SMALL DEFICIT OF EXHIBITION

B. C. Agricultural Association Comes Within Eight Hundred Dollars Making Both Ends Meet—Remarkable Showing

The Victoria exhibition of 1910 was a pronounced financial success. Mr. George Sangster, secretary of the B. C. Agricultural Association announced yesterday that the deficit had been reduced to $794.76. In view of the fact that, in his estimate, submitted to the city council before the show, allowed for a loss of $1,000 and that there proved to be so many more entries than expected that the expenditure on prizes was increased from $5,500 (estimated) to $10,464.95, the executive is of the opinion that the outcome is remarkably satisfactory. It has also to be borne in mind that there was a loss on the circus of $794.76 and that the attendance on Friday and Saturday, owing to the threatening weather, wasn't anything like as large as was expected. Had the conditions been better on the last two days Mr. Sangster is confident that the association would have been in the position of reporting a surplus.

COLONEL HUGHES ON THINGS IN GENERAL

Noted Conservative Member of Parliament Surprised With Progress of the West—the Party's Outlook

Col. Sam Hughes, member of the Dominion parliament for Victoria and Haliburton, is a guest at the Empress, and yesterday called upon and was afterwards entertained at lunch by Premier McBride. The colonel, who has for many years held a conspicuous and individual place in the councils of Canada, is here to be present at the wedding of his son, Mr. G. B. Hughes, divisional engineer of the Canadian Northern, which takes place today. He left his eastern home a fortnight ago and has been breaking his westward journey at various points in the prairie provinces where he has considerable property interests, and where the great development in progress at all points visited—Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Vermillion, Edmonton and Calgary—is with him cause for little less than genuine amazement.

"The crop is far from having been a failure and any shortage in production will be more than offset by higher prices than those prevailing last season," says Col. Hughes. "The drought it is true hit many sections severely, but there was a good yield in the vicinity of Marshall, near Lloydsminster, in Northern Alberta, I saw fields which produced averages of 34, 37 and 47 bushels of wheat per acre. I was surprised to learn that the experiment of planting fall wheat so far north had resulted very successfully."

Col. Hughes is a Conservative in politics, and for many years has been high in the councils of the Orange order. He has been a prominent figure in Canadian life for two generations, and is regarded as one of the principal supporters in parliament and on the platform of Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition. He has especially strong views on the tariff question.

The Tariff Question

"Throughout the west I found a growing sentiment for proper protection both for the working classes and for the manufacturers, but above all for the people of Canada generally. By proper protection I mean a tariff designed to preserve the whole market for ourselves, without permitting manufacturers to unduly combine to enhance prices. I would do justice to the Canadian manufacturer and the Canadian artizan as against their foreign competitors.

"I would go a step further in preferential treatment accorded Great Britain by the present Liberal government. Its policy is an appeal to selfish interests and has not the enduring character of a broader treatment based on sentimental considerations. We should enter into a full partnership with the mother country and create a great central parliament where every component part of the British empire would be represented and where imperial matters could be disposed of. At the same time I would preserve for each colony its own distinct autonomy with absolute freedom in its local affairs."

Col. Hughes is an optimist respecting the future of the Conservative party in Canada. Although not given to prophecy, he sees favorable indications from one end of the Dominion to the other.

Tribute to Premier McBride

"In all my political experience I never saw a more wideawake spirit among the rank and file than exists today," he observes. "There is great unanimity as to the wisdom and timeliness of waging an aggressive and honest campaign against the party in power at Ottawa." Col. Hughes declared, before paying high tribute to the effective work already accomplished in two distinct spheres by Premier McBride in British Columbia, and Premier Roblin in Manitoba. He added that Hon. Mr. McBride is beginning to be regarded in Eastern Canada as one of the very great men of the Dominion. The provincial premier's broad-mindedness in according such generous treatment to Sir Wilfrid Laurier during the latter's recent visit to British Columbia had created a favorable impression everywhere.

Col. Hughes is an ardent military man and at present holds the presidency of the Dominion Rifle association. He paid a tribute to the score of the western riflemen who recently attended the annual meet in Ottawa, and stated that the council of the association is devising means for paying all the traveling expenses of members of rifle teams sent to the Bisley meeting. At present the marksmen are obliged to travel at their own expense from their respective homes to Montreal, the common point of embarkation.

