Should instructions to this end n there is no doubt large numbers the 28th Dragoons and the 8th rs, the only two cavalry units in province, will be included. Rercuit- with both regiments to war strength been going on steadily.

No further word has been received om headquarters by the 3rd Regiment Canadian Artillery, as to when they will be expected to entrain for Valcartier. It is the belief that orders for their departure will not be given until at least the end of the week, as their recruiting to the required strength will not be completed for a few days. Another reason is that at Partridge Island recruits for overseas are being given a satisfactory seasoning and training, with a daily programme of drill which occupies their time very thoroughly.

At Valcartier.

A letter received from Valcartier today by one of the local militia officers said that a great militia camp was established there, seemingly in a few hours the big barren stretch of field being transformed to a hustling centre. The strictest military discipline was being maintained, and the troops from St. John and elsewhere were being put through a rigorous routine in order to fit them for the campaign in Europe, where they will soon be transported. The expectation amongst those at Valcartier was that the artillery units generally through Canada would not be called to the camp for a few days.

Went with Guides.

The lure of conflict proved too much for one of the members of the 28th Dragoons—Sergeant-Major Walter Paxten. A veteran of three other campaigns in the Imperial service, including the Boer war, he could not restrain himself when the Motherland was again in peril, and rather than wait to take his chances with the regiment in which he had been attached in St. John he relinquished his rank and connection therewith and volunteered for service with the Corps of Guides. He left yesterday for Valcartier. Sergeant-Major Paxten has been a valiant soldier, and has come through some exciting experiences in active service. His arm bears evidence of one sharp fight, having been pierced with bullets. His wife and two children he left behind, knowing that they would be well taken care of. The duty of the Guides is the most hazardous of any unit, in that they are more often called upon to do duty as spies, but rather than wait for the possibility of going with the 28th, the sergeant-major went along wth them. He has for some time past been employed as a motorman with the St. John Railway Co.

STRENUOUS TRAINING FOR THE TROOPS AT VALCARTIER

Nearly 20,000 Expected to be in Camp By Tonight—Formation of a Nova Scotia Regiment

Valcartier, Que., Aug. 25—Over two thousand troops from Montreal arrived at the mobilization camp at six o'clock this morning, and three hours later, they were out on the training grounds, being put through a stiff drill by instructors of the permanent forces.

This clearly indicates that the volunteers are given plenty of hard work to perform, and there is absolutely no unnecessary delay in having them begin it.

The kilties mustering over 1,000 officers and men, are now the strongest unit in the camp.

The Strength at Camp.

At noon today another special train drew into the camp siding, bringing about 900 men, comprising several regiments from Calgary and the westerners were given a stirring reception. It is expected that about 5,000 militiamen will have reached Valcartier before night, putting the total strength of the camp to 18,000 to 19,000 men, almost enough to make the first contingent. Every soldier in the camp is now being drilled in musketry, and organization.

Many thousands were under instruction in various parts of the training grounds this morning.

The minister of militia has wired Lieut. Colonel Robertson, commander of the 78th Pictou regiment, authorizing the formation of a Nova Scotia regiment consisting of every Nova Scotia volunteer in the camp. At present there are eight units from this province of about 750 men, and it is planned to organize one regiment of one thousand men under command of Lieut. Colonel Robertson, to represent the entire province.

To Buy Guns

Lieut. Colonel Robertson is now communicating with the municipalites for assistance in the way of money to purchase machne guns, horses and other necessary equipment.

It is understood the provincial government will assist the regiment. Lieut. Col. Robertson is a very capable soldier and accompanied the minister of militia to Europe last year.

IN POLICE COURT

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, colored, appeared before Magistrate Ritchie this morning to answer to a charge of endangering human life by leaving their child, five years of age, locked in their house last week. Policeman Rankine, who made the report, gave evidence that this was a common occurrence, and that the child had access to matches which caused a fire in the house a few days ago. Mrs. Kennedy admitted the charge and said that she left the child while she and her husband went out to work. They were severely reprimanded by the magistrate and allowed to go.

