CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER

SACKVILLE, N. B., MAY 10TH, 1894.

IT is generally believed that the Ontario elections will be brought on at once as further delay would inconvenience both politicians and farmers. It is probable that the result will be known before the end of June.

THE Templar an advocate of social reform published at Hamilton Ont, has celebrated its third birth day by doubling up and becoming an eight page paper. The Templar has a wide field and is proving widely useful,

THE Roseberry government is said to be in a precarious condition. Its majority has dwindled to 14 with the probability of a still further reduction. A majority of fourteen where five hundred and seventy votes were recorded can hardly be called a good working majority.

MR. HAWKE's true reason for not accepting a position on the Moncton dock delegation to Ottawa has at length transpired. He wished to reserve to himself the right to abuse the members of the delegation and to explain how much better he could have transacted the business had he accepted the appointment.

THE HILLSBORO A Co. Star a week ly paper will make its appearance in a few days. It will support the liberal Conservative party. The Star is in the hands of men of ability and has good financial backing and it will have need of both. Albert county is too small and isolated to support two good papers and the maple Leaf is well established.

TODAY is the thirty seventh anniversary of the first uprising of the natives in India and Colonel Malleson who is recognized as an eminent authority on Indian affairs has predicted that unless wise and stringent precautions were taken a second mutiny would begin today. He has advised the government to cease tampering with laws relating to marriage, sale and use of opium, and other so called reforms which the natives regard as tyrannical and to quietly but closely watch the movements of the natives in the meantime. It is a pity that a second lession should be necessary to teach the liberty loving English that the abject and heathen Hindoo will not allow his liberty of thought and worship to be interferred with. But perhaps it is only a scare after all.

IN concluding a speech at Exeter England upon Canada and British interests on the 17th ult., Sir. Charles Tupper said:—

"That Canada's fiscal policy had not "been disastrous was seen from the fact "that during the past year she had had "the largest trade yet experienced in the "history of the Dominion. She had a "buoyant revenue, and had been more "free from anything like commercial de-"pression than any other country. The "reduction in taxation in the Dominion "since 1882 had been no less than 29½ "million dollars, or something like 2½ "million a year. In the ten years from "1881 to 1891 Canada paid 40 millions "more in wages than in the preceding "ten years, and whereas the amount of "money deposited in the savings bank "was 87 million dollars in 1878, it was "243 millions on February 1st, 1894. "The Chicago Exhibition afforded fur-"ther proof of the growth of the Domin-"ion's exports, and the superior quality "of her products compared with those of "the United States. Canada having, by "these efforts strengthened her financial "position, was engaged in another work, "and one which he believed would meet "with enthusiastic support in England, "that was giving £150,000 a year towards "a fast and direct line of steamers be-"tween the Dominion and the mother "country, and another £25,000 for a "rapid line of communication between "the colony and Australia. (Cheers.)

THE CASE of Black versus Nelson to which reference is made in another column is one fraught with deep interest and one which in common with others which have lately occurred tends to prove that, that much slandered guardian of justice the law, has still the power to punish as it has the intention of punishing evildoers. Seldom has there been a case in which so much perjury has been employed and whether or not the crown officers will cause the arrest of the parties implicated remains to be seen. The law upon the matter is very plain. Section 368 of the criminal code reads as follows: "Every one is guilty of an indictable offense and liable to a fine of eight hundred dollars and to one years imprisonment who (a) with intent to defraud his creditors or any of them (I) makes or causes to be made any gift, conveyance, assignment, sale, transfer, or delivery, of his property. (II.) removes, conceals or disposes of any of his property or (b.) with the intent that anyone shall so defraud his creditors or anyone of them receives any such property." Besides this there is the action for perjury which is still more serious.

