Got One Into Trouble

At the last meeting of the Retail Merchants Association a member of the Trades and Labor Council asked permission to attend and hear the discussion on the controversy between the Master Butchers and their men. The member of the Trades Council was allowed to attend the meeting, and is said to have expressed himself as being in favor of the Master Butchers. At a subsequent meeting of the Council, and at which the press and public were excluded, a charge was brought against the member to the effect that he had attended a gathering of the R.M.A. In his own defense he demanded the appointment of a special committee to hear the evidence and the committee met last night.

The offending member produced copies of the circulars issued by the Butchers Workmen's Union and other material, and still maintained that the Master Butchers were being unfairly treated by their employes, but the result of the committee's deliberations could not be learned.

BUTCHERS WOULD CLOSE EARLY.

But Defer Action Till Spring—Prosecution of Letts May Lapse.

It now looks as tho harmony may be restored between the butchers' section of the Retail Merchants Association and F. C. Letts, business agent of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' Union. At a meeting held by the Retail Butchers in Cameron Hall last night the spirit of amity was shown when Ed Devine, secretary for the retail butchers' section, seconded the motion that Mr. Letts take the chair. Last spring there was a break in the ranks of the retail butchers, chiefly on the point of observance of the 7 p.m. closing law, as a result of which a number allied themselves to the R.M.A., becoming a section thereof. The friction developed Monday evening into a resolution by the affiliated body to prosecute Mr. Letts for his action in sending circular letters containing alleged threats.

The question that took up the whole time of the meeting was the consideration of ways and means to bring about a uniform 7 o'clock closing by all the retail butchers in the city. The sentiment of the gathering was practically unanimous as to the desirability of closing all shops at the hour named, but it was felt that there being only about 30 persons present, the meeting could not be accounted a representative one, and that it would not be warranted in acting for the butchers of the city. Consequently, it was resolved that the matter of closing be allowed to remain in abeyance until spring, when co-operation will be sought with the Retail Merchants Association, with a view to passing a statutory law bearing on the subject.

A vote of thanks was given Mr. Letts by the meeting for his untiring efforts in the cause of early closing during the summer months, in replying, he alluded to the unfortunate differences that had arisen between the bodies and declared that there was no wish or intention on the part of himself or the union he represents to clash with any employers and he hoped there would be no further discord.

STUDENT FROM BRITISH GUIANA.

David L. Luckhoo, a Hindu, Will Take Medical Course at Trinity.

There is registered at the Walker House an interesting character in the person of David L. Lucho of New Amsterdam, British Guiana, who comes to Toronto to begin a four years' course in medicine at Trinity. Tho not a drop of negro blood courses thru his veins, Mr. Luckhoo is as dark-skinned as the average Ethiopian, being a British subject born in Guiana of East Indian parentage. His father is a wealthy dry goods merchant of New Amsterdam.

Mr. Lucho says there has been a decline in the sugar industry of the colony owing to the drop in prices, but this has been offset by the discovery of diamonds and gold in sufficiently paying quantities. The colony has a population of 200,000 and is considerably in advance of the countries of South America on account of the freedom from revolutionary troubles and the security guaranteed by British laws. The principal town is Georgetown, with 40,000 people. It is thoroly up to date, having electric cars, electric lights and other modern conveniences. Two per cent. of the people are Europeans, and the temperature is from 80 to 84 degrees all the year round. The principal trade is with England.

LIGHT FROST TO MORROW.

The sudden change in the temperature and weather generally yesterday afternoon is due to the arrival of some wandering zephyrs from the Northwest. There was quite a gale out on the lake last night while on the upper lakes, Huron and Superior, the wind is reported to have been very violent. To-day it will be quite cool with strong northwest breezes. Early Friday morning Toronto can look out for a light touch of frost.

The Boarder's Revenge.

A manager of a London laundry says the revenge of the boarder who asserts his linen is spoiled is a terrible thing. Only recently a collar was sent back with the following written upon it in marking ink:

This collar, worn and frayed and old—
Its best days, sure, it's seen—
Is not my own; my collar is
A brand new high 16.

With the Ross Rifle.

