting influence on the future of the Irish movement.

All Denominations Invited.

"The convention was not summoned in the interests of any section or of any individual, as is plainly shown by the rules which have been laid down for the admission of delegates, under which every organized body of Irishmen who are sympathisers with the Home Rule movement have a right to be represented. Clergymen of all denominations and all representative Nationalists holding positions conferred by the votes of their fellow-citizens are entitled to attend. The Parnellite party have also been invited to take part in making arrangements for the convention.

Mr. Dillon's Personal Views.

"For my own part, if, at the convention, or subsequently, as a result of its proceedings, any man could be agreed upon under whose chairmanship all the Irish Nationalist members of Parliament would unite, I should, as I have always stated, be most willing to support him in the office. It seems to me that if any section of Irish Nationalism declines to take part in this convention, the duty will be thrown upon them of stating to their countrymen how, in their judgment, can be effected the reunion in the National ranks which is of the first importance to the progress of the National cause.

The Peace Movement Genuine.

"I shall not undertake to prophesy what the result of these overtures from the most numerous section of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament will be. I wish to emphasize the fact that this peace movement is genuine and sincere, and that any faction which resists it will assume a grave responsibility before the Irish race. It may, perhaps, resolve itself into a question of personal leadership, and it must be admitted that the difficulties will be great, because there exists no commanding figure, in or out of Parliament to whom all factions can turn. There is some talk of inducing Mr. Sexton to return to politics as a compromise leader of the consolidated forces, but the so-called Dillon party, who are in the van of the present peace movement, have no candidate to propose."

Ontario's Health is Good.

Dr. Bryce, the secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, has issued his annual report. Advices from every part of the province show a very satisfactory condition of health. The province is, and has been, comparatively free from contagious disease, and such epidemics as have existed have all been traced to their sources, and the causes removed, and matters rectified, as far as possible. The report is, on the whole, encouraging and is a credit to Dr. Bryce and his department.

Great Reception to Eva Booth—The Conservatives Will Try to Disqualify Richardson, M.P.-Elect for Lisgar.

Winnipeg, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Eva Booth, head of the Salvation Army, arrived in Winnipeg on Saturday and was given a great reception by the Army people. To-day she addressed largely attended public meetings.

Want to Disqualify Richardson.

The Conservatives on Saturday filed petitions against the return of R. L. Richardson, member-elect for Lisgar, and John A. McDonnell, member-elect for Selkirk. In the case of Mr. Richardson personal disqualification is asked.

THEY WILL GIVE TARTE ROPE.

Consequently He Will Have No Opposition in St. Johns and Iberville To-Day—More Protests.

Montreal, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—To-morrow is nomination day in St. Johns and Iberville, and more of Hon. Mr. Tarte's alleged revelations are promised. There will not probably be any opposition to the Minister of Public Works, as most people want him to have all the rope possible.

It is understood that by to-morrow the elections in St. Anne's, St. Antoine, St. Lawrence, Jacques Cartier, L'Assomption, Two Mountains, Maskinonge, Laval, Beauharnois and, perhaps, others will be protested.

THEIR SKULLS CRUSHED IN

Discovery of a Brutal Double Murder at a Summer Boarding House Near Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—A brutal double murder was discovered this morning in a barn in the rear of a summer boarding house in the suburb of Narbeth. Ewert McDarnell, aged 35 years, and Mary Brown, aged 25, both colored, were found lying on the ground side by side with their skulls crushed in. The woman was a servant in the boarding house and McDarnell is said to have been her husband, although she was known by the name of Brown. The woman was a flirt, and it is supposed some lover has killed the couple. The police claim to know the name of the man whom they suspect of the murder and expect to have him under arrest shortly.

SOUND MONEY DEMOCRATS

Will Hold a Convention for the State of Illinois on August 25.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The Sound Money Democracy of Illinois will hold a State convention. This step was formally decided upon yesterday by the State Executive Committee. Chairman Ewing was directed to prepare a call for the convention to be held in Chicago, Aug. 25, to nominate a full State ticket and elect delegates to the anti-Free Silver National Convention. There is considerable talk in Democratic circles that Chairman Heinrichsen of the Democracy State Committee will exercise his authority as Secretary of State to prevent the gold Democrats using the name "Democratic" on the ballots with any attachment.

