Nursery Rhymes--No. 24.

A STORY OF DOOM! (almost.)

CANTO I.

The coffin-maker bent low at his work,
And, coughing, cast his eyes upon his bench,
A spasm came, which gave his frame a jerk,
And shook his head about with fearful wrench;
The blood skipped from his ears and sought the ground;
The Undertaker deemed his lungs unsound.

CANTO II.

It was a dull and dismal afternoon,
The ice had melted in the Skating Rink,
And lovers sighed to walk beneath the moon,
And topers paused at Bars to get a drink;
The coffin-maker hummed an air, then stood,
And drove a nail deep in the coffin-wood.

CANTO III.

Another spasm came, then down he fell,
And sought the pitch pine floor, quite ill at ease
And listened to the knell of deep-mouthed bell,
His gold hair fluttering madly in the breeze;
But Hall's Invigorator cured the pain,
And Ayer's Vigor brought in the hair again.

CANTO IV.

These two great Cures he at the Chemist's bought,
The Pharmaceutist's, King street, twenty-four,
Where Drugs and Medicines are often sought
By iron-mongers when life is nearly o'er;
And coffin-makers, when they're coughin' loud,
Take Tracheal Drops, and thus postpone the shroud.

From Saturday's Second Edition.

(Special to the Tribune.)

The Sergeant-at-Arms Clears the Reporters Gallery—Ungentlemanly Language—He Apologises Next Day for Having Exceeded His Authority—Reporters Accept it.

FREDRICTON, April 12.

On Thursday evening after the House adjourned when one of the reporters wished to leave the gallery he found the door fastened on the outside, and called for the officer to open it. The Sergeant-at-arms answered, "Jump out of the window"; when the request was again made he came up and opened the door, and said, "If you want to get out now, go." He being requested to permit us to remein and finish our reports, said he had power to clear the gallery at his pleasure and turning out the gas he gave one minute for all the reporters to leave—he would not listen to reason at all and his language was ungentlemanly and profane. We picked up our rubbers, coats, and a few notes and left. The Speaker had gone and some of the members were present. The reporters were attending to their duties and the whole matter was unjustifiable and unwarranted on the part of the Sergeant-at-Arms.

This morning the Sergeant at Arms came to the Reporters and made an humapology, stating that he had acted wrongly and hastily, and was very sorry for what he had done. He assured them he would not so exceed his authority again, and promised not to interfere, in the future, in any way with the representatives of the Press.

The matter would have been brought before the House at 12 noon had not the apology been made by that time. The reporters concluded to accept the apology, which was entirely satisfactory, and resumed their duties.
