HERE'S A THOUGHT.

FOLLOW IT OUT.

The shorter the time on which goods are sold, the lower the price and the finer the profit.

The day laborer who sells his labor at cost must be paid cash. The commission merchant doing business on 2 1-2 per cent, sells only for cash. In the dry goods business, Cotton goods, on which the profits are reduced to a minimum, must be paid for by the merchant in 30 days; and yet that same merchant is willing and anxious to charge goods for six months. Doesn't it look as if he made it up on other lines; and don't you think the profit on dry goods could be smaller if the time was shortened.

These well known and unrivalled BITTERS, prepared by a peculiar and elaborate Chemical process, from rare plants and herbs, and entirely free from all mineral, acid, and other noxious ingredients, have been found the most useful in Dyspepsia or indigestion, Diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, and Irritability of the Bowels.

In all cases of Debility; whether arising from illness, fatigue, or other causes, they prove eminently serviceable and afford incalculable benefit; and, being devoid of all spirituous and other injurious stimulants, may be given with happiest effects to young children, correcting in them the tendency to the generation of worms, and other Bowel complaints.

FOR FEMALES these Bitters are peculiarly suitable, giving tone and vigor to the system, and imparting new strength to the frame, which protracted nursing or other exhausting causes may have impaired.

They have been extensively and successfully used by the Medical Faculty, many of whose most distinguished members in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, the United States elsewhere, have given ample testimony in their favor.

These Bitters produce a feeling of buoyancy, removing depression or melancholy, and hence are of great value in the treatment of Mental and Nervous affection. They produce a healthy flow of the secretions, and should be used by all who suffer from

SALMON SLAYERS.

A GROSS OUTRAGE ON THE MIRAMICHI.

Seventy-five Salmon Killed by Dynamite at Rocky Brook.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

FREDERICTON, July 18.—Information has just reached here of the wholesale destruction of salmon in Rocky Brook, South West Miramichi.

From the best accounts obtainable from reliable resources, it seems that a party of men who live on the south-west Miramichi, went up Rocky Brook, one of the tributaries of the river a few days ago for the purpose of poaching. Instead of spears the favorite weapon in that locality for slaying fish these fellows carried along with them dynamite cartridges.

The cartridges were used for killing the fish which the poachers seemed very successful in finding, as 75 fine fish were hauled down stream in a cart, the result of the trip up the brook.

The names of the rascals who were in the party is well-known as is also the owner of the cart in which the fish were hauled from the place where the slaughter took place.

This despatch is quite in accordance with the accounts which have reached THE GAZETTE from various sources. From the Tobique, St. John, Dungarvin, Cain's River and all the tributaries of the Miramichi. On the last mentioned river we understand there are but two officers one on the Northwest and the other on the Southwest branch. As a result poachers have entire posession of the waters.

As there is a clear case against the offenders in this instance we presume that a prosecution will be instituted at once either by the Dominion or local authorities.

In the interests of the general public THE GAZETTE will have this matter thoroughly inquired into.

The Night Blooming Cereus.

Last evening Mr. John Hammond invited a large number of friends to his residence, Pitt street, to witness the opening of the flower of his night blooming Cereus. From seven until twelve the blossom disclosed itself and then gradually shut never to open again. The flower is of a pinkish tinge and tapers gracefully. When open it was fully twelve inches across and very fragrant. The sepals are long and narrow, the petals numerous, and within the stamens stand out in rows. This is the third season that the Cereus has bloomed; and it is seven years old. In September last a large number of Mr. Hammond's friends witnessed the discloseing of three blossoms at a time, and during the season the flower bloomed seven times. A large and smooth branch is now shooting out from the plant, which Geddis ties its peculiarity. This cereus is one of the very few in the provinces, and when in bloom is very beautiful. Mr. Hammond expects another blossom in six weeks.

VANISHED IN THE CLOUDS.

