IRVING AND HIS WIFE.

Why the Great Actor Does Not Live With Her—She Did Not Appreciate His Genius.

"Did you ever hear the reason why Irving and his wife live apart?" said one man. "Well," he continued, "Irving married when very young and very poor. He was a junior member of a traveling company, and it was not until his marriage knot had been firmly tied that he discovered how averse to the stage his wife was. She never lost an opportunity to run down the profession, and she made a practice of telling her husband that he had better turn to some other profession before it was too late, for he could never make an actor. This sort of thing lasted for several years, and finally the Irvings agreed to live apart. All this time Irving's fame had been increasing in the provinces, and finally late in the sixties he was engaged to play Mathias in London.

"John Toole's brother, a great chum of Irving, meanwhile had tried to bring husband and wife together again. The reconciliation took place on the day of the first performance of "The Bells." Mrs. Irving magnanimously agreed to waive her objections to the theater for once and to witness her husband's performance.

"Of course everyone knows the result of that performance. It was one of the greatest triumphs ever scored in a London theater. It made Irving in a night. Directly after the performance, flushed and elated by his triumph, Irving hurried to his wife's rooms. She was sitting up, waiting for him.

"'Well,' he exclaimed, with the enthusiasm of a school boy, 'what did you think of me tonight?'

"'What did I think?' remarked the wife in a withering tone, 'I thought I had never seen you act so foolish before.'

"Without another word Irving turned on his heel and left the house. That was in 1868. Irving has never lived with his wife since, but it is worth noting that two days after the actor was knighted by the Queen his wife's visiting cards read, 'Lady Irving.'"—

Some thief or thieves entered the residence of Mrs. John Jacques, Collingwood, in her absence, and stole her collection of coins valued at $500. She had some rare coins in her collection.

CHOLERA'S VICTIMS.

London, July 13.—The number of new cases of cholera reported throughout Egypt yesterday was 362. The deaths numbered 321. Among those who have died from the disease is Major Owen, of the Soudan expedition, who commanded the outposts at Amulogi Wells.

CROPS CUT DOWN BY HAIL.

Berlin, July 13.—Cloudbursts and hailstorms devastated many districts of Silesia on Monday and Tuesday. Hailstones the size of walnuts fell in the Landsburg district, destroying the crops, and the Oder rose eight feet with in day at Rapisboar and six feet at Breslau. Large districts were inundated.

ELECTIONS IN BELGIUM.

London, July 13.—Reballots for members of the Belgian Chamber of Deputies in the districts where the candidates failed of elections last Sunday were held yesterday. The returns from 400 polling stations show that the Clerical candidates received 98,100 votes, and the Radical Socialists 88,800. Thirty-eight polling stations are yet to be heard from.

CROPS IN BRITAIN.

London, July 13.—The Times publishes its initial report of the season of the crops in Great Britain, showing their condition to have been somewhat below the normal at the beginning of July, but well above that at the corresponding time last year. Taking 100 per cent as representing the average, the wheat crop works out 104 per cent; barley, 89, and oats, 85; as against 79, 83 and 76 per cent, respectively, in 1895.

THE CORONATION CATASTROPHE.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—The inquiry into the terrible disaster that occurred on the Hodynsky Plain, just outside of Moscow, on the occasion of the popular fetes in connection with the coronation of the Czar, has been concluded. Police Perfect Vlassovski, Gen. Belu, president of the fete committee, and the architect of the sheds, are declared to be answerable for the disaster. They will be arraigned before the tribunal of state.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON ILL.

London, July 13.—The news that the Duke of Wellington is seriously ill has served to recall to the public the fact that this great title is not extinct. The Present Duke, during the twelve years of his incumbency, has hardly been mentioned in public hearing. All that is said of him now is that, physically, he presents an extraordinary likeness to the late Mr. Spurgeon in his latter years of gross unwieldiness of bulk and swollen features.

ITALY'S CABINET RESIGN.

Rome, July 13.—It is officially announced that the Cabinet, having decided to postpone the discussion of the military measures until November, the Minister of War, Gen. Ricotti, resigned, whereupon the Premier, the Marquis di Rudini, submitted to King Humbert the resignation of the whole Cabinet. The King charged the Marquis Di Rudini to form the Ministry. The Italian Cabinet, which has just resigned, was formed after the fall of Signor Crispi, as a result of the Italian disasters in Abyssinia in March last.

