A large number of members of Nictaux and North Kingston Granges were present, and the meeting was a most excellent one.

We will give next week a notice of the formation of another "Grange" at Paradise, and the list of officers—crowded out this week.

HAMPTON.—The school examination at this place was attended by your correspondent on the 2nd inst. Miss Poole, the teacher, is devoting much time and ability to forward the children under her charge. The proficiency shown in the several branches taught is a source of pleasure to the parents whose children attend. Here, as elsewhere in the County, the attendance is not what it ought to be, and in consequence a large amount of the County grant is lost. The rate-payers in the section ought to see that this state of things is detrimental to themselves, and endeavor to send their children more regularly. Miss Alice Dolton has been engaged for the winter term. On the 16th of last month the fish house of Mr. Chas. Peters was broken into, and oil to the amount of $5.00 taken. Three new houses are building, one by Chas. Hudson, one by John E. Farnsworth, and one by Alden Bent.—Com.

— The team robbers have been traced and captured at last. Two of them belong to Bear River; their names are Israel Rice, son of Asaph Rice, and Edward Crab. Crab is now in jail at Annapolis, awaiting his trial at the Supreme Court. Rice, after being taken, made his escape from the Constables. They acknowledged to breaking into the cellar of Mr. James Currell, near this town, and to the taking of Capt. John Charlton's horse and waggon at Port Williams, also the teams belonging to Cereno Purdy and Rev. Mr. Gray. The team belonging to Mr. Wallace Young was stolen by a boy 16 years of age named Crowell, which he drove to Lower Horton, and disposed of. He was captured and brought back to this town, where he underwent an examination before Justice James Gavaza, and was taken to Annapolis to await his trial.

DONATION VISIT.

Some time in August, the Rev. Mr. Warren assumed the pastorate of the Baptist Church in this town. His impressive evangelical teachings in the pulpit—the fervor and earnestness of his spirit in the devotional services of the Church—and his more private intercourse with the members of his increasing congregation, as he has visited from "from house to house," have won for him the favorable regards of the community generally. Meanwhile, the Baptist manse has undergone a thorough repair in the interior—and its exterior has also been re-painted, and otherwise improved in appearance. It is now a comfortable clerical domicile, with an aspect of modest elegance, both within and without. A few days ago, Mr. Warren and his amiable "better half" entered into the occupancy of this pleasant mansion. To give him and her a conventional welcome to the community, his friends have decided to give him a Donation visit on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday next—12th instant. Should the weather be propitious, we predict a large gathering.

Telegraphic News.

EUROPE.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A Constantinople despatch says that the rumor that the Porte had sent a note to the Powers complaining of a formation of armed bands in Bulgaria is at least premature. Such representations were made to Prince Labanoff, the Russian ambassador to Constantinople, but he denied positively the correctness of the assertion upon which the representations were founded.

The Porte has telegraphed to the Governor of Salonica to verify previous information.

The Times, in commenting on the denial of Labanoff, says, "we can understand it refers only to the complicity of Russia in the movement; the fact of the movement is beyond all doubt; not would it be easy in the present posture of affairs to exaggerate its importance. However it may have originated, its existence is a fact which England and Europe must take into account."

The Telegraph says that the machinations which threatened a fulfilment of European settlement are closely watched and will be thwarted by the resolute vigilance of Beaconsfield. The Government with the loyal support of France and Austria, and the approval of Germany, and the Treaty of Berlin will be sustained to the letter.

PESTH, Nov. 2.—Pesther Llyod says the British note protesting against Russian movements in Turkey was presented at St. Petersburg, October 24th. The note expressed the hope that Russia will soon be able to resume the withdrawal of her troops and that they will not pass the line which they now have re-occupied, as such a step would compel England to take precautions.

The Porte informed Mr. Layard that the proposed reforms will be introduced into one Province of Asia Minor, but the complete realization of the project will be postponed until the state of Turkish finances permitted.

France is expected to issue a note shortly advising diplomatic pressure in favor of Greece.

SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—It is rumored that the negotiations between Portugal and England in regard to the cession of Delagoa Bay, an inlet of the Indian ocean in South-eastern Africa, have been concluded and England pays £10,000 for it. The railway connecting the new port with Transvai will be begun at once.

THE FISHERY AWARD.