THE three leaders of the Commonweal army at Washington, Coxey, Browne, and Christopher Columbus Jones, have been found guilty by a jury of raising a disturbance on the capitol grounds and are now held to bail in five hundred dollars each until their sentenence is inposed by the court. The movement which began in high hope has ended ingloriously but it will not be forgotten and its influence will not cease to be felt. The fact that Coxey having revolutionary projects in view was able to place himself at the head of so numerous a following and create even for a short time so much excitement and consternation shows that Americans believe the laws which have made America a nation of millioniares and paupers to be unjust. And the fact that Coxey has been so suminarily punished for displaying a banner and walking on the grass shows not that he was undeserving of a hearing but that the government did not know how to deal with his case. The question which Coxey endeavoured to dispose of is not settled yet.

Dominion Parliament.

Monday was private members' day. A number of bills were read in committee of the whole house and passed to a third reading.

Mr. Stairs moved that in view of the increased importation of adulterated teas into Canada owing to their importation into England and the United States being prohibited, the provisions of the act respecting the adulteration of food, drugs, etc., are insufficient, and it is consequently necessary to provide for the immediate inspection of all teas proposed to be entered for consumption in Canada and the destruction or exportation of all found to be adulterated. He made a brief, but forcible speech in support of this motion, pointing out the fact that there were adulterated principally in China, and explained the process of adulteration, showing how injurious to health such adulterated teas were. Both Great Britain in 1875, and the United States in 1893, had passed stringent laws prohibiting the importation for home consumption of such teas. This made the danger to Canada all the greater, for these teas being shut out of Great Brittain and the United States were much more likely to be dumped in Canada.

Controller Wallace, argued that the law as it was stood was sufficient. If the tea was found to be adulterated they could be dealt with by the inland revenue department under the Adulterated Food act. Besides, under this New Customs act tea imported from Great Britain or the United States had to be equal to the teas used in those countries. He moved an adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Stairs pointed out that the Adulteration of Food act could only reach teas after they went into consumption and could not stop them before passing the customs house. As to the New Customs act it made no change in regard to teas coming direct from China, where nearly all the adultera tion was done.

Controller Wood and Mills, of Bothwell, agreed with Stairs, the latter contending that Mr. Stairs had made out a case that demanded the immediate attention of the government.

The debate was adjourned.

Mr. Flint then moved his prohibition resolution as follows:

That it is expedient that as speedily as possible this parliament should enact a law to prohibit the importation manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in Canada except for medicinal, manufacturing and sacramental purposes.

He was still speaking at recess.

He was followed by Dr. Roome, the seconder of the motion, and Messrs. Craig, Christie and Coatsworth in favor of the resolution, and by Messrs. Dupont and McLean of East York against it.

The Methodist Conference.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Conference which is to be held in Sackville commencing June 19th, is the most important gathering of the Methodist church with the exception of the General Conference which meets once in four years.

The annual assembly consists of some one hundred ministers with an equal number of laymen, but the total actual attendance averages about 130 or 140 members. The N. B. and P. E. I. Conference is but one of the 12 conferences into which the Methodist church of Canada is divided. The special work of this annual assembly is to renew the various interests of the work within its jurisdiction and once in four years to suggest to general conference whatever new legislation the further progress of the work may demand.

The stationing of the ministers, the oversight of the various funds of the connexion; such as the Missionary Educational Supernumary, Contingent Sustention, childrens fund; the membership of the church, the Sabbath School interests, church property, reception of candidates for the ministry, the ordination of preachers and the general condition of the work of God are all matters which come within the attention and care of the annual conference. It is expected that the returns of membership for the past year will show a gratifying increase, as large accessions have been received on several circuits within the bounds of the conference.

The public services in connection with the conference are always occasions of deep interest and as a rule, are largely attended. The approaching services, such as missionary, Sabbath school, temperance and educational etc., will be no exception to the record of past years in this respect. It is expected that Dr. Carman, the general superintendent will visit the conference, and it is reported that Dr. Sutherland the general secretary of the missionary society will also be here. The coming of such distinguished brethren will be one of the principal attractions at the important gathering which assembles in June. Usually, the conference gets through its work in about a week, as, however, this is the year for the meeting for the general conference, the duties of the approaching conference may be extended somewhat beyond the ordinary limits.

