The City Council.

Civic affairs were never quite as muddled as they are now, and never was such little progress made. Every kind of municipal business has been delayed. Intrigue was never so rife. Bulldozing of aldermen never is common. Intimidation of the people's representatives is a handy weapon. Journalistic abuse directed against those who oppose "the policy of the administration" an every day resort.

For ten days this kind of business has been going on in regard to Sunday cars. A clear majority of the council decided on the petition of 6000 ratepayers to send the question of Sunday cars to the people for their decision forthwith. Since then Mayor Fleming and his friends are moving heaven and earth, resorting to every trick known to municipal adventurers, to recall the vote of the council and to have the date of voting delayed. Intimidation of alderman is the principal weapon used.

If the aldermen are wise they will put a stop to this business and show their constituents that they have backbone and that they vote only after deliberation—that they are not mere civic weathercocks.

The World has no fear that the majority of the council will stultify themselves, as Mayor Fleming will ask them to do this afternoon.

Let the peg be put right in to day, and let the bulldozers learn that the people's representatives are able to make up their minds, and that once having done so that they will abide by their decision, knowing full well that no man can be blamed for consistency, but that a trifler, especially in the matter of opinion, is one not to be trusted.

Long Enough Denied Their Rights.

The rights of people are sometimes so long trampled upon that they forget they are under bondage and accept their position without complaint. If there is anything established by the common law of England, it is that the public have a right to use public conveyances on Sunday as well as on other days. This is a law that is current not only in Great Britain and her colonies but in all countries throughout the world. Through some fluke the so-called pious people of Toronto have been successful in foisting a so-called legal embargo in the running of street cars on Sunday in this city. Toronto is the only city of its size in the world where the people are denied what is a common law right in every country. Toronto is the laughing stock of this continent. Toronto people are so pious and so good that street cars on Sunday shocks their religious nerves.

People respect true religion and true piety, but they ridicule the sham article, and this shedding of crocodile tears over the anticipated iniquity of running cars in Toronto is indeed a fit subject for laughter. People in other places are amused at the bucolic piety in this city.

Some people have very strange ideas about piety. There is to this day a church here where they won't admit an organ because of its alleged impiety. This is but a sample of the queer things people are guilty of in the name of religion. The people who object to Sunday cars on the ground of piety are off their trolley. They, of course, do not think so, but the rest of this continent thinks it. For the time being this pseudo-piety has the upper hand in Toronto and overrides the common law rights of a majority of the citizens. It was they who raised this barrier as to Sunday cars in the agreement. That barrier should never have been placed there. It is opposed to the common law of the land and we feel satisfied the highest courts of this country would declare it illegal. In erecting the barrier these good people should have provided for every contingency that might arise in future attempts to knock it down. It was their business to make safeguards as to voting, and it is not the fault of those of us who feel we are deprived of our common law rights that these so-called safeguards were not arranged for. But we deny their right to erect the barrier at all, and certainly we object to their throwing other obstacles in the way just now. They have long enough trampled on the rights of others who have to live in the same city with them, and no consideration should be extended to them. The onus of everything in connection with this vote should rest with those opposed to the innovation. They erected the barrier, and if they wished it to stand they should have built the necessary props. The people who want Sunday cars are in the right in this matter, and the council will be derelict in their duty if they delay the taking of this vote by a single day.

Toronto's Gas Supply.

Toronto is fortunate in regard to her gas supply. We use more gas in Toronto than they do in Montreal or in Buffalo, and there are few cities in America where gas is sold cheaper than in Toronto. The World has all along contended that cheaper gas means bigger profits for the Gas Company. The result of the last reduction some few months ago has been entirely satisfactory to the directors of the company. Last month alone 500 connections were made for cooking purposes. The company anticipates a large increase in its business and is preparing for it by the erection of another immense holder. Ninety cents is a reasonably low price for gas, but we are firmly convinced that the directors would find a reduction to 80 cents just as satisfactory as they have found the drop from $1 to 90 cents. Cleveland has now got down to 80 cents as its low water mark. We trust it will not be long before Mr. Pearson announces 80 cent gas for Toronto. The company should bear this in mind that a reduction from 90 to 80 cents would have a much greater effect in increasing consumption than the reduction from $1 to 90 cents.

Through Wagner Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Car Toronto to New York via West Shore Route.

The West shore through sleeping car leaves Union Station, Toronto, at 4.55 p.m. daily except Sunday, arriving in New York at 10.19 a.m. Returning this car leaves New York at 5 p.m., arriving in Toronto at 10.25 a.m. Sunday leaves Toronto at 12.50 p.m.

