THE 12TH AT LYNDHURST

There are few little villages in Ontario as charmingly situated as Lyndhurst. In the heart of the village there is a water fall that supplies an abundance of power to the mills located on either bank of the stream. Above the falls, placid water in a winding channel leads to the Lower Beverley Lake; below, the channel leads to the far-famed fishing grounds of the Red Horse. Ozone-breathing pines crown the adjacent hills, and between and beyond these are fine agricultural lands tilled, in many cases, by descendants of U. E. Loyalists and by those whose parents thought of the British Isles when they spoke of "home."

Lyndhurst contains a number of fine residences and many neat, well kept homes, all of which attest to the love and loyalty the people have for their village.

It was amidst these pleasant surroundings that the loyal Orangemen of Lyndhurst and vicinity celebrated the Battle of the Boyne on Thursday last, and with Mr. R. G. Harvey as Director of Ceremonies, assisted by very energetic committees, the event was a marked success.

The visiting lodges on arrival were escorted to the agricultural grounds by the Lyndhurst Brass Band, which discoursed fine music during the day.

Dinner was arranged in Agricultural Hall, and the feast of good things was served in a very efficient and pleasing way by a competent staff of waiters. Indeed, so well managed and orderly was this service that it brought forth favorable comment from many of the visitors.

Immediately after dinner, a procession was formed with the following lodges in line:—

No. 503— Somerville's Corners—Robert Scott, Master.

No. 226— Lyndhurst—L. Dougall, Master.

No. 183—Elgin — Charles Taylor, Master.

No. 144—Portland — H. E. Willis, Master.

No. 2—Oak Leaf—Bismark Green, Master.

No. 14—Seeley's Bay— Joseph Mc Alonan, Master.

No. 485—Ellisville — Stewart Willoughby, Master.

Lyndhurst brass band, the Gananoque fife and drum band, and the bands of the various lodges filled the air with music.

Mr. Richard Green was Chief Marshall, and he was ably assisted by a staff of outriders, all mounted upon handsomely comparisoned grey horses.

After the parade the lodges returned to the grounds and broke ranks in front of a platform that had been erected in the shade of a group of giant elms. On this platform there speedily assembled Rev. J. A. McDonald of Morton, Rev. E. W. Crane of Elgin, Rev. Thomas Meredith of Seeley's Bay, Rev. R. B. Patterson of Athens, Rev. W. Fitzgerald of Lyndhurst, Mr. Andrew Grey of Morton, Mr. A. W. Johnston of Charleston, and Mr. John R. Dargavel, M.P.P., and Mr. George Taylor, M. P.

Mr. Harvey, in a few well chosen words, introduced Mr. George Taylor as chairman. Mr. Taylor had been kept busy since arriving on the ground in meeting and greeting old friends, and it was evident that a warm personal friendship as well as a loyal political attachment existed between the member for South Leeds and very many in that large assemblage. As he took the programme in hand he was warmly welcomed, and his opening address and appropriate comments added much to the enjoyment of the meeting.

The gentlemen on the platform delivered brief addresses, moderate in tone, yet all well calculated to inspire the zeal of those whose mission it is to defend British civil and religious institutions from all forms of attack by the Roman Catholic Church. The speeches were interspersed with music by the bands.

While the proceedings outside were in progress, the ladies had been busy in the hall and the tables presented a very attractive appearance when supper was announced. Many enjoyed their evening meal there.

In the village streets as on the grounds good order prevailed all day, and there was absolutely nothing to mar the pleasure of the great throng of visitors.

While it is not yet incorporated, the unity and enterprise of the citizens of Lyndhurst exceed that of many larger centres, and lately the people have been considering the feasibility of building granolithic walks. The municipality of Rear Leeds and Lansdowne very generously encouraged their ambition in this respect by offering a special grant. It was in pursuance of this object that a highly successful dramatic performance was given last winter, and this end was also had in view when the decision was made to hold a 12th of July celebration.

Mr. Geo. Taylor, M. P., testified his practical sympathy with the enterprise of the villagers by giving $25 towards the sidewalk fund. He also donated $20 to the rectory fund of St. Luke's church.

Lyndhurst possesses a treasure in its beautiful agricultural grounds, and an annual picnic in aid of the sidewalk fund, whether under society auspices or purely village auspices, could easily be made a success.

Special Meeting

A special meeting of the public school board was held in the council chamber on Friday evening.

Miss Hattie Holmes of Frankville was engaged as principal's assistant during the model term.

Miss Roberta Ross tendered her resignation as teacher of the Kindergarten department, and it was accepted with expressions of regret by the board.

Fire at Frankville

A despatch of July 13th says: Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed all the valuable outbuildings of Mr. John Reynolds, who resides about three miles east of here, with all their contdnts, consisting of about 10 tons of hay and considerable machinery. It was caused by a boy six years of age, son of Charles Daly, playing with matches. Owing to so many people in the vicinity being away celebrating, it was impossible to save anything. Those who were there had hard work saving the dwelling, it having caught fire at different times.

The building was insured for $400 and the contents likewise for $400, both in the Patrons Mutual.

Fifty Against Two

It is not reasonable to expect two weeks of outing to overcome the effects of fifty weeks of confinement.

Take a bottle at Hood's Sarsaparilla along with you. Three doses, daily, of this great tonic will do more than anything else to refresh your blood, overcome your tired feeling, improve your appetite, and make your sleep easy and restful.
