WINDSOR COTTON MILL.

From the Windsor Mail we learn that the Cotton Mill at that place has been in active operation for about two weeks. We heartily congratulate our neighboring town up the line, and trust that this new enterprise will meet with all the success which its most sanguine promoters anticipate. A year ago last March several Windsorians convinced that from its central position their town occupied vantage ground in reference to locality for manufacturing purposes, held an informal meeting to discuss the question of the erection of a woollen or cotton factory. Deciding on the latter they opened a stock list, and after varying fortunes—dark enough sometimes—closed their books with subscriptions to the amount of $180,000. In the following September a building site was selected, and before the end of the year a mill 200 feet long and 80 feet broad was up and roofed in. In January last at a meeting of stockholders nine directors were appointed from the best business men of the place, by whom the details of the enterprise have at length been completed. The building is of three stories, fitted with machinery of the best make and latest improvements, designed to produce goods of the finest quality. The main work room is on the third floor. Here there are 200 looms and 10600 spindles, besides winding and warping machines, the whole driven by a 300 h. p. high pressure engine. The output of goods will be handled by the well-known firm of D. Moonie & Co., of Montreal. At present the work of the mill is merely preliminary, and will of necessity be such for several weeks to come, till the operatives and machinery become accustomed to the work. It is expected, however, that goods will be ready for shipment before the end of the present year. When in full operation about 200 operatives will be employed.

This is a new departure for Nova Scotia, and we earnestly hope it is but the promise of what is to come. The energy and perseverance which have been manifest in this enterprise are worthy of emulation in many parts of this country, and more especially towards this end of the valley of Annapolis. As a manufacturing centre this position is unequalled by any in the Province. For some years past we have been wondering at and complaining of the exodus of our young people of both sexes to a foreign country. We ought to have learned by this time that there is but one way to stop this tide which is weakening our own land and building up the land of strangers, that is, by furnishing remunerative employment for them at home. Resources of wealth and elements of greatness are lying undeveloped all around us which require only the judicious investment of capital to turn into sources of income sufficient to maintain our present population multiplied by ten. The course of events will, perhaps, yet drive us to this. But we would be wise to take advantage of our position before all these interests are monopolised by other localities, and our muscular working force so far depleted as to take a generation or two to restore it.

As we write the above we hear it rumored that an effort is about being made to form a joint-stock company for the erection of a Woollen Mill at Annapolis for the manufacture of the finer grades of cloth. This is a matter of considerable importance. We are informed that there is not a factory in the lower Provinces for the production of this class of goods, while in other parts of the Dominion the supply is very limited. Here is one of the best chances in the world for a judicious investment of that capital—so much of which is rusting in idleness in the Savings' Banks, and for the employment of that enterprise which is being driven from us every day to develop the resources of other countries. The first mill of this sort cannot fail to secure large returns. We hope the gentlemen at Annapolis who may have the matter in hand, will deal with it with a promptness and perseverance similar to that which in the course of a few months brought to completion the Cotton Mill at Windsor. We shall return to these matters again.

The Fate of Arabi.

While the Spectator is concentrating its wonderful energies to wrestle with the question,—"Who struck Billy Pitterson?" and "where was Munro during Thursday, Friday and Saturday?" the English papers are discussing the not less important inquiry,—What shall be done with Arabi, the leader of Egyptian insurgents and now a British prisoner of war? Shall he die, and thus be enrolled in the canon of patriotic martyrs who have fought for their country—and lost? Or, shall he be cursed with life, and thus be permitted to sink into the insignificance which is his rightful inheritance? That Arabi was once a man of power—a name to conjure with among the populace of Egypt—is certain. That he is a base, despicable coward, is equally certain. But we are not so certain that cowardice in one's enemy is a crime to be visited with capital punishment. Had the Egyptian chieftain put himself in the way of an English bullet on the field of battle it would not have been, perhaps, a matter of much regret, even had that bullet carried his name down to posterity as a hero. But when after a fruitless attempt to escape he quietly lays the hilt of his sword in the hands of a British general, the case is altered. His power as an insurgent has completely collapsed, and from the unlovable tendency so paramount among Eastern nations to worship the rising sun and to kick those who have fallen, it cannot be a question that that power has collapsed for ever. Arabi's fate is nominally in the hands of the Khedive, but no sentence against him can be carried into execution without the consent of the British Government. Unless, therefore, he can be convicted beyond doubt of arson and murder, the sorest punishment which could be accorded to his memory would be to spare his life. This course would be alike wise, magnanimous, and effective.