London, Sept. 23.—(C.A.P.)—The favorite opinion expressed by riflemen at Bisley, in reference to the rifle invented by Sir Charles Ross, now of Quebec, has encouraged the Ross Rifle Co. to make offers to the British government, with a view of arming some regiments with their Canadian weapon.

NORTH YORK FAIR SCORES GREATEST SUCCESS YET

Two Cabinet Ministers and Other Agricultural Products Draw Crowd of 6000.

Newmarket, Sept. 23.—The directors of the North York Agricultural Society are happy to-night. Favored with splendid weather the attendance to-day reached the record mark. Besides this fact they have the satisfaction of knowing that the fall fair of 1903 is the best that has ever been held here. The grounds and buildings have been greatly improved, presenting a neat appearance, and the crowd of well-dressed people present to-day expressd keen delight.

The Directors' Luncheon.

Th innovation which the directors have this year introduced and which bids fair to become immensely popular was the luncheon to the prominent exhibitors, agriculturists and business men. Among those present were Sir William Mulock, Postmaster General; Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands; Mayor Henry Cane, C. G. Ross, Erastus Jackson, Prof. Church, T. Herbert Lennox, John W. Ramsden, T. H. Lloyd, A. E. Widdifield, J. H. Proctor, T. A. Brunton, J. A. Bastedo, J. D. McKay, County Engineer Macdougall, William Pugsley, Rev. Thomas Cambell, T. H. Speight, Mr. Howden, manager of the Sovereign Bank, Markham, and many others.

C. G. Ross was an ideal chairman and after the wants of the inner man had been fully satisfied he proposed the toast of the King and Queen, which was enthusiastically received.

Big North York Men

The toast of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments, coupled with the names of Sir William Mulock and the Hon. E. J. Davis, was next proposed by Chairman Ross. Sir William Mulock, in his opening remarks, expressed the profound pleasure which a visit to his home in North York always afforded him and in order that his heart's desire might be more fully gratified he laughingly asserted that to the man who would devise a plan whereby the flow of oratory at Ottawa would be stemmed, he would cheerfully present a thoro-bred Durham bull calf. Time works wondrous changes and in glancing over those assembled at the festive board many familiar faces were absent and their places filled by others. Only the Dominion Parliament, said Sir William, goes on forever. He said there was no Dominion like Canada, no province like Ontario, no county like York, and no fair like North York fair. Sir William concluded a happy address with an avowal of his sincere wish for the continued success of the fair.

Hon. Elihu Also Spoke.

Hon. E. J. Davis, Com. of Crown Lands, in a few words expressed his pleasure at the success which had this year attended the annual Exhibition, the excellence of the display and his regret that arrangements previously made compelled his absence for the balance of the day. At the conclusion of the luncheon, the Commissioner of Crown Lands immediately left to meet the touring editors at New Liskeard.

A Good Feature.

An interesting feature of the proceedings to-day was the taste and skill displayed by the several schools throughout North York in the number and arrangement of the wagons required for transporting the school children. With lavish hands the wagons had been heaped, and the procession which paraded Main-street from the fair ground on to the grounds was a striking tribute to the nergy of the pupils of North York public school. A committee composed of J. D. McKay, A. E. Coombs and Prof. Church awarded the first prize to Newmarket public school and the second prize to Second street public school. Newmarket Hill school presented a most creditable appearance, but declined to enter the competition.

The Main Building, where the manufacturers' and ladies' departments are, is worthy of a visit. An exhibit by the Office Specialty Co. of Newmarket cannot fail to attract the attention of the most casual visitor. Every known device for the office is embodied in the company's display, which is in charge of Robert H. Schmidt, the genial general manager. In ladies' work the display has never been equalled, both in the number and merit of the articles shown.

The display of fruits is large and well above the average a fact which is equally applicable to all field and garden roots, potatoes and vegetables showing especial growth. In the poultry section a marked improvement is noticeable; many valuable prize-winning birds being on exhibition.

Speeding in the Ring.

A number of speeding events were entered upon this afternoon and will be continued to-morrow. The officers of the course are Phil Davey, Edward Kerr, A. B. B. Willson and Wakefield Howard. The magnificent band of the 48th Highlanders were in attendance thruout the day, and their playing contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The concert in the Town Hall to-night was very largely attended, all the numbers being enthusiastically encored. A careful estimate of to-day's attendance places the number at 6000, and, given a continuance of to-day's favorable weather, the directors are hopeful of a much larger attendance to-morrow.