WENT DOWN CHEERING.

Men on the Sinking Itis Gave Three Hurrahs for William.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Despatches from Chefoo says that the commander and crew of the German third-class cruiser Itis, which was lost in a typhoon on July 2, about ten miles northward of the Shantung Promontory, sank with three hurrahs for Emperor William on their lips.

CATTLE THIEVES MUST DIE.

Two Get the Extreme Penalty at the Indian Court—Others Lashed.

South McAllister, I.T., Aug. 2.—The Indian Court sitting at Witumpka has sentenced two men to death for cattle-stealing, and others are to undergo the whipping post for having committed similar offences. Isaac McGirt, who stole a cow more than a year ago will be given 100 lashes on the bare back, and Lumpka Harjo, for horse-breaking, will receive 50 lashes. For his third offence at cattle-stealing Jesse Thlocco was sentenced to death by shooting. One, Wilson, was convicted of helping Thlocco, and will receive 100 lashes. Sandy Deacon, who was charged for the third time with hog and cattle-stealing, was given a death sentence.

Don't be Self-Righteous.

Rev. Wilberforce Lee, preaching at Olivet Congregational Church last night upon the sin of self-righteousness, used some plain language. He regretted this evil, which it was plainly evident was growing rapidly in the Christian Church, and lamented that there were so few self-confessed sinners, and so many professed righteous ones. He referred to the unchristian conduct of so-called Christian men and women, and their failure to follow in the footsteps of Him whose name they professed. He expressed the opinion that, good though many of those present believed themselves to be, if some poor, dirty, unkempt, ragged and evil-smelling tramp were to wander in and drop into a pew in the crowded centre of the church, instead of receiving a practical illustration of Christianity, the poor unfortunate fellow, sinner though he be, would soon find that he had quite a wide circle of vacant pews around him. The preacher urged the well-to-do in the congregation to take a deeper interest in their less fortunate fellows, and pointed out to the "righteous" ones that Christ came not to save them, but to bring "sinners" to repentance.

NEW SCRIPTURES DISCOVERED.

Old Gnostic Writings, Hitherto Unknown Even in Name, Unearthed at Cairo—The Gospel According to Mary.

London, Aug. 2.—Several most important discoveries have just been made in Cairo bearing upon the history of the Christian Church in the first two centuries of the era. Among them is a manuscript from the fifth century, which is a Coptic translation of three original Gnostic writings of the second century. Its value consists not only in the fact that it hands down old Gnostic writings that have hitherto been unknown even by name, but, above all, in the circumstance that one of them was known to Irenaeus and epitomized by him without any statement of the source from which he had derived it. The discovery of this manuscript enables us for the first time to test the accounts of the Gnostic systems as given by the church fathers in the light of the original manuscript. It contains three independent treatises entitled "The Gospel according to Mary, or the Apocryphon of John;" second, "The Wisdom of Jesus Christ;" third, "The Praetice of Peter." The "Gospel of Mary" is the document used by Irenaeus, and consists mainly of the Revelation of John. "The Wisdom of Jesus Christ" consists of questions addressed to Him by His disciples and His answers. "The Practice of Peter" is a narrative of one of Peter's miracles of healing.

THE STRIKE IS ON AGAIN.

Trouble at the Brown Works in Cleveland Has Been Renewed—A Man Shot and Fatally Wounded.

Cleveland, Aug. 2.—The strike is on again at the Brown Hoisting Works. Friday night all the union men who had gone back under the agreement were called out. The men assert that they were deceived by the way in which the agreement was construed to them. The agreement was a complete surrender on the part of the men. When the works shut down last night there was a threatening crowd outside, and the police were hurried to the scene. Aside from the jostlings of non-union men, however, there was no disturbance.

Two companies of militia and every available policeman was ordered at the Brown works by Mayor McKisson shortly before noon yesterday, in anticipation of trouble when the men came out at noon.

