DUKE AT THE CAPE.

Reception by Populace was a Most Hearty One

The Speech of Thanks—A List of Honors—Native Chiefs Received and Praised—A Natal Message.

(London Times.)

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 19.—If any doubted the wisdom of the royal visit to the Cape they must have been convinced today that the King did well in deciding that the original plan should be carried out. Not since we left Melbourne have I seen people more enthusiastic than those who crowded the streets of the city this afternoon, when their Royal Highnesses, coming from Simons Town, made a progress to the house of the governor.

It was noon when the gun told the multitude, sweltering under the piteous sun, that the moment had arrived. On the parade ground near the railway station a pavilion had been erected, which was crowded with spectators, among them being the speaker of the house of assembly in his robes, and the mayor and the members of the corporation ready with a magnificently illuminated address. The ceremony here was brief. The address was read, the Duke shook hands with some of the more prominent people, and then drove direct to the town square, through thronged streets gay with flags, festoons and arches.

The reception was everywhere most cordial. There was no unpleasant incident to mar the spectacle, which demonstrated the fervid loyalty of a people suffering under the double burden of war and disease. There were elaborate precautions, barricades being erected and men under arms stationed along the route. I am happy to say these precautions were only born of misgivings for which there was no foundation.

AT THE LEVEE.

The levee was a great success. The throne room was crowded. There were many gifts, including diamonds from the De Beers Company. Two Basuto ponies for the Duchess's children were also among the presents. No fewer than 95 addresses were presented, coming from nearly every municipality, and all breathing a spirit of enthusiastic loyalty. I am told that there was no address from the Bond, though its president, Mr. Theron, attended.

The Duke, in the course of his reply to the addresses presented to him after the levee, said:

"We are glad to have this opportunity to give public and grateful expression to our feelings of profound satisfaction at the very enthusiastic and hearty welcome accorded us on our arrival here today. The fact that during the last two years you have been passing through such troublous times, and that, in addition to your other trials, the colony has suffered from an outbreak of plague from which it is not yet entirely free, might well have detracted from the warmth of your greeting, but in despite of all your trials and sufferings you have offered us a welcome the warmth and cordiality of which we shall never forget. I should also like to express our admiration of the appearance the city of Cape Town presents today. Apart from their tasteful decoration, the principal streets through which we have passed offer an aspect very different from that which they possessed twenty years ago, when I visited your colony. I congratulate you on the abundant evidence of the progress achieved during that time, and notably on your trade and commerce and the development of your harbors and railways. I greatly deplore the continuance of the lamentable struggle which has so long prevailed within South Africa, and for the speedy termination of which the whole community fervently prays. During this time you have had to make grevious sacrifices. Numbers have personally suffered trials and privations, while many of the flower of your manhood have fallen in the service of the King and country. To all who have been bereaved of their dear ones by the war, we offer our heartfelt sympathy and condolence. May time, the great healer, bring consolation. That South Africa may soon be delivered from the troubles which beset her is our most earnest prayer, and that ere long the only struggle she knows will be eager rivalry in the arts of peace and in striving to promote good government and the well-being of the community."

The Rhodesian and Bloemfontein addresses were presented separately, the Duke making in each case a separate reply.

A BATCH OF HONORS.

Th following list of honors will be published here tomorrow: Mr. Rose Innes, attorney general; Richard Solomon, ex-attorney general; Mr. Elliott, late general manager of railways; and Somerset French, postmaster general, to be Knights Commanders of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. In addition to these are twelve appointments to the rank of companions of the same order; including Col. O'Reilly, mayor of Cape Town; Mr. Oliver, mayor of Kimberley. Mr. Whitely, mayor of Mafeking; Osmond Walrond, private secretary to Lord Milner; Mr. Price, general manager of railways; and Dr. Thomas Muir, superintendent general of education.

THE NATIVES RECEIVED.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 20.—A morning drive through the fine suburbs was the programme today. Their Royal Highnesses lunched at the beautiful residence of Mr. Rhodes, near Rondebosch, and visited the enclosure which Mr. Rhodes has stocked with Africa fauna. They expressed great satisfaction at yesterday's reception.

The Duke and the Duchess of Cornwall received in the grounds of Government house over 100 native chiefs from all parts of South Africa, the most prominent being Khama and Lerothodi. A number of chiefs delivered brief addresses expressing their loyalty, which were interpreted to their Royal Highnesses. They also presented a great many gifts of native workmanship, both for their Royal Highness and for the King and Queen.

