In Regard to the Compromise on the Schools.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS GONE.

The Principle of National Schools Maintained in Its Entirety.

Provincial Control and Inspection—Uniform Text Books Must be Used and Teachers Must Have Proper Certificates — All School Work to be Purely Secular in Character Except for the Last Half Hour Each Day — Greenway Conceded to Laurier What He Refused to the Conservative Government.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Mr. Sifton will be here to-morrow, but his stay in Ottawa will be brief. He will be immediately sworn in as Minister of the Interior and at once return to Manitoba to seek election. Nomination in Brandon is fixed for Friday, Nov. 27, and polling for Dec. 4.

One of the Ministers informed me yesterday that documents showing the exact nature of the compromise will not be published until Wednesday or Thursday of this week, but public interest in them has been largely discounted. To-night I am in a position to give a fuller synopsis of them than heretofore is made public.

Catholic Separate schools as such are gone forever, the principle of National schools being maintained in its entirety. All the schools in the province are to be under the control of the Education Department, existing regulations to apply to schools in Catholic equally as in Protestant districts, and provincial inspectors to have complete jurisdiction. Uniform text books must be used, and teachers must be properly qualified, being compelled to take the prescribed normal school course and pass the usual examinations. All school work is to be of a purely secular character, and to occupy the whole of the schoool day with the exception of the last half hour, when a minister of any religious denomination may visit the school to instruct the children of parents belonging to his religious denomination, provided the parents are willing. In cases where a parent objects to such religious instruction, regular school work is to continue until the close of the school day. In districts having an average attendance of 25 Roman Catholic children the teacher is to be a Roman Catholic, but fully qualified according to the requirements of the Education Department, while in districts where children speak French wholly they are to have a teacher speaking both French and English, so that they may learn English as rapidly as possible. The readers to be used in such schools must be bilingual, that is, the selections are to be printed in both languages, as now is the case with the readers used in the French districts of Eastern Ontario, so that children will grow up from the first accustomed to the English language. The principles involved in the settlement will be incorporated into the Provincial Education Act, but no Dominion legislation will be necessary.

A comparison of this agreement with the offer submitted to the Dominion Commissioners by Manitoba last February shows that the province has completely capitulated on the chief points for which it held out them. All that Sifton and Cameron would then concede was complete secularization of the schools, or else half an hour for religious exercises, if the trustees so decided. The Dominion Commissioners asked for Catholic teachers for a school attendance of 25 children in towns and villages and 50 in cities. This, the chief point on which negotiations were broken off, was refused by the Greenway Government to the delegates of a Conservative Federal Ministry. It is now conceded by Greenway and his friends to a Liberal Federal Ministry.

CONFIRMED FROM WINNIPEG.

Mr. Greenway's Organ Gives Out the Terms on the Same Lines.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The Tribune, recognized as the official mouthpiece of the Greenway Government, publishes the following outline of the school settlement, which is regarded here as authoritative:

"All schools are to be national, under provincial control, and subject to the same regulations and inspections. The same text books will be used and all teachers will be properly qualified by passing the provincial examinations and taking the prescribed Normal school course. School work of a purely secular character will occupy the whole of the school day, except the last half-hour, when the representatives of any religious denominations will be allowed to come in and instruct the children belonging to their own denomination, provided the parents are willing to have them remain. In cases where the people decide not to have this religious instruction the regular school work will go on until the close of the school hours. The principle of local option is recognized throughout. The proviso that is intended to make the schools satisfactory to the minority is that districts having an average attendance of 25 Roman Catholic children shall be entitled to have a teacher of their own denomination, who must be fully qualified according to provincial or national school standards. In districts where the children speak French wholly, they are to have a teacher speaking both French and English, so that they will learn English as rapidly as possible. The readers used in such schools will be bi-lingual, so that the children will grow up from the first accustomed to English."

SIFTON'S PROGRAM.

