FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Saturday, Oct. 15.

Probably the most interesting social event of the week was Stetson Day, celebrated at the Golf Club on Thursday afternoon. As usual, society turned out in force to witness the distribution of prizes, The president, Dr. Magee, Chief Justice Barker, Mr. Herbert Schofield and Mrs. George F. Smith presented the trophies, at the same time making appropriate and witty speeches to the recipients, who, in their turn, were loudly applauded. Especially was this so in the case of Mr. Sprague and Miss Mabel Thomson, the former having captured many of the most coveted rewards. Miss Thomson's admirers were delighted that she was able to be present, after her recent indisposition, to receive the championship medal.

In the absence of the secretary, Miss Sidney Smith, Mrs. Harold C. Schofield assisted the committee in awarding the prizes. Mrs. Stetson and Mrs. George F. Smith presided at the tea table, which was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers. Assisting them with the refreshments were several members of the club.

The week has been conspicuously gay for the younger matrons and the unmarried set. In anticipation of the wedding next week, which takes place in Stone church, of Miss Leslie Smith and Mr. Allan Magee, innumerable functions have been given, at which the bride elect and her bridesmaids were guests of honor. On Monday evening a dinner was given at the Pokiok club house for Miss Smith, at which were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Easson, Miss Leslie Smith, Miss Gertrude Westbrook, of Ogdensburg (N. Y.), Miss Mary L. Harrison, Miss Mary Warner, Miss MacMillan, Mr. Alexander MacMillan, Mr. James G. Harrison, Mr. Cyrus Inches.

On Tuesday evening the Misses Symonds, Peters street, entertained informally at bridge for Mrs. J. R. Harrison and Miss Leslie Smith.

Wednesday, at the Golf Club, Miss Warner gave a charmingly appointed luncheon for Miss Smith. The table was centred with quantities of white flowers, including bride roses. The place cards were in the form of tiny sunshades, symbolic of a bright and happy life. At the conclusion of luncheon a traveling bag was presented to Miss Smith, containing many choice souvenirs suitable for a journey. The guests included Miss Smith, Miss Westbrook, Miss Mary L. Harrison, Mrs. Charles Coster, Mrs. Guy Robinson, Mrs. H. Beverly Robinson, Mrs. Royden Thomson, Mrs. Will Angus, Miss MacMillan, Miss Winifred Barker, Miss Frances Stetson.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Stetson entertained at tea at her residence, Mount Pleasant, for Miss Smith and bridesmaids. Mrs. Herbert Schofield presided at the tea table placed in the dining room, and was assisted by Miss Winifred Barker, Miss Katie Hazen, Miss Madeline DeSoyres, Miss Ena MacLaren, Miss Mabel Thomson. Among those present were Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mrs. H. Beverly Robinson, Mrs. Harold C. Schofield, Mrs. Silas Alward, Mrs. W. Henry Harrison, Mrs. Guy Robinson, Mrs. Will Angus, Mrs. Fred Foster, Mrs. Alexander Fowler, Mrs. Mahon, Miss MacMillan, Miss Barnaby, Miss Edna Austin, Miss Mary Trueman, Miss Laura Hazen, Miss Clara Schofield, Miss Bertie Hegan, Miss Portia McKenzie, Miss Grace Fisher, Miss Elizabeth Millar, Miss Jenett, the Misses Muriel and Madge Robertson, Rothesay, Miss Westbrook, Miss Mary L. Mrs. Royden Thomson, Germain street, on Wednesday evening, was hostess at a bridge of seven tables for Miss Leslie Smith. The prize winners were Mrs. H. Beverly Robinson, Miss Mary Warner, Mr. James G. Harrison and Mr. Leonard Tilley. A delicious supper was served at midnight, the table being beautifully decorated with white flowers. The function, which included ladies and gentlemen, was most enjoyable. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Schofield, Mr. and and Mrs. H. Beverly Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harrison, Mrs. Guy Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Mahon, Miss Westbrook, Miss Mary L. Harrison, Miss Mary Warner, Miss MacMillan, Miss Katie Hazen, Miss Nan Barnaby, Miss Mary Trueman, Mr. Simeon Jones, Mr. Alex. MacMillan, Mr. Cyrus Inches, Mr. Heber Vroom, Mr. Hugh McKay, Mr. Ryder, Mr. Colin McKay, Mr. Harold Crookshank, Mr. Fen Fraser.

Mrs. W. Hazen Barnaby and Miss Barnaby gave a delightful bridge of seven tables at their residence, in Princess street, yesterday afternoon for Miss Leslie Smith. The score cards were in the form of hearts. In the dining room the beautifully appointed table had as centre piece scarlet geraniums, shaped in the form of a heart. The confections were all appropriate to the occasion. The guests included Miss Smith, Mrs. Guy Robinson, Miss Westbrook, Miss Warner, Mrs. W. Henry Harrison, Mrs. Easson, Mrs. R. Keltie Jones, Mrs. William Vassie, Mrs. Walter Allison, Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mrs. H. Beverly Robinson, Mrs. William Allison, Mrs. Harry B. Robinson, Mrs. F. At Aylesford (N. S.) on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, Mrs. James Brydon received for the first time since her marriage. She wore her beautiful wedding gown of white duchesse satin made en princess and trimmed with pearl ornaments, the bodice having yoke and sleeves of chantilly lace. With this charming costume was worn the groom's gift, a necklace and bracelet of pearls and peridots. Receiving with Mrs. Brydon was Mrs. Leslie Fairne, The Knoll, who was gowned in fawn silk with oriental trimmings. In the dining room Mrs. C. W. Bell, mother of the bride, presided, and wore a very elegant black satin costume trimmed with duchesse lace jet and knotted silk fringe; ornaments, amethysts and pearls. On Thursday Mrs. Frederick C. Harris assisted Mrs. Brydon in the drawing room, which on both occasions was beautifully decorated with asters and phlox. She was gowned in white coin spotted organdy, with corsage bouquet of jacqueminot roses. On that day Mrs. Fairne presided at the tea table, gowned in a pretty white costume, trimmed with lace. Mrs. Bell also assisted the bride in receiving her guests, of which there were many on the two afternoons and evenings.

Mrs. William Hazen, Chipman Hill, was hostess on Thursday evening at an informal bridge of four tables, the prizes having been won by Mrs. Keator, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. McMillan.