— The shameless Vennor predicts heavy snow-storms for next week in the Maritime Provinces.

— The Cedar Grove will receive 4,000 barrels of apples at Richmond, N. S., from Kings and Annapolis counties.

— Providence Church will hold its annual Missionary meeting next Sabbath evening. The meeting will be addressed by the Rev. Dr. McMurray, of Windsor. A missionary sermon will be preached in the morning.

— The remaining 3,000 logs belonging to the drive of Mr. Joseph Buckler, which were "hung up" last spring, were successfully brought to their destination—Randolph's gang mill—last week.

ACCIDENT. — Little Walter Forbes, aged six years, son of Mr. Alexander Forbes, fell from the body of an ox-cart last Wednesday, breaking his elbow-joint, and otherwise splintering the bone.

— The steamer "Dominion" takes the place of the "Empress" for the winter season, between Annapolis, Digby and St. John. It is stated that arrangements are being made by which the communication will be kept up through the winter the same as it has been during the summer.

— Dr. P. N. Balcom, of Aylesford, has raised this season one hundred and sixty bushels of Early Rose potatoes from three bushels of seed, some of which weighed two pounds ten ounces. He attributes this prolific yield in a great measure to the use of Neily's fertilizer.

ANOTHER POTATO STORY.—Mr. James Wilson, living near Tupperville, showed us very handsome Fancy and Bluenose potatoes, which grew from the ball. Mr. W. says the experiment is well worth trying, and that next season he intends planting a much larger quantity.

BEAR KILLED.—A sheep thief has been doing the flocks owned by the different residents of Albany lately, and although several attempts had been made to ascertain who the guilty party was, none proved successful until Mr. William Dunn set a dead-fall, in which Mr. Bruin was captured last week.

— The public examination of the Bridgetown schools will take place on Friday, 27th inst. The elementary in the morning and the preparatory in the afternoon, beginning at half-past nine and half-past one respectively. Parents and friends are respectfully invited to attend.

ACCIDENT.—We regret to chronicle the sad accident which befell Mr. Harvey Burke, of Granville, on Saturday last. While turning the corner of his house with a team, the cattle became uncontrolable and ran the cart so violently against the house, as to cause his precipitation to the ground. He struck very heavily on his spine, and for some hours his life was despaired of, as he was completely unconscious, and even when he rallied, could not move any portion of his limbs or body. Monday's information, however, states that there is a slight improvement.

— Music in every home is what is clearly possible; for the Acadia Organ goes everywhere, and when once introduced preaches its mission of harmony to all the neighbors, who cannot rest until they send for the Acadia Organ. This is not an extravagant statement—it is absolutely true. With all that the Acadia Organ Co. does to bring their Organs to the notice of the public, they never send out so effective and persuasive an agent as the Acadia Organ itself. How it rebukes poor instruments and shams,—how it pleads for the universal mission of music in the home,—how it bespeaks by its own character, power and sweetness, places for its brethren, who are sure to be most frequently sent for from neighborhoods into which the Acadia Organ has once found its way. li

— We have just received the following circular of Oct. 10th, respecting apples from Messrs. J. S. Townsend & Co.:—

"There have been hardly any direct importations of apples into this market, so far, from America, Canada, or Nova Scotia, this season.

A few Boston, (red pippins), fair quality, and sound, sold lately at 23s. and 24s. per barrel.

French, some very common, have realized good prices, say 2s. and 3s. more than past few seasons.

Lisbon, of fair quality, large, but woolly, have lately sold well, say from 10s. and 13s. per case, or 2s. and 4s. above last year's prices.

Present prospect for good, sound fruit from your side looks well.

The best English kinds are fetching 10s. up to 15s. per bushel.

Rosette.