Rev. W. Harrison is now busily engaged in securing homes for the ministers and also for as many of the lay delegates as may find it convenient to attend. The programme of public services and also a list of the homes where the members of the conference will be entertained will appear at a latter date.

Melrose.

—The weather is very backward and as yet very little has been done in the way of farming.

—The first barque sailed up the bay Tuesday. She was 33 days from Norway.

—At the regular monthly meeting of the Dairyman's Association held here on Saturday evening a very interesting paper was read by John A. Brown on agriculture. "How to prepare the soil" was the subject. Mr. Brown is a graduate of St. Joseph's College but the lecture was rendered in a style that would do credic to a graduate of an agricultural College. The lecturer clearly demonstrated that he was quite familiar with every detail of the subject. After a vote of thanks was presented to him which he very appropriately acknowledged a lively discussion was held in which Messrs Carroll, Mahoney, Riley, Barry and others took part. J. F. Riley occupies the platform at the next meeting which which will be on the first Saturday in June and as Mr. Riley is a young man of more than ordinary ability a rare treat is anticipted.

The Parrsboro Shore.

III.

BLACK ROCK UNDER THE "NATURAL POLICY".—WHERE POUTRINCOURT FELL.—NOVA SCOTIA'S GREATEST DEAL SHIPPING PORT.- WHY A PARRSBORO-BOUND VESSEL WENT TO BAIE VERTE.—HOW NOT TO FIND MOOSE.

It was a good old Parrsboro gentleman who, when called upon to speak at a banquet given to Sir Charles Tupper in Amherst, made this memorable speech, which was received with tumultuous applause:—"I don't know much about politics, but I believe this here Natural Policy is a great thing for the country."

Black Rock is one of the very few Canadian villages that have deteriorated during the days of the N. P. But the first families of "the Rock" have not left to enlist in Coxey's army, but, for the most part, to become citizens of the progressive town of Parrsboro, four miles distant.

It is said by those who have attended meetings of the Black Rock town council that an accurate report of a few of its debates would make a large reputation for a writer on constitutional history.

Black Rock and West Bay are as near together as Buda and Peath, as Horton Landing and Grand Pre', as Fox River and Greville. The villages first mentioned are near Cape Sharp, which, like Partridge Island, is a high rock of trap, partly resting on red sandstone. West Bay—the bay, not the town—lies between Cape Sharp and Partridge Island, the cape which is called a cape being on the west side of the bay.

Cape Sharp is two hundred feet high. It has a light which, even on the darkest night, is not seen by the mariner until after the cape's noble outline is sighted. The headland was once called Poutrincourt, for the explorer and discoverer who bore that name, while taking a stroll along its summits dreaming of his own dreamy land of Picardie, slipped on some very long moss and came near going via the Cape to that undiscovered country from whose bourne travellers are not wont to return in the flesh. No doubt the ghosts of Parraboro mourned loud and long because the Baron de Poutrincourt was not destined to become one of their number.

The West Bay of the Parrsboro Shore is not as well known to the schoolchildren of Canada as the bay of that name in Cape Breton. The great deal-shipping West Bay has been slighted by geographers and map makers. Even the most pretentious charts have not, until lately, given its name. It is surely no disgrace to the captain of a Norwegian vessel fixed to load deals at West Bay, that he went to West Bay, C. B. Another mariner, bound for the same place, went to Baie Verte. The latter gentleman wished for the Ship Railway.

During the last three years, one hundred vessels, (ships, barques, and barquantines,) whose aggregate tonnage was 106,993 tons, carried 96,568,396 superficial feet of deals, etc., from West Bay. Nearly all of the deals went to the United Kingdom. But our oft-changed geographers do not mention Parrsboro's West Bay.

In 1891, twenty-eight vessels of 27,503 tons carried 23,960,273 superficial feet of deals, ends, and scantling. 1892's shipment was larger than that of any previous year but one—31,815,627 feet, there being thirty-three vessels of 34,994 tons register employed. 1893 saw 1892 and, in the language of the sinful, went her considerably better. For in 1893 thirty nine vessels of 44,496 tons sailed from West Bay to Great Britain and Ireland, and these carried 40,792,496 feet of deals. This was the largest shipment West Bay has ever seen. It is probably also a larger shipment of lumber than will ever again be made from Parrsboro. For with the revolving years timber is getting scarce.

