FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Saturday, Nov. 11.

The social season has not yet got fully under way, although the week has been full of pleasing incidents. Soon, however, the transition period will have passed and then society will settle down to its customary winter gaiety.

Christmas goods have already made their appearance in the stores; nevertheless it is difficult to imagine that but six weeks intervene between now and the great Christmas festival, while the sun sheds such warmth and brightness all around us.

Seldom have the rooms at the Golf Club been filled with such a fashionable throng as was gathered there on Wednesday afternoon at a reception given by Mrs. Herbert B. Schofield of Seely street. The function was in honor of Miss Huntley, sister of the hostess, who intends making St. John her future home. The arrangements for the entertainment of so many guests were perfectly carried out, so that there was not the slightest crowding in the drawing-rooms, nor unnecessary waiting for the delicious confections which were served from the tea tables, one of which was placed in the small room at the left of the entrance, the other at the end of the drawing-room, where the hostess with her sister received. Mrs. Schofield wore a very beautiful costume of black and white chiffon over pink satin, trimmed with lovely lace, the bodice having yoke and short sleeves of lace; pearl jewels. Miss Huntley was gowned in black fancy not over white satin trimmed with lace. Presiding at the tea tables were: Mrs. F. E. Sayre, black velvet gown with lace yoke, black hat with gold trimmings; ornament, diamonds. Mrs. George K. McLeod, black velvet costume, with yoke and sleeves of black chiffon, black hat with white feathers; diamond and pearl jewels. Mrs. George K. Schofield, black charmense satin with lace on bodice, black toque with white feather. Mrs. MacKenzie, black satin with chiffon veiling, black toque. The waitresses were Miss Portia MacKenzie, Miss Madeline DeSoyres, Miss Ethel Smith, the Misses Hegan, Miss Clara Schofield, Miss Marjorie Lee, Miss Mabel McAvity, Miss Alice Walker, Miss Marguerite Wright, Miss Mabel Thomson, Miss Aileyne Starr, Miss Winifred Barker, Miss Margaret McAvity, Miss Nancy Kingdon, Mrs. Fred Schofield and Mrs. Harry Schofield. Mrs. Andrew Jack, Miss Mabel Smith, Mrs. George Coster and Mrs. Frank Starr served the ices. Mrs. Herbert Flood and Mrs. H. B. Robinson ushered. The tea tables were beautifully decorated with scarlet geraniums and ferns. In the reception rooms the decorations were of ferns and chrysanthemums. Among the numerous guests were Mrs. Morris Hazen, Miss Lilian Hazen, Mrs. F. E. Barker, Mrs. Tuck, Mrs. Percy Robinson, Mrs. Freeman Lake, Mrs. C. H. Fairweather, Miss Fairweather, Mrs. D. J. White, Mrs. Sheene, Mrs. DeSoyres, Mrs. Geo. Hegan.

Dr. Ralph Powell and Mrs. Powell were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Powell, Orange street, on their way to Montreal from their wedding trip. On Wednesday afternoon friends who called had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Powell who on that informal occasion was stylishly gowned in white Marquisette over silk, trimmed with bands of black satin and lace.

Several gentlemen gave a very delightful dance for the Misses Katie and Frances Hazen at the Golf Club on Tuesday evening. The affair was most enjoyable and well arranged. Chaperoning the young people were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Fowler and Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Sancton. Mrs. Schofield's gown was of blue crepe de chine, trimmed with Maltese lace and coral beads. Mrs. W. H. Harrison's Paris costume was of cream embroidered chiffon over pale pink satin, with stylish arrangement of pink satin ribbon reaching over the shoulders; pear necklace. Mrs. Alexander Fowler wore pink crepe de chine with touches of black satin, violets. Mrs. Gordon Sancton, white duchess satin with lace and crystal trimmings. An orchestra rendered a programme of fourteen dances, with two supper extras. The refreshments were delicious and substantial. The decorations on the supper table consisted of American beauty roses. Other guests were Miss Katie Hazen, who wore black ninon over white satin, with touches of rose-color on the skirt and bodice, large bouquet of violets. The Newton (N. J.) Herald says: "Dorchester Temple was the scene of a brilliant social event on Tuesday evening when Miss Maida Anie MacLean was united in marriage to Budd DeWitt Colwell, of Boston, by the Rev. Arthur Vilroy Dimock, of the First Baptist church. The church was very prettily decorated with palms and pink chrysanthemums and the pews were hedged with pink hydrangeas tied with white satin ribbons.

"The bridal party moved up the aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march which was played by the organist, Arthur Phelps, of Harvard. The bride was given away by her father. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Dickenson, a friend of the bride as maid of honor, while little Miss Monie Wisely, a cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl. The bridesmaids were Miss Roberta B. Wisely, of St. John (N. B.), a cousin of the bride, and Miss Alice I. Beaudry, of Portland (Maine), a close friend and former classmate.

