FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Saturday, Aug. 20.

With great stretches of sandy beaches, cosey harbors and wooded shores, it is not to be wondered at that the west side resorts are daily crowded with visitors from the hot and dusty city. To those who have not visited such pleasure spots as Duck Cove, Seaside Park or MacLaren's beach for two or more years, the change seems marvelous. Especially is this the case at Duck Cove, where only a few seasons ago there stood in the centre of a large tract of land but one solitary house. Now, on the crest of the sandy hills that rise almost perpendicularly from the sea, a tiny village lies snuggled among the alder bushes. Each pretty cottage boasts its own veranda and garden plot, where on sunny afternoons guests gather to sew, play bridge and partake of tea. From an artist's standpoint, the view is magnificent anw nowhere is there to be found a grander sheet of water than is visible from the verandas of these pretty summer homes.

At Amherst (N. S.), on Aug. 16, a very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robb, Church street, when their only daughter, Miss Vera, was united in marriage to Dr. Gerald Bliss, of Altona (Pa.), son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bliss, of Amherst. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Anderson Rogers, B. A., pastor of St. Stephen's Presbyterian church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the families. The bride was gowned in ivory satin, with a corsage of primrose lace and chiffon. She wore a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of roses and carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Marion McKeen, of Ottawa, who was daintily gowned in pink satin and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. The bride's mother wore a handsome gown of pale grew eolienne over pink silk, the corsage trimmed with French bead trimming and embroidery. Six girl friends of the bride acted as ribbon girls. They were Miss Nellie Chapman, Miss Adele Dupuy, Miss Violet Dupuy, Miss Helen Ryder, of St. Stephen (N. B.), Miss Jean McGregor and Miss Lilian Ratchford. The groomsman was Mr. Wendall Robb, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room under an artistically designed floral bell. The house was elaborately decorated with potted plants, roses and ferns. At the close of the wedding service a wedding breakfast was served. The happy couple left soon after the reception for a wedding trip to the large American cities. The bride's going away gown was of sapphire blue with hat to match.