At 12 o'clock a crowd of 25 non-union men left the works without police escort. They were intercepted by three or four men, who followed them at a distance. The locked out men threw rocks at the men they were following.

This so excited the latter that just before reaching Clinton-street several of them pulled revolvers and commenced shooting. John Prinz of No. 1186 St. Clair-street, a union moulder employed at city foundry No. 2, while walking home on Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad tracks was shot three times. One bullet passed under his heart and through an arm, below the elbow. Before reaching the hospital he became unconscious and it was feared that he would die at any moment. Prinz is 28 years old, married, and has two children.

CONFESSED TO MURDER.

Frederick Hildebrand Suicides After Confessing That He Killed a Man for Which Another Awaits Death.

Baltimore, Aug. 2.—The convict known as Frederick Whitney, who committed suicide at the Maryland Penitentiary Yesterday, appears by his confession to have added murder to his long list of crimes. Friday afternoon Whitney told Warden Weyler that his real name was Frederick Hildebrand, and that his home was in Detroit, Mich.

The "hold-up" of City Councilman Swindel, for which Whitney was serving an 18-years' sentence, occurred on March 23, 1895.

In his confession he said that while fleeing from the Baltimore detectives he killed and robbed a man in Attoona, Pa., in April of last year.

"While we were in Altoona," declared Whitney, or Hildebrand, "we assaulted a man on the street, murdered him and robbed him of his money, quite a large sum. For this murder another man was arrested, tried and convicted."

The warden tried to get more information from his prisoner, but failed. He set apart an hour for a further conference with Hildebrand, but the opportunity for which the prisoner had long waited presented itself yesterday, and the unfortunate man threw himself from a window and dashed out his brains on the flagging, 30 feet below.

Information from Altoona states that on April 5, 1895, Henry Boaneka, a reputed miser, was murdered. A man named Wilson was arrested and convicted of the crime, mainly on circumstantial evidence, and is now awaiting the death penalty. John B. Williams, who was implicated in the Swindell "hold-up" in this city, for horse-breaking, will receive 50 lashes. For his third offence at cattle-stealing Jesse Thlocco was sentenced to death by shooting. One, Wilson, was convicted of helping Thlocco, and will receive 100 lashes. Sandy Deacon, who was charged for the third time with hog and cattle-stealing, was given a death sentence.

Should be a Policeman There.

There is great need of more efficient police service in High Park on Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Among the thousands of wheelers who use the drives are some who entirely disregard the rules of the road, endangering other riders as well as pedestrians, while not a few make a practice of coasting down the east hill. Many accidents have resulted from this habit, scarcely a Sunday passing without several cases of injury being reported; and it is not always the delinquent that is hurt. Yesterday one reckless rider, coasting down the hill, lost control of his wheel, ran off the drive and knocked down a child, which was somewhat bruised in the encounter. To prevent such accidents it is urged that a constable should be stationed at the top of the hill to check any tendency to coast. This is the opinion of a great many wheelmen who make High Park their rendezvous on rest days.

THE YOUNG CZAR NOW SEES

What the Unspeakable Turk Has Been Doing in Armenia and Crete.

HE WAS POSTED BY HIS RELATIVES.

This Causes a Sort of a Palace Revolution in Russia

And Prince Lobanoff, Who Has Heretofore been Hand in Glove with the German Emperor, Has Been Divested of His Unlimited Power as Foreign Minister—The Czar is in Bad Health—His Coming Visit West.

cables from London to The Times: It is more than surmised in official circles here that there has been a sort of palace revolution in Russia, and that Prince Lobanoff, if not overthrown, has been divested of his unlimited power as Foreign Minister. He has been from the beginning hand in glove with the German Emperor, so much so as to justify the original suspicion that his appointment was managed from Berlin. The credit for his defeat is now given to the Czar's mother, who never has forgotten that she is a Danish Princess and who hates all things German. Whether she likes all things English is not so clear. But for the moment at least English statesmen think the way may be opened for a more effective pro-Christian policy in the Levant.

Opening the Czar's Eyes.