Hon. Clifford Sifton left Winnipeg Saturday afternoon for Ottawa to be sworn in as Minister of the Interior. He will at once return to conduct his election campaign for Brandon, the date of which will likely be Dec. 3. J. D. Cameron is to succeed him as Attorney-General of Manitoba, and either James Fisher of Winnipeg or Charles Mickle of Birtle will succeed Mr. Cameron as Provincial Secretary. Mr. Fisher is an old-time Liberal, but heretofore has opposed Greenway on his school policy. Now he says the terms of settlement are quite satisfactory.

MR. TARTE AND MR. GLEN.

The Latter Tells of an Annexation Plot Which Was on the Way in 1893—A Toronto Man Named Also.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The Liberal press has during the last few years given a great deal of prominence to the writings of Mr. Glen, formerly of the Dominion Parliament, but of late years a resident of the United States and a prominent member of the National Continental League, so the following received by Mr. W. A. Grenier will no doubt be reproduced by every Laurier organ in the land:

132 Nassau-street, room 404,
New York, Oct. 14, 1896.

Dear Sir,—Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, came to this city in November, 1893, with Hon. C. A. Pelletier, representing Hon. Mr. Laurier, as I have reason to believe, and John Morison of Toronto for the purpose of meeting some members of the National Continental Union League to ask for funds for the promotion of Laurier's return to Parliament with a Liberal majority of the Commons to support him. The late Hon. Honore Mercier came with them and introduced them, after which Mr. Tarte assumed the spokesmanship of the party and coolly asked us for $50,000 for the purpose of purchasing Le Canadien newspaper, although it had then suspended its daily edition and had a weekly circulation of less than five thousand. I was asked if I could raise the necessary money after Mr. Morrison had been asked his opinion as to the propriety of supporting Laurier and gave his assent thereto. My reply was that if Laurier will come out squarely and advocate independence, with a view to political union with the United States, the money can be raised, and not otherwise. Mr. Tarte was ready to pledge Mr. Laurier to such a policy after his election, but [illegible] before, and expressed the opinion [illegible] would be unwise for the National Continental Union League to organize prior to the general election in Canada or prior to Laurier's return as Premier of Canada. Mr. Mercier was asked the question if the Province of Quebec could be carried for independence, with a view to political union with the United States, and he replied emphatically yes, although his statement embarrassed Mr. Tarte very much. The result of the meeting was that the friends of continental union in this country agreed to consider the proposition and report to Mr. Mercier. On the following morning, Nov. 7, I was instructed to write to Mr. Mercier that he could have all the support he needed to carry the Province of Quebec, that is as leader of the party in the Parliament of Quebec for independence, but not one cent for Tarte and Laurier. Mr. Morrison was very angry because I was instrumental in securing the adoption of this policy, and some unpleasant correspondence passed between us because I opposed the fact that Le Canadien was only a weekly newspaper, with a circulation of under five thousand. You are at liberty to use these facts if you desire. John Morison was at one time president of the British America Assurance Company. If you desire to do so, you can take my evidence by commission, and if necessary I will give you the names of other parties in Canada who will confirm the facts as stated above...*

DEATH OF REV. DR. SMELLIE.

The Summons Came Suddenly at St. Andrew's Manse on Saturday.

Rev. Dr. Smellie, one of the oldest Presbyterian ministers in Canada, died in this city on Saturday. Deceased came to Canada from the Orkney Islands, Scotland, in 1842. He went to Hamilton, where he preached for about four years. From Hamilton he went to Fergus, where he has labored during the last fifty years with singular success. He has seen no less than five flourishing congregations formed from his own. He was greatly beloved by his people for his forcible preaching and firm, gentlemanly character. His wife was a Miss Margaret Logie, by whom he had ten children, two of whom died in infancy, and two later. He leaves a widow, four sons and two daughters. His sons are Robert Scarth Smellie of Smellie & Shaw, barristers, of this city; Dr. Thomas F. Smellie of Port Arthur, George S. Smellie, Vancouver, B.C.; A. E. Smellie, Binscarth, Manitoba. Miss Smellie, the youngest daughter, lived with her father. The deceased's widow holds the honor of being the first to form a Woman's Missionary Society in Canada. The late Rev. D. J. Macdonnell was a son-in-law of Dr. Smellie.

Her Mind Unhinged.