WHAT THE U. S. GOVERNMENT ALLEGES AGAINST IT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The full text of the letter of the Secretary of State to Mr. John Welch, Minister to England on the subject of the Halifax Award is published. The following is a summary of it: The Secretary says he must understand Lord Salisbury's notes, accompanying the copy of Captain Sullivan's report, which he communicates to this Government, as adopting that naval officer's conclusion of facts respecting the violent injuries which our fishing fleet suffered at the hands of the Newfoundland fishing population at Fortune Bay in January of this year, as an answer which Her Majesty's Government makes to representations laid before it on our part, verified by sworn statements of witnesses. "His Lordship has not placed in our possession proofs or depositions which from the basis of Captain Sullivan's conclusions of fact, and I am unable, therefore, to accept Captain Sullivan's judgment, upon undisclosed evidence, as possessing judicial weight. Should Her Majesty's Government place a copy of the evidence on which Captain Sullivan bases his report in your hands you will lose no time in transmitting it for consideration." The Secretary then recited the provisions of the local laws, which Capt. Sullivan claimed the American fishermen were violating, and which led to their expulsion by the population, and says he will not at present consider the difference between the judicial investigation of this violation of local law and the use of mob force. "It is no part of my present purpose to point out that this alleged infraction of reserved rights of the local fishermen does not justify methods of correction or redress used to drive off our fishermen. This may be reserved also for discussion when both Governments have fuller knowledge of the actual circumstances of the transaction. In Lord Salibury's letter this Government cannot fail to see a necessary implication that Her Majesty's Government conceives that in the prosecution of the right of fishing according to the United States by treaty, our fishermen are subject to local regulations which govern the coast population of Newfoundland, in the prosecution of their fishing industry whether enacted by or since the treaty of Washington. The three particulars in which our fishermen are supposed to be constrained by actual legislation of the province, cover in principle every degree of the regulation of our fishing industry within the three mile line which can or will be conceived; but they are in themselves so important that only so serious a limitation of the rights secured by the treaty, is practically to exclude our fishermen from any profitable pursuit of the right, which, I need not add is equivalent to the annulling or cancelling by the Provincial Government of the privilege accorded by treaty with the British Government. If our fishing fleet is subject to the Sunday laws of Newfoundland it is excluded from the fishing grounds for half a year, from October to April. If our seines are subject to the regulations of the Legislature of Newfoundland it is not easy to see what firm or valuable measure for the privilege of article 18, as conceded to the United States, this Government can promise its citizens under the guarantee of the treaty. It would not, under any circumstances, be admissable for one Government to subject tne interests of its fishermen to the unregulated regulation of another Government upon the suggestion that such authority will not be oppressively or capriciously exercised, nor would any Government accept as an adequate guarantee of the proper exercise of such authority over its citizens by a foreign Government that presumptively regulations would be uniform in their operation upon the subjects of both governments in a similar case. If there are to be regulations of common enjoyment they must be authenticated by common or joint authority. But most manifestly the subject of regulation of enjoyment of shore fishery by the resident provincial population, and of the inshore fishery by our fleet of fishing cruisers does not tolerate the control of so divergent and competing interests by the domestic legislation of the Provinces. You will therefore say to Lord Salisbury that this Government conceives that the fishery rights of the United States, conceded by the treaty of Washington, are to be exercised wholly free from the restraints and regulations of the statutes of Newfoundlaud, now set up as an authority over our fishermen, and from any other regulations of fishing now in force, or that may hereafter be enacted by that Government. It may be said that just participation in this common fishery require regulation by some competent authority. This may be conceded, but should such an occasion present itself to the common appreciation of the two Governments it need not be said that such competent authority can only be found in a joint convention that shall receive the approval of Her Majesty's Government and our own. Until this arrangement be consummated, this Government must regard the pretension that the Legislature of Newfoundland can regulate our fishermen's enjoyment of treaty rights as striking as the treaty itself."

FAMINE AND DISEASE IN BRAZIL.

As the inhabitants of infected Southerd cities are longing for the coming of healing frosts, so the people of Brazil, stricken by drought, famine, and pestilence are eagerly looking for January to bring life-giving rains. In the north-eastern part of Brazil a section of country variously estimated at from 13,000 to 20,060 square leagues has been the scene of a wide-spread drought ever since the month of July, 1876. This afflicted territory may be designated in a general way as extending from Cape St. Roque westward along the coast to Maranhao, southward nearly to Bahia, and into the interior about nine hundred miles. With the exception of some seaport towns and places within easy communication of them, all this immense district is filled with disease and death. The population, estimated at over 2,000,000, are devoted to peaceful agricultural pursuit. The rainy season begins in January, and lasts usually until July, when the dry season begins. During the wet season vegetation is luxuriant; but there are periodical droughts, and the people are improvident, and have never learned to look forward to emergencies. Within the last one hundred years there have been seven fatal droughts in this province, but none has been so extended and severe as the present. The Brazilian government has done much to relieve the distress of the people, but no possible measures have been adequate. Yellow fever and other fatal epidemics have followed them in the path of famine. The mortality has been frightful. The whole country is represented as one vast pest-house. The poor people have fled from surrounding horrors as fast as their weakened condition and means of transportation admitted. Neighboring cities are crowded with refugees. But, herded together as they necessarily are, living in open squares and scantily sheltered fields, they are reduced to the most deplorable physical and moral condition. With all possible mitigations from the hand of charity, the suffering must continue yet for months. But the miserable people look to the coming January with earnert hopes for the rains, which will, as with magical touch, start vegetation in dry and barren places.—Harper's Bazar.

