Backed by Germany

Reasons for the Sultan's Show of Resistance.

Elaborate Measures Taken to Preserve Order in Athens.

Report That the Prince Constantine Attempted Suicide.

The Neutral Zone Invaded by Turks—The Sultan's Order to the Press Censors.

London, May 31.—The sultan's show of resistance to the powers is generally attributed to German backing, but it is also rumored that negotiations between Turkey and Russia have been proceeding this month relative to the eventful administration by Russia of a portion of Asia Minor, including Rizeh, in the territory up the Joruk River.

PROTEST FROM MR. GLADSTONE.

Germany's attitude throughout the crisis has brought forth another denunciation from Mr. Gladstone, who, writing to Mr. Poultney Bigelow with reference to the latter's history of the German struggle for liberty says: "The union and consolidation of Germany was a great work, favorable, we all expect and hope, to the peace of Europe. There remains, however, something more to be desired, namely, that the Government may cease to misrepresent the nation by turning its foreign policy on support of tyranny and contempt of humanity and justice."

THE SITUATION AT ATHENS.

No confirmation has yet been received of the news contained in a dispatch from Constantinople, saying the embassies there have received word that the position of the Greek royal family is so critical that the king is practically barricaded in his palaces, and is making preparations to leave Athens. Advices received here from Athens say, however, that elaborate measures have been taken to preserve order. Besides the regular police and gendarmes, a civil guard has been recruited from the most trusted citizens.

A PARIS STORY.

Paris, May 31.—The Athens' correspondent of the Journal asserts that Prince Constantine, after the retreat from Domokos, attempted to commit suicide with a revolver, on learning of the intense feeling against him. The correspondent adds that the prince was prevented by his officers from taking his life.

TURKISH TEMERITY.

Athens, May 31.—The Turks have occupied a position at Tsopanates, in the neutral zone. The Greek Government has protested against this movement to the representatives of the powers.

The Athens correspondent of the London Times says: Turkey's continued arming and the reported Russian preparations, with other rumors of a bellicose character, raise the hopes of some of the Greek newspapers that Greece may yet benefit from a general European war. But the majority of the nation, sobered by a sad experience, is only desirous that Europe shall protect Greece against her conqueror.

KING GEORGE AND THE CZAR.

London, May 31.—The Athens correspondent of the Standard says: King George paid a visit to M. Onu, the Russian minister, on Saturday, and, after a two-hours' interview, sent a long telegram to the Emperor Nicholas, urging him to intervene on behalf of Greece.

PLOTTING AGAINST THE KING.

The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail says: From a Russian source comes news of a conspiracy against King George of Greece far more deepely rooted than was supposed. This is indubitable evidence that Premier Ralli and his colleagues in the Cabinet are gravely implicated in a plot to overthrow the dynasty.

THE SULTAN'S ORDER.

The correspondent of the Times at Constantinople says. The sultan has ordered the official censors to suppress any sympathetic allusion to or anxieties concerning the Greek royal family, or to mention the improvement in Greek funds. The police in the Galata section of the city have been ordered to arrest all persons dealing in Greek securities.

Prince Constantine has received an invitation to attend Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee next month.

THE PORTE WANTS PEACE

Reply of the Turkish Government to the Powers' Note.

Constantinople, May 31.—The Turkish Government has replied to the collective note presented to the ambassadors to the Porte on Saturday. The ambassadors then announced that they did not object to the conclusion of a military armistice, which the Turkish Government insisted must be signed between the military commanders in the field, after which the Porte will negotiate the peace conditions with the ambassadors, the treaty to be signed by the Turkish and Greek plenipotentiaries in Thessaly.

In this latest note the Porte insists upon an armistice of a fortnight, which can be renewed in the event the peace negotiations are not finished. The Porte, however, desires that peace be concluded as soon as possible.

Fire and Panic.

Serious Loss of Life in a Roman Catholic Cathedral.

An Earthquake Visits Sections of Greece and Italy.

The Kaiser's Proposed Visit to France a Topic of Serious Discussion.

EARTHQUAKES IN GREECE AND ITALY.

London, May 31.—Earthquake shocks were felt at midnight Saturday at Rome, Messina, Ischia and other points in Italy.

A shock of earthquake was felt in various parts of Greece, and was especially severe at Lamia and Patras. The disturbance was slight in Athens.

THE FAST ATLANTIC MAIL.