Mrs. Dancey, the young woman, in whose charge the little Scott child, who was burned to death in Hagerman-street on Saturday, was left, has suffered so much from the shock that her mind has become unhinged. All day yesterday she imagined she could see the child burning to death, and last night she became so violent that it was necessary to strap her down. Dr. Bowie has been constantly in attendance upon her since the fatality, but as her condition rapidly grew worse, he called in Dr. Atkins late last night, and at 1 o'clock this morning the afflicted woman was taken in the police ambulance to the General Hospital.

Turkish baths open day and night, 129 Yonge.

Mr. Caleb Hughson Dead.

Brantford, Nov. 14.—At the ripe age of 84, Mr. Caleb Hughson died this morning. He was a native of New Brunswick, and was formerly mate successively on a Mississippi boat and a trans-Atlantic steamer. At the time of the rebellion in 1837 he was captain of a company of volunteers. He followed the business of chair-manufacturer in Hamilton, and afterwards that of grainer in this city.

A Cyclist Badly Hurt.

Last night as E. J. Wills, 186 King-street west, was wheeling in Yonge-street, near Isabella-street, the tire came off the front wheel and caught in the forks of the bicycle. He struck on his head and was badly hurt. He was taken home in the ambulance.

THE GRIST FROM HAMILTON

Talk of Legal Process in the House of Refuge Case.

SAILORS HAD A CLOSE CALL

Schooner Singapore Caught in Thursday's Gale on Lake Erie.

Twenty-Five Hours' Hard Work With Nothing to Eat—A Deadlock Between Mr. B. B. Osler and the Dundas Council—A Utica Man's Chase After His Faithless Wife—Mayor Tuckett May Have a Walk-Over for a Second Term—Two Years for James Jones—Other Items.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Smith conferred with Mayor Tuckett yesterday regarding the action expected of him in reference to the contractors for the House of Refuge supplies. He signified his willingness to proceed legally, if Solicitor Mackelcan, who is familiar with all the facts, will draw up an information to swear to it, and thus initiate a prosecution. After consultation with Chairman McKeown the Mayor decided to ask the City Solicitor for his advice in writing, and City Clerk Beasley was instructed to notify Mr. Mackelcan to that effect.

According to Relief Officer Hutton's report, the errors in bookkeeping amount in the last statement to the Government to 3775 days, and 51 incurables, resident 9618 days, which are not set down as such. This makes a difference against the city of $1022.84, or if the incurables are not paid for at the 15-cent rate, $253.40. In five years previously 1600 days too little appear to have been returned.

A cheque for $110, tendered by Frederick Small, remains in the hands of the City Clerk.

HAD A CLOSE CALL.

The schooner Singapore, laden with peas for Kingston, was caught in the middle of Lake Erie in last Thursday's gale, and, judging from a letter received by Mrs. S. Malcolmson, the wife of the captain, the crew must have had a thrilling and unenviable experience. The foresail and jibs of the vessel were blown away, and the straining caused by the gale made her spring a leak. The peas in the hold got into the bilge, and for a time the pumps could not be worked. Some members of the crew had almost given up all hope of ever reaching shore, but after 25 hours' hard work without rest and comparatively no food they succeeded in getting the vessel into Long Point.

A DEADLOCK.

President Osler of the Hamilton and Dundas Railway has had a conference with the Railway Committee of the Dundas council in reference to the by-law approved of by the council. Mr. Osler refused to accept the bylaw, objecting to a number of conditions imposed, the principal one being the payment of $1000 mileage to Dundas, but the representatives of the Valley Town declined to yield a jot. Consequently matters are just where they were previous to the conference, and from the determination shown by both parties they are likely to remain this way for a while.

NO DEFENCE OFFERED.

Several months ago W. C. Harris of Utica, N.Y., came to this city to search for his faithless wife, who eloped with W. F. Price, a gay married man. He located the couple at a city hotel, but before he could get an interview with them they heard of his arrival and skipped to Rochester. Mr. Harris did not pursue them, as his mission was principally to gather evidence to aid him in divorce proceedings. The papers were served last week, but as Mr. Harris did not appear to make any defence judgment went by default. Mr. Harris now wants several Hamiltonians to go to Utica and give evidence when the case comes up.