"The bride was charming in a gown of heavy white satin trimmed with rare old duchess lace and pearl ornaments with veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet. The maid of honor was beautifully gowned in white embroidered chiffon with pink trimmings and a close hat of chantilly with pink rosebuds, while the little flower girl looked sweet in pink messaline and lace and carried a basket of roses.

"The bridesmaids gowns were pink marquisette over satin with large pink picture hats and held bouquets of pink roses. The bride's mother was gowned in pearl grey embroidered net over white satin and wore violets. The ushers were Harry Benner, of Boston; Keneth MacLean, of Arlington; George H. Delano, of Revere, and Frank S. Morrison, of Boston.

"The groom was supported by Frank S. Delano, of Revere, who acted as best man. After the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 36 Aspinwall Road, when the happy couple received the congratulations of their many friends, among whom were noticed many prominent people of Dorchester and vicinity.

"The popularity of the couple was attested by the many beautiful and costly presents received.

"The bride's going away gown was of turquoise blue chiffon cloth with trimmings of moire and hat of the same srade. After the collation the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and rice, for an extended tour of the principal cities of the United States. After their return they will reside at the "Parkview," 98 Hemenway street, where they will be at home to their many friends on December 5 and 6.

"Miss MacLean is well known in musical circles having studied under the tutelage of the late Signor Rotoli, Henry Dunham and H. N. Redmond, of the N. E. Conservatory staff. Miss MacLean has held the position of solo singer at the First Baptist church for the last two seasons.

"The groom's present to his bride was a grand piano; to each of the brides maids a sapphire ring; to the maid of honor and flower girl, pins set with pearls; to each of the ushers a scarf pin and to the best man a jewel pendant."

The Newton (N. J.) Herald has the following:

"One of the largest weddings ever held in Newton occurred in the First Presbyterian church at 7.30 on Saturday evening, Oct. 28, when Miss Lola Morton Morrison, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ephraim Morrison, of 61 High street, became the bride of Mr. Rolland Thompson Hull. The church was thronged with the friends of the bride and groom long before the hour for the ceremony. Miss E. Loretta Flock, the organist, played for half an hour before the entrance of the bridal party. Promptly at 7.30 the strains of Lohengrin were heard, when the Rev. Clarence W. Rouse, the groom, with his best man, his cousin, Mr. Karl Thompson, of New York city, entered from the pastor's room.

"The six ushers, Mr. Frederick Holton Morrison, brother of the bride; Mr. Frank B. Boss, of Newton; Mr. Joseph D. Anderson, of Newark, cousin of the bride; Mr. Henry T. Kays, Mr. William A. Kays, of Newton, and Mr. Lawrence M. Thompson, of New York city, cousin of the groom, came down the right aisle, followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Vida Barber, of Scranton (Pa.); Miss Imogene Wild, of Newton; Miss Ruth Thompson, of New York city; Miss Mary Harper, of Autumn, Iowa; Miss Elizabeth Yates, of Boston (Mass.), and Miss Georgia Harrison, of Caldwell (N. J.), the latter three classmates of the bride at Wellesley College. They wore gowns of white marquisette over yellow satin, trimmed with crystal fringe, and carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

"The bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the church by the left aisle. She was preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Rhoda Todd, of New York city, also a classmate, who was attired in yellow Liberty satin, veiled with Viole de Soie, and trimmed with rose point Duchesse lace. She carried a large basket of yellow rose buds. The bride's gown was of heavy Duchesse satin trimmed with rose point Duchesse lace and made with a long court train, which hung from the shoulders, covered with a panel of exquisite Princess lace. Her tulle veil was held in place under a close fitting cap of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies, and her only ornament was an aquamarine and pearl lavalliere, the gift of the bridegroom. The bride's gift to the bridesmaids was a crescent pin of pearls, and that of the groom to the ushers an amethyst scarf pin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence W. Rouse, the pastor, in front of the pulpit, banked by palms and chrysanthemums.

"A reception was held at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Dr. Morrison, at which about 300 guests were present. The bridal party was assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. Morrison, the latter gowned in heliotrope satin, veiled with marquisette of the same shade, and trimmed with rose point Duchesse lace. Her ornaments were diamonds.

"The evening being fine, the guests had access to the porch which was enclosed by canvas and connected with the church by a canopy. Supper was served by Day of Morristown. The young couple, who are very prominent in the social life of Newton, were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, including silver, glass, china, bric-a-brac, oriental rugs and pictures. Mr. and Mrs. Hull left at midnight for a trip to Bermuda, and after Jan. 1 will be at home to their friends at 105 Main street, Newton. Her traveling suit was brown, tailored, with a velvet hat to match.

"Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. Allison Breen, New York; Mr. Isaac Holton and Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, of Trumansburg (N. Y.); Mrs. Adelaide Northrup, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brooks, of Belleville (N. J.); Mr. and Mrs. Warren Holten, Branchville; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Frazer, Passiac; Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Maynard, Mrs. S. F.