GREAT DAY AT COLLINGWOOD.

Collingwood, Sept. 23.—To-day the Great Northern Exhibition is in full swing, everything is wide open and a large number are in attendance. This year the fair is first-class, equalling, if not surpassing, the highly successful exhibition of 1902. The farmers have increased their interest, evidently recognizing this as the chief show of the northern section of the country, while the business men in town have splendidly responded to the request of the directors to lend them assistance.

In looking thru the different departments it will be wondered at that in a majority the number of entries is larger than in any previous year. The main building is well filled, and some changes effected by the management in the treating of several of the departments have had a good effect, the exhibits being shown to better advantage and seen by the crowds more easily.

This year has been an exceptional one for several lines of fruit, particularly plums, the crop in this section of the country, indeed thruout the fruit-growing districts, being very large. The quality of the fruit has been good, and as a result this part of the fair is well filled, entries being numerous in nearly every class. Apples are exhibited to such an extent that there can be no disputing the fact that the Georgian Bay district produces the finest put upon the market. Crab-apples are this year a smaller crop than usual thruout the district. The display of grapes is the lightest in the fruit division. The samples are only fair, and the number of entries is small. Pears are splendid display, but the local men have to move to keep pace with some of the samples exhibited by several outsiders.

While the farmers in this section of the province pride themselves on the fruit, they have good reason to do likewise on their vegetables and field roots. This section of the main building, which comprises the entire south wing, is one of the attractions of the fair. The samples shown are excellent, and the varieties displayed are numerous. The number of entries was larger than usual, and the judge was kept busy for some hours in considering the claims of the different competitors.

UP AT STRATHROY.

Strathroy, Sept. 23.—To-day is the opening day of West Middlesex Agricultural Society's annual three-day fair, and should the weather keep fine a record breaking exhibition is assured. From an agricultural standpoint the fair is most satisfactory. Produce from the farm and field being at its best, and an unrivalled array of exhibits have been arriving all day. Close on to 2500 entries have been received. Many new exhibitors will be around this year, especially in the Horticultural Department, and competition will be keen. The track is in fine condition, and horsemen are already here and can confidently promise the best speed program witnessed in years.

Exclusive Styles

The styles we show are radically new and usually different from anything in town. You expect novelties in Hats and Furs, but how about Raincoats? Ours are really handsome—adaptable as a Fall Overcoat. Made by expert overcoat tailors, which means collars that sit properly and shoulders well built up.

PETERBORO FAIR.

Peterboro, Sept. 23.—The Peterboro Industrial Fair was opened this afternoon by Hon. A. G. Blair, ex-Minister of Railways and Canals, in the presence of a great concourse of people. After expressing his pleasure on being present to open the fair, Mr. Blair spoke with reference to the satisfactory condition of Canada in respect to the growth of her trade, and pointed out the many advantages of Canada over other countries. Hon. J. R. Stratton, honorary president of the society, and Mayor Rogers, addressed the gathering. This is the most successful fair held in Peterboro in recent years. D. Hughes Charles, president, has been untiring in his efforts, and to him is due a great deal of credit for the success of the fair.

CONSERATIVE RALLY.

A Conservative rally of the new united ridings of Lennox and Addington was held in the Town Hall, Napanee, yesterday afternoon. There was a large crowd present, representing every portion of the riding. J. R. Fraser was appointed president of the new association, and a set of rules was discussed and passed to govern the new united ridings. The candidates representing the county at present, Messrs. Wilson and Avery, M.P.'s, and Carscallen and Reid, M.L.A.'s, were present, and made short addresses. Uriah Wilson, M.P., was unanimously chosen as the candidate for the next Dominion election, and, in accepting, made an excellent speech, in which he thanked those present for the honor they had conferred on him. He had represented the old County of Lennox for the past 11 sessions of parliament, and if they all worked together he would be again elected. He referred to the extravagance of the present Dominion government and the recklessness with which they had disregarded all their pledges made before getting into power, and explained the new Grand Trunk Pacific bill. Addresses were also delivered by President Fraser and W. J. Paul, county commissioners; Allen Oliver, ex-county commissioner; R. A. Fowler, warden; W. W. Pringle, ex-warden of Frontenac, and D. E. Rose. Resolutions were passed endorsing the course of the representatives of the two ridings in the Commons and legislature. A pleasing portion of the proceedings was the presentation of an address and elegant oak rocking chair to D. E. Rose, Tamworth, the veteran secretary and treasurer of the late Addington Conservative Association.