The principal deal shippers employing the vessels loaded at West Bay are Mr. George McKean, of St. John, whose agent is Capt. N. C. Nordby, and Mr. W. M. McKay, of the same place, whose deals are handled by Mr. M. L. Tucker. The deals shipped at West Bay are brought there by schooner from Parrsboro and other places along the shore.

"Is there any shooting round Parrsboro?" asks a Sackville sport. There is a scarcity of peep, and the famous snipe is seldom seen. The goose honks high. A seal occasionally comes up the river, as at Sackville. But it is for big game that the vicinity of Parrsboro is noted. The moose—which was only partially tamed by the Indian magician Clote Scarp—is still to be found (by those who know how to find it) near the summer resort of Glooscap. "By those who know how to find it," and that reminds one that the Indian who sent a white man on a hunt for a recently killed moose was a Parrsboro Indian. To be perfectly fair, however, it should be stated that, according to various authorities, he was also a Digby Indian, and a SHELBURNE Indian, and * * *. In fact he was an Indian from everywhere, and his guileless soul was a transmigating one.

This is how it was:—"Want to find dead moose, just kill?" says the Indian. The white man did. "Got rum?" Fire water is produced.

"You go long path, bimeby you come to big tree. Go long little more, you find brook in holler, 'tween two hills. You go 'long little more find big field to your right, there you find moose." The white man follows instructions returns, and accuses the Indian of lying. The child of the forest asks:—"You find tree?" "Yes," says the flushed paleface. "You find field." "Yes," "You find moose?" "No, you infernal rascal."

"Well," remarks the descendant of the lost tribes, "ain't that pretty good for Injun—one lie; so many truths!"

A Micmac is no fool,

A Halifax gentleman recently got his first moose from the Parrsboro woods. He had reason to be proud of it, for he had hunted that moose for eight years, and had paid for his venison dearly. On his first visit to Parrsboro he asked some Indians if they could find him a moose. He promised them each one dollar a day, but told them that he would give them an extra dollar apiece on the day that he got the moose. He also told Glooscap's children that if he did not get the moose that year, he would come the next season, and the next. So forth into the empty forest went the hunters. Many moose-tracks were seen, but no moose. The Indians "called" the monarch of the woods, but called in vain.

The enthusiastic sportsman came another season, and another, and five more. On his eighth visit he told the Indians that he would never return; and on the last day of his vacation he got the moose. Some unkindly say that it was shot by one of the Indians.

H. A. W,

Tormentine Notes.

—Charles N. Raworth of the Upper Cape died on Friday afternoon of Bright's disease, of which in a mild form he had been a victim for several years. This trouble was aggravated by the severity of the past winter and resulted as indicated above. Mr. Raworth during his last illness was not a day in bed. On Friday he was up and dressed. He died without a struggle immediately after being helped from the sofa to his bed. He leaves a wife, who is a daughter of Mr. Andrew Milton, of Emigrant Road, and four small children to morn their loss. The bereaved family have the deepest sympathy of a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, the services being led by the resident Methodist cleryman of whose church the deceased was a member and an officebearer. The remains were interred in the cemetery near Melrose Station.

Port Elgin.

—Mr. Arthur Dixon of the Intercolonial Hotel Sackville was in town to-day.

—Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fitzpatrick on the arrival of a baby boy.

—Reads woollen mill is preparing for the summer work.

—Mr. W. W. Wells M. P. P. returned home from Fredericton about a week ago.

—The lobster factories along the shore are preparing for fishing.

—Fresh herring have arrived and the fisherman report good catches.

—Shooting has been very good this spring and a number of the sportsmen have been very successful.

—Misses Baxter and Gooden of Baie Verte have opened dressmaking rooms in one of the buildings owned by Mr. H. Chapman.