MRS. MAYBRICK AGAIN.

London, July 13.—The release of Mrs. Florence Maybrick is more probable to be decided upon during the present month than at any period since her conviction. The custom of the Home Office is to review sentences passed on female convicts at the end of seven years from the date of sentence. Mrs. Maybrick has now been seven years in prison, and although the Home Secretary announced lately that he had reconsidered the case and held to the conviction, there is reason to hope that he will assent to a revision of the sentence of penal servitude for life.

HOHENLOHE IS ALL RIGHT.

Berlin, July 13.—Before leaving Berlin Emperor William expressed to Prince Hohenlohe his high regard and great satisfaction at what has been accomplished in the Reichstag and in foreign politics through him. The relations between the Emperor and Prince Hohenlohe are at present most cordial. The Prince is now occupied with the Cretan question, and is devoting his best efforts to prevent Greece from creating international difficulties. The Chancellor's health is at present good, but it is known that he has made his continuance in office after next fall dependent upon his Majesty's consent to military court reform.

Stolen Seat!

Dastardly Election Fraud in North Ontario.

Ballot Boxes Robbed and Counterfeit Ballots Inserted.

Mr. Davin Gets a Seat Through Marks of Returning Officers.

Whitby, July 13.—Sensational developments characterized the North Ontario recount, concluded here on Saturday. In five polling subdivisions there were found with Warden Duncan Graham's ballots 21 ballots marked for Mr. McGillivray. These fraudulent ballots had been substituted for ones that had been counted for Mr. Graham on election night by the different deputies and certified to by the scrutineers representing the two candidates. They were found as follows: Polling subdivision 4, 2 ballots; No. 18, 3; No. 27, 5, and No. 33, 6. None of them were initialed, and, though beautifully marked with crosses in the disk opposite Major McGillivray's name, the precaution of folding them up first before placing them with the genuine ballots had been overlooked, so that they were without a crease, and could never have passed through the slots into the ballot boxes. The total vote cast was 4,714, of which 2,344 were decided by Judge Burnham to be for Mr. McGillivray, and 2,334 for Mr. Graham, with 36, including the 21 fraudulent ones, rejected, so that Mr. McGillivray holds the seat until he carries out the intention of resigning it, which Judge Burnham told the Globe correspondent Mr. McGillivray expressed during the recount, when the facts as to the fraudulent ballots became clear, and also that when Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, who appeared for Mr. Graham, announced that the election would be protested, Mr. McGillivray stated that he would not become the defendant in such an action. Judge Burnham allowed ballots with crosses in the oblong space, also when marked in any other way to clearly indicate the voter's intention. Although in his written finding in the recount Judge Burnham simply states the fraudulent ballots were found with Mr. Graham's, and that they were not initialed, in conversation with the Globe correspondent he freely discussed the matter and expressed his abhorrence of such a crime.

As the aggravating details of the recount became public, the feeling, irrespective of political sentiments, is very strong here that so bold and reckless an attempt to tamper with the ballot papers, as is clearly evident has been done in the case of the North Ontario election between the date of the official count, July 6, and Friday, ought to be thoroughly investigated, and the guilty persons punished.

In his decision the judge rejected the twenty-one ballots which had been substituted for the twenty-one stolen from the Graham package. This left Mr. McGillivray's honest vote 2,344, but, as twenty-one of Mr. Graham's ballots had been stolen, his total was left at 2,334. Adding these twenty-one stolen ballots, Mr. Graham would have a majority of eleven.

DYMENT'S BIG MAJORITY.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 13.—The returning officer declares A. E. Dyment (Liberal) elected in Algoma by a majority of 1,820.

CANNOT STAND.

Winnipeg, July 13.—Judge Richardson on Friday declared Mr. Davin elected for West Assiniboia. He threw out two McInnis votes, because they had been numbered by the deputy returning officer. This brought the count out a tie, and the returning officer gave a casting vote for Davin. There is considerable feeling at Regina over the matter and $600 was subscribed freely by the mayor and other citizens to go on with the protest.

Mr. Macdonnell, the Liberal member for Selkirk, is confirmed in his seat, the Conservative application for a recount having fallen through on account of the necessary fees being paid to the wrong court officer.