An Experimenting Æronaut's Astonishing Disappearance.

NEW YORK, July 16.—At Williamsburg, L. I., to-kay Professor Hogan made an experimental trip with Campbell's airship. A large crowd witnessed the ascension and cheered Hogan and a friend who accompanied him. The airship consists of a silk cigar-shaped bag with a cigar shaped receptacle beneath. An electric battery connected to several propellers made of canvas is the propellery power. The body of the ship was filled with gas.

Shortly after the rising of the machine the occupants could be seen working excitedly and a few minutes after one of propellers fell to the ground. After that the ship appeared to be in trouble. It twisted about in every manner and spun about like a top. Several times it appeared to stand upon one end threatening to dump the occupants out.

They were from all appearances attempting to descend, but acted as if they could not. One of the men was seen to climb to the top and then return to his companion. Directly after that the ship darted upward and disappeared in the distance. When last seen the occupants were undoubtedly in trouble.

CHARGE AGAINST A CAPTAIN.—Collector Ferguson, in accordance with instructions from Ottawa, made an inquiry, the other day, into charges against Capt. Rowan of the barque Armenia. The Captain was charged with hard usage toward his men, and with having made no effort to rescue a boy who had been driven by cruel treatment into jumping overboard at Cape Town. The charges were preferred by the mate, who fell out with the captain and left the ship on her arrival here. It appeared by the evidence that the men were drinking and insubordinate in Cape Town, and that they were put in irons by the police until they were ready to do duty, and that Rutran, a German seaman, who was called the boy, jumped overboard at night and swam to a German ship with whose men he had been fraternizing. The watchman called the mate, the mate called Capt Rowan, and the sailors had disappeared in the mean time. The evidence of the watchman tenders it highly probable that Rutren was taken on board the German ship, which was only a cable's length away. The Armenia was allowed to sail.—Chatham World.

LAKE SUPERIOR WHITE FISH AND SALMON IN ST. JOHN.—Mr. V G R Vickers agent of the Dominion Express Company received today a box of about 50 pounds of Lake Superior White Fish and Salmon.

The fish are as fine and fresh in appearance as if just caught. They were shipped at Port Arthur on the 15th inst, and have been brought over 1300 miles by rail.

The excellent condition in which the fish arrive here after being brought so far is conclusive proof as to what this company can do for our merchants in shipping fresh fish to the west.

The white fish are from 12 to 15 inches in length, and weigh from 2 to 3 pounds each. The salmon look like our North Shore trout, and are very fat.

A BRIGHT REFLECTION IN THE SKY, last evening led the people to suppose that there was a fire at Milledgeville. The smoke and illumination was caused by the burning of the brush that had been cut off, 30 acres of Mr. Stettson's place on Boars' Head road last winter. There was a large quantity of brush all quite dry and it made a furious fire while it lasted.

DANGER FROM FIRE.

THE PRESENT FIRE ALARM PRACTICALLY USELESS.

A Few Dollars Judiciously Expended Will Make the System Effective.

It is a well-known fact that the fire alarm telegraphic system of St. John has long been unreliable. Various attempts have been made to prove that the system was effective in its operation but every fireman knows and every citizen also that the system is not effective and as it at present constructed cannot be depended on for a single hour to give a satisfactory alarm.

This is a very serious matter indeed. Both firemen and citizens depend on the alarm striking when it is required, and at the same time striking correctly. Within the past few years there have been numerous instances when the alarm did not strike correctly sending the firemen and their apparatus in a direction totally different from that in which they should have gone. Fortunately no serious conflagration has followed this bad working of the alarm, but one might occur any day. It is all important that the machinery and men of the fire department should reach the scene of a fire at the earliest possible moment after its discovery. Five minutes lost at the start of a fire is frequently very difficult to make up later on. Every facility is provided the firemen to aid them in reaching the scene of a fire rapidly. Horses and men are maintained day and night at all fire stations. There is swinging harness and electric snaps to open and close doors. The men arrange their clothes before they go to bed so that there will be no time lost should they be called suddenly. Horses are driven through the streets at a high rate of speed to the scene of the fire as indicated by the box number. But what avail is all this hurry and trouble if a wrong alarm is given? Indeed it would be better to have no alarm at all than one that cannot be depended on. It was bad enough when only the limited area of the old city was alarmed but now that Portland has been added it will be much worse if arrangements are not made.