Spread on the lawn were a dozen magnificent tiger, leopard, and silver-jackal rugs. One chief, singling out a beautiful specimen, said; "That is for Her Majesty, your mother." Another rug was indicated as a gift for the King. The Veldcman representing the Fingo tribe said: "When I visited England in 1891 I had the honor of presenting the late Queen with a walking stick. I now ask your acceptance of this. He then handed the duke a carved stick of black Uhzimbitt wood. Last, but by no means the least eloquent, was the Queen-Regent of the Xesibi tribe, who wished the Duke and Duchess a pleasant voyage, adding: "I hope you will remember us in the distant land which is your home." The gifts presented included shields, weapons, bead ornaments and other objects of native workmanship.

The Duke replied to the address of the chiefs seated. Referring to the death of Queen Victoria, he said:

"I can tell you her heart ever beat warmly for the native races of this great land, but that noble spirit still lives in her son, your King. During many years he saw with loving admiration her wise and just rule, and you may be quite sure that His Majestly will equally watch over you and guard your best interests. The Duchess and I thank you most sincerely for your beautifull presents, which we shall value very much. I shall also take home with me those which you have given to my dear father and mother, and will present them to them on your behalf. We earnestly trust that God may bless, protect and prosper the people of your tribes."

The chiefs at the conclusion of His Royal Highnesses's reply raised their right hands, as they had done at the commencement of the indaba, shouting "Bayeta!" meaning "Hail, Chief!" Finally, as the Duke and Duchess took their leave, the chiefs waved their hats and raised a highly creditable "Hurrah!"

COLOMBIA REVOL

COLON, Colombia, Aug. 31 (delayed three days by the censor).—Bocas Del Toro, 140 miles west of Colon, is virtually besieged by the liberals or insurgents. They number at least 200, and, as already cabled, occupy Provision Island, which is opposite the town and commands the entrance to the harbor. They possess two small cannon and plenty of ammunition. The liberals express no desire to damage the town or to molest foreigners.

The situation is likely to remain as it is until one side or the other makes an attack.

Counting reinforcements, the government has about 170 men there.

Martial law prevails in Bocas Del Toro. The authorities have stopped communication with other ports, except Colon.

Foreigners claim that the measures adopted for harbor supervision materialy injure commerce. Two Germans were sent to jail for expressing their views too freely in a cafe, and it needed the intervention of the German consul to effect their release.

The United States, French, British and German consular agents in Bocas Del Toro told the Colombian commander there that if the severe harbor restrictions interrupting commerce were not abated, they would call for gunboats. These representations resulted in a limited improvement only.

The United States consular agent in Bocas Del Toro has made an urgent appeal to the United States consul in Colon to send a gunboat. Commander Sargent of the U. S. gunboat Machias, is fully informed of the situation, and if this does not improve, the Machias will probably proceed to Bocas Del Toro.

Many houses in Bocas Del Toro continually fly American, German, British or German flags to denote the neutrality of the occupants.

CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Dr. Krauz, former governor of Johannesburg, and a prominent official of the late Transvaal government, was arrested in London last night on a charge of high treason. It is alleged that after signifying his allegiance to the British crown, he secretly forwarded information to the Boers.

The warrant was issued some time ago, but the police were not able to find him until yesterday.

It was Dr. Krauz who handed to Lord Roberts the keys of Johannesburg on the occasion of the surrender.

PICTOU LIBERALS MEET.

PICTOU, N. S., Sept. 2.—The liberal party of Pictou county held a convention in Pictou today to nominate three candidates for the coming local election. The men chosen were E. M. Macdonald of Pictou, George Patterson of New Glasgow, and Robert Dewar of Barney's River. After the nomination a public meeting was held in Advocate hall, at which the candidates and Hon. G. H. Murray eulogized the local government to the best of their ability.

ROBERT FAIR.

In the death of Mr. Fair, Fairville has lost a well known and highly esteemed citizen, one who has been for nearly half a century closely identified with the commercial and religious life of the little town. I became acquainted with him in 1859, and during the following three years saw a great deal of him. I resided in one of his houses, named the place in his honor, and having just at that time read an interesting account of a beautiful Hebrew maid dwelling at Bethlehem, at my request her name—Hapeefa—was given to one of his daughters. He had been connected with the Methodist church then over a year, having been converted in revival services held in Carleton by the Rev. Richard Smith. Services were held for some time in the homes of William Dill and of the writer, then in a barn owned by Mr. Fair, and then a church was built. When I started the subscription for the church I headed it: "For the Fairville Church," as the name Lancaster was too indefinite. No demur was made and the designation was at once accepted. I have known him ever since as an earnest Christian worker, and in every good work he had an efficient helper in his excellent wife. To the members of the family the writer tenders his sincere sympathy and trusts the excellencies of "parents passed into the skies" will be reproduced in each of them.