WILL NOT BE OPPOSED.

It is now thought that Mayor Tuckett will be given a second term in the Chief Magistrate's chair, without having to contest an opponent at the municipal elections in January. Although there is very little talk of aldermanic candidates, it is believed that, with one or two exceptions, all the present aldermen will seek re-election.

TWO YEARS FOR JONES.

James Jones, the young man who admitted stealing a large quantity of copper wire from the Hamilton Radial Railway Company, was arraigned before Judge Jelfs at the Police Court yesterday, and sentenced to serve two years, less one day, in Central Prison.

FELL FROM HIS ENGINE.

C. M. Bristol, a fireman on the T., H. and B. Railway, fell from a rapidly moving engine near Smithville this morning, breaking his collar bone and spraining one of his ankles. He was brought to this city and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was attended to by Dr. Rennie. It is not thought his injuries will prove serious, although he will be laid up for several weeks.

A FORMER HAMILTONIAN DEAD.

A. C. Leslie, the hardware merchant of Montreal, who died yesterday morning, was for a number of years manager for the goods department of R. Juson & Co. of this city, and went to Montreal some thirty years ago, when that firm went out of business. He was a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, and came to this country in 1857.

NOTES.

This afternoon Rev. Father O'Reilly preached the annual sermon to the various Catholic benevolent societies in the city, selecting for his text, "He that careth not for the members of his home is worse than an infidel."

W. F. Walker, Q.C., has received notice from the assistant Provincial Secretary that the order-in-council granting a charter incorporating the Hamilton, Chedoke and Ancaster Electric Railway Company has been passed, and that he will receive the charter within a day or two.

The fire department extinguished a small blaze in an engine room connected with the refinery of the Star Oil Company yesterday.

Dora Henderson, Ferguson-avenue, was arrested last night on a charge of stealing $2.

THE STERNAMAN CASE.

Provincial Inspector Murray Says He is Morally Certain That Extradition Papers Will be Granted.

Government Inspector John Murray returned from Buffalo on Saturday, where he has been seeking to obtain the extradition of Mrs. Sternaman of Rainham Centre, Ont., on the charge of poisoning her husband. The defence are going into the case thoroughly as though the trial itself were proceeding, and it is understood that to-morrow, when the case is resumed, a number of witnesses from Rainham Centre will be on hand to give evidence in behalf of accused.

The case for the Canadian Government is being ably conducted by Charles Thomas of Buffalo, an old Upper Canada College boy.

Mr. Murray's case is proving such a strong one that, he says, he is morally certain that extradition will be granted.

Dr. Ward B. Saltzman was called to give evidence for the defence, and in his cross-examination the following question, prepared by Mr. Murray, and summing up many of the points against the accused, was propounded to him:

"Assuming as facts that on the post-mortem of a body buried six weeks, and which had not been embalmed, the liver was found to be normal in size, in consistence, in color and in weight, one section of its appearance entirely normal, there being no history of alcoholic excess, no evidence of constitutional syphilis, no Addison's disease, kidneys and adrenals being shown to be healthy, spleen and pancreas being normal in appearance, the capillaries of the stomach showing signs of inflammation, also the mucous membrane, the intestines showing signs of inflammation and adhesions, there having been during life multiple neuritis, with paralysis, dry, harsh skin, with desquamation, violent and continued vomiting, suffusion of the eyes, with inflamed condition of the edges of the lids, abdomen flat, there being no evidences of dropsy in the abdomen or the extremities, marked atrophy of the muscles of the extremities, soreness of the mucous membrane of the throat and mouth, excoriation of the gums, no extravasations of blood by the stomach intestines, or any mucous membrane, coupled with the fact that on chemical analysis arsenic was found in the fluid contents of the stomach, in the liver and the brain, what was, in your opinion, the cause of death?"

In reply the doctor said, simply: "Arsenical poisoning."

The Inspector returns to Buffalo to-night.