On Tuesday last, Harvest Festival services were held in the Episcopal church, which were very much enjoyed by those present. At the morning service the Rev. F. P. Greatorex, Rector of Granville, preached a most eloquent sermon, and assisted in celebrating the Holy Communion, of which 32 partook. The service throughout was choral, Tallis' Festival Service being used on this occasion. We must congratulate the choir of Rosette church, for the way the music was rendered, as much time and pains must have been spent in order to give the effect produced at both services; and it is no exaggeration when we say that we have heard many a city choir perform the service with less effect and feeling. Both morning and evening congregations were good. At the evening services the church was literally packed. This service was conducted by the Curate-in-charge—Rev. John Partridge, who, although laboring under severe indisposition—as his face too plainly showed—made every one feel that "this is none other than the house of God." The service throughout was most impressive, and so far as we could see, everyone felt that they had in spirit and in truth fulfilled the object for which they had met together. May every blessing rest upon such efforts to promote the praise and glory of God, and good-will amongst men.

— The Windsor and Annapolis conductors have been provided with new uniforms.

DENTISTRY.—F. Primrose, D. D. S., will be at Mrs. Ansley's, Bridgetown, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, of next week. li

— The proprietor of this paper being ill—having been attacked by the prevalent disease, slow fever,—subscribers and correspondents are requested to pardon any omissions and deficiences.

— Do not fail to read the advertisement inserted by Messrs. Bessonett & Wilson, which appears in this issue, respecting the New York Enamel Paint Company's Ready Mixed Paints. Persons who are thinking of adorning their premises, would do well to visit their establishment.

— The cause of the Overseers of the Poor of Middle Shelburne vs. Overseers of Poor, Western Granville, for trial at the recent sittings of the County Court at Shelburne was continued. The cause will not be tried until the meeting of the court in Barrington in January next.

— The tea sociable at the Pine Grove Baptist Parsonage, Middleton, on Monday evening, 23rd, was a decided success. About a hundred persons, aged, middle-aged and young, spent the evening in a free and easy social manner; at intervals having vocal and instrumental music, enjoying a good time generally. The proceeds amounted to twenty-seven dollars which goes toward painting the parsonage.

— The Fancy Sale and Tea Meeting held by the ladies of St. James' Church, Bridgetown, on the 18th inst., in Victoria Hall, notwithstanding the disagreeable condition of the weather, may be pronounced a decided success, both socially and financially. There was quite a handsome display of useful and fancy articles arranged on one side of the hall, nearly all of which were disposed of during the evening. The tea-tables, three in number, were loaded with good things, which, with vases of beautiful flowers mingled among them, made a goodly show, and seemed to be much admired and appreciated by the large number of persons who sat down to them. All seemed thoroughly to enjoy themselves and to be well satisfied with their evening's entertainment. The amount realized was about $89.00.

HYMENEAL.—On Thursday last a large number of invited guests assembled at the residence of Miner Tupper, Esq., to witness the solemnization of matrimony of his fair daughter Lilly, to Mr. George Gordon, of Dalhousie, N. B.,—a nephew of the late Rev. D. S. Gordon, who labored successfully for quite a number of years as pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this Mission. The ceremony took place at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon, the services being conducted by the Rev. J. R. Hart. The bridesmaids were Miss Bertha Tupper—sister of the bride—and Miss Bessie, youngest daughter of George Murdoch, Eqr. Mr. R. N. Weeks, of Newcastle, N. B., an esteemed personal friend of the groom, acted as groomsman, as did also Master Willie Morse, nephew of the bride. After the many hearty congratulations and well wishes had been gone through with, the party sat down to a most sumptuous wedding breakfast.

The bride and groom were the recipients of some $300 worth of presents, among which were some of very handsome design. They took their departure on the 1 p. m. train for Dalhousie, via Annapolis and St. John. Our hearty congratulations go with the newly-wedded couple.

Columbia's Reception.

OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL AND THE PRINCESS.

The warmth of the reception which his Excellency the Governor General and H. R. H. the Princess Louise have met in British Columbia could not be exceeded. No wonder, in view of the hospitality of the people and the beauties of the country, the intended departure in the middle of the month has been postponed till late in November. The Princess, it is stated, was before her trip to the Pacific a martyr to neuralgia, but since her arrival in British Columbia her Royal Highness has not been troubled with the complaint, and her health has greatly improved. The gossips of course have many tales to tell with reference to the distinguished visitors. Here is one, which, if true shows that the Governor General has as much respect for one class of people as for another. A presumptuous person hinted to his Excellency that the guests he was about to invite to a garden party should all belong to upper-tendom, and that "common people" should be excluded. Lord Lorne replied that he would make no such distinction, but would treat all as all had treated him, hospitably. The gilded youth withdrew. So far no reports of a social convulsion have reached us from British Columbia.—Toronto Mail.