PROVINCIAL PRESS

The "Vancouver News-Advertiser" of the 13th instant contains a characteristic communication from Mr. Joseph Martin, M. P., K. C., of which Mr. Ralph Smith, newly announced as Liberal re-organizer of British Columbia, is the particular subject. Mr. Martin's letter reads as follows:

Sir,—I notice that Mr. Ralph Smith M. P., has been appointed organizer of the Liberal party in British Columbia by Sir Wilfrid Laurier with a view of having him become leader in the provincial field. No wonder that the old Liberal doctrine of provincial rights has practically disappeared when we find the Dominion Premier treating one of the provinces as a sort of a side show and appointing the manager. No man will, I believe, ever succeed in restoring the Liberal party in British Columbia on any such basis as this. I would be very glad to see the Liberal party here put upon its feet again, but that cannot be done by Mr. Smith. Quite apart from the manner in which he has been selected, Mr. Smith is the worst choice that could be made. No man in public is more despised than he is by the independent Liberals, whose secession has put the party where it is today. He was elected to the Dominion parliament as a labor man and promised that he would remain so, but no sooner was he at Ottawa that he threw over his labor supporters and joined the liberal party. A traitor once is a traitor always. Mr. Smith could not be elected for any seat in this province for this reason unless he was fortunate enough to have his opponents divided.

In 1900 he ran two labor candidates in Vancouver and succeeded in defeating two of my candidates, although my platform included practically all the principles for which he had stood, and although he knew that my sucess would have given this province a liberal government. Later in 1900 he opposed Mr. Galliher, the liberal candidate for Kootenay, and denounced Liberalism in favor of a Labor candidate. Since entering public life in British Columbia Mr. Smith has only succeeded in carrying out one public measure, and that was in procuring a crown grant of the coal under the sea at Nanaimo for the New Vancouver Coal company as a free gift. This coal belonged to the province, and is of great value. Its alienation without consideration is one of the most disgraceful things that has happened in any province. The real trouble with the Liberal party here is the political machine which, with the approval of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, controls the party. Its foundation is graft of the worst kind and Mr. Smith is, next to Mr. Templeman, most responsible for its existence. Mr. Smith's appointment will be satisfactory to the remnant of the Liberal party that went into the last provincial election and were so badly wiped out, but the Independent Liberals will have nothing to do with a man of his stamp.

JOSEPH MARTIN.

Misguided Clemency

Says the New Westminster "News" discussing editorially the case of Gunner Allen in its latest phase:

In these days, when we hear so much about reform in penal administration and see so much of the display of weak sentimentalism and misguided sympathy towards evil-doers, it is refreshing to see a man of the high standing of the medical superintendent of the Provincial asylum in this city expressing his views upon the subject of insanity in its relation to penology, so strongly and so plainly. Dr. Doherty's strictures were called forth by the efforts which are being made in Victoria to save Gunner Allen from suffering the full penalty of the law for the murder of Captain Ellston. Dr. Hall, who enjoys some fame as a moral reform and temperance advocate, aided by a body of well-meaning, if misguided persons in the capital city, are promoting the movement to try and induce the crown authorities to reprieve the prisoner, upon the ground that he was insane from the effects of drink and not criminally responsible for his actions. This idea thus expressed is one of the most mischievous and most harmful towards the due and proper administration of justice that can be promulgated. * * * The case of Allen was thoroughly and carefully tried by a jury, after all the facts of the case and all the circumstances of the prisoner's condition had been placed before them, and their verdict cannot be lightly set aside. If this were done upon the grounds now sought to be urged it would be likely to prove a serious hindrance to the proper administration of justice. It would form a dangerous precedent. The repression of crime would be rendered far more difficult. It would be practically encouragement of drunkenness, and wrong doers would consider themselves entitled to immunity from punishment if they could prove that their crime was committed whilst under the influence of drink. This is directly opposed to the efforts of modern thought and feeling, which is striving to reduce the evil of drink by every possible means.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ricardo, who have been spending a few days with Victoria acquaintances and relatives, have returned to the Okanagan.