—Mr. Amos Lawrence of Sackville was in town yesterday, and left for Baie Verte this morning to repair the tug boat owned by E. C. Gooden & Co.

—The whistle of the P. E. Furniture & Manufacturing Co's. factory was heard to-day for the first time since last fall.

—The bay has been clear of ice for nearly two weeks and the coasters are getting their schooners fixed and ready for work.

—The schooner "Marie Francis" owned by M. Murray & Co. is about ready for sea, this schooner has been undergoing repairs this spring and is in good trim she is about 43 tons burden and is a good sailer. Mr. Murray says that he will sell her cheap for cash or good security.

—The anglers are rushing the fishing season. On Friday last Messrs Colin Mathrson, James McLeod and Harry Brown, visited the banks of the Gasperaux River near Turners mill, and succeeded in hooking a few beauties. The freshet is heavy and the fishing has not properly commenced yet.

—The ice in the Gasperaux River (with the help of the sport) has moved out. Mr. Jerry Mahoney had a very narrow escape from drowning. A short time ago while stream driving ice, he with a number of other young men, were coming down stream on a cake of ice. which struck the bridge at the same time starting to turn over. All managed to reach the bridge with the exception of "Jerry" who was left in the channel clinging to the side of the bridge. The position was a dangerous one and he would likely have been drowned, but for the activity of Mr. Amos Chapman, who on seeing a small cake of ice drifting on stream jumped from the bridge on to it. and as it was drifting through caught "Jerry" and landed him on the cake and thus reached the shore.

Fort Lawrence.

—Nature is beginning to wear her robe of green.

—A Smith & Sons have completed their winters sawing and returned home on Saturday they report a good winters work.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Atkinson are showered with congratulations on the arrival of a very welcome heir in the household.

—Hennigar Bowser who has been residing the past eight years at Red Deer N. W. T. is here visiting his brother G. W, Bowser.

—Rev. Mr. Sellers of Mount Allison occupied the pulpit af the Vestry last Sabbath afternoon most acceptably to his hearers.

—It is said one of our leading citizens is making preparations which indicate an interesting event not far distant.

—Mrs. N. G. Gordon who has been confined to the house all winter is out again no doubt her many friends will be pleased to learn.

—We regret to record that Mrs. Benjaman Chapman's demise is daily expected.

—Messrs Martin Chapman and Benson Bent have been laid aside by sickness they are both improving.

—James P. Thompson and lady from Oxford N. S. have been visiting F. W. and Mrs. Thompson.

—A special passed over the Transport Marine Railway a short time ago but it has not been publicly announced whether it is the intention to have it resurrected or give it a decent burial.

—Farming operations have been much retarded of late but with all the draw backs they have to contend with some have got upwards of 60 bushels of grain sown principally oats.

—Just at present the weather is very unspring like which is sort of a disappointment to the fair sex who no doubt calculated on showing the new styles in hats before this.

—Silas Bent returned from California a few weeks ago to visit his relatives on the old Homestead and will probably remain until Autumn.

—The housecleaning fever is raging here in all its fury, some people have had it bad but are recovering and others exhibit symptoms of the approach of that dreaded disease. It is to be hoped they will get safely over it.

—So said the Bell has arrived and it is a "Daisy" we trust the donor will put forth an extra effort to have it placed in position by the 20th.

—The interior of the new Methodist Church has received some finishing touches some portions of church furniture have been added and sundry other improvements have been made.

—R. C. Chapman and Lady who have just recently returned from Uncle Sams domains have leased the neat little cottage and lands adjacent situated on main street and "True-Lovers-Lane,' and have taken possession. Their many friends will be pleased to learn and avail themselves of the opportunity of making friendly calls and quite probably now and then take a social cup of tea with them.

—Two of Baileys compound light spreading silver plated carrugated glass reflectors have been placed in position. They are the only reflectors with which oil can be used with success chimneys pass between the core and spreading reflector thereby preventing the smoke and heat from injuring them they claim to be economical safe convenient cheap and overshadows all other made of lightning.

