C. P. C ON THE SQUARE

There is no cause for apprehension,
Nor for anything to fear,
At the C. P. C. extension
Into the Market Square.

The C. P. C. brings business,
And if it centers there,
Why should there be uneasiness,
When they do business on the square?

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Saturday, June 3.

Although the weather was all that could be desired, making it a pleasure for those who had business to do on the market, the attendance was not nearly as large as the two previous Saturdays. The principal feature of the market was the large display of green stuff and flowers, the latter making the finest showing probably ever seen on the market. Sales in all lines could be considered brisk, as there was very little produce unsold at 11:30 o'clock. Prices were higher for some classes of farm products, while for other lines there was a slight decline.

Grain—Oats sold well, and there was quite a supply offered; sales were made at $1 21 to $1 25 per cwt, the latter price for black oats; most of the sales were made at $1 22 per cwt. One load of peas sold at $1 per cwt.

Several loads of hay sold at $7 and $7 50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter was plentiful and sales were brisk; prices were a little firmer, at 14c to 16c per lb; a large number of farmers had their last lot of butter in today, as they will send their cream to the factories during the summer months, and this will have a tendency to keep the price of butter firm. Eggs sold well, and prices were a little firmer, at 14½c to 15½c per dozen wholesale.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes were well represented; sales were on the slow side; prices ruled at 70c and 75c per bag, according to the number purchased; spinach was plentiful, at 25c to 30c per bu; radishes, 20c to 25c per dozen; green onions sold at 30c to 35c per dozen; rhubarb, 20c and 25c per dozen; other vegetables as quoted.

Poultry—There was a considerable supply offered; sales as a rule were brisk; spring chickens alive, 90c to $1 10 per pair; old fowls, 75c to 90c, alive, or 70c to $1 20 per pair dressed; turkeys, dressed, sold at 12c to 13c per lb; alive, 11c per lb.

Dressed Hogs—About 20 carcasses were offered, and nearly all sold at 8c per cwt.

Live Hogs—The price for Monday will be about $6 25 per cwt; small pigs sold well and higher prices were paid; sales were made at $6 and $7 per pair for pigs about 8 weeks old; one pair of choice pigs, about 3 months old, sold at $9.

Butchers' Meats—Sales were brisk today; beef sold at $7 to $8 for medium and good quality, and $8 50 to $9 per cwt for extra choice heifer beef; lambs, $5 to $6 each; mutton, 5c to 6c per lb; veal, $5 to $7 per cwt, mostly at $6.

Wool—Prices were a little firmer, at 22c to 23c for washed and 13c to 14c for unwashed.

Apples—There was a good demand; the supply was very small; choice bags sold at high as 70c, while good barrels went at $1 50 and $1 75.

BEN GREET AND WOODLAND PLAYERS

Present "Twelfth Night" and "Comedy of Errors" On 'Varsity Grounds.

Rarely do lovers of art and the drama in this city have an opportunity of seeing the plays of the king of all dramatists so well acted, and never do they see them so beautifully staged, as when Ben Greet and his company of woodland players come to lesser London. Two large audiences gathered on the lawn of the Western University and witnessed, with the utmost enjoyment, "Twelfth Night" in the afternoon, and the "Comedy of Errors" in the evening. The weather, threatening at the first of the day, turned out to be ideal for the occasion, and the great trees in front of the main entrance of Huron College made a perfect background for the stage, which was so banked with boughs of trees that it seemed just a corner of an extensive forest. The sweet old songs sung from time to time by a chorus among the trees at the rear, the perfection of the costumes worn by the players, left nothing to be desired, as far as "externalities" of the drama are concerned.

With regard to the acting itself, it must be said that the refined, sympathetic and artistic interpretation of Shakespearean characters given by the company, on the whole, is so far above the ordinary that anything except appreciation would appear almost incongruous in a short notice. The part of Viola was taken very capably by Miss Adelaide Alexander, who has a winning stage presence, and a degree of innate, artistic ability that surprised those who had seen the incomparable Wynne Mathison last year, and who had half-expected that the heroine's part would suffer in her absence. Much as the audience was engaged by Miss Alexander, they were equally pleased with the strong and faithful delineation of the character of Olivia given by Miss Agnes Scott, who took the part of Celia in "As You Like It," last year. Miss Scott's perfect enunciation, control of facial expression and dramatic gesture were particularly pleasing. Dallas Anderson was as successful as the love-stricken and imaginative Duke of Illyria, as he was as Orlando last year, and the part of Sebastian, Viola's brother, was creditably taken by Frank McEnter. A delightfully natural representation of the fun-making Maria was given by Daisy Robinson.

