Somebody has said: Keep the customers you have and your trade is bound to increase. 'Tis all very well to be looking after new business, but don't neglect what you have, to do so.

Any who are interested can find in the above advice the reason our ad. was not changed last week. We believe in printers' ink, but we know there is one thing better.

The householder who buys our all Linen Towel for 9c. She who gets material and trimming for a dress (the trimming is part of the material) for $2.80. The lady purchasing or simply seeing the Black Silk Merveilleux at 57 1-2c., and the woman or child who saves heaps of trouble for some one, because she is presented with a pattern when buying the material for her jacket. All these will not be silent but will speak of the merits of 49 Charlotte street as a trading place.

FURNESS LINE.—S. S. Damara left Halifax for London on Saturday, and S. S "Gothenburg City" left London the same day for Halifax and St. John.

HAND TO HAND.—Two well-known contractors indulged in a terrific hand to hand encounter this morning. The referee has not yet decided which was the winner.

SCHOONER ISAAC BURPEE was in collision with a coal barge in Long Island sound a few days ago. Neither craft was much damaged. The Burpee put back to New York for repairs and it is expected sailed Saturday night. She was bound to this port with a cargo of coal.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE.—At St. Mary's church last night the annual service for children was held. The service was an interesting one. The children occupied the front seats, and Rev. W. O. Raymond preached a sermon in which the importance of Sunday school work was duly dwelt upon.

PALACE RINK.—A complete change of programme begins to-night at the Palace rink. Mr. Griff Williams will appear in an eccentric act entitled "Fun with a Bango," Miss Rose King, already a great favorite, will add still more to her popularity by her new song and Spanish dance, and the company will appear in new songs, and farces.

HE FOUND GOLD.—Robert Campbell, of Tynemouth Creek, made quite an interesting find the other day, while engaged in digging earth, with which to bank his house for the winter. A couple of feet below the surface he unearthed a gold coin, which proved to be what is known as a spade guinea. On one side the coin bears the date 1798 with the head of George III. The other side has a spade, and curious coat of arms upon it.

CITY IN MOURNING.

ALL UNITE IN DOING HONOR TO THE MEMORY OF A BRAVE BOY.

Hundreds of Citizens in Line Amidst a Pelting Rain—Numerous Societies Were Represented, and the flags on Buildings Hung at Half-mast.

The City yesterday did honor to the memory of the brave boy, John Frederick Young, who lost his life a few days previous in a daring act of heroism. Since that fatal Thursday, individually and collectively, the people of St. John have been heart-felt in their sympathy in the death of the hero, and warm in their praise of his self-sacrificing efforts to save a fellow-being. Yesterday, notwithstanding the fearful state of the weather, hundreds of citizens followed the remains to their place of interment, all uniting in paying their last tribute of respect to the dead. The funeral took place from the residence of Mr. E. G. Nelson, and before two o'clock Sydney and Duke streets were crowded with people anxious to join in the procession. Col. Blaine had charge of the arrangements and the order of procession was as follows:—

Company C. 62nd Fusiliers.
Detachment of other companies,
Officers 62nd Fusiliers.
Mayor and City Council.
Common Clerk Peters, Recorder Jack and Chamberlain Sandall.
Trustees and Elders of St. David's church.
Officers and members Y. M. C. A.
First St. John company, Boy's Brigade of St. John's Presbyterian church.
Mayor Daly's Division No. 3.
Alexandria Junior Temple H. and T.
Carleton Junior Temple H. and T.
Victoria Junior Temple H. and T.
Undertaker Powers.
Rev. Dr. Macrae, Rev. Geo. Bruce and Rev. L. G. Macneill.

THE HEARSE.

The pallbearers, namely:
W. T. Cosman, Robert Hooper, C. E. Cruikshank, J. C. Fetherston, Robert Johnston and Arthur Banks.

The mourners, namely:
Robert Young, E. G. Nelson, Thomas Reed, F. T. Dodge, and W. McAfee.

Employes of J. & J. D. Howe's factory.
Citizens on foot.
Carriages.

At the corner of Union and Waterloo streets this great concourse was met by the funeral of little Fred Mundee, the lad Young had tried to rescue, and from that point the two hearses proceeded to the cemetery side by side. Hundreds of people lined the sidewalks, and unusual solemnity characterized the occasion. Rev. W. O. Raymond conducted the service at the house of Mr. Fred Mundee, Union street, while Rev. Geo. Bruce, pastor of St. David's, conducted the service over the remains of Frederick Young.

The casket of the latter was buried in floral offerings, beautiful tributes to the bravery and heroism of the departed. The employes in Messrs. J. & J. D. Howe's sent a floral piece, The Gates Ajar; The Mayor and Common Council, an elegant crown of roses and chrysanthemums; C. company 62nd Fusiliers and Captain Godard sent wreaths; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mundee, a bunch of roses; the Sabbath school of St. John Presbyterian church, an anchor and the Bible class a star. A number of young lady friends of the deceased lad paid their tribute in a beautiful basket of flowers, while a crescent of white roses came from Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cameron; a wreath of roses from G. O. Bent; a bunch of roses from Mrs. Robert Blair; a large bunch of roses from Harry Clarke, Nelson Gunn and Ernest Everett, three of his former companions.

THE GAZETTE newsboys, of whom little Fred Mundee was one, sent as a token of respect a handsome cross, while the Telegraph carriers contributed a crown; Dr. D. E. Berryman sent a beautiful bunch of lilies and Miss Collins a large wreath, while numerous other floral designs signified the sympathy which was extended to the bereaved parents.

The pall bearers in little Mundee's funeral were: Frank Bittle, Frank Belyea, Stanley Harvey, Harold Higgins, Chas. Engel and John McKelvie.

At the cemetery where both boys were interred, Rev. W. O. Raymond and Rev. George Bruce conducted an impressive service and performed the last solemn rites.

No deaths have occasioned more universal sorrow than those of last Thursday. Five hundred people saw the little fellows drown, and a whole city turned out in mourning to mark their feeling. The flags on public buildings were half-mast yesterday; the church bells tolled, and the gong was sounded every minute during the funeral procession. The cathedral bells chimed The Dead March, while the funeral procession was proceeding along Waterloo street, and many people stood with uncovered heads while the hearses were passing.

The piazzas of Maine summer hotels are now occupied by partridge, according to reports.

The Lewiston Journal has inaugurated a crusade against the young women and men, the former especially, who appear on the streets with their mouths adorned with toothpicks.

Mr. Philo Reed, of Fort Fairfield, ought not to be very much afflicted with the blues this fall. Besides raising 720 bushels potatoes to an acre, he is the owner of a very promising colt by the great and only Nelson.

One of the most devoted husbands in Maine is a recent Democratic candidate for Governor, Col. C. S. Edwards, of Bethel. While in the army during the rebellion Col. Edwards wrote home to his wife 457 letters, which she saved, and most of them are in existence now. They gave a good history of the war.

The American Ice company cleared their houses of ice this summer, having during the past few weeks been buying ice and shipping it to Washington for the spring trade which opens at that place before any shipments can be made here in the spring. At present the appearance along the river is a busy one, the demand for men being in excess of the supply.
