Scrofula in the Neck

The following is from Mrs. J. W. Tillbrook, wife of the Mayor of McKeesport, Penn.:

Willie Tillbrook.

"My little boy Willie, now six years old, two years ago had a bunch under one ear which the doctor said was Scrofula. As it continued to grow he finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until the sore healed up. Last winter it broke out again, followed by Erysipelas. We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with most excellent results and he has had no further trouble. His cure is due to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

He has never been very robust, but now seems healthy and daily growing stronger."

THE TURF.

NANCY HANKS TO MAUD S.

You've had your dazzling day, my dear,
O Maud, you bonniest girl of Bonner,
But still I pass you with a tear,
Indeed I do, upon my honor;
I'm first at last, but to the end
I'll ever be your fast, fast friend!

You wish me joy? A thousand thanks,
Sweet Maud, the turf's world-famous daughter,
You have the heart of Nancy Hanks—
The time? 2:07 and ¼:
I'm sure that you will not be miffed
On finding I am rather swift?

Henceforth in every equine set
The queen of queens will I be reckoned,
And yet—don't answer neigh—and yet
You are an unexampled second;
Cheer up, 'twould vex me sore indeed
To learn that you were off your feed.

"Calm is the only joy" 'tis writ,
The line for me has no attraction;
I love to get me up and git,
I find supremest joy in action—
The time? As I remarked before,
2:07 and a trifle more.

"Time flies"—you've heard the proverb, dear?
But after this I rather fancy
You will not tempus fugit hear,
But always simply, fugit Nancy—
I'm sure you'll think me vain and silly,
A feather-headed little filly.

I'd scorn to boast, of course you know,
But naught my well-earned rapture hinders—
O Maud, if you had seen me go
And smash that record all to flinders!
The time? As I remarked before,
2:07 and a trifle more.

P. S.—
One point I quite forgot, my dear—
I really hope I do not bore you—
And that's a point 'tis very clear
I must in fairness lay before you;
I made that matchless burst of speed
(You never saw such splendid action!)
In—so the judges all agreed—
2:07 and a tiny fraction.

LONDON RACES.

The London Turf Association summer meeting is certainly a success as far as good sport is concerned. Yesterday was the opening day, and three well-contested events were on the list. The free-for-all was probably the best race ever held on Queen's Park track. Some of the fastest horses in Canada were the contestants, and the four heats already trotted were intensely exciting. Up to that day the fastest mile ever trotted or paced on this track was in 2:26½. Yesterday both Sorrel George and Florence G. lowered that record, the former by 1¼ seconds and the latter by 2¼ seconds. The 2:35 and three-minute classes for trotters were both hotly contested. Six heats were trotted in the latter before the judges could award the money. Only one accident happened, and in that neither driver nor horse was injured. The crowd was not as large as it should have been. It was ladies' day, and the members of the fair sex were well represented. The pool-seller and the Cavalry band were there. Two or three pneumatic sulkies were on the track, and apparently work well. They are claimed to be faster than the ordinary sulkies and also to be easier on the horses. It is clearly to be seen that they do not swerve on the track when turning corners. The wheels resemble those of a pneumatic bicycle in every particular. Some of the sulkies are higher in the seat than others. These are the first of the kind that have ever been on this track and they are worth seeing. This afternoon the races will commence at 1:30 sharp, and good sport is assured. Some of the fastest horses in the country will be on the track. R. J. Wheeler, of Toledo, Ohio, is starter, and J. Anderson, of Seaforth, and — Moore, of St. Thomas, are the judges.

THE THREE-MINUTE TROT.

In this race there were ten entries—Major Eddy, Jennie Leotard, Ida Brock, Maggie C., Billy Weir, Forest Girl, Tilly Wilkes, Jim Douglas and Pat. Jennie was scratched.

As usual a good deal of difficulty was experienced in getting a start. The starter, R. F. Wheeler, warned the drivers that anyone being ahead of the pole horse would be taxed $25. More care was taken after that warning had been given. Forest Girl got a good lead at the first, but was passed by Ida Brock on the home stretch. Forest Girl was a good second and Maggie C. a good third. The other horses came up fairly well, but were not in the heat to any extent. Jim Douglas was fourth, Billy Weir fifth, Major Eddy sixth, Leotard seventh, Tilly Wilkes eighth and Pat ninth. Time, 2:37½.

In the second heat the horses were all in a bunch at the half. Ida Brock won the heat, Maggie C. second, Jim Douglas third, Billy Weir fourth, Forest Girl five, Leotard sixth, Major Eddy seventh, Tilly Wilkes eighth, Pat ninth. Time, 2:38.