RECENT MARRIAGE A PICTURESQUE ONE

Miss Elizabeth Jane Irving and Mr. Arthur Fullam Weston, Wedded in Christ Church Cathedral

Christ Church cathedral was on the 12th inst. the scene of the pretty wedding of Miss Elizabeth Jane Irving, eldest daughter of Captain and Mrs. John Irving, of Victoria, B. C., and Mr. Arthur Fullam Weston, R.N., of H.M.S., Shearwater, second surviving son of Major Weston, late Fifth Royal Irish Lancers. The Bishop of Columbia and the Rev. J. H. S. Sweet performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in her wedding gown of ivory satin en traine with a paneled front and bodice embroidered in silk and silver. The bodice also being draped with duchesso lace and silk tulle, and she wore a plain tulle veil and her mother's wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley and ferns. She also wore as her only ornaments a jewelled bracelet, the gift of the bridegroom, and a diamond and emerald brooch, the gift of her mother. She was attended by two bridesmaids, her sister, Miss Genevieve Irving, and Miss Violet Pooley, who wore ivory satin gowns, with overdress of ninon, ninon veils, held in place by gold and pearl bands. They also wore gold naval crown brooches and carried minature white oars with gold bands tied with streamers of gold ribbon caught with yellow crysanthemums, the gifts of the bridegroom. The best man was Dr. Gribbell, staff surgeon H.M.S. Shearwater, and Lt. P.N.S. Henderson, R.N., H.M.S. Shearwater, who each received a silver-mounted ebony cane, gifts of the bridegroom. The ushers were Mr. Bromley, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Douglas Bullen. The decorations of the church were planned and carried out by Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen, assisted by the Misses Miles, Pitts, Devereux, Lawson, Pooley and consisted of one whole arch and two half arches in white and gold crysanthemums, daisies and ferns.

After the ceremony a largely attended reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the bride and bridegroom receiving under the guests under the wedding bell suspended from a lattice of green ribbon draped with smilax. The bride's table was decorated in cream roses, maiden hair fern, tulle and cream ribbon, and the wedding cake was cut with a diver's knife. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Fullam Weston left for their honeymoon which will be spent in the country. The brides travelling dress being a navy blue ladies' cloth coat and skirt, the coat heavily braided, with which she wore a Napoleon hat in navy blue, trimmed with gold and lace cabochon and ermine muff and stole.

Plans for Parliament Square.

So soon as Hon. Thomas Taylor, provincial public works minister, returns to the capital from his tour of the interior, it is the intention to have steps taken for the clearing and beautification of the complete Parliament square, special attention being naturally given to the Belleville, Superior and Government Street frontages, from the latter two of which the old buildings have recently been removed. Lawns will be made and existing shrubs trimmed and cared for until such time as the completion of the block of parliamentary buildings draws near.

Buried under a large quantity of earth which slid from a bank of one of John Haggerty's sand pits at Saanichton while he with a number of other children were playing in the pit Arthur Nicholson, the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, ranchers of South Saanich, was smothered to death on Friday afternoon. The children state that young Nicholson, who was playing near the embankment was buried without warning under several feet of loose earth. His companions who narrowly escaped his fate summoned aid from nearby residents and no time was lost in endeavoring to rescue the lad, but when the body was recovered life was extinct.

VERDICT OF JURY IN REVELSTOKE CASE

Finding is "Wilful Murder Against Person or Persons Unknown" — Police Await Analysts' Tests

After considerable delay—three postponements being taken in the hope that material evidence might be disclosed to aid them in the investigations—the coroner's jury making inquiry into the killing of Frank Julian at Revelstoke has completed its labors, and the verdict been transmitted to the Attorney General's office. It is, as was to have been expected, a finding of wilful murder against some person or persons at present unknown, without further comment or suggestion. Toward the close of the proceedings, Mr. C. E. Gillan was present, to specially overlook the interests of the Crown.

