MEN AND THINGS AT OTTAWA.

Debate on the Election Bill—Palmer Becomes a "Woman's Rights Man"—Prohibition in the House—Passing the Estimates.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

OTTAWA, May 2.

The long looked for, much needed, and manifold Election Bill, has passed, section by section, in Committee of the Whole. Some few sections have been held over, for the further consideration of the Minister of Justice. A number of verbal alterations were made, but very few important amendments, although many were suggested, were entertained, and the Minister of Justice may well congratulate himself on navigating such an extensive bill through the House, with so few changes. It contains 137 clauses, besides a large appendix of schedules, illustrations, forms of oath, &c. Of course M. Dorion cannot claim much originality in connection with his little bill, as it is transcribed from the English law, and and the law recently passed by the Ontario Legislature, with such verbal alterations as make the different parts "dovetail" together.

A strong effort was made to retain the time-tried institution of

but without avail; and the day which brought its big crowds, big speeches, broken heads, and a rich revenue to the rum-sellers, is now among the recollections of the past. Probably just as effective but a much quieter method will develop itself, by which politicians can make known their views to the people whose suffrages they seek.

Another amendment respecting the method

REGULATING THE FRANCHISE,

was strongly urged by Mr. Mitchell, Sir John Macdonald and others, who argued that the Dominion Parliament should retain control of the franchise upon which its members were elected, instead of leaving it to the caprice or will of the local legislatures. M. Dorion is considering the question, but it is not probable that the desired and very necessary amendment will be made.

Early in the debate Mr. Palmer expressed his views on

and thought that single women who had property should have the right to vote. Some one suggested that he should "embrace the widows" as well, which he said he would be happy to do—"if they had the necessary property qualification." When the bill was on its way through committee, Mr. Palmer moved that the clause which stated that "no woman shall be allowed to vote" be struck out. M. Dorion consented, a stroke of the pen annihilated the obstructive clause; and the name of the honorable member from St. John must be handed down to posterity as the pioneer champion of in the Parliament of Canada. No doubt Mr. Palmer will be received with "open arms" by his fair constituents, and receive the enthusiastic congratulations of Susan B. Anthony and her sister soldiers.

The question now remains for each Legislature to decide, and a splendid opportunity is offered for some aspiring politician to secure a position and perpetuate his name, by coming to the front as the champion of Woman Suffrage.

One of the important amendments to the Election Bill is one suggested by Sir John A. Macdonald, that the offence of personating voters shall be punishable with imprisonment. Not quite so many dead men will be resurrected and vote on polling day in future. The Bill, as a whole, is a valuable addition to the legislation of the country, and if faithfully followed out will effect a welcome reform in our electoral system.

Yesterday afternoon was occupied in discussing the report of the Committee appointed to consider the PROHIBITION.

The discussion, so far as it went, was much in advance of the usual order of temperance speeches, and was confined almost exclusively to the presentation of facts bearing directly upon the traffic. Statements were read from officials in England, the United States, and Canada, showing the enormous percentage of crime directly traceable to the use of intoxicating drink. One feature was noticeable throughout, and that was the absence of undue frivolity which generally rises to the surface in such discussions; and it cannot be denied that public sentiment is aroused to an unprecedented extent upon this subject, and that the temperance question has a powerful representation in the present House of Commons.

The Premier expressed himself as personally favorable to a Prohibitory law, and would be willing to submit to direct taxation to meet the loss which the revenue would sustain in consequence of its passage; but he declared it was impossible to have such a law. Even if it were passed, public sentiment was not sufficiently strong to carry it out, and a state of anarchy would result.

The report recommends steps being taken to procure full information respecting the practical working of the "Maine Liquor Law." It is possible, but not very probable, that the Government may appoint a Royal Commission for this purpose. It is very evident that this prohibition movement has become vitalized into one of the live issues of our time, and if its friends continue improving on their present vantage ground, and temper their zeal with knowledge, they will ere long occupy a power and position in the country which no party can afford to despise.