It is understood that between his Greek, English and Danish relatives the young Czar has been brought to know the truth about Armenia and Crete, and to say that Russia shall no longer play the monstrous part of the Sultan's supporter in these crimes against civilization. Upon this new basis, I am told, fresh negotiations are now proceeding among the powers, and it is not impossible that Germany may find herself alone, or at best with only Austria's lukewarm assent, in the position of backing up Turkish misrule. If all this be true, there are numerous indications that it is, then at last something can be done to break the shameful deadlock in the east.

The Young Emperor's Health.

It is known that the Czar's health continues bad and that a distinct anxiety exists that it may never improve. He and his wife are coming westward about a month hence, visiting Vienna first. Several dates have been announced, but it is said that the exact time is still unsettled. Beyond the understanding that Darmstadt, Copenhagen, Berlin and London are also on the imperial program nothing is known. Paris is feverishly excited as to its chances in this list, and it is difficult, certainly, to see how it can with decency be left out. Yet it is also obvious that the Parisians would make a demonstration which would throw the whole or the rest of the journey into the shade. For this reason it is now suggested that the Czar will go to all the other places first, then interpose a period of quiet seaside rest somewhere, perhaps Norway, and then make the French visit a thing by itself.

He's Not a Soldier.

Nothing is clearer about Nicholas than that he is devoid of military ambition. His associations are not with soldiers and he has a strong aversion to the martial element in the ceremonials of court life. This fact makes it possible to view the organized disturbances in Macedonia with less apprehension than may have been aroused a few years ago. That they are being produced under the auspices of the Macedonia Committee, which gets its money chiefly from Russian sources, is nowhere doubted. There is a feeling, however, that if the Czar lives and maintains even a nominal grip on things these mischief-makers will not be allowed to go to the length of provoking a war. Unhappily there is always a large margin of chance in Russian politics, and if one palace clique can upset Lobanoff another may hoist him to the head of affairs again and, no matter how pacific the Czar may be, there is a powerful army influence always pulling in the other direction.

A SWEETHEARTS' QUARREL.

It Eventuates in a Young Man Being Arrested for a Two-Fold Assault.

A young man named George Murray, who lives at 17 Richmond-street east, is in trouble owing to his peculiar methods of wooing Miss Mary Wentworth, and is also charged with trespassing at the house of Mrs. Mary Ann Huff, 61 Trinity-square. The story of the affair as told by the police is that Murray and Miss Wentworth had been keeping company some time ago, but the course of true love not running smoothly, the young lady declined to have anything further to do with her former admirer. Miss Wentworth is for the present staying with Mrs. Huff. On Saturday night it is alleged that Murray called at the house and, being refused admittance, forced an entrance and committed an assault on Miss Wentworth. Mrs. Huff, it is claimed, was also assaulted. The police were notified of the occurrence and Acting Detective Mackie of No. 2 precinct placed the offender under arrest.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S OLD SONG.

He Writes on the American Political Situation in The Saturday Review and Scolds England.

New York, Aug. 2.—Mr. Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: Goldwin Smith, in The Saturday Review of to-day, has a long article, "American Political Situation," which he views with characteristic gloom. He makes the point that if Canada was in the union, her vote would turn the scale in favor of honest money, and scolds England for continuing to sever the northern fringe of the continent from its natural affiliations, and to attach it to Europe, whereas, if Canada had a voice in the councils of her own hemisphere, she would be helpful to all concerned.

KILLED HIS AGED FATHER.

A Horrible Story From the Mining Village of Darragh, Near Greensburg, Pa.—The Culprit Jailed.

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—At the mining village of Darragh, near the Madison coal works, last night about 12 o'clock Patrick Coyle, a miner, aged 70 years, was pounded and choked to death by his son Walter Coyle, aged about 20 years. Mrs. Coyle, the mother of the murderer, was an eye-witness to the crime, and on her knees pleaded for the life of her husband, but finally was compelled to flee. Young Coyle's wife recently became demented, and was sent to an asylum, Coyle's parents taking charge of her infant. Young Coyle came home last night and was reproached by his father for drinking and neglecting his child, and the murder followed. The mother gave the alarm, and a number of miners of the neighborhood came in, and, after a desperate struggle, overpowered the murderer. The sheriff was sent for and took Coyle to jail.