The principal testimony of the last day of the jury's activities was in exoneration of the three arrested Calabrians—N. Carline, G. Carline and V. Monteleone—from any possible implication in the affair. Evidence was presented conclusively establishing the fact that the trio had come from Trail, and satisfactorily accounting for their movements during every hour they had been in Revelstoke, where they are now in the C. P. R.'s employ.

Coincidently with the announcement of the coroner's court, the news comes from Montreal that Dr. Fagan has arrived in that city and handed over to the expert analysists of McGill the gruesome souvenir of the Julian tragedy which he took east with him, in the form of a portion of the murdered man's face, which scrap of cuticle will be subjected to special tests in an endeavor to determine the nature of the acid employed in this "Black Hand" branding.

A DILEMMA

Conscientious Scrúples Against Vaccination Causes Peculiar Tangle

LONDON, Oct. 15.—An entertaining vaccination story printed in the "British Medical Journal."

The father of a child, who had attained the age of four months, and whose name appeared on the public vaccinator's list, wrote to that official a letter in which he stated that he was not a conscientious objector to vaccination, or he would have made the declaration against it.

His wife, he explained, was an Italian, and desired to bring up the child in the manner followed in her own country, where the child would be vaccinated at the school age and not in early infancy.

Anticipating the visit of the public vaccinator, the father desired to know if his wife's wish could be gratified. He concluded by writing:

"My wife wished me to say that the child is half Italian and, if the English government enforce vaccination, they must undertake to confine the effects of vaccination to the English portion of the infant. She claims the protection of the Italian consul for the Italian half of the boy."

The "British Medical Journal" adds: "We are at a loss to know how the public vaccinator will be able to carry out the mother's strict injunctions in this scase, which is more difficult than that which Solomon solved in so practical a fashion."

OTHERS INDICTED IN LAND CASES

Two Spokane Men are Charged With Making Fraudulent Entries—Name of Late M. J. Heney Introduced

SPOKANE, Oct. 15.—Two indictments returned by the federal grand jury which recently convened in Spokane were made today charging William L. Dunn and Raymond Brown, both of Spokane, with alleged fraudulent entries of valuable coal lands in Alaska. Brown and Dunn stated that they would remain in Spokane and await arrest, both claiming that they made no illegal entries or located any wrong claims. These indictments are only a few of the many which have been returned against prominent Washington people, who, the government charge, made these locations in the interests of great corporations.

SEATTLE, Oct. 15.—Of the six men indicted by the federal grand jury in Tacoma for alleged fraudulent entries of Alaskan coal lands, three, Charles Munday, George H. Simmonds and Cornelius Christopher, have been released on bonds.

Earl E. Siegley, private secretary of the late Michael J. Heney, the famous railroad builder, is on the way to Seattle with the body of his late employer, and will not be arrested until after the funeral. Algernon H. Strachy, brother of an English baronet, is in British Columbia, near Vancouver, and is expected to surrender, and Archie W. Shiels is in Cordova, Alaska, where he awaits arrest.

It was learned today that the grand jury was considering the connection of Michael J. Heney with Alaska coal claims when news came of his death in San Francisco last Tuesday, and that the jury dropped the investigation of Heney also. Evidence against other coal entry promoters was considered and was deemed inadvisable as a basis for indictment.

The grand jury has not yet finished its work on the Alaska coal claims.

Police Graft in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—As a result of the conditions in the police department revealed by Safety Director Small's investigation of graft, Col. Paul M. Milliken was asked to resign by Mayor Schwab today as chief of police. Col. Milliken refused to do so, and said he would fight every effort to cause his removal.

MONTESANO, Wash., Oct. 15.—John Klingenberg, who has been undergoing trial on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Charles Hadberg, was found guilty this evening. The jury recommended leniency. Klingenberg, it was charged by the State at the instigation of William Gohl, shot Hadberg to death on December 22, 1909. Gohl was convicted of murder on the same charge a few months ago after one of the most sensational trials that has ever occurred in the Northwest. Klingenberg was evidently disappointed at the jury's verdict, and was noticeably affected.

The ladies of Metchosin will hold their harvest concert and dance on Wednesday evening next in the public hall. Mrs. Harry Pooley, Mr. Paul Edmonds and Mr. A. T. Goward will assist with the programme.