Temperance Work by Picture Post Cards.

From The Westminster Gazette.

The former moral pocket handkerchief is now displaced by the moral picture postcard. M. Capmartin of Blaye has had half a million picture postcards printed illustrating the evils of drunkenness. They have such titles as "The Drunkard's Doom," "Death in the Bottle" and "The Drink Fiend," and the author suggested they might be posted to confirmed drunkards. Two or three slander actions have already been started by people who have received the cards, and one recipient is being proceeded against for violently assaulting a sender.

GOT A GOOD MAN.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The Debates Committee met to-day and appointed Robert C. Dunbar, B.A., for some years past a member of The Toronto Globe staff, to The Hansard staff, in accordance with the recent decision to increase the force of official reporters to seven. Bob will be an acquisition to the staff, for he is one of the best shorthand men on earth. His departure from the press gallery will leave a void that will not soon be filled.

London, Sept. 23.—(C.A.P.)—A minister, referring to Lord Minto having Rideau Hall to himself, says that Lord Minto will be left ample time to keep his head in the fiscal problem, and his grasp of the Canadian case may be useful when he returns to the House of Lords.

Fire in the Oil Fields.

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 23.—Fire that started at noon to-day in the east end of the Shoe String oil district, will, it is estimated, cause damage of $250,000, before it can be placed under control.

FATAL AMUSEMENT.

Galt, Sept. 23.—Archie R. McAuslan, aged 18, was fatally injured while attempting to alight on the platform from the car step of the 8.20 G.T.R. train going north last night. While the train was moving probably at the rate of 20 miles an hour, young McAuslan and other young men of his own age, were in the habit of boarding this train to take a ride to the water tank and back, jumping off as the train went thru the town on the northbound journey. Young McAuslan was the third son and youngest child of Archibald McAuslan, the well-known building contractor of Galt, and a student in the law office of Frank E. Brown, Imperial Block.

PRIVATE EFFORT NOT WANTED.

A number of emigration promoters have been in Toronto this summer, and have endeavored to persuade the Ontario government to grant them privileges with a view to bringing out colonists. They would like districts of good land in New Ontario set apart for them, but the government feel that past experience proves that every sort of dissatisfaction arises under such a system of private money making, and have set their face against it.

CRAP SHOOTERS SUMMONED

Police Crusade Against Gambling in Hamilton Reaches the Police Court Stage.

BARTON TOWNSHIP MUCH AROUSED.

Citizens Complain of Dice Throwers and Are Prepared to Get Rid of Them.

Hamilton, Sept. 23.—(Special.)—Late to-night Constables Libke and Campaign finished serving summonses on the alleged crap shooters. Those who will face the magistrate in the morning are: Edgar Sterritt, Thomas Edwards, 155 North Catharine-street; Robert Magness, Jack Holmes, East Macauley-street; John Winn, 39 East Macauley-street; Wm. Babbes, 486 North MacNab-street; James Isbister, Wellington and Stinson-streets; Dan Robinson, 51 West Burlington-street; A. Noxon, 56 Cheever-street; Denis McBride, 263 North MacNab-street; Richard Nevilles, Duffy's-alley. All are accused of gambling and trespass, and some of them have two charges of trespass against them. This is a part of the police crusade against gambling. The residents of Barton Township, just outside the city, complain bitterly of the conduct of the gangs who are so bold that they shake the dice right under the windows of their churches, and they say they are prepared to go to any trouble and expense to get rid of them.

DON'T YEARN FOR SOLDIER'S LIFE.

Young Canadians Prefer Money-making Trades to Martial Glory.