In the third heat Charles Ray was not allowed to drive Maggie C., and Mel Odell took his place. Ray was supposed to be holding the mare in. Ida Brock took the lead from the start, but at the half-mile Maggie C. was neck-and-neck with her. Maggie broke at the three-quarter pole and fell away behind, coming under the wire at a gallop. The mare's owner claimed that the change of drivers caused the loss of the heat to him. Ida Brock was first, Jim Douglas second, Billy Weir third, Forest Girl fourth, Major Eddy fifth, Maggie C. sixth, Tilly Wilkes seventh, Leotard eighth and Pat ninth. The race and first money were awarded to Ida Brock, second to Jim Douglas and third to Maggie C.

THE 2:35 TROT.

The entries in this event were Pete Curran, Chestnut Hill, jun., Tommy R., Brinker Sprague, Bob Rysdyck, Daisy S., Patsy D., Strogoff, Prince and Tom Burke. Tom Burke and Prince were scratched. Barney Barnes, of St. Thomas, was driving Pete Curran. Brinker Sprague was contrary and broke in each heat when scoring.

In the first heat Tommy R. was first at the half and Strogoff a good second. They retained these positions until the finish. The others came up in a bunch. Bob Rysdyck third, Patsy D. fourth, Daisy S. fifth, Pete Curran sixth, Chestnut Hill, jun., seventh and Brinker Sprague eighth. Time, 2:32.

In the second heat Tommy R. took the lead from the first with Strogoff close behind. The latter broke at the quarter pole, but retained second place until on the home stretch, when he broke again and was passed by Bob Rysdyck. Strogoff was a good third. Pete Curran was fourth, Patsy D. fifth, Prince sixth, Chestnut Hill, jun., seventh, and Brinker Sprague eighth. Time, 2:35¼.

In the third heat there was quite a change. Bob Rysdyck had a good lead until he reached the 100 yard pole, when he broke. His driver claimed that the flag man scared the horse. The flag man blamed the break on a couple of women who stepped out from behind a tree. The judges set the horse back to second place and awarded Pete Curran first, Strogoff third, Patsy D. fourth, Tommy R. fifth, Brinker Sprague sixth, Prince seventh and Chestnut Hill eighth. Time, 2:34¼.

The fourth heat was a succession of breaks. Pete Curran took the lead from the first, but broke and was passed by Strogoff, who was close behind. They both broke, and Brinker Sprague pulled up even with Strogoff. Strogoff gained and held the lead until the finish. Brinker Sprague was second, Patsy D. third, Tommy R. fourth, Chestnut Hill, jun., fifth, Pete Curran sixth and Prince seventh. Time, 2:38.

The fifth heat was characterized by the first accident of the day. Pete Curran's sulky collided with another, and collapsed about 100 yards from the wire. The driver bravely held to the horse until he stopped him. Strogoff held the lead until on the home stretch, when he broke and Bob Rysdyck passed him. Bob was a good second. Tommy R. was third, Prince fourth, Brinker Sprague fifth, Patsy D. sixth, Chestnut Hill, jun., seventh and Pete Curran eighth. Time, 2:32½.

Pete Curran, Bob Rysdyck, Tommy R. and Strogoff were the only starters in the sixth heat. At the end of the first half Tommy R was ahead, followed closely by Bob Rysdyck, Pete Curran and Strogoff in the order named. Tommy R. finished first, Bob Rysdyck second, Strogoff third and Pete Curran fourth. First money was awarded to Tommy R., second to Bob Rysdyck and third to Strogoff.

FREE-FOR-ALL TROT AND PACE.

There were seven entries for this, race Sorrel George, Subscriber, Corncracker, Mechanic Girl, Prince M., Lochinvar and Florence G. Mechanic Girl was scratched. Sorrel George and Florence G. were driven in pneumatic sulkies. Corncracker drew the pole.

The first heat was an exciting one. Florence G. and Sorrel George broke on the start, and the former fell back to last place, where she remained until nearing the home stretch, when she pulled up and finished a good second. Lochinvar was first and Corncracker a good third. Sorrel George pulled up to second place at the three-quarter pole, but broke and finished fourth. Prince M. was fifth and Subscriber last. The first three horses were close together, and were going at full speed, as was also Sorrel George. The last two were almost walking. Time, 2:25¼.

In the second heat Sorrel George took the lead and kept it to the end. Prince M. made a push for second place, but broke and was passed by Florence G., who finished a good second. Corncracker was third, Lochinvar fourth, Subscriber fifth, and Prince M. last. The judges awarded Florence B. first, Corncracker second, Lochinvar third, Subscriber fourth, Prince M. fifth, and Sorrel George sixth. Time, 2:24¼.