The Common Council are thoroughly aware of the unsatisfactory condition of the alarm, at present but are moving so slowly to have the necessary improvements made, some very serious accident may happen. A month ago the council were informed by Chief Engineer Kerr, of the unsatisfactory state of the fire alarm and in the same letter he gave information as to the changes required and enclosed a letter from T. M. Robinson who was called in to make an examination of the system in which it was stated that the alarm could not be depended on for a day.

The difficulty with the alarm is that the circuit is too long to be worked satisfactorily. It is difficult to explain the defect in the system to those who do not understand electricity. The fact that all the boxes and gongs are on the one circuit gives an opportunity for the escape of the current and this renders the alarm always uncertain. Besides a fire alarm to be servicable at all should be serviceable all the time, and this can only be accomplished by daily tests. At present these tests, if made at all, must necessarily alarm the entire city. That is to say no test of the whole circuit is possible unless the gongs in all parts of the city are struck.

To render the system safe and practical it has been suggested that a separate circuit about three miles in length be put in to connect the gongs only.

This circuit would be worked from the box circuit through a repeater. The advantage of having a repeater lies in the fact that it is much more sensitive than the magnets which work the gongs can be, and this would give greater security in having the right box number struck.

In other words there are now nearly one hundred magnets in the circuit, on which the bells are worked while if there were a separate circuit for bells alone there would not be more than a dozen magnets. Consequently, the chances of getting an incorrect alarm would be, under the change, about one in ten as compared with the present system.

The change would not involve a large expenditure and no further time should be lost in making it as the present alarm may not work the next time a box is tested.

MULDOON ON SULLIVAN.

The Big Fellow called a Loafer by the Man who Trained Him—Pretty Hard Talk, but None too Hard, no Doubt.

If John L. Sullivan could be chained up when he misbehaved himself, and kept so until he reformed, he would be a great man for many years to come and would have hosts of friends, says the New York Sun. The story of his behavior in Chicago which was published yesterday has turned many of his friends against him, and unless he mends his way he will receive no welcome when he arrives in this town, except from the army of parasites which has always surrounded him when his star was in the ascendant. Billy Muldoon talked bitterly yesterday of Sullivan's conduct.

"He is as thorough-placed a loafer," said Muldoon "as I ever had anything to do with. All these stories about his great love for his parents and his generosity are the veriest bosh. A more unappreciative fellow I never saw, and now that it appears to be useless to induce him to behave himself, the sooner the truth is told about him the better. Shortly after the fight the telegram from Sullivan's father arrived and Johnston and I cleared the room of everybody and then read the despatch to the big fellow. He didn't pay the slightest attention to it. His indifference so enraged Johnston that he told him he ought to be ashamed of himself.

"Your poor old mother is lying sick,' he said 'and you don't seem to care a cent. Why can't you be a man?'

"The matter with Sullivan is that he hasn't got any brain. After the fight the proprietor of the Spanish Fort, a resort just out of New Orleans, sent word to Sullivan that he would give him $1,500 if he would appear there once and be introduced from a platform to the patrons of the place.

"'Let him go to——,' was Sullivan's response.