An indication of the better times prevailing in this country now than formerly is shown in the fact that there is a decided disinclination on the part of Young Canada to enter the military service as a red-coated "regular." At Stanley Barracks the infantry and cavalry corps are 60 men under strength, out of a total official strength allowed of 175. It is said, too, that the class of recruits who do offer themselves is inferior to that of a few years ago, and the explanation is given that young men prefer to enter a useful trade, where, after five years' apprenticeship, from $2 to $5 a day is obtainable, rather than to don the King's scarlet and learn the gentle art of war, as it is played in these piping times of peace.

There is no more an inducement in the 40 cents a day, swagger uniform and other attributes to a soldier's life in Canadian barracks. It is not all beer and skittles, at that, this being in the permanent corps, and the restrictions tell on many who do take the shilling, as the annual report of the Minister of Militia and Defence, wherein is recorded the fact of 222 desertions from the garrison forces of Canada, which total only about 1000 men.

Good recruits are obtainable at Fredericton, N.B., from newly landed immigrants, but elsewhere the stringency of the labor market has made itself felt. An increase in the present scale of pay is expected when the supplementary estimates are passed, and this may help some to bring in recruits.

A Story of Mr. Swinburne.

The opening article in Blackwood's Magazine, by "Signa," is again of an anecdotal character.

Meeting Mr. Swinburne, the poet related how, at the end of his first "half" at Eton, his father, Admiral Swinburne, come down to take him home for the holidays.

"My father," Swinburne dolorously explained, "had never been at a public school, and had no knowledge whatever of its manners and customs. In fact, it was quite superfluous his coming down to escort me home. However, like most naval officers, he was a trifle arbitrary, and was resolved to come. In getting into the train, we chanced to enter a carriage in the corner of which, reading The Times, was snugly ensconsed Dr. Goodford, the then headmaster of Eton.

"Isn't that Dr. Goodford?" whispered my father to me, peering curiously in the direction of the headmaster. "I believe it is," I stammered reluctantly. "Believe it is!" rejoined my father caustically: "you must surely know your own headmaster!" Then clearing his throat and raising his voice, to my consternation he bent forward and airily accosted the awful presence with, 'Dr. Goodford, I believe, sir.'

"The doctor, incensed at being interrupted by a perfect stranger, glared at my father round the sheet of the paper, and said testily, 'Yes, sir; at your service.' 'Well, sir,' rejoined my father, jerking a finger in my direction, 'my boy here has just finished his first term at Eton, and I should very much like to know what account you can give me of him.' Now," continued Mr. Swinburne, "Dr. Goodford had never set eyes on me, and probably did not even know of my existence; but enraged, I suppose, at my father's rather unconventional interruption, he glanced down at me with a scarlet face, and said deliberately, 'Your boy, sir—your boy is one of the very worst in the school!' and then entrenched himself once more behind The Times.

"My father looked volumes, but said nothing till we got out at Paddington. Then the storm burst. In vain I protested that Dr. Goodford knew nothing whatever about me. 'Do you think,' said my father, 'that I am going to take your word before that of your headmaster?' And I was sentenced to deprivation of all pleasures and privileges for the duration of the Christmas holidays!"

Must Deal With Defence.

London, Sept. 23.—(C.A.P.)—The Globe to-day says that the chief among the matters which press for consideration is the question of the administrative and legislative machinery of the empire. The representatives of the colonies will have to be welcomed at Westminster and new provisions made by which their views may be constitutionally expressed. The question of Imperial defence must be dealt with in concert with, not over the heads of, the colonial governments.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

When You Don't Know it's Safe to Blame the Stomach—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Cure—A. D. Miller's Experience.

"During the summer of 1900 my doctor treated me for Liver Complaint, but instead of getting better I was gradually getting worse.

"My appetite was very irregular and I would bloat very much after eating. I also had palpitation of the heart and sometimes I could not sleep at all at night on account of my heart beating so hard.

"I was hardly able to get around when I commenced using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using half a box I felt much better. Continuing their use I was soon entirely well and have had good health ever since."

This statement is made by Mr. A. D. Miller of Pusey, Haliburton County, Ont. It needs no comment. It tells run down, worn out people to get their stomachs put in working order by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and they will feel like new men and women.