After the horses got away in the third heat Florence G. and Sorrel George broke, and although the former had the lead she fell to last place and George to second last. Prince M. was well up until after the three-quarters pole had been passed, when he broke and fell behind. Lochinvar held the race, with Subscriber a good second. Corncracker was third, Prince M. fourth. Sorrel George fifth and Florence G. sixth. Time, 2:27.

Sorrel George broke in the second half of the fourth heat, and fell behind. At the half-mile Subscriber was first, Lochinvar second, and Sorrel George third. Prince M. won the heat, Lochinvar second, Subscriber third, Corncracker fourth, Sorrel George fifth, and Florence G. last. Time, 2:29.

TIPS.

His first trainer, G. W. Langs, of Simcoe, drove Alvin to his record of 2:13¼ at Chicago on Saturday, and the horse started in the name of Mr. Alvin D. Merrill, of Tilsonburg.

BASEBALL.

THE ALERTS' SIDE OF THE STORY.

The Alerts returned last night from Tilsonburg, where they were defeated by the Blues—and no wonder. The home team had gathered together all the professionals they could lay hands on, including Andrus, the well-known outfielder in the old International League. Pete Wood was put in the box. Up to the fifth inning the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the Blues. Unluckily Quinn, the Alerts' catcher, split his finger and was unable to hold the ball, letting in a lot of runs. Johnson replaced him and did creditable work. Hiscott was not touched up to any great extent. The Blues play in this city Saturday, and the Alerts will do their best to turn the tables.

	R.	H.	E.
Blues	17	19	6
Alerts	5	8	15

Batteries—Wood and Anderson; Hiscott, Quinn and Johnson. Umpires — Harris and Dunn.

The features of the game were the base running of Andrus, the battery work of Wood and Anderson and the way the Blues pasted the ball. Wood struck out ten men.

ATHLETICS.

JOHN L. ATTENDS MASS AND DROPS $50 ON THE PLATE.

CANOE PLACE INN, Aug. 23.—John L. Sullivan took it comparatively easy Sunday. He covered only ten miles and failed to punch the bag or skip the rope. In the morning he attended mass at St. Ann's Catholic Church at Southampton. Father Geiron, the pastor, made an appeal to the congregation for funds for the maintenance of the church. Sullivan put a $50-note on the plate. The champion was neatly dressed in a black cutaway coat, light trousers, and derby hat.

SOUND CANADIANISM.

St. Jean Baptiste's Celebration at Quebec.

Pointed and Pertinent Remarks by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier.

QUEBEC, Aug. 23.—The 50th anniversary of the St. Jean Baptist Society yesterday came off successfully. The demonstration was of an imposing nature. As an early hour crowds of people came pouring in from the surrounding parishes, and soon their numbers, added to the 20,000 strangers already arrived, made the crowds in the principal streets so dense that circulation was difficult and almost impossible in many places. The procession, which was the most popular features of the fete, marched through gaily decorated streets and took an hour and ten minutes to march past.

The principal event of the day was the banquet which took place in the evening at Jacques Cartier Hall. About 500 people attended. The hall was decorated with tricolor draperies, British and American flags. A number of toasts were proposed and responded to, but the enthusiasm reached its highest pitch when Mr. Laurier stepped forward to respond to the toast of "The Parliament of Canada." The whole audience rose to greet him, and it was some moments before he could make himself heard. Mr. Laurier spoke about twenty minutes, and his words and his advice will never be forgotten by those who heard them. Responding to the toast, he regretted to have to say that the health of the Parliament of Canada was not by any means as good as could be wished. Its complexion was unnatural, being rather blue than red. Hercules, exhausted, recovered his strength and vigor each time he touched the earth, but each time the Parliament of Canada came in contact with the people, it seemed to become bluer still. (Laughter.) Seriously, however, he was convinced that in spite of many faults and weaknesses, the Parliament of Canada would be faithful in its mission, which was the granting of equal protection and equal rights to Canadians of all creeds and nationalities. How was the French-Canadian branch of the Canadian people to contribute to this end? In the past might be found a guide for the future. Fifty years ago one celebrated Canadian disappeared from public life, and another took his place. Papineau counseled isolation to French-Canadians. Lafontaine believed that the duty of French-Canadians was to associate and mix with their English-speaking compatriots and become Canadians in the broadest sense of the word. He believed in the doctrine of Lafontaine. Its splendid results were everywhere apparent. Being of French origin, they must cherish the ideas and traditions of the mother country, and those ideas and traditions were not out of place under the broad and tolerant flag of Old England. The duty of French-Canadians was to enter into the spirit of modern civilization. They must learn to exercise the modern arts and industries, and in this respect he must confess that French-Canadians were behindhand. They had emigrated beyond the frontier and learned to work for others. It was high time that they should learn to work for themselves. It was at this price that they might hope to be worthy of the traditions of the great nation from which they were descended, and of the Canadian people of whom they formed no inconsiderable portion. This speech was frequently interrupted by enthusiastic applause.

