Purchase the Shortest Priced Horse of Season

New York, July 19.—The Empire City Derby and Whirl Stakes were the outstanding features of an interesting week-end program at the Yonkers track this afternoon. Both stakes had a guaranteed value of $5,000, but despite the attractive monetary offering, only small fields competed. The Derby, which was won by Purchase, had only three starters, two of them, the winner and Cirrus, being from the stable of Samuel C. Hildreth. Four accepted the issue in the Whirl Stakes, victory going to R. F. Carman's Meridian colt, Carmandale. Carmandale was highly thought of earlier in the spring, but repeated defeats by an ordinary class of youngsters rather placed him in the eclipse, and the liberal odds of 4 to 1 were laid about his chances today. Feodor got the place, and Royal Duck was third. The Derby was worth $1,850 to the winner, and the Whirl $2,900.

Purchase, which was held at odds of 1 to 20, was the shortest-priced horse of the season, and the big son of Ormondale and Cherryola gave his backers few anxious moments during the running of the event. Carrying 130 pounds instead of the 125 originally carded, Purchase, held in restraint by Knapp, trailed the pace of Cirrus and Balustrade until well along in the backstretch, when he moved up with a rush and was fighting for his head at the finish to win by a comfortable margin over Balustrade, which overhauled the tiring Cirrus at the eighth pole.

Heavy rain fell before and during the running of the first race. Summary:

Detroit Crews For C.A.A.O. Regatta

Detroit, Mich., July 20.—Rowing activities at the Detroit Boat Club from now on will be directed to preparing for the Canadian Henley regatta, which takes place next Friday and Saturday.

The club expects to send two eights, the juniors and the 140-lb. juniors. The latter crew will probably enter in two events, the 140-lb. junior and the 140-lb. open.

The line-up of the crews selected to represent the D.B.C. follows:

Juniors—F. H. Curtis, bow; W. P. Campbell, 2; A. F. Nauman, 3; J. Rankin, 4; E. C. Vansickle, 5; B. Hartman, 6; C. W. Findlater, 7; W. T. Mack, stroke; L. M. Trudell, cox.

140-lb. juniors—P. D. Batts, bow; F. A. Lyon, jr., 2; H. R. Neack, 3; E. E. Mortimer, 4; N. M. Bryant, 5; H. A. Clarke, 6; M. Sutter, 7; R. E. Strand, stroke; W. J. Bourke, cox.

Both teams will use the same boat. This is somewhat of a handicap for the lighter crew, but the extreme coast of transporting boats makes it impossible to take more than one.

It is expected that both crews will make a good showing. The juniors, owing to unavoidable changes from their organized formations, are not quite as far advanced as the lighter crew, but they give evidence of considerable latent power, and it is hoped that their present roughness may be smoothed down before Friday.

The oarsmen will leave for St. Catharines Wednesday afternoon.

CHAMPION McLUCKIE PLAYING IN FINE FORM

Montreal, July 20.—Wm. McLuckie, amateur golf champion of Canada, who will likely be the member of the Canadian team to play "Chick" Evans in the international match at Hamilton on July 25, added new honors to his list yesterday at Kanawaki course.

McLuckie was played in a foursome, and lowered the amateur record of 74 for the course by going around it in 72. The champion is one of the most determined players in the game in Canada at the present time, and showed his best form yesterday. He made the fifth hole, 465 yards, in two. His ball struck the pin, and fell dead at the lip of the cup, enabling him to hole in two.

This gives some idea of McLuckie's driving ability, while his short game is just as good. He will play over the course, which is one of the stiffest in Canada, once more before going to Hamilton.

Five Old Bristolians Run Out; Bloom Within One of a Century

A team composed of old Bristolians made their annual visit to Hamilton on the holiday and played an enjoyable all day's cricket match with the Tradesmen, winning by a score of 233 to 126. The O. B.'s batted first, the first wicket falling at 6, but Harris and Bloom took the score to 51 before the former was smartly run out for a nice 27. Holland hit up a lively 22, whilst Macdonald helped Bloom with some exciting run-sneaking, and on more than one occasion both batsmen were extremely lucky. Eventually, Macdonald was run out after compiling 31. Bloom continued a stubborn defence, but paid the same penalty of running an "impossible," when only needing one more run for the coveted century. He was ninth out, and was missed twice before reaching double figures. Kennedy was Hamilton's best bowler, with three for 47.

The Tradesmen opened strongly, Armstrong, by careful batting, making a faultless 40, Kennedy 19, and Richards 24, giving valuable assistance, and 82 runs were registered for the loss of only two wickets. Disaster then came, Day bowling Armstrong with a beauty, and continuing to bowl well, the home side were all out for 126, Day securing five for 21, and Bloom three for 19. The visitors were then entertained to a much-appreciated supper and afterwards motored home. Scores:

Dovercourt C. C. More Than Doubled St. Matthias' Score

Dovercourt on Saturday at Oakwood beat St. Matthias in a C. & M. League game by 157 to 73. Dovercourt batted first and piled on runs quickly. F. Colborne started with 11, then Garrett and Simmons got together and the score mounted, the former retired for a correct 22 and Rothwell coming in kept up the scoring. Simmons fell to a neat catch in the slips after compiling a faultless 36. When Robinson joined Rothwell the quickest scoring of the game was seen, Robinson went for 19 and Rothwell was last man out for a faultless 49 save for a chance of a catch at 35. Lynch's bowling at the end of the inning brought about a close very quickly.