A GOLD MINE IN NEW YORK CITY.

When the Appleton building in Bond street was burned last year, the watches, jewellery, and silverware destroyed amounted to about a million dollars. The ruins were carefully worked over by the insurance companies, and all the larger masses of metal were taken out. Then the owners of the property subjected what was left to a thorough washing and secured a handsome sum for their labor. For months after a number of juvenile miners worked at the rubbish, and one enterprising little fellow, it is said, secured enough to set himself up in business, with a stand and newspaper route. Last spring the attention of two Western miners was attracted to the "mine," and after testing a bag of the dirt made a liberal bid for the privilege of working over the refuse scientifically. The offer was accepted, and for the next two or three months their operations afforded much entertainment if not instruction to crowds of curious spectators. A real working gold mine in the heart of a great city was something of a novelty. The miners, Messrs. Pier and Roberts, have finished their work at last, and declare that the "find" was one of the richest they ever worked; that they secured over $60,000 worth of precious metal, clearing some $20,000 above expenses and the cost of their privilege. The average yield was over $1,000 a day, one day's work bringing $1,700.

— The use of postage stamps may be estimated, from the statement that Messrs. Perking & Bacon, the London stamp printers, turn out 15,000 sheets of penny-stamps every day, besides half-penny stamps; or in all about 1,400,000,00 stamps every year. In stating the stupendous number, we are, however, inside the mark and make no allowance for stamps of higher value.

— Intelligence from Whydah, west coast of Africa, to Sept, 26th, states that the Portugese commandant and seven soldiers are held captive by the King of Dahomey, who makes them parade before him daily. The King has recommenced the custom of human sacrifices. 500 persons were slaughtered in one month.

— A salmon will glide over 86,400 feet in an hour, and it could easily make a tour of the world in a few weeks.

The Ladies' Favorite.

Among the many thousands of ladies who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and pronounced it their favorite remedy, because so efficient in the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, are many who are well and favorably known in the world of letters, as well as artists, musicians, and a whole host of names from the brilliant ranks of wealth and fashion. It is pre-eminently the Ladies' Favorite Prescription, its use, while being far more safe and efficient, exempting them from those painful, caustic operations, and the wearing of those mechanical contrivances made like Peter Findar's razors—seller's razors—to sell, rather than to cure.

INVALIDS, do you wish to gather flesh, to acquire an appetite, to enjoy a regular habit of body, to obtain refreshing sleep, to feel and know that every fibre and tissue of your system is being braced and renovated? If so, commence at once and use the Quinine Wine prepared by Northrop & Lyman of Toronto, and in a short time you will feel the whole system invigorated and strengthened. It is a well-known fact that Quinine has been acknowledged by the medical faculty for many years as the best appetizer and tonic known. And for general debility, this combination will be found superior to all other preparations. And combined as it is with fine sherry wine and choice aromatics, it is made an agreeable and pleasant invigorator to the whole system. The properties of Quinine are a febrifuge tonic and antiperiodic. Small doses, frequently repeated, strengthen the pulse, increase muscular force, and invigorate the tone of the nervous system. The peculiar operation of this medicine in in general debility and as an appetizer, has undergone long and close observation, and it is believed it will never fail, if properly and judiciously administered, unless other diseases predominate of a different character. Persons of weak constitution may take it without the least difficulty, as it strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, but seldom require more than one or two bottles to effect a decided benefit, as it contains nothing injurious to the most delicate constitution. Remember to ask for the "Quinine Wine prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto," and we are sure you will be satisfied that you have full value for your money.

A Remarkable Result.

It makes no difference how many physicians, or how much medicine you have tried, it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in severe cases of Lung Diseases. It is true there are yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to Throat and Lung Affections, Consumption, Hemmorrages, Asthma, Severe Colds settled on the breast, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough, etc, who have no personal knowledge of Boschee's German Syrup. To such we would say that 50,000 dozen were sold last year without one complaint. Consumptives try just one bottle. Regular size 75 cents Sold by all druggists in America.

DRIVING OVER A ROUGH ROAD last winter one of my horses became suddenly very lame—a bad sprain of the right ankle. Applied all the remedies I knew of and those suggested by horsemen, without any benefit. The horse was entirely useless for two months, and thought him permanently disabled. Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia took away the lameness and restored him.