MARRIED IN A MINUTE.

A New Jersey Magistrate Breaks the Wedding Record.

NEWARK, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Justice of the Peace Pessara, of Newark, is entitled the distinction of having performed perhaps the briefest marriage ceremony on record. Perhaps its brevity was owing to the fact that he could expect and receive no fee. The justice is the leader in Newark's Italian colony.

Robert Perry, who opened another man's letter without any authority to do so is spending his vacation in the Essex county jail for that little slip. But while all the world has seemed dark to him, Lizzie Heyer's heart has proved true to him.

It doesn't matter that Lizzie is fat and fair, and of course short. And it isn't anybody's business, either, that Lizzie's description is further enhanced by the fact that she is 40 years old. She wanted to be married, and married she is.

Accompanied by Justice Pessara, Lizzie drove out to the jail a day or two ago. Prisoner Perry was called out of his cell and the ceremony began.

"You shake the hand," said the justice.

"You taka each other for life?"

"You taka him?"

"You taka her?"

The groom's wedding suit was an under shirt and trousers. No ring was used, and after Lizzie had kissed him fervently he was led back to the cell.

MUSKEGON, MICH., Aug. 15, 1892.

C. A. McBride, M.D., Medical Superintendent, Gold Cure Institute, Grimsby, Ont.:

Dear Friend,—I am here, as you see, visiting my nephew over Sunday. Well, I am still on the rock firmly, and what surprises me most is that I have been thrown in the way of the stuff every day since coming to Detroit, and can truly say I have not in one instance felt anything but a perfect disgust for the vileness of all vile things—liquor. If you did not know the workings of the Gold Cure you would hardly credit my statement, knowing as you do what I was on my first appearance in Grimsby.

It is a great blessing to poor unfortunates addicted to the drink habit, that through Providence and Dr. Kelley they are enabled to again appear as men in their right minds, take their places in the busy world of business, making themselves and all depending on them perfectly happy.

There are many things that make Grimsby the proper place for the institute. The citizens in and around the beautiful village seem to vie with each other in making the patients feel at home while there, and the result is they carry to their respective homes remembrances of the place that cannot be effaced.

As regards myself, I left many warm friends there, among the foremost being Mr. Sam Anderson and Grandpa and Grandma Randall. Their kindness to me is something I can never forget. I wish to be kindly remembered to all who knew me in the institute; and to all who are patients in your care please say I feel for them as for those who were with me. I cannot on paper tell you how thankful I am that I passed through your noble institution. I hope the good work will go on until you can show thousands of names of those who have been saved by this most wonderful of all treatments.

In conclusion let me say the kindness of yourself and staff is something that can never be forgotten by me. Wishing you success in your noble efforts to save humanity, I remain, gratefully yours,

TORONTO TIDINGS.

Another Boyes Advertisement Case—Anti-Masonic Lecture—The Salvation Army Schism.

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—W. D. Vanderburgh, a Tecterville hotelkeeper, was arrested in Brantford to-day and brought to Toronto to be tried with Kelly on the charge of defrauding a student of Toronto in connection with the advertisement for a school teacher, for which Crysler was convicted a couple of weeks ago at Simcoe.

Rev. Mr. Stoddard, of Boston, delivered an anti-Masonic lecture to-night before about two dozen persons. He met a most chilly reception.

The breach in the Salvation Army is daily growing wider, and the chances of settlement are more and more problematical. A few of the officers have expressed penitence, and returned, but the rank and file appear to be coming out on the revolter's side.

SHE DID IT WITH AN AXE

Probable Fatal Result of a Drunken Row—A Wife's Deadly Deed.

QUEBEC, Aug. 23.—An unfortunate affair took place last evening in Little Richmond street, in which it is feared a young man may lose his life. Daniel Sheehan, aged 23, a laborer, fought with a man named Fontaine while both were under the influence of liquor. Sheehan was arrested and was out on bail, when Fontaine met him and renewed the row of the morning. Both men fought desperately near the house of Fontaine, whose wife, seeing her husband getting worsted, attacked Sheehan with an axe, inflicting two dangerous wounds on his head and others on his shoulders. The wounded man was conveyed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, where he lies in a critical condition. Judge Murray will this afternoon take his ante-mortem deposition. Fontaine and his wife are under arrest. The prisoners have five children.