After recess the House went into

and several millions of dollars were voted by the time the House adjourned at 1.30. Sir John and Tupper were absent, and the "leader of the left centre" had to act as critic-in-chief. He conducted this delicate business in his well known vigorous style, and there were several lively passages of arms between him and the Ministerial chiefs. It is an incident worthy of notice that in Counties which returned Ministerial candidates, the Government are very zealous about carrying out the promises of their predecessors; while in Counties represented by opposition candidates, the Government, when asked whether they intend spending certain sums mentioned in the estimates, generally reply that they are "not quite sure, but will act for the best interests of the country." There was a forcible illustration of this last night.

In reply to a question put by Mr. Mitchell, the Minister of Marine stated that the arrangements were completed for constructing a Marine Hospital in Westmorland county.

Mr. Mitchell asked if the amount placed in the estimates for a similar purpose at Dalhousie would be expended.

The Premier stated that he "was not quite sure; but the Government would act for the best interests of the country." It is quite evident that the Premier intends dangling this Marine Hospital grant as a bait before the eyes of Mr. Moffatt, in hope of making another Government catch. Probably Dalhousie will have to go without its Hospital, as Mr. Moffatt's political integrity is too well established to allow one to suppose that his vote is to be purchased. This is only one specimen of the manner in which the Reform Government continue to "elevate the standard of public morality."

A Burglar's Den in a Schoolhouse.

For some eighteen months a series of burglaries have been committed in Lergen county, New Jersey, by a band of colored men known as the Closter gang, against whom suspicion was aroused, but who could not be connected with the robberies by good evidence. Recently one of the number was arrested while attempting to sell stolen goods in New York, and from him a confession was obtained and information, which led to the discovery of the den and the arrest of two other men. A watch was placed upon a schoolhouse in Demorest, and shortly after two colored men were discovered entering the loft of the building. They were arrested, and found to be a negro named Peter Thompson and a mulatto named Charles Smith. The loft over the school house was very comfortably fixed up as a domicile, a large cooking stove, a spring bed, hair mattresses, pillows, etc., composing the furniture. A large quantity of plunder was found, including silver, choice wines and cigars, a compound microscope worth $300, and other valuable articles. An attempt had been made to melt a portion of the silver. The building is one in which school is kept, and it is somewhat singular that the men could have lived there so long undiscovered.

The Amerique's mail, which was picked up at sea, has been landed at Havre.

Count Von Arnim, German Minister to France, has resigned his ambassadorship.

A grand banquet was given at Portsmouth, Thursday, to the soldiers of the Ashantee expedition.

The House of Commons will take a recess over the Whitsuntide holidays, adjourning on the 12th of May until the 1st of June.

The result of the election in Stroud, Gloucestershire, has been annulled on account of bribery, and a new election has been ordered.

Senator Lane of the California Legislature wants to amend the libel law of that State which requires a plaintiff in libel suits to give bonds in the sum of $350 to pay costs in case he is defeated. The law has worked well during the two years of its existence by preventing adventurous attorneys and other irresponsible characters from annoying the press. In Missouri no suit for damages can be brought unless bonds to pay costs have previously been filed.

In New York there is no little comment among church people because the Rev. W. T. Sabin, Rector of the Church of the Atonement, is about to sever his connection with the Protestant Episcopal Church. He objects to certain expressions in the prayer book. In the baptismal service the word "regeneration" is used. The child or person baptized is considered unregenerate before that rite, and the service teaches him that by the sprinkling of water he is made regenerate, a child of God, an inheritor of the Kingdom of Heaven. Mr. Sabin views this as opposed to the teachings of the Saviour, and in fact a dangerous error. He also objects to the word "priest." The word carries with it the idea of altars and sacrifices, and is not used in the New Testament as applying to a minister of the Gospel. This word "priest" leads many to think the Christian ministry a sacerdotal office, the Lord's table an altar, and the supper a sacrifice, while the New Testament teaches that all altars and sacrifices were done away with in the great consummating sacrifice on Calvary.