With regard to Ben Greet himself, who could have drawn a truer picture of the pompous, conceited Malvolia, with yellow stockings and all? The weak-hearted Sir Andrew and the tippling, sportive Sir Toby, had able exponents in Sayer Crewly and Sydney Greenstreet.

Special mention must be made of the acting of Mr. Samuel Goodwin, as Dromio, of Syracuse, in the "Comedy of Errors." Mr. Goodwin, it will be remembered, was the comical "Wall" in "Midsummer Night's Dream" last year, and his interpretation of the jovial, long-suffering Dromio showed that he is perfectly at home in a principal part of that nature. His description of the rotund Luce was especially clever and mirth-provoking. Ben Greet shows to better advantage in "dryer" parts, such as those of Jacques and Malvolia, where he has room for the delicate touches of which he is so capable, than as Dromio of Ephesus, the "Comedy of Errors" is, as is well known, one of the early and imperfect of Shakespeare's comedies. It is in the nature of a farce, lacking the depth of later comedies, and many were sorry not to have seen "As You Like It" given again.

Although the audiences yesterday were large, it is not to the credit of Londoners that there were any vacant chairs. Mr. Greet's company has now been here twice and will be welcomed the third time with increased enthusiasm.

ON HAND FOR CAMP

Fifty Members of Army Service Corps Arrive From Guelph.

Half of the Army Service Corps, or about 50 of all ranks, arrived here from Guelph today to make preparations for the first camp, which begins on Tuesday. They will spend today and tomorrow in getting their own quarters prepared, and on Monday they will move the district stores from the corner of Waterloo and Pall Mall streets to Carling's Heights.

When No. 1 Brigade arrives on Tuesday, their canvas homes, stoves and so forth will all be ready for them. The other half of the corps will come with the second brigade.

HE'S ONLY ONE OUT OF SCORES

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Him a New Man.

Richard Quirk Doctored for a Dozen Years and Thought His Case Incurable—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Fortune Harbor, Nfld., June 2. — Scores of people in this neighborhood are living proofs that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ailments from Backache to Bright's Disease. Among the most remarkable cures is that of Mr. Richard Quirk, and he gives the story of it to the public as follows:

"I suffered for over 20 years from Lumbago and Kidney Disease, and at intervals was totally unable to work. After ten or twelve years' of doctors' treatment, I had made up my mind that my complaint was incurable. Reading of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills tempted me to try them. I did so with little faith, but to my great surprise I had not taken more than half a box before I felt relief, and after the use of seven or eight boxes, I was fully cured and a new man.

"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Lumbago and Kidney Disease, and the best of it is I have stayed cured."

WHERE LONDON IS AT DISADVANTAGE

Does Not Enjoy Some Privileges Granted by Railways to Other Cities.

A visitor to London, a very prominent resident of his own community in the Eastern States, has called attention to a railway matter in which Hamilton has a privilege not enjoyed by London, but which London should endeavor to secure from the railway companies at the earliest possible date, as it would prove of inestimable benefit to the city.

The advantage of Hamilton is in regard to stopover privileges on railway tickets. Hamilton it appears, is one of the very few cities where passengers, regardless of the nature of their tickets, may stop over, and in consequence it has thousands of visitors for short periods, who would otherwise continue their railroad journey uninterrupted.

Unlimited one-way tickets on the railway, it appears, allow passengers the right to complete their journey when they see fit, and they also give the traveler the right to stop at as many places en route as he might see fit. The limited tickets, however, do not provide stopover privileges save at certain points, of which Hamilton is one, and as they are good only for a limited time, and the rights allowed with them are not as great as under the unlimited tickets, they are not as costly. The difference in the price of an unlimited and a limited ticket from Philadelphia to Chicago is between $2 and $3. Passengers riding on a limited ticket can remain over at Hamilton for ten days by depositing their ticket with the agent of the road and securing another from him on resuming his journey. They cannot do the same thing on reaching London.