London, May 31.—The Times publishes a letter from the ship-building firm, Peterson, Tait & Co., of Newcastle, in which they decline to enter into a controversy with the Allan Steamship Company, on the subject of the conditions of the provisional agreement between Peterson, Tait & Co. and the Dominion Government for the proposed fast steamship service between Canada and Great Britain. The firm expresses itself, however, as fully prepared to carry out its contract, and as confident of the success of the service.

PANIC IN A CATHEDRAL.

Rome, May 31.—During a special service at the Cathedral at Pisa, Italy, yesterday, upon the occasion of the unveiling an image of the Virgin, a candle fell, setting fire to the building, and causing a great panic among the many persons present. During the rush for the doors seven persons were killed and seventeen others wounded, three of them seriously. The fire was immediately extinguished. The damage was slight. The cathedral was closed and the ceremonies were suspended. Great grief prevails in the town. The official report of the disaster shows that nine were killed and 21 seriously injured. Most of the victims were women, and all of them residents of Pisa.

HORSELESS CABS.

London, May 31.—Five hundred automobile cabs are to be placed in circulation in the streets of Paris on July 1. Ten million francs have been voted for an attempt to change the system of traction in the Paris streets from animal to mechanical power. Every system of machine that appears to promise possible success will be tried among the 500 that are to be first put in operation. A fortnight or three weeks later the type which has given the best results will be adopted definitely—that is to say, as the ground work upon which the entire cab system of Paris is to be reorganized. The revolution will not be so great as one imagines, as already it is estimated that 1,500 automobiles are in daily circulation on the streets of the capital. The price of the course is to be fixed at 1 franc, instead of 1 franc 50 centimes, as with the ordinary cab. A mass meeting of cabmen has been called to decide upon the measures to be taken, many trades being seriously affected by the revolution.

FRANCE AND THE GERMAN EMPEROR.

Paris, May 31.—The topic of the moment here is how to treat the Emperor of Germany if he comes to the French capital. The Gaulois has been sounding politicians and authors, and the responses are almost unanimous against the emperor coming to Paris. Mme. Adam thinks Paris and the French people would be the laughing stock of Europe if Emperor William were to come. Mr. Morris DeBarrest thinks Paris might stone the emperor to death, which would be a misfortune. "It would be a misfortune," he adds, "if they did not." The other replies oscillate between these opinions: An eminent person, who assumes to know the emperor's mind, says: "Emperor William quite appreciates the rebuff he has lately received. He expected it, but he has not changed his intentions on that account. It is a fixed resolve with him to come to Paris, and as a friend, and he will find the means of coming."

CABLE NOTES.

Pietro Acciarito, the Italian anarchist, who, on April 22, attempted to stab King Humbert while the latter was on his way to the races, has been sentenced to imprisonment in the galleys for life.

The Prince and Princess of Wales visited Canterbury Saturday in order to open the restored chapter house of the cathedral. The usual enthusiasm was manifested. There was a brilliant display of troops, the school children were turned out to greet the royal visitors, and the customary addresses were presented and replied to.

Soon Settled!

Finale of the Difficulty Near Duck Lake.

Volunteers Charge on the Indians in Their Shelter—Almighty Voice and His Companions Killed.

West Prince Albert, N. W. T., May 31.—News from the scene of the Indian trouble is meager, as it is a long distance from Duck Lake office, and men cannot be spared as messengers. Friday night's tragedy was the result of a charge on a bluff by the policemen and two civilians—Postmaster Gundy, of Duck Lake, and Crown Lumber Agent R. S. Cook, of Prince Albert. They killed one Indian and two, if not more, remain. They seem to be securely entrenched in pits, and appear to have supplies. Almighty Voice is supposed to be accompanied by an Indian known as Rom Lamack, also a fugitive from justice, having murdered another Indian two years ago on the reserve near Qu'Appelle, where he was interpreter. Corporal Hocking, who was wounded in the charge, lived only three hours. He was a son of Admiral Hocking, and had been a captain in the imperial service. Constable Kerr was a member of "F" troop, Northwest Mounted Police, and a much-respected man in the barracks. Mr. Grundy was a highly respected citizen of Duck Lake, and leaves a wife and family of small children. The bodies of Grundy and Kerr still lie where they fell, as their companions have been unable to recover them.

A party of 25 men and horses have left Regina for the scene.

A party of volunteers is forming here, and will return with Capt. Gagnor. Capt. Allen's arm will have to be amputated. Sergt. Raven and Mr. Venne are doing fairly well.