If it is every man's duty to provide for those dependent upon him, then if there is one way better and easier than another to do this that way is to be commended. Life insurance creates an immediate capital at a trifling outlay, which will be available to a man's family or to himself when needed, and the double maturity policy of the Manufacturers' Life is the most satisfactory way of acquiring this capital.

Miss Spence's Object Lesson.

At Richmond Hall on Thursday evening next Miss Spence will deliver an address on "Proportional Representation." The audience, both men and women, will receive ballot papers, and will elect six out of twelve candidates in an imaginary constituency, thus illustrating in a most practical manner the system Miss Spence advocates. The admission is free.

Endowment policies do not usually mature until their reserves alone amount to the sum insured for. The double maturity policy of the Manufacturers' Life matures at death or age 65, when reserve and surplus combined shall amount to the sum insured.

TORONTO'S GAS CONSUMPTION

THE OUTPUT OF THE CONSUMERS' GAS CO. IS IMMENSE.

A Mammoth Holder Just About Completed at a Cost of $100,000—The Future Prospects of Gas in Toronto Are Highly Encouraging—Five Hundred Stoves Connected With the System Last Month—General Manager Pearson Kept Busy Enlarging the Plant.

General Manager Pearson wears a pleased and contented countenance these days in spite of the hot weather. He is opposed to Sunday cars, and of course he thinks it is many years before Toronto will see the festive trolley bounding along the streets of our city on a Sunday. Like many other good people, however, he is off his trolley on this question, and will not get on again till Aug. 26, when a great heap of cobwebs will be swept away from before his mental vision. But we were talking about Mr. Pearson's happy countenance just now. That is not the result of his anticipations of defeat for the Sunday car people. Mr. Pearson is happy over the gas business as it exists to-day in Toronto. Never before was there so much gas consumed in Toronto as there is to-day, and never were the prospects more promising for a big consumption in the future. The directors a few months ago made a considerable reduction in the price of gas, bringing the rates down to $1 for illuminating and 90 cents for cooking purposes. The result has proved eminently satisfactory to the company. During last month alone 500 additional cooking stoves were connected with the company's pipes and are drawing their daily supplies from the company's main. People are now using gas to cook both summer and winter. Gas is recognized by those who have used it at present prices as the cheapest and best cooking medium in the field, and the directors are looking forward to a large and continuous increase in their business from this source.

Mr. Pearson is busy keeping up with the procession. A large part of his time is consumed in providing plant to meet the demands of the immediate future. It is only five years ago since the first large gas holder was constructed at the foot of Bathurst-street. This holder has a capacity of 1,160,000 cubic feet, and up to the present time was by far the largest holder in Canada. It was built by an English firm, Messrs. C. & W. Walker, and is a splendid piece of work, massive and of thorough workmanship. The holder is telescopic, which is operated in a tank 150 feet in diameter by 35 feet 9 inches deep, and is composed of two sections, each 35 feet in height and 146 feet in diameter respectively. The total height from the ground to top of crown is 77 feet. The guide frame for this holder is composed of 16 standards, each 74 feet in height. The guide frame is the outer part of the structure, and consists of a skeleton steel framework, up and down which the holder moves according to the quantity of gas contained within.

Large as this English holder is, it is inadequate with those previously constructed to supply the increasing demand for gas in the city of Toronto. The company have for the past 15 months been engaged in erecting a second holder at Bathurst-street that will have a far larger capacity than the former. It towers 112 feet above the ground, being 35 feet higher than the one alongside it. Its capacity is 1,750,000 cubic feet, or about 50 per cent. larger than the other one. This is the largest holder in Canada, and there are not many larger than it in the United States. It was in June of last year that Mr. Pearson began the work in connection with the building of the monster. The first thing in building a holder is the excavation of the tank or pit and the building of the brick walls surrounding it. Imagine a big pit 150 feet in diameter and 35 or 36 feet deep and you get some idea of the immensity of the work. Mr. Pearson himself is the designer of the tank. He superintended the building of it and it was constructed by Mr. W. C. Wayte of New York, who has built nearly 100 tanks, and is an admirable piece of workmanship. In the construction of this tank 5000 barrels of Portland cement were used, and this was furnished by the Owen Sound Portland Cement Company and was pronounced by Mr. Whyte the best he had ever used. In early spring everything was in perfect shape for the contractors who built the guide frame and holder. The contractors for this work are Messrs. R. D. Wood & Co. of Philadelphia, who took the contract away from seven English and two American competitors. As regards price, the other contractors were not in it with Messrs. R. D. Wood & Co. This firm use much less steel in the skeleton guide frame than the others. They claim to build the frame on more scientific principles, using less material, but so disposing of the various parts as to secure the utmost possible strength. The new framework looks much more slender than the one built after the English fashion, but Mr. Pearson is satisfied of its strength and of superior scientific construction. All the work was prepared in Philadelphia during the past winter. The steel was imported to Philadelphia from England, and in spite of this fact the American firm were able to do the job much cheaper than the English contractors. The work of construction was begun in Toronto on May 15. The whole job is pretty nearly completed now. It will be handed over to the company by August 1. It will thus have taken only about two and a half months to put the gigantic structure into shape. The work of construction here is under the charge of the company's engineer, Henry A. Carpenter of Philadelphia. Mr. Carpenter is a young man indeed to have charge of so important a work, but he understands his business thoroughly, and the way in which he pushes the work and superintends all details is proof that the company could not have easily secured a better man for the purpose.

