We regret to learn that the wife of Hon. George Brown is in a very precarious state of health. Shortly after arriving in Scotland she went to a Dentist to have a tooth extracted, and during the operation her jaw was broken. Since that time pieces of bones have been working through one of her cheeks. From a letter received by a friend from Edinburgh we are sorry to learn that Mrs. Brown is a severe sufferer, and that fears have been entertained for her recovery.

An attempt was made on Thursday night to run off the night express from Buffalo, when within a short distance of Port Colborne, by placing an iron rail across the track. Fortunately the obstruction was removed with the loss of part of the cow catcher only.

Dr. Tupper, of Nova Scotia, is in Toronto.

The opal, beyond doubt the most beautiful of all gems, is also the only one which cannot be imitated. It is impossible to value it, since the price depends solely upon the play of color. A fine specimen will fetch a thousand pounds; but fifty times that much has been refused in the case of the Vienna opal. The hydrophane, or Mexican opal, loses its beauty when exposed to water; and Sir Walter Scott has alluded to this fact in "Anne of Geierstein," although, in that romance, he ascribes it to supernatural agency. Strange to say, after the publication of the novel, the belief that opals were unlucky obtained such currency that they quickly went out of fashion.

A Man Cuts a Boy's Ears off.

On Saturday evening, 18th inst., a shoemaker named Thomas Hopwood, residing on Erie street in Stratford, cut the ears off his apprentice. The facts of the case are as follows:—

Hopwood has lately had reason to suspect an illicit intercourse between his wife and the boy in question. To prove this he, on Saturday, gave out that he was going to Toronto on business. He, accordingly, absented himself from the shop, his residence being above. About half-past twelve o'clock on Sunday morning he quietly entered the house, crept up stairs and then discovered his wife in the bed of his apprentice. Rage fired Hopwood's breast, and he seized his wife and maltreated her, after which he drew a revolver and threatened to blow Constable Wilson's (who was present) brains out unless he released the boy into his hands. Wilson gave up the boy and then went for a light. On his returning the boy met him, the blood streaming from his ears, or, at least, the place where his ears ought to be. Hopwood made clean work of one ear, which is completely off. The other, the knife, (a shoemaker's) went through the ear into the boy's cheek, and left it hanging by a slender thread of flesh. The boy ran into the street, shouting murder, and, fortunately, Dr. Jackson was on hand to dress the wound, and sew up the remaining ear. The wonder here is that Hopwood did not cut the young rascal's throat. Great sympathy is expressed at Hopwood's affliction, which he feels very acutely. The boy is doing well, every attention being bestowed on him.

How the Good Templars Initiate Candidates.

The following must have been written by a chap who got tight on lager without knowing it would intoxicate. It refers to a lodge of Good Templars. It is a graphic description of an "initiation ceremony," as the writer understands it.

In the first place, the victim for initiation is blindfolded, bound hands and feet, and thrown into a cauldron of boiling hot rain water; and boiled for five minutes.

This is done for the purpose of clearing his system of "old drunks." He is then taken out of the cauldron, and by means of a force-pump gorged with cistern water, after which a scaling plaster is put over his mouth, and he is rolled in a barrel four or five times across the room.

The choir at the same time singing the cold water song.

He is now taken out of the barrel, and hung up by the heels till the water runs out through his ears.

He is then cut down, and a beautiful young lady hands him a glass of cistern water.

A cold-water bath is then furnished him, after which he is showered with cistern water.

He is then made to read the water works' sett ten times, drinking a glass of cistern water between each reading.

After which the "old oaken buck t" is hung around his neck, and fifteen sisters with squirt-guns deluge him with cistern water.

He is then forced to eat a peck of snow while the brothers stick his ears full of icicles.

He is then run through a clothes-wringer, after which he is handed a glass of cistern water by a beautiful young lady.

He is then gorged again with cistern water, his boots filled with the same, and he is laid away in a refrigerator.

The iniation is now almost concluded.

After remaining in the refrigerator for the space of half an hour, he is taken out and given a glass of cistern water, run through the clothes-wringer again, and becomes a Good Templar.

A youngster happened to be playing in the room where his mother and a lady visitor were conversing. Another lady friend called in the meantime, and after she left the two—after the manner of the sex—commenced to discuss her peculiarities very freely. Willy was apparently busy with his toys; but after a while, looked up shrewdly and said to the visitor:—"Mrs. Butler, that's the way mamma will talk about you when you go away!" The youthful philosopher was about right.

The London Free Press advocates the appointment of Francis Hincks as Governor-General of the Dominion.

Property in the suburbs of Halifax has lately increased in value, and a large number of very handsome buildings have been erected.

It was rumored in Halifax a few days ago that Mr Howe was about to resign his seat in the Dominion Parliament and seek election to the Local Legislature.

OBITUARY.—The Hamilton Spectator announces with deep regret the death of Mr Archibald Kerr, which took place yesterday, 21st, at Shrewsbury, England, where he had been visiting his kinsman, Mr R. Juson. The intelligence was sent to his friends in Hamilton by Atlantic cable. Mr Kerr located in Hamilton in 1836, and shortly after commenced business there in connection with his brother, laying the foundation of what is now the well known firm of Kerr, Brown and McKenzie.

