NOVEL TREATMENT OF SCARLET FEVER.—An eminent physician of Washington City, Harvey Lindsly, has recommended the following treatment for scarlet fever, practised by Dr. Schnormann, Physicial to the King of Hanover, as contained in a recent number of the London Lancet:—

From the first day of the illness, and soon as we are certain of its nature, the patient must be rubbed morning and evening over the whole body with a piece of bacon, in such a manner that, with the exception of the head, a covering of fat is every where applied. In order to make this rubbing in somewhat easier, it is best to take a piece of bacon the size of the hand, choosing a part still armed with the rind, that we may have a firm grasp. On the soft side of this piece slits are to be made, in order to allow the oozing out of the fat. The rubbing must be thoroughly performed, and not too quickly, in order that the skin may be regularly saturated with the fat. The beneficial results of this application are soon obvious, with a rapidity bordering on magic, all, even the most painful symptoms of the disease are allayed; quiet, sleep, good humor, appetite return, and there remains only the impatience to quit the sick-room.—[Scientific American.]

The steamer City of Glasgow has arrived at Philadelphia, from Liverpool. She experienced very heavy weather, and lost one man overboard. Her cargo was very valuable.

OLD NICK AND THE FERRYMAN.—An occurrence, not less remarkable than awful, has recently been related to us, and for the perfect truth of which our informant is quite ready to vouch, although in this particular, as we are somewhat sceptical in such matters, we feel reluctant to offer our guarantee. However, for the benefit of such of our readers, who have a penchant for the sublime, or for that which is said to be seperated from it by a mere mathematical line—the ridiculous, we furnish to them the story, as it was lately told to us, and with a most mysterious air and solemn intonation of voice.

On New Year's eve last, the ferryman at a certain short ferry, not a hundred miles from the "Old Fort" at Carleton, just before retiring to his slumbers for the night, had the temerity to declare, "that if the Devil roused him up before morning, he would refuse to ferry him over"! This bouts Charon had hardly pillowed himself in the arms of morpheus, when he heard the sound of the horn, the usual signal on the opposite shore. At first he paid little heed to the warning notes, but as they grew louder and louder, and were blown without any intermission, he was induced to change his determination, and to cross over to the opposite side, and here—to quote the exact language of our informant—"he purceived an illegant lady standing on the opposite shore, and sis she—Mister ferryman, sure you're no man at all at all, to be afther raping a tinder faymale awaiting so long for yes, can you take me across the shtream? It's my purpose, maam, sis he. With that the faymale stepped into the wherry, which had hardly cleared the eddy, when she changed herself into a grate black biste of a dog. Sure the ferryman was awful-treckik. And when they got into the middle of the sthream, there was seen a great beggar man, where the dog should be, and when they came to the landin for to the fort, a real illegant gintleman was in the stern sheets of the cobbie. Sis he to the ferryman, would yes cross me forbye the yest? when he offers him goold, which the ferryman refused. Would yes take your fare for the crossin then sis he. I would not touch your goold sis the ferryman. With that the Divil for it was no other stepped on the shore, and sis he dont be after refusing agin to cross me, on a new year's eve, without the asking, or be dad you may come to throuble. And he then trotted off, and never stopped till a house in Carleton, but when he passed the auld fort the smell of brimstone disclosed his true karacter.

Alarms of fire have of late become of frequent occurrence, but fortunately most were "false," and the real ones have been promptly met.—Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock a fire broke out at "Best town," in one of Mr. Hatheway's houses, containing many families. Owing to the coldness of the weather, and scarcity of water in the immediate vicinity, the fire made considerable headway, but it was speedily extinguished by the "Volunteers," when water was procured from the Company's engine house, (about 400 yards distant) without entirely consuming the building.

Domestic Manufacture.—GARRETT & SKILLEN have determined to charge only Twenty Shillings for CANADA TOP COATS. Such low prices will have the effect of doing away with the imported slops that our city has been inundated with for the last 30 years. Dec. 27.

Wolf Cloth Top Coats.

THESE COATS are particularly adapted to this severe and changeable climate—not confining the perspiration and injuring the health, like the unhealthy India Rubber, which article they have entirely superseded, at less than half the cost.

FIFTY THOUSAND PERSONS,
Die annually in England of CONSUMPTION. In the New England States, the proportion is one in four or five. In Boston, probably, one in four. In the city of New York, sixty-seven died in two weeks in December of this disease. It is less prevalent in the more northern latitudes, as Russia, Canada, and among the Alps of Switzerland, where the winters are long and severe, and there are fewer sudden changes.

No theory can be more welcome to the human mind than the one which establishes on good grounds the hope for prolonged existence, if the allegations of those who are at least entitled to veracity may be believed, there is a preventative and a remedy.

The great Author of Nature has provided us with a remedy for Consumption, and the diseases leading thereto which are so fearfully common in our country! Has He left us to find relief from that fatal scourage by ransacking other lands? No, the best Nature's own Remedy, is at our hand.—The Wild Cherry and the Pine, furnish us with a cure, where a cure is possible.

One of the most important discoveries of the age, in amelioration the condition of this large class of suffering humanity, is

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

Which has been before the public some ten years, the valuable medicine was first discovered and introduced in the year 1838, since which time its fame has constantly increased the demand, until it has become one of, if not THE MOST POPULAR REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION, in its final stage, ever known.

THE great popularity the COMPOUND BONESET CANDY has obtained since its introduction to the Public about two years ago, has induced several persons (three of whom are known to the Proprietors) to issue a Candy made to look like and called by the same name as the true article, but in quality and composition differing from it in both.

The Subscribers would caution the public against such fraud as no person makes, or can make, the genuine except them, and further, the composition which they give the Confectioner to form into Candy is so prepared as to defy any attempt of Chemical analysis.