The suspension frame in this holder consists of 16 latticed columns 108 feet high, with three rows of box girders between each two columns. The holder is of three sections, each 35 feet in height, and the diameter of these sections runs from 144 feet for the inner one to 148 feet for the outer one. There is a rise of seven feet in the crown of the inner section, making the total height of the structure, as stated above, 112 feet. The Philadelphia firm makes a practice of using no bolts in the construction of the guide frame. All pieces are put together with hot rivets, by which means the whole concern is rendered much stronger and as if one piece of steel.

The cost of the work in connection with the new holder, including the tank, is in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The gas that supplies the Bathurst-street holders is conveyed from the works in Parliament-street by a separate 20-inch main about two miles in length. The gas is forced into the holders by means of an exhauster of 50 horse power. This exhauster will fill the holders at the rate of 200,000 feet an hour. There is a duplicate engine and exhauster for use in case of accident to the one ordinarily used.

The holders in Bathurst-street are designed to supply the western and central districts of the city.

Mr. Carpenter corroborates Mr. Whyte's statement regarding the quantity of Portland cement and says it is the best cement he ever used. It is the only cement he ever found into which he was unable to drive a spike.

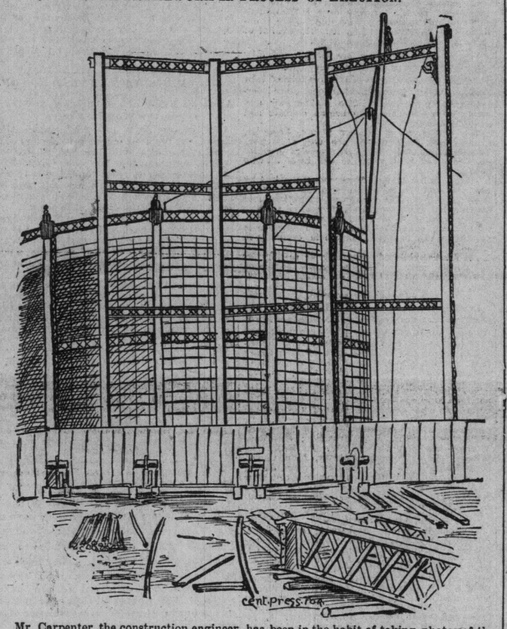
After August next the total storage capacity of the company will be nearly 4,000,000 cubic feet. An idea of the size of the new holder may be judged from the fact that the largest holder in Montreal is only about 600,000 feet, or less than one-third of the capacity of the new one in Bathurst-street.

In speaking of the consumption of gas in Toronto Mr. Pearson states that there is a big increase every year, but just now it is especially large. He anticipates it will not be more than three or four years before they will again have to take into consideration the enlargement of their present storage plant. He is of opinion the next holder will be erected some place in the East End.

He is just now figuring on erecting an independent gas plant on the Island. He is conferring with the city officials as to a site. Such a plant will cost about $40,000. A gas supply on the Island will fill a long-felt want. One of the greatest drawbacks to living on the Island is the fuel problem. Wood costs about $8 a cord, and is a nuisance at that. The Gas Company ought to find it a profitable venture to extend their operations to the Island.

The city has been fortunate in securing so convenient a site as that acquired at the foot of Bathurst-street. In addition to having room for their two large holders there is ample space for erecting a water gas plant of three millions capacity, which will be required ultimately for the West End.