The quantity contracted for is 1000 horsepower at the "step down" point, which is at the Buffalo city line, twenty-six miles from the source of the power, where the potential is reduced and the current is again put on the wire and carried into Buffalo to the railway company, which employs it for the propulsion of the cars on the street railway.

A RECORD [1889–1896.

CHAPTER VII.

Mayor Fleming has been doing a considerable amount of missionary work during the past week. His chief efforts have been directed toward convincing his colleagues at the Council Board "that the circumstances being altered, alters the case." That is the only way he can explain how it was that what was "vicious in principle and wrong in practice" in 1889 was eminently fitting and proper in 1896, the chief reason being that this year the salary attached to the Mayoralty is $4300, as against $2000 in 1889, when Mr. Ald. Fleming enunciated that principle.

The private room which opens off the Mayor's public office, and which enjoys the significant appellation of "the sweat-box," has been the scene of many explanations, exhortations and interrogations. One by one, as opportunity offered, His Worship has asked the opinion of aldermen upon the matter, and some of the replies, if reports are correct, have been too blunt for his subsequent peace of mind. The reason is not far to seek. A fair proportion of the members of Council were approached upon the matter before the meeting was held. Others who were not taken into the confidence of the Mayor and his coterie were taken by surprise. None of them knew how many of his colleagues had been pledged to support it, and each, being in ignorance as to the probability of securing a following if he protested, waited for someone else to take the initiative. Whilst he was waiting the question was put and carried. Each member who was in this position felt slighted at not having been consulted, and was, therefore, in a receptive mood when his constituents poured into his ear their opinions upon the "salary grab.' Consequence was that the result of the recent interviews has not been encouraging to the Mayor.

The Council meets to-day, and half a dozen members have expressed their intention to have the resolution rescinded. Those members of Council who are inclined to justify the grab have been working with a view to side-tracking the motion to "rescind," and to substitute therefor a resolution placing the money in the hands of City Relief Officer Taylor for distribution. The game is for the Mayor to take the stand that he only desired the money in order that he might be able to relieve the wants of the distressed. He will, doubtless, at the same time explain that he intended leaving his address when he started for Rossland the next day, so that supplicants for alms might communicate their wants to him by mail or telegraph, according to the emergency of their necessities.

Members of Council will, in the event of such an attempt to side-track the motion to rescind, do well to remember that the City Relief Officer has not up to the present reported that there is any need of such a grant. If the fact is advertised that he has $500 to give away, there will, no doubt, be many applicants for it. But in the absence of such a request, accompanied by substantial reasons for giving relief in cash, the grant would be "vicious in principle and wrong in practice." Should the circumstances be such that an extra call for relief is made, it will then be time enough to deal with it, but that will not, in all probability, be until after the Council for 1897 is inaugurated.

The present system of administering relief is efficient and economical. The city gives large sums annually toward the support of all the charitable institutions of every denomination. It is an understood condition of the grant being made that orders for relief given by the City Relief Officer are honored by the various institutions. When passes are required to enable the indigent to reach their friends, orders are given on the railway and steamboat companies, whose accounts are paid by the City Treasurer in the ordinary course. Consequently, all relief is given in the shape of necessaries of life, and not in cash, the duties of the city's officer being of an investigatory nature, for the detection of unworthy applicants. There is, therefore, no need whatever, under present circumstances, for a special grant being placed in his hands for distribution.

The Aldermen who were present when the motion was made to give the Mayor a bonus of $500 by way of an addition to his salary were: Ald. Lamb, Allen, Bell, Saunders, R. H. Graham, Scott, J. J. Graham, Spence, Russell, Leslie, Preston, Jolliffe, Gowanlock, Crane, Hubbard, Boustead, Sheppard, Burns, Hallam. All of these gentlemen owe it to themselves and the taxpayers whom they represent to explain at the meeting to-day why they voted for such a palpable "salary grab," in the first place, and in the second place to give expression to the wishes of their constituents by rescinding their action at the former meeting.

SEARCHING FOR LIGHT

Hon. G. W. Ross in the Land of Uncle Samuel

LOOKING INTO EDUCATION.