The Indians on reserves at Duck Lake are greatly excited, and are discussing the advisability of going to the assistance of the fugitives. Supt. Gagnon is expected to arrive here in a short time, and will return to the scene of the shooting with a Maxim gun and field pieces from this post.

An unfortunate feature is that many Indians are deserting the reserves and joining Almighty Voice.

When the news reached Regina a farewell ball was being given in honor of the Northwest Mounted Police jubilee contingent, and the festivities were immediately stopped.

Ottawa, May 31.—At latest accounts a nine-pounder gun had arrived at Duck Lake, and the police were leaving for Batouche, nineteen miles distant. The bluff where the Indians are ambushed is six miles from Batouche.

Special to The Advertiser via G. N. W. Line.

Duck Lake, Man., May 31—3:30 a.m.—The Prince Albert volunteers got impatient yesterday afternoon and prevailed on the officers in charge to allow them to rush the bluff, which they did at 2 p.m., led by Wm. Drain, Jas. McKay, Q.C., and Police Officers Wilson and Macdonald.

On the first rush they did not find the hiding places of the Indians.

They again went through, killing the only remaining Indian, Almighty Voice. Other Indians were killed by shells from the nine-pounder. No further casualties occurred on our side. The dead have been brought in.

The father of Almighty Voice is under arrest here as an accomplice. No further trouble is anticipated.

COLLISION ON LAKE ERIE.

The Steamer Shickluni Sunk—Narrow Escape of the Crew.

Port Colborne, Ont., May 31.—About 1 o'clock Saturday morning the steamer Tecumseh and steamer Shickluni collided about three miles of Long Point. The Shickluni sank in a few minutes. The crew had just time to get in the small boats, and did not save any of their clothing. The crew had a dangerous time in the small boats, but managed to keep afloat until daylight, when the Tecumseh picked them up and brought them here. The Shickluni was owned by Sylvester Bros., Toronto.

BURGLARY AT THEDFORD.

J. Fuller's Bank Entered and a Number of Watches Stolen.

Thedford, Ont., May 31.—On Saturday it was discovered that burglars had entered J. Fuller's bank during the night, securing a number of valuable watches. No money was taken. They entered W. N. C. Ironside's hardware store next door, taking several revolvers and a small amount of cash. No clue has yet been found.

KILLED BY A FOLDING BED.

Montpelier, Vt., May 31.—A folding bed at the Union House closed automatically during the night, while Henry Kendall, 63 years old, was asleep in it. He was dead when taken out, having either been smothered or died of heart failure, induced by fright.

MURDEROUS ACT OF A JEALOUS GIRL.

Montpelier, Vt., May 31.—Miss Mildred Brewster, the daughter of a wealthy farmer of Huntingdon, on Saturday, shot Miss Annie Wheeler, of whom she is alleged to have been jealous, inflicting wounds which will probably prove fatal. After shooting Miss Wheeler, the Brewster girl turned the revolver on herself, and fired a bullet into her right ear, inflicting a serious and possibly fatal wound.

FATAL BICYCLE COLLISION.

Atlanta, Ga., May 31.—Miss Anna Hunter, a young society woman of this city, while out bicycling last night, was run down by a colored bicyclist named Charles Tait. Tate is dead, and the young woman is not expected to live. When near Miss Hunter the negro suddenly turned to the wrong side, and they collided. Both were thrown to the ground with much violence and lay in the road unconscious. Tate's skull was fractured. Miss Hunter lies in an unconscious condition.

Today at the Capital.

Party Caucuses to be Held Tomorrow and Next Day.

The Crow's Nest Pass Agreement About Completed.

Sir Richard Cartwright Will Lead When the Premier Goes to England.

Special to the Advertiser, per C. P. R. Line.

Ottawa, May 31.—A Conservative caucus has been called for tomorrow. The object of the meeting is to see what course the Opposition should pursue for the balance of the session. The general opinion of the Conservative members is that the work of the session ought to be rushed and prorogation reached as soon as possible.