THE FRAMEWORK IN PROCESS OF ERECTION.



Mr. Carpenter, the construction engineer, has been in the habit of taking photos of the work every day or two. By this means he can report to headquarters the exact progress he is making better than by writing a letter of a dozen pages. The above is taken from one of the photos a few days after the framework was started. In the rear the old holder is visible. The illustration gives a fair idea of the relative sizes of the two holders.

A comparison of the business of the Consumers' Gas Co. of Toronto with that of other companies is interesting. The output of the Toronto company last year was 569,000,000, or 30,000,000 more than was produced in Montreal. The prices in Toronto are $1 and 90c as compared with $1.30 and $1 in Montreal.

Hamilton uses 60,000,000 feet per annum, and pays $1.50 to $1 per 1000 feet therefor.

Buffalo has three companies and uses about 500,000,000 feet. The average price is $1.20 for illumination and $1 for cooking purposes.

In Boston gas is sold at $1, and in Cincinnati at the same figure.

The annual output of Milwaukee is 575,000,000 feet, about the same as that of Toronto. The price there is $1 and 80c per 1000 feet.

In St. Paul they use 250,000,000 feet and the cost is $1.70 and $1.50.

Washington uses 800,000,000 feet. The price is $1.25 per 1000.

In Cleveland the State Assembly recently interfered in the price of gas and brought the price down to 80 cents. This is the lowest price in America.

As pointed out in the text, all who are capable of carrying their thoughts beyond the immediate present and its needs appreciate the great value of life insurance and of the double maturity policy of the Manufacturers' Life.

MUSIC AND DANCING.

Successful Garden Party and Soiree at Leslieville.

The grounds surrounding St. Joseph Catholic Church, Leslieville, presented a scene of brightness and festivity last night, on the occasion of a garden party for the benefit of the church.

The gates were opened at 5 p.m., and by 8 o'clock the grounds were thronged.

After dark the grounds were brilliantly illuminated by electric lights. At 9 o'clock dancing commenced, the music being furnished by Lubar's Orchestra.

In the intervals between the dances several choruses were rendered by the St. Joseph's Glee Club under the leadership of Mr. R. A. Brennan, accompanied by Miss Murphy.

The refreshment booth, which was under the management of Misses Costello, Prout, Fogarty, the two Misses Nolan, the two Misses Pape and the two Misses Walpole, was well patronized.

The affair was under the management of Messrs. James Pape, John Howlitt, Richard Howlitt, Hugh Kelly, M. J. Coady, M. Donovan, James Murphy, Thomas Finucane and Lowman.

On Saturday next a picnic will be held at Morton's Grove, East Toronto, under the direction of Rev. Father Bergin, in aid of the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

A Wealthy Woman.

One of the wealthiest women in the world is Mrs. Martha Besant, who landed in India a little over thirty years ago a poor woman, her sole possessions being a good general education and a slight knowledge of medicine, acquired from her father, who was a physician. Knowing considerable of botany, and finding in the hills of India roots and herbs which she learned were highly valued by the natives for curing certain troubles, she devoted all of her spare time to the study of the medicinal virtues of these plants, and was rewarded by discovering that many diseases previously thought to be almost incurable were easily cured by the use of these herbs and roots when properly prepared. So great was her success in curing consumption in the first and second stages, diseases of women and nervous troubles, as also those curses of changeable climates—disease of the liver and catarrh—that sufferers came from all parts of Europe to see her and procure her medicines. Gifts poured in upon her from wealthy patrons whom she had cured, one present alone of thirty thousand rupees (about ten thousand dollars). Mrs. Besant is now on her way home to India after a residence of three years in Russia, where she has been the honored guest of a noble family. A few wealthy citizens of Montreal have offered her a large amount of money for the right to manufacture and sell her remedies, but she prefers to keep the manufacture under her own control, and open an agency in this country to dispose of them. Meanwhile men and women who are interested can get full particulars how to procure these medicines and other valuable information by enclosing stamped envelope to Mrs. MARTHA BESANT, P.O. Box 578, Toronto. All letters confidential.

Long Branch.

Yesterday the Parliament-street Baptist Sunday school, numbering about 700, held their annual picnic at Long Branch. To-day the Queen-street east Methodist school will revel in the shade of the beautiful groves. To-morrow the St. John's Presbyterian Sunday school take possession of the grounds. The staunch steamer Lakeside carries them all. There is not a day but a thousand persons are enjoying Long Branch Park. In the hotel guests are most comfortable.