Particular Attention to the Subject of Manual Instruction.

Ontario's Minister of Education Visits the Institution of Learning Over Which Dr. Felix Adler Presides—How to Teach the Child to Think for Himself—The Methods Employed to Find Out What a Child is Fitted For—A Dance During Recess.

New York, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario, who is on a visit to the United States in search of light upon educational methods, visited the Workingmen's School of the Society for Ethical Culture Thursday, and inspected the system of manual training pursued there. Canada has its problems like the United States. One of them, according to Mr. Ross, is the ever-growing neglect of the farm and the shops by the young. They rush to the office, to the desk and to professional life. They make the cities grow when the farms are deserted. The symptom is not unfamiliar on this side of the lakes. It is with the hope of developing a new interest in the slighted, but vital pursuits, that the plan of introducing manual instruction in the Canadian schools is under consideration, and it was this that brought the Minister to the States. He had visited Boston, and came straight from that city to see Dr. Felix Adler's work. He told the doctor that they hoped in Canada to begin with the youngster at 16 years old.

Dr. Adler shook his head. "It is too late," he said; "better late than never, to be sure, but why not begin earlier? Why not let the faculty develop with the rest, grow like a tree? Don't saw it off. You have kindergartens, and you start the plan there. All kindergartens do. Then let it go right along with the school instruction after the child enters the primary class. It will take no time from the other instruction, only make it easier to digest. It is merely developing the whole boy instead of only one side of him. If you drop the manual training to resume it after four or five years, it is as if you had sawed off the young shoot. It will grow again, but not as straight and symmetrical as if you had not sawed it off."

A NEW IDEA.

Mr. Ross nodded thoughtfully. The idea was new to him, evidently, but it had taken root.

With Dr. Adler, Mr. Ross went over the school from top to bottom. The building at 109 West Fifty-Fourth-street was crowded with pupils intent upon their various tasks. The society educates 400 children in round numbers, about three-fourths of them children of workingmen. The other fourth are pay-scholars, who have been admitted within the last few years. Mr. Ross saw, with growing interest, the plan developed by Dr. Adler. In its extreme simplicity it is just what the common school should be, and is not. The kindergarten begins it, and its methods prevail to the very end. The pupils are not stuffed with knowledge they have not learned to digest, leaving their minds as barren as the day they begin, and the real work of education, that of teaching the child to think for himself, undone. They will work out their own problems.

THEY LEARN BY DOING.

They "learn by doing." The things they do train hand and eye, as well as mind. Their geometry lessons, learned on paper, are worked out subsequently in tin, wood, and eventually at the forge in iron. The while the lad acquires a liking, mayhap, for the trade his brother in the next block rejects. At all events, he will not despise it. Their instructors at the bench are practical men, who know how to impart a charm to the lesson which the dry page can never have. Is the question about physics, about natural history? the laboratory is there for the boys to try their hands at it.

THEY TAKE TRAMPS.

Once a week the class put on heavy boots and with their instructor, Mr. Kelly, tramp over hill and dale in search of specimens and of that kinship with nature that puts back into the lad something of what the city, with its tenements and stone pavements, had robbed him to his hurt. The memories of these tramps crowd the portfolios in the drawing rooms,

He Knew His Voice.

Just at dark last evening an urchin on a livery bike took a solid tumble at the corner of Queen and Yonge-streets. A gentleman passing by remarked to the lad: "You got a good one that time."

"Yer bet yer life, John," said the urchin, who had not looked up.

The pedestrian walked on. The boy knew his voice and had talked in this familiar manner to the independent Commoner from East Toronto.

Where Do They Get It?

The Sunday law is supposed to be observed strictly in Toronto as far as the sale of liquor is concerned. But young men are seen down town at an early hour on Sunday evenings, and their general demeanor would lead one to believe they had not been at Sabbath school during the afternoon. But at eleven o'clock all is changed. They are generally pretty well "jagged up" by that hour—and Sunday night, too! Where do they get it?

Madame Albani and her husband, Mr. Gye, were among the passengers on the SS. Vancouver, which arrived at Quebec last night.
