From [illegible]

"KARS."

[illegible] girls the other day,
[illegible] Sight like a drowning step,
And wailing within for a prey to keep;

Yet [illegible] of that mountain brow,
[illegible] breath disturbed of snow,
[illegible] the eagle's eye, the wild fleet [illegible]
[illegible] emblem of [illegible] war;

[illegible] so cheerless as the light,
[illegible] wingling down the crags [illegible]
[illegible] moss and minaret [illegible]
[illegible] Nazareth;

Faint [illegible] Muezzin there
[illegible]
Nor watch-word [illegible]
[illegible]

Arm'd bands, whose steel mounted [illegible]
Along the shattered [illegible] rove,
[illegible]
Pil'ap'rises to cheer the deep mouth'd [illegible];

Yet stronger grows that league'd cheer,
[illegible] forth into feebly clear,
As wonder'd wide, the winter sky,
Glares with the foe's Artillery!

But hurled is that fiery sky,
[illegible] as the eye,
Who stood with patriot tears,
Disdains a foeman's deadliest [illegible]!

The tottering form—the feeble vein,
The sunk cheek like—the sight of pain,
May quench the strength, but never the zeal
Which patriot [illegible] alone can feel.

O! [illegible] prowess yet burns bright,
To serve [illegible] with great might,
What time the [illegible] Kars,
To large [illegible] chase—

What time the [illegible] flagging [illegible],
[illegible] the [illegible] battlements,
To leave those walls, where bravery fell,
[illegible] the name [illegible]!

Where [illegible] that spirit still—
[illegible] on Kars [illegible] hill,
Where side by side the foeman [illegible],
[illegible] by some strong [illegible] blade.

[illegible] of life the consecrated plain
[illegible] with the gore of [illegible],
[illegible] you paint nation's eye,
That [illegible] immortality.

The cannon's roar the whizzing ball,
Her woman heart [illegible] and to pall,
Her soul replete with patriot fires,
With [illegible] nought her [illegible] inspires,

Ah! though that woman's phrenzied eye,
Once flashed with fire so fearlessly,
Beyond those pearl-tears as they break,
And feebly course adown her cheek,

And hear her anguish long and wild,
Wildly gazing on her tumbled child,
Even Pest has dimmed her patriot fires,
[illegible] by her daring babe expires!

[illegible] famine reigneth there,
And [illegible] disease yet not despair;
For H[illegible] nerves their stirring form,
[illegible] the whirlwind, [illegible] the storm.

Still proud, he scorns the scoffing host,
[illegible] to duty and his post;
Not him the bayonets of the foe,
But pest and hunger can lay low.

Keen though he felt the Cossack lance,
Yet not as that repose and glance,
Which sent the wounded soldier's child,
From orbs, fast glazing, famine-wild.

His patriot breast, unknown to fear,
Bleeds in mute sorrow, as the tear
Fast trickling o'er the war-worn face,
Drops in his comrade's vacant place.

Bitter the thoughts that rack his heart,
From home-hearths and his mosque to part;
But vain when myriads droop and die,
Such stern heroic chivalry.

The blade his hand can hardly wield,
Yet firmer grasps, when pray'd to yield,
Mighty the struggle, o'er his breast,
Obey's humanity's behest!

Tott'ring those braves—subdued by fate,
Still proud in mien, and haughty state,
Depart from their embattled walls,
And sigh to leave their rock-hewn halls.

Till then despair had never rung,
The grieving murmur from their tongue,
But now, the agonized mind,
Bends like a reed beneath the wind.

For when the muse his fairest lays,
Shall votive weave in deathless praise,
And with those brave defender's fame,
Exulting link a Barrow's name.

DEATH OR CAPT. DEATH.—Perhaps history cannot afford a more remarkable instance of desperate courage than that shown by the officers and crew of an English privateer, called the Terrible, under the command of Captain Death, of twenty-six guns and two hundred men. On the 23rd of December, 1757, he engaged and made prize of a large French ship from St. Malous, after an obstinate battle, in which he had his brother and sixteen seamen killed. He then secured his prize with forty men, and directed his course for England; but in a few days, he had the misfortune to fall in with the Vengeance, of thirty-six guns, a privateer, of St. Domingo. Their first step was to attack the prize, which was easily retaken; the two ships then bore down on the Terrible, whose mizzen mast was cut away by the first broadside. Notwithstanding this disaster, the Terrible maintained such a furious engagement against both, as can hardly be paralleled in the annals of the British navy. The French commander and his second lieutenant were killed, with two-thirds of his company; but the gallant Captain Death, with the greater part of his officers and almost his whole crew, having met with the same fate, his ship was boarded by the enemy, who found no more than twenty-six persons alive; sixteen were mutilated by the loss of a leg or an arm, and the other ten grievously wounded! The ship lay like a wreck upon the water, and the whole exhibited a scene of horror and desolation. The victor Beck was so shattered that it was scarcely able to tow the Terrible into St. Malous, where she was beheld with astonishment and terror.

This adventure was sooner known in England than a [illegible] was raised for the support of Death's widow, and that part of the crew which survived the cruise concert.

[illegible] was a strange combination of names belonging to this privateer; the Terrible was equipped at Newport, commanded by Captain Death, [illegible] it was manned Devil, and the surgeon's name was Ghost.—[illegible]

CURE VERMIN.—The [illegible] sweet [illegible] with twine; [illegible] any farmer can take with little cost, within from five to six gallons of vinegar, equal to the best made of cider wine. First wash [illegible] the beets and carrots; the juice in a cheese [illegible] or in any other way which a little ingenuity can suggest, as I put the liquor into a barrel, cover the bung with gauze and set it in the sun, and in fifteen or twenty days it will be fit for use. By this method the very best of vinegar [illegible] without any cost to the [illegible] and it is much better [illegible] than the [illegible] quality.

Annette, my dear, what country is [illegible] us on the [illegible] "Bull [illegible]" [illegible] the preferred [illegible]. I would have a [illegible] enough. The cards, said a very young miss at the card, where would you [illegible]? "Our country, [illegible]," said the pupil, with a sigh [illegible] that having solved the great question.

A little [illegible] was heard to call from the window of a [illegible] house to her opposite neighbor—"Please Mrs. Miller, mother's compliments, and if it is a fine day, will you go a-begging with her to-morrow?"