The Queen and Royal Family.

The following pleasant paragraph relating to the Queen and Royal family at the review is from the Daily News:—

"To see the Queen and Prince of Wales laughing together when anything moved their mirth, in hearty abandonment, instead of the regular simper which society prescribes: to see the young Highlander, Prince Leopold, and Princess Beatrice, pointing out men and things to their sister's tiny child; to see the Queen when a man was borne out of the ranks faint from the heat, stand up with motherly concern, turn her back upon the review, and not be content until informed if it was not a serious accident; to see the Queen, Prince and Princess in turn bringing a blush into Prince Arthur's face by probable reference to his new plumes, were little instances that came unsought before many on Saturday, indicating the substratum of personal esteem and admiration on which English loyalty is built.

Mr. Abel Fulsom, of Zumbrota township, Minnesota, came home at a late hour and his wife got up from bed in the second story to admit him. She came down to the first floor, in the kitchen, and immediately screamed for help, saying that a snake was fastened to her foot, and she could not shake it off. Another woman, living in the house, struck a light and admitted Mr. Fulsom. By this time Mrs. Fulsom had shaken off the snake, which had stuck to her by its fangs, so that it was by violent effort she threw it off. The snake was found making its way towards the second story, half way up stairs, and killed. It was a rattlesnake of the prairie, such as is sometimes called a massassaugar. Such help was given Mrs. Fulsom as could be had, in the way of stimulants, and a physician obtained as soon as possible, but she died, after great suffering, on Saturday evening.

TRAGEDY IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 25—Capt J. C. Queen was early this morning found on the grounds of the Executive Mansion, near the music stand, with his throat deeply cut, but still alive. He subsequently sought to convey the belief that two white and one black man had robbed and then made an attempt to kill him. The razor with which the deed was committed was found near his side. His friends, however, disbelieve his story, and say he had attempted to take his own life.

Telegraph Reduction.

The joint committee of the Anglo-American and Atlantic Telegraph Company of London have agreed to a further reduction in the rates of despatches across the Atlantic wires. After the 1st of September next, the rate is to be $15, exclusive the land lines. At the present, a despatch from this place to Liverpool costs $25; under the coming arrangement it will fall a little short of $20.

JOSH BILLINGS ON MILK.

Josh Billings thus dilutes the subject of milk in the New York Weekly:

I want to say something. I want to say sumthing in reference to milk as a fertilizer. There are varis kinds ov milk. There iz sweet milk, sour milk, skim milk buttermilk, cow milk and the milk of human kindness, but the mostest best milk is the milk that hazzent the most water in it. Buttermilk izzent the best for butter. Milk iz spontaneous, and has done more to encourage the growth of human folks than enny other likwid. Milk iz lacteal; it iz also aquatick, while under the patronage of milk venders. Milk iz misterious. Cokenut milk has never been solved yet. Milk iz also another name for human kindness. Milk and bread iz a pleasant mixtur. Sometimes if milk iz aloud to stand too long, a scum rises to the surface which iz apt to skare folks that live in cities, but it duzzent foller that the milk iz nasty. This scum iz called kreme by folks who inhabit the kuntry. Kreme iz the parent of butter, and butter iz 40 five cents a pound. The most kommon milk in use, without doubt, is skim milk; skim milk is made by skimming the milk, which is considered sharp praktiss. Milk iz obtained from cows, hogs woodchux, rats, sheep, squirrils and all other animals that have hair. Snaix and geese don't give milk. I forgot to state in conclusion that cow milk, if well watered, brings ten cents per quart.

WANT OF LABOURERS.—The harvest is a good one, but who is to gather it in? There are not labourers enough to be hired for love or money. If ever our agriculturists found the benefit of the machines with which they are now generally supplied, it will be this year.—Guelph Advertiser.

MOTHERS, READ THIS!—HOLLOWAY'S WORM LOZENGES are a certain and safe remedy for Worms in Children and Adults.—As it is a well-known and measurably fact that one great cause of death among children is from Worms alone, it cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of parents the necessity of closely watching their children. By so doing, and understanding the symptoms and true cause of the disease, thousands of children might be saved from early graves. Symptoms of Worms:—The following are a few of the very numerous symptoms and diseases which are caused by Worms: Deranged appetite, emaciated extremities, offensive breath, frequent gnashing of the teeth, grinding of the teeth during sleep, hardness of the belly, with frequent slimy stools, and sometimes convulsive fits, pain in the head and stomach, unquiet sleep, faintings, troubling, doubts, indecision, low spirits, frightful dreams, and a gradual wasting away of flesh.

They are palatable and self-administered to the child—drive out the worms thoroughly without pain and completely cleanse the stomach—thereby driving away with the worms any other administering Castor Oil or other unpleasant cathartics—as is the use of other Worm Medicines.