A Government caucus has been summoned for Wednesday. Their programme for the balance of the session will be discussed. As Mr. Laurier leaves for London, England, on the following day, he will name who is to be acting premier in his absence. There is no doubt but that Sir Richard Cartwright will act. As a leader of the House Sir Richard has had few equals. Then the fast Atlantic contract will be discussed. There is still some opposition to the fast line in the Liberal ranks, notwithstanding the favorable character of the contract, but the matter will no doubt be threshed out in caucus. It is also rumored that the railway policy of the Administration will be laid before the caucus, as well as the proposed arrangement with the C. P. R. for the building of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway. It is said that the arrangement between the company and the Government is all but complete, and only awaits the ratification of the party. As already pointed out, the principal arrangement are that the company is going to assure a good cut in through rates, as well as granting running privileges to other roads through the Crow's Nest Pass portion, for the Dominion subsidy which the company will receive, and which will be about $10,000 per mile.

The Supreme Court met today, there being present: Justices Taschereau, Sedgewick, Girouard, Gwynn and King. The two cases which are before the court and which arose out of the arbitration into the Dominion and provincial accounts of Ontario and Quebec, have been put off until the next sitting of the court, as a full bench is required. This was done at the request of John S. Hall, Q.C., on behalf of Quebec, the other parties assenting to the motion. In regard to the case of the Toronto Street Railway vs. The Queen, Justices Girouard and Sedgewick have both expressed an opinion regarding it, and cannot hear it, so that it will also be put off.

The first case called today was that of Goodwin vs. The Queen, in connection with the Soulanges Canal. The amount involved is $73,000, which Goodwin claims. The Exchequer Court has decided for the Government in favor of $58,260 of this amount against Goodwin. Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., and Ferguson appeared for Goodwin, and Mr. Ritchie, Q.C., and Mr. Christie for the crown. Mr. Osler asked that the case be further postponed, as negotiations concerning it were going on with the Department of Justice. Mr. Ritchie could not consent to this, as he had no instructions from the department concerning these negotiations. Mr. Osler said that in that case he would withdraw the case without prejudice, so that it could be entered, if necessary, at the next term. Mr. Christie suggested putting the case at the foot of the list.

Justice Taschereau—You will be able to tell us in the morning what you will do about it, and we will pass over it for the meantime.

This was agreed to, and, as the counsel in the next case were not ready, the court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Dr. Griffin.

Discovered Living With His Family in Pittsburg, Pa.

His Identity Fully Established — He Declares His Innocence of Wrong-Doing—Has Ordered $900 Worth of Additional Diamonds

New York, May 1.—A special to the press from Pittsburg says Dr. G. Hamilton Griffin, the Wall street promoter of many companies for whom many persons have been looking for everywhere recently, has been discovered at No. 177 Wallace avenue, in this city, where he is living with his wife and 4-month-old son, under the name of Jean Baptiste Leblanc. He has been here since April 27, and has not been out of the house since May 28, when New York papers published his picture and record. He was recognized by this picture and the fact that he wrote a prescription which was filled at a drug store. The prescription was printed on a note head, on which was engraved a crest, which crest was also printed on his card.

A Press reporter called on the doctor and asked if he was not the man so many were looking for. He admitted he was Dr. Griffin, but said all the companies in which he was interested were legitimate business concerns, and that he had not been guilty of any wrong. His wife then visited the local papers and pleaded with the editors to keep out of print the news that the doctor was in town. She said her husband had been sick and in trouble, and it would be an act of mercy to keep his identity secret. She wept and admitted that about one-fifth of the charges against her husband were true, but said he was not as bad a man as painted.

The doctor ordered diamonds worth $900 since he came to this city, but has been living at a retired and quiet boarding house. He was also anxious to keep his identity from becoming public, but the police were informed, and they have sent out notice to New York and San Francisco that he is in the city and being watched, and will be arrested if wanted.

Griffin said he did not fear to face his accusers, and he could prove that all his business transactions were honest. He promoted companies capitalized at many millions.

A WOMAN'S ROMANCE.

Not Being Allowed to Wed in England, She Ships as a Sailor to Australia.

Portland, Ore, May 31.—Leaving a comfortable situation in a home in an English provincial town, a woman puts on man's clothes and ships as an able seaman, with her betrothed husband, for an Australian colony. This is the strange story of Nancy Clifford, now Nancy Anderson.

This romantic tale of the sea comes from George Cann, mate of the British ship Hawkesdale. Anderson married Nancy Clifford's sister. They lived unhappily in their English home, and at last she died. Anderson had long been in love with his sister-in-law, but the inexorable English law says a man cannot marry his wife's sister. Then they concluded to go to Australia. Nancy donned men's clothing and shipped with her betrothed, and not until Australia was reached did the sailors know she was a woman.