Lynch opened with a careful steady 16 for St. Matthias and Horton gave Dovercourt some of their own medicine, treating all bowlers alike in a quickly compiled score of 24. Littlejohn was responsible for 10 and these were the only doubles, the inning closing 84 in arrears. The fielding on both sides was bad, the visitors dropping many catches and the home team being especially "efficient" in wild throwing.

Racing in Canada Will Recommence When Ottawa Discovers War is Over

Not Likely That Sir Allan Aylesworth Gave Advice to Ontario Jockey Club—Prince May Ride to Woodbine in a D'Aumont.

"It is not likely that the current rumor about Sir Allan Aylesworth's advice to the Ontario Jockey Club is correct, for I don't believe he has been asked for his opinion by the Ontario Jockey Club, and, you know, an eminent K.C. doesn't volunteer his opinions. They are too expensive for that."

This was the statement yesterday of a gentleman who is in close touch with racing affairs. He went on: "It is equally likely that, if he were consulted, he or any other counsel would say that the order-in-council preventing racing, like all others issued under the war measures act, is void as soon as there is a state of peace here. The 'six months thereafter' tag had no business there originally. It is beyond the powers granted to the governor-general in council—otherwise the cabinet—by parliament, and, as in the case of the prohibition order, the government has abandoned the pretence that it has any force. No other position could be taken in the face of a judicial decision to that effect in England. Law in this case runs parallel to common-sense, and the plain reading of the English language.

"He would, no doubt, tell them, too, that, no matter what happens, or does not happen, at Ottawa, as soon as the King signs a proclamation of a state of peace between the British Empire and the central powers, there is peace in Canada, and everything based on the war measures act falls to the ground. It would otherwise have to be maintained that Canada is not part of the British Empire. We can't be at war when Britain is at peace.

"So much for that. Now for a subject in a certain sense related. I mean the usual and correct carriage for the Prince of Wales to ride in when proceeding in state during his approaching visit to Toronto. A writer in The Sunday World tells us to look to England, or to the movies, in order to correctly visualize what he calls a landau, drawn by four horses, and accompanied by outsiders—an obvious typographical error for outriders. But the landau is not used in ceremonial parades, and it is not rare in Toronto. Every hack stable in Canada has the landau in stock, as an ordinary vehicle of everyday use. So Sir Henry Pellatt and Sir John Eaton have nothing on the man with a dollar who wants to ride in a landau. It is an entirely different type of vehicle from the stately carriage used by royalty, and here in Canada by royalty's representatives.

"The state carriage is a d'Aumont: It is an open vehicle, not a closed one; it is drawn by ridden horses, not driven; it has no driver's box, because it has no driver. If there is a d'Aumont in Canada, it is at Rideau Hall; but, for all its rarity, the d'Aumont has been seen in use by many thousands of Canadians who never saw England. Maybe they'll have a chance to see it again before long, with the Prince of Wales in it, and proceeding to Woodbine racecourse, as did his great-uncle, the Duke of Connaught, and his predecessors in the office of Governor-General of Canada; that is, if Ottawa ever discovers that the war is over and time for the screws to be taken off.

"To get even a little nearer in the understanding of the appearance of the d'Aumont with royal occupants on a racecourse, it will be necessary only for the reader to look at the picture part of the same Sunday World. It carries a good photogravure of the King and Queen and Princess Mary in the state parade at Ascot. As they look so pleased, that was, perhaps, the day the King won the Waterford Stakes with his home-bred colt, Viceroy. This son of The Tetrarch has the knack of winning at a popular moment, his first victory this season being in the Stewards Handicap at Epsom on Derby Day.

"And this makes me wonder what sort of a human, common-sense explanation could be given to our royal visitor of the entire absence of racing in this Dominion."

Dead Heat in Fours At Parkdale Regatta

Parkdale war canoe crew led the Island Club's fifteen to the finishing line in the leading event of the Parkdale Canoe Club's midsummer open regatta on Saturday afternoon.

The Beach and Toronto paddlers failed to turn up and interest in the contest was lowered correspondingly, but the race was a good one and the friends of the club members who filled the balcony were treated to some classy paddling.

The club had first-class weather for the events and the club members celebrated peace by turning out in large numbers. Lunch was served by the ladies in the large club rooms, and dancing was held in the evening.

In the senior fours, an open event, only two teams from the Parkdale club competed, and the judges decided that the result was a dead heat, altho this ruling was questioned by members who claimed the senior team led by about a foot.

Following were the winners of the events:

Novice singles (cruising canoes)—1, Wm. Temple; 2, J. Smith; 3, Roy Peers.

War canoe, half mile (open)—1, Parkdale Canoe Club; 2, Island Aquatic Association. Time, 3.19 1-5.

Tilting (first heat)—1, W. Temple and R. Peers put out Gus Ellis and R. Neil.

Hand paddling, fours (open)—1, Dean and Bender of T. C. C. and Peers and Lynch of the P. C. C.; 2, Montgomery, Drysdale, Galbraith and Smith, all of Parkdale Club.

Junior fours, half-mile (open)—1, Galbraith, Montgomery, Smith and Drysdale of P. C. C.; 2, Hartley, G. Larkin, Dean and Bender of T. C. C.; 3, W. Temple, Herb. Elliott, Frank Temple and W. Grundy. Time, 3.46.

Junior singles—1, G. Swalm; 2, E. Elliott; 3, H. Galbraith. Time, 4.42.

Officers of the day were—Referee, R. J. Henders; starter, O. J. Grundy; judges: H. B. Jenney, R. Yeomans, Dr. S. A. Weismiller, R. W. Parker, R. F. Wilson; time-keeper, H. H. McKee; clerks of the course: A. Cromar, D. T. Chamberlain, J. Arnold.