The next day the proprietor called on the big fellow and offered him the entire receipts of the place, with a guarantee that the amount would not be less than $1,500. Sullivan declined this offer just as brutally as he did the first. This will give you an idea of his business ability. Sullivan is a man with the lowest kind of tastes. It was difficult to prevent him from gratifying his low desires. That he is giving full play to them now is clear from the character of the neighborhood which he is frequenting in Chicago. As for rum, why he loves it. He is a stubborn brute, and it is a mighty hard thing to compel him to do anything that he doesn't want to do. This talk about his being tempted to drink by friends is bosh. He drinks in order to satisfy a craving for liquor, and not because he is a good fellow."

Mr. Muldoon was asked regarding his statement that Sullivan was in Canada.

"That was made in good faith,' he replied, "and if Sullivan had an ounce of sense or honor he would be there now.

When I left him the address of a man in Canada near Detroit was given him, and it was fully understood that he would go directly there. I assured him that he would be well taken care of, and that he could remain there and get thoroughly rested and permit his hands to grow strong again. He promised faithfully to go. He was to send me a telegram as soon as he arrived there. I have been waiting here to get that telegram, and the first thing I hear is that he is acting the drunken loafer again in Chicago. My interest in him ended when the sponge was thrown up in Kilrains's corner last Monday, but I was too anxious to be a friend to him. Disinterested friendship is something that Sullivan doesn't know anything about."

Mr. Muldoon was asked concerning the stake money and what share of it Sullivan would probably receive.

"His share will be mighty small," was the reply, "unless he stops drinking. He has no right to a penny of it, but both Johnston and Wakely, I understand, were resolved to give him their share of it. Under the circumstances the money might just as well be thrown into the gutter. If it was given to him he would probably spend it in drinking saloons and less respectable resorts. His backers intended to act generously toward him but they may change their minds now. It is not likely that a very large amount of money will be given him at once, but that small sums will be doled out to him at different times. I did more for Sullivan than I would do for any other man in the world. I liked him and believed that if he could be knocked into shape again he might behave himself. I sent my family away and turned my home into training quarters and labored hard with him. When he came to me his stomach was so weak that it could retain only the lightest kind of food. There was a hole in his neck big enough to hold your fist and his flesh was as soft and flabby as a baby's. He lived like a man who would not live three months. I laid out between $300 and $400 in fixing up the place to accommodate him and in other necessary expenses, exclusive of the household bills. My butcher's bill, while he was with me, averaged $100 a week. I intended to accept nothing for these services, but to tell Sullivan that the only pay I wanted was to see him behave himself and act like a man who had some respect for himself. If his backers intend to surrender much money to him when he is making a beast of himself, I may as well put up my bill and get some of the money.

Muldoon is pretty well tired out, and intends to spend a few days out of town.

A WILD SCHEME TO CHANGE A LITTLE TOWN TO A BIG CITY.

The "Fundimental Idea" of the Hubbites is to Consolidate the Union, Northern and Canadian Pacific Roads and Make Boston the Terminus of all Trans-Continental Trade. Annexation Will then be Possible.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

HARTFORD, Con, July 18.—The text for the bill which is to be introduced at the opening of the session of Congress in December, involving a gigantic scheme for railroad consolidation, is now being put into type and a Chicago firm is engaged in publishing the maps.

The fundamental idea is to make Boston the metropolis of the Continent. The Union and Northern Pacific roads and the Canadian Pacific are the ones to be consolidated, the system extending from Santa Fe through the Southern States thence by way of the Pennsylvania coal regions and across the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, taking in Hartford, and the Connecticut Western line, thence to Springfield and Boston. From Boston the originators of the plan propose to run steamship lines to Europe furnishing the amplest accomodations for freight and passenger traffic from the Pacific Slope to the largest ports on the European continent. The details of the bill cannot be ascertained at present, but its projectors state that members of the Senate are familiar with the scheme and are enthusiastic for its prosecution. The capitalization to be asked will not be less than $700,000,000.

English capitalists will join in with the enterprise, effecting a Commercial Union at present and ultimately a political one with the Canadian territory. American capitalists will be interested equally. A new ocean cable is also among the plans.