Should London be included in the list of favored places, it would mean that thousands of the traveling public would stop over here in the course of a year and leave an immense sum of money with the merchants. To have London placed on the same footing as Hamilton in this respect is worth an organized effort. Here is an opportunity for the board of trade to do a good stroke of business for the city.

NEW GUNS ARE OF LATEST MODEL

Description of Equipment Just Received From Ottawa for Field Battery.

The members of the reorganized London Field Battery are greatly interested in the new guns which have just been received from the militia department at Ottawa.

The guns, which are of the latest model of their type, are of steel (wire construction), and weigh about six hundred pounds each. The breech is closed by a parallel screw fitting into a screwed opening in the gun and worked by means of a straight pull lever, pinion and links. For firing the gun, "T" friction tubes and lanyard are used, so arranged that the gun cannot be fired before the breech is closed, and the breech mechanism lever home. An extractor for automatically releasing the friction tube from the vent is fitted to the slide box. The guns are side sighted, with targets and foresights on the left side only. The target sight is of steel, the crosshead with a notched leaf and screw, which gives 1½ degrees' deflection right or left. The bar is graduated in rear up to 11 degrees, and engraved on the front with a yard scale up to 4,500.

The gun carriage, speaking generally, consists of two side brackets, elevating gear, spade attachment, three brake and two axletree boxes. The elevating gear is worked by means of two screws, bevel, pinion and hand wheel.

The operation of the spade brake is a very interesting feature of the gun. When the latter is fired, the teeth of the spade catch in the ground, and the gun, recoiling over the spade, compresses a spring, which returns it to the firing position after recoil. The limbers consist of steel frame, ammunition box, axletree, wheels and pole. Thirty-six rounds of ammunition are carried in the box and four rounds in the gun carriage axletree boxes. In the ammunition wagon proper, 60 rounds are carried, with 36 in the wagon limber.

The gun fires either shrapnel shell, with percussion or time fuse, or case shot for short range. Each cartridge consists of 12½ ounces of cordite, packed in a red shallow bag, with a primer of four drams of powder, placed at both ends. On leaving the bore the shell has a muzzle velocity of 1,585 feet per second, the projectile weighing exactly 12½ pounds, with a range of 6,000 yards.

Each gun is worked by a sergeant, a corporal and eight men, with two drivers and four horses. The ammunition wagons have the same number of drivers and horses.

The total complement of the battery is about 100 of all ranks, with about 75 horses. The ammunition wagons were built by the Ottawa Car Company for the Dominion Government, while the guns and carriages were built in England.

SESSION OF HIGH COURT

Three Motions Disposed Of by Mr. Justice Magee.

A very brief session of the high court was held this morning, with Mr. Justice Magee presiding. Three motions were heard.

Wright vs. Henry—Mr. W. G. Winnett made a motion for the payment of money out of court. The order was granted.

Roseburgh vs. Albright—Mr. Coleridge, for the vendor, moved for the confirmation of the local master's report on the title to the estate. The court granted an order confirming the report, and declaring purchaser's objection to be answered. No order as to costs. Mr. Coutts, of Chatham, for the purchaser, did not appear.

Re Janet McCall—Macpherson & Jeffrey, for the petitioners, moved that Janet McCall, of Lobo, be declared a lunatic, and that D. A. Brown of Lobo, be appointed a committee of her person and estate, the security of the committee to be fixed and approved. Order granted.

Adult, Col., seems to live up to its name, as shown by a recent dinner given by a farmer near that town. The table was set for 12 and the dinner consisted of one 5½-pound potato, one 10-pound chicken, one 15-pound cabbage, one 6-pound turnip, one 2-pound onion and three pies made from one half-pound apple.

It is understood that Denver, Col., will be selected as the site for the Army and Navy Hospital, which the Federal Government will erect for consumptives, and for which an appropriation of $50,000 has been set aside.