PICKED UP IN MID-OCEAN.

The Steamship La Bourgogne Had Quite a Time Rescuing the Crew of the Wrecked Barque Ernest.

Quarantine, S.I., Aug. 2.—The French Line steamer La Bourgogne, from Havre, arrived at quarantine this morning with the crew of the German barque Ernest, taken from that vessel in midocean. On July 28 the Ernest was sighted, showing signals of distress. The La Bourgogne was headed toward the Ernest in order to render assistance. The wind was blowing a strong breeze from the west and the sea was heavy and exceedingly ugly. Lieut. M. Motay, in charge of a lifeboat, was sent to ascertain the trouble. In lowering the boat the falls unhooked, and a huge wave washed the lieutenant overboard. After considerable delay and difficulty, the lieutenant was picked up. In the meantime a second boat was lowered in charge of Third Lieutenant M. Rempter, and both boats proceeded to the wreck, and after several trips the captain and eleven seamen were rescued. The La Bourgogne resumed her voyage after a delay of four hours. The abandoned vessel was the barque Ernest, Captain Ahrens, from Carnarvon, for Shediac, N.B., in ballast. She had ten feet of water in the hold.

WAS POOLE DROWNED?

The Tara Photographer's Mysterious Disappearance From a Skiff Near Port Elgin—May Have Fallen Overboard.

Southampton, Ont., Aug. 2.—On Friday evening about 7 o'clock Mr. F. N. Poole, photographer, of Tara, hired a rowboat from the Park boat house. He was seen by the Chanley Island light-keeper about 8 o'clock about a mile south of the pier rowing towards Port Elgin. The rowboat was picked up yesterday about six miles out in the lake by the schooner Coroner and brought to this port. Mr. Poole's cap and coat and one oar were in the boat. The boat had no water in it. Mr. Poole is supposed to have fallen overboard and been drowned.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

Who is Responsible for Flooding the Streets at Noon and Five o'Clock?

"Well, Mr. McKenzie, and how are Sunday cars getting along?" remarked a World reporter to the President of the Street Railway Company the other day.

"I really have not had time to look into the matter," was the reply. "I have been away and don't know how things are going. If the people want Sunday cars all they have to do is to say so and we will accommodate them." The company, however, cannot do anything until the people by their votes say they want them. Has there been any change in public opinion since the last vote and how will you take the pulse of the people to take the Sunday cars?" queried Mr. McKenzie.

The World young man intimated to the president that if the company persisted in flooding the asphalt pavement between the tracks on the crowded streets in the centre of the city with their electric sprinkler at noon and five o'clock every day just as bicyclists by the thousands were hurrying home they need not expect to get much support in that quarter.

"That is just the trouble," said Mr. McKenzie. "In that case we are again blamed unjustly. It is not we but the city that is responsible for the watering of the streets. We only do it for the corporation as they want it," and the president passed on.

The practice is not only inconvenient, but very dangerous. Just at the hours named everyone is in a hurry to get home and great difficulty is experienced by wheelmen in getting through the throng of vehicles and rapidly moving cars. With the asphalt pavement in the condition it is at those hours the wheel is certain to slip if a sharp turn is attempted, even by experienced riders, whereas if the watering was done an hour earlier the pavement would be dry enough not to be slippery and still moist enough to prevent the dust flying.

THE TIME FOR FURS.

Great Bargains Can Now Be Struck at Dineens' Well-Stocked Store.

Very frequently tourists from the other side take advantage of the low prices at which fine furs may be procured in Toronto. Dineens' being the largest stock in the city, and the business having been established for upwards of 25 years, the great majority of our neighbors naturally flock there. The traveling public, especially those going on the water, need a supply of small, light furs during this month, and at no time can they be had at a cheaper rate than now. It would also be a matter of policy to secure right away any that might be required for winter use. Come early and avoid the rush. Now is the best time also to have your last