Mrs. H. Hall, Navarino, N.Y., writes: "For years I have been troubled with Liver Complaint. The doctors said my liver was hardened and enlarged. I was troubled with dizziness, pain in my shoulder, constipation and gradually losing flesh all the time. I was under the care of three physicians, but did not get any relief. A friend sent me a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and the benefit I have received from it is far beyond my expectation. I feel better now than I have done for years."

A Child Burglar.

At the Police Court yesterday Belle Galloway, a 10-year-old girl, was charged with housebreaking and robbery. On Tuesday afternoon the house of J. J. Cook, 407 Adelaide-street west, was broken into and ransacked. The value of the jewelry stolen was $200. It consisted of a diamond brooch, diamond ring, lady's gold watch, bracelets and other valuables. Prisoner went into H. Elton's jewelry store in Queen-street west, presented a $35 diamond ring and asked $3 for it. Mr. Elton suspected something wrong and notified the police. Detective Porter noticed the girl hand a parcel to a smaller boy and run. The little fellow dropped the bundle and followed the girl. The detective picked up the parcel, which contained most of the stolen jewelry. The child's parents testified that she was incorrigible. The magistrate ordered her to be sent to the Industrial Home until she was 16 years of age.

Honesty is said to be the best policy. The double maturity policy of the Manufacturers' Life isn't bad either; it is an honest promise that will be fulfilled.

An Incident On 'Change.

When Ald. McMurrich appeared at the Board of Trade yesterday he was greeted with a general uproar of shouts, laughter and jocose yells in his "affair" with Mayor Fleming on Tuesday. One of the gallus grain brokers wanted to fine the alderman to the extent of drinks for the crowd for laying hands on "Holy Bob," as he called him.

TO BE GIVEN AWAY

500 Tickets for the Opera House.

This is what you have to do, boys, to get one of these tickets to admit you to see a great play for nothing and win $25 in cash.

There must be 1000 boys compete. The first 500 sending five (5) Borwicke Baking Powder labels taken off the No. 4 size, 10c, packages will get one ticket each free to admit you to see a grand play. In addition each of the boys who compete for the above tickets will have a chance to win a prize of $25 in cash. On the following conditions, after we have received the 5 labels from each boy competing, we will then offer $25 (twenty-five) dollars in cash to the boy who sends the largest number of No. 5 labels taken off 20c packages of the Borwicke Baking Powder up to a certain date, which date will be given after completion of the first contest.

552 PRIZES.

First Contest—The first 500 answers containing five (No. 4 labels) received will receive one ticket each.

Second Contest—The boys' answer bearing the earliest postal date and hour and first opened by us containing the largest number of No. 5 labels off 20c package Borwicke Baking Powder will get twenty-five dollars in cash, the second largest number first received and opened five dollars in cash; each of the next ten replies 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th largest number one dollar in cash; each of the next 20 in same order as above (fifty cents), and each of the next 20 on 20c package of the farmed, the only genuine Borwicke Baking Powder—in all 52 prizes.

HOW TO GO TO WORK.

Now, boys, any of you may win one of these prizes; it's as easy as eating pie. First write a post card to Box 1000 World Office, saying you will compete, then ask your ma or father to give you 10c to buy a package. Go to any grocer (it is sold in 800 stores in Toronto) and buy it—mind you get No. 4 size—take it home, turn it into a perfectly dry tin or get your ma to use it as soon as she can and give you the label, then go to your aunt, your sister—if you have one married—and any neighbor, and if your ma likes the powder—which of course she will be sure to do if she likes a perfectly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder—tell them how good the powder is and ask them to let you get a package for them and give you the label, then perhaps in a week your ma will be so pleased with the nice buns and cakes she has made she will tell you to get two more packets, then "there you are," your work is done; write your name and address on the inside of each label and send them to Box 1000, World Office, and no doubt you will get a ticket even if you are three or four weeks doing it. Now don't be discouraged, we don't expect to get 500 returns in less than three or four weeks; but, of course, we do not know, it is quite impossible for anyone to say exactly how long it will take. The only thing you can do is to do it as soon as you can; of course you can do it. Why, many families would buy the whole five at once. Then don't forget, if you should not happen to be among the first 500, you would still perhaps be able to win the $25 cash prize or the $5 prize, or you would be sureof a dollar anyway if you tried; you know there are fifty-two prizes in the second contest. Now, go ahead; remember any school boy will do. 46