James McAnulty was fined $8 or two months in jail for using abusive language to James Hickey, a former policeman.

A foreigner who appeared in the police court this morning said he came here last week from Newfoundland. He pleaded guilty to being drunk, and also to resisting Sergeant Baxter. He was sent to jail for six months.

Following are the troops which left tonight: Fifth Royal Highlanders of Canada 1,115; First Royal Montreal, composed of First Grenadier Guards of Canada 400; Third Victoria Rifles, 370; 65th Carbiniers of Mount Royal, 307; total, 2,192.

Richardson, of England, was united in marriage to James Richards of this city. The bride who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in pale blue silk, with lace overdress and hat to match, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Crisp in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Among the many beautiful presents received was a handsome china dinner and tea set, and solid oak china cabinet from the parents of the bride. FAIRVILLE NEWS

The Highway Board and Street Lines—Times Reported Very Dull in Western Cities

The report published several days ago that the highway board would allow the steps in front of W. C. Pink's house in Main street to remain where they are, was evidently somewhat premature, as Mr. Pink is being served with a notice today that the steps must be removed, in order to make way for the new concrete sidewalk. The street lines as followed by the engineer show that Mr. Pink's steps are encroaching on the public street, and the board intends to enforce its authority.

There are streets in Fairville where property owners have been very careless in building right up close to the street line, and making no provision for steps, utilizing the public street for this private purpose.

If the board is correct that street lines have been infringed upon, a number of residents beside Mr. Pink will have to pull up stakes and make arrangements to enter houses in some other way. Of course no construction is going on except in Main street just now, but the warning should be heeded.

Miss Grace Lingley, of Welsford, is visiting at the home of Mr. John Briteney, Main street.

Richard F. Wood, of Winnipeg, arrived on the noon train yesterday and will spend a fortnight with his parents on Manawagonish Road, where his wife and two children have been visiting during the summer. Mr. Wood is employed as superintendent in the C. P. R. machine shops at Winnipeg and reports times pretty dull in the western city.

Police Officer William Stinson went on his holidays yesterday and will be off duty for the next two weeks. Benjamin Godsoe will fill the position during the regular officer's absence.

FUNERALS

One of the largest funerals that has been seen in the city for some time was that of Hon. Robert Maxwell, which took place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late residence, 385 Union street. Services were conducted at the house and grave by Rev. Mr. Lane, assisted by Rev. W. H. Barraclough and Rev. J. H. A. Anderson. The body was interred in Fernhill. Members of the Knights of Pythias, Masons, Independent Order of Foresters, Sons of Temperance, Canadian Order of Chosen Friends and the Loyal Orange Lodge attended in a body. The Knights of Pythias, headed by a band, led the procession, followed by two barouches, carrying the floral tributes. People from all walks of life followed the mourners. At the grave, after the regular service, the Knights of Pythias service was read. Members of the family acted as pall bearers.

The funeral of Andrew Carrick took place this afternoon at 2.30 from his late residence 126 St. James street. Services were conducted by Rev. F. S. Porter and Rev. Wellington Camp and interment was in the Church of England Burying ground.

Boys' School Wear

Great Care Should Be Exercised in the Selection

It has been said that a Boy's School Outfit plays a by no means unimportant part in the making of his character, and to dress him well from the outset is to let him start on his career with the requisite amount of self-respect. Just now, when school is about to open, both mamma and her son are interested in the "apparel that oft proclaims the man."

The great point is to choose something attractive and durable.

As for attractiveness, the cut and color should be carefully selected with a view to becomingness. The durability is quite as important, because, no matter how attractive clothes may be, they must also keep their shape, else they are a snare and a delusion.

The shoddy is the bane of the ambitious but thoughtless buyer.

THE FIXED PRINCIPLE BACK OF THIS STORE IS: RELIABLE FABRICS, THOROUGH TAILOR WORK, CARE IN THE PRODUCTION OF STYLES.

The new Fall styles are to hand.