—At a trustee meeting held in the school room of the church on Friday evening May 4 so it is reported it was decided to dedicate the new church on Sunday May 20th inst and the clergyman that was spoken of in November meeting was selected as follows for the occasion. Rev. Thomas Marshal, Rev. R. S. Williams, Rev. Dr. Brecken, Rev. Dr. D. Chapman. Owing to illness of the superintendant he was unable to attend so the list was forwarded to him and he has to make necessary arrangements which will appear at a later date.

—The work of unseating the members of the Legislature in Newfoundland goes on, another member of the government and a supporter having been unseated, and, probably disqualified, by Chief Justice Carter. The people seem to have been bribed with their own money.

Black Versus Nelson.

This was a suit in equity to set aside made by one Chipman Sears of Midgic to defendant executedin the spring of 1893 conveying all the real estate of the said Chipman Sears to Nelson for the alleged consideration of $1200. At the time of the conveyance, Sears was indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $300, and in July last judgment was obtained for this amount and costs against the said Sears. Shortly after plaintiff made application to Mr. Justice Landry then judge of the county court for an examination of the said Chipman Sears for the purpose of inquiring into the bona fides of the conveyance to Nelson. At this examination the defendant was subpoenaed and as a witness gave evidence under oath. The result of the investigation convinced the judge that the conveyance had been fraudulently made and he made an order for the imprisonment of Chipman Sears, (not having jurisdiction over Nelson in that application) for a period of six months without liberty of limits.

Mr. Black thereupon filed a bill in equity against defendant and obtained an injunction any transfer of the property by Nelson so conveyed to him by Sears, and the matter came up for hearing before Mr. Justice Hanington in St. John on Wednesday 2nd inst. Mr. Sears who had gone to the United States in order to avoid imprisonment under above order of Mr. Justice Landry had in the meantime returned and appeared at St. John, and gave evidence fully exposing his fraud with Nelson in connection with the transfers of this property. His testimony was supported by that of Job Anderson and Stewart Estabrooks to whom he had communicated the nature of the transfer at the time it was made and the defendant abandoned the case and a decree setting aside the deed was entered.

Mr. Sears has been taught a lesson that should last him for all time. The property in question is worth from $1500 to $1800. The costs from the start on Mr. Sears part will be about $500. It is also reported that a compromise was made between Sears and Nelson by which the former paid the latter $100 and received in exchange his personal property which was not included in the land deed and could only be obtained by another action. It is stated that Sears actual loss in this transation was only $25 as he owed Nelson $50 and $25 to Nelson's mother. In his evidence at St. John Mr. Sears swore that certain statements made under oath during his previous examination before Judge Landry were not true but were given at the instance of Nelson under fear of his life. Judge Hanington therefore without expressing any opinion as to which evidence was false stated that it was his duty to commit Mr. Sears and inform the crown officers of the facts when they could do as they thought best. He felt Mr. Sears had done right now in making a clean breast of the matter if his story was true, and that he was to be pitied. Those who had induced him to commit this fraud and had been associated with him in carrying it out were just as amenable to punishment as he if this fraud had been committed. Sears was released on bail to appear at the June term of the Westmorland court. William A Nelson, the defendant in the case is a school teacher and the brother-in-law of Sears.

Dorchester.

—A farewell supper was given Mr. M. I. Lane, of the Merchants Bank on Thursday last at Dorchester Hotel. Mr. Lane has been transferred to the Newcastle agency.

—Fire protection for Dorchester has become an assured fact. A large sum has been subscribed and appliances will be purchased at once.

Card!

I beg to announce to the people of Sackville and vicinity that I expect to leave for Chicago the latter part of April to take a special course in the "American College of Dental Surgery" there, returning about June 10th, during which time my office here will be closed.

Persons intending having dental work done, will please call soon as possible and arrange for sittings; and those who cannot make it convenient to have their dental work attended to before I leave will kindly retain the same for me, till I return, when I hope to be in a better position than ever to do good work.

I am, yours very respectfully,

J. W SANCSTER,