TO PHOTOGRAPH CHINESE

The U. S. Internal Revenue Department Has Charge of the Government Kodak and the Register.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The Internal Revenue Bureau in a few days from now will enter upon its first experience in registering and photographing all the Chinese residents in this country. Commencing on Sept. 1 every Chinese in the United States, except the retinue of the Diplomatic Corps and a few recognized merchants, is required to make an application for a residence certificate to the nearest internal revenue collector, describing himself, his age and occupation, and proving his identity by presenting and filing three proof-sheet photographs of his face.

His statements of facts is to be supported by the affidavits of two creditable witnesses, and upon approval of this application the collector is authorized to issue him a certificate entitling him to continue to reside in this country. Any Chinaman who fails to provide himself with such a certificate of residence between now and May 5 next, is liable to deportation back to China.

There are 107,000 Chinese in the United States. Over 70,000 of these are in California and 9,000 in Oregon, and there the brunt of the enforcement of the Exclusion Act will fall. But there are nearly 3,000 in New York, over 1,100 in Pennsylvania and nearly 1,000 in Massachusetts, besides 700 in Chicago and nearly 500 in St. Louis.

The obligations of the law are discretionary with the Chinese. If they don't choose to get themselves photographed, and to make their applications within the time prescribed, the revenue officials have no power to compel them. The only penalty is deportation.

The anticipations of difficulty entertained by the inland revenue officials seem to be borne out by the fact that of the $100,000 appropriated in the Sundry Civil Bill to carry out the law only $30,000 has been allotted by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Inland Revenue Bureau to provide the necessary deputies to execute the law, while $70,000 has been retained by the Treasury Department and the Department of Justice to meet the cost of deporting the recalcitrants.

WHISKY WRECKED HIM!

Sad Life-History of One of Washington's Most Talented and Popular Young Men.

To-night a middle-aged man bounded into the Journal editorial rooms shouting: "I've been robbed; robbed of my shoes and of my watch and $250. There were a dozen of them, all thugs. I was with one; he signaled to the others. I knocked them down, fought like a tiger—as royal Bengal tiger. I knocked six or seven down, but they overpowered me and tried to brain me."

Then he told the way that he had gone to the old cemetery to lay flowers upon the grave of his mother, when the assault was made, and after a desperate resistance to the thugs who wanted to silence him effectually he crawled away and escaped. He was at once recognized as John W. Ray, with the saddest of life history. He is the son of James Brown Ray, thrice Governor of Indiana, filling out the unexpired term of William Hendricks in 1825, and twice elected Governor thereafter.

Gov. Ray died while John W. Ray was still a child. The latter was adopted by one of the leading families of this city. He was educated with great care, graduating with distinction at Harvard. He was Governor Morton's private secretary when Morton was in the Senate, and for ten years he ranked as one of the most popular young men in Washington. While at Washington he was betrothed to the daughter of a Cabinet Minister, but whisky wrecked him. He couldn't stand the pace, and the lady cast him adrift. He continued on the down grade under full steam until friends and money were all gone, and eventually he went to type-setting, having learned the art in his youth. The one passion of his life is love for his angel mother, and whenever money comes to him it is a question with him whether it shall be spent for flowers to decorate her grave or to drink.

Yesterday he came here from Chicago. It is barely possible he was assaulted at the cemetery, but there is little probability that he had anything of which to be robbed. When sober he is a most accomplished and refined gentleman — when drunk, the veriest of tramps. He is a distant relative of Col. John W. Ray, the well-known banker.—[Indianapolis correspondent Cincinnati Inquirer.

Scott Act Repealed.

DRUMMONDVILLE, Ont., Aug. 23.—With one poll to hear from the majority in favor of the repeal of the Scott Act is 284. The temperance people will endeavor to have the election voided on the ground of irregularities in the holding of the election. The Scott Act has been in force in Drummond since 1885, when it was carried by a majority of over 1,000. An attempt to secure its repeal three years ago was defeated at the polls by a majority up in the hundreds.

Natchez May Be an Inland Town.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23.—River men say that Natchez, Miss., is threatened with a serious danger. The recent high water cut a new channel across the peninsula two or three miles from Natchez, and the water is still pouring through. If the cut off should prove permanent the river will empty into the lower outlet of Lake Concordia, in which case it would probably cut through back of Vidalia, Ark., leaving Natchez miles from the river. There is great alarm at Natchez, and the citizens are clamorous for work to begin to save the river to the town.
