STORE CLOSES TO-DAY AT 6 O'CLOCK.

Monday's Big Values.

This store possesses many advantages that others know nothing of. No other store in Canada has the buying facilities we possess, nor such ability to handle large quantities of goods. Our tremendous outlet, and paying cash for everything that is bought, give us a command of the world's markets. Selling as we buy, we are able to make prices the very lowest possible. On Monday morning we are willing to give you the full benefit of our buying facilities, besides making special reductions for the sake of quick sales. Every item in this list is important, and if extremely low prices will do it the store ought to be crowded bright and early on Monday morning:

ALLISON ON TRIAL.

The Preliminary Hearing Before Magistrate Turnbull of Galt Over the Murder of Mrs. Orr.

Galt, Ont., Sept. 3.—James A. Allison, charged with murdering Mrs. Anthony Orr on Aug. 9, appeared before Magistrate Turnbull to-day. Crown Attorney Bowlby is in attendance as prosecutor. J. R. Blake of Galt and Mr. Weir of Berlin are looking after the prisoner's interests.

The evidence brought forward so far is similar to that taken at the coroner's inquest.

The Crown's theory appears to be that Allison first assaulted Mrs. Orr and, being repulsed, killed her and buried the body in the cornpatch.

The number of spectators at the preliminary trial to-day is not nearly so large as was in attendance at the coroner's inquest, public interest in the case having largely abated.

The prisoner was brought in at 2 p.m., appearing quite unconcerned and self-possessed.

Prisoner's lawyer requested that all witnesses be excluded from the court room, which was granted.

The court was adjourned at 5.30 this afternoon until 10.30 to-morrow morning. About a dozen witnesses were examined this afternoon, the most important of whom was Anthony Orr, husband of the murdered woman. His evidence was largely the same as at the coroner's inquest. The point was brought out that the prisoner had a bad temper, having in July last threatened to strike Orr with a fence rail during a quarrel, but this evidence was objected to by prisoner's counsel and the magistrate sustained the objection.

It will be remembered that at the inquest, evidence was adduced to the effect that Mrs. Orr was frightened when driving home alone from Galt late one night about a week prior to the tragedy, and when going up the long lane leading to the house a man came out suddenly from ambush. Anthony Orr testified this afternoon that on that occasion he, Orr, and the children were in the house, but Allison was outside, and did not make his appearance for ten minutes after Mrs. Orr's arrival at the house.

Several witnesses gave evidence as to the different conflicting stories told them by prisoner Allison in reference to Mrs. Orr's disappearance and the shooting off of the gun.

Allison was taken back to Berlin Jail to-night and will be returned here in the morning.

Mr. Willson Howard of R. H. Howard & Co. has gone to Norston, Conn., on Long Island Sound, with his wife and family for a three weeks' vacation.

HOW TO MEET A SELFISH POLICY.

Each day and almost every act of fiscal legislation makes it more plain that the settled policy of the United States is to sell all their vast surplus produce of wheat, cotton, tobacco and the like in Europe, chiefly to Great Britain, while absolutely shutting out of their own country by hostile tariffs the commodities for disposal in Europe. This again chiefly concerns Great Britain, placing her people at a serious disadvantage. This is neither fair nor desirable at the present. For instance, she may purchase from the United States this season, say, 150,000,000 bushels of wheat, while by reason of their invidious tariff she cannot sell them in return goods to a fourth of the amount. Such a situation has only become possible under the British blind adherence to free trade principles, irrespective of the conditions to which the theory is at present subject. This theory must now perforce come under review. Were it of universal practice there might be something in it, but as matters now are between Great Britain and the United States, the whole thing is absurd and untenable.

If it be taken as admitted that the present status of trade between these countries is unfair and undesirable, then comes the question, can it be remedied? Let Great Britain and the other nations affected—or Britain alone—simply impose cognate imposts on American wheat and other products until our grasping and unfriendly neighbors are compelled, in self-defence, to lower their obnoxious tariff. Let Great Britain, for instance, put a duty of 15 cents a bushel on American wheat and we should soon see this hostile and blustering people crouch under the well-deserved and reciprocal blow, and ready to deal fairly—under compulsion. All that can be urged against this is that it might temporarily raise the price of bread in England. This would possibly be so for a short, but very short time, for were such action taken Canada would, under the stimulus given, produce all the wheat England needs within three years at the furthest, while meantime our imports of English goods would be trebled as our paying power increases. And even if, as a first result of the imposition of such a duty, it was found that the price of bread was slightly raised, the money gained by the duty itself would provide a fund from which some other impost could be reduced to the extent that the price of bread had increased, and meanwhile Canada would have become, almost at a stride, the great source of supply to Great Britain of food products; and that market once gained, neither the United States nor any other country can deprive us of it, producing, as we do, the finest wheat in the world, with meat, fruit, cheese, butter, etc., of a like quality. And it would be a lesson worth teaching to the grasping and insolent demagogs who control and direct the affairs of the neighboring Republic, who miss no opportunity for injuring Great Britain or Canada by legislation specially directed against us, or of scheming and proclaiming their hatred of, and hostility to, us and our Mother Land. They have deprived England of the power of selling to them of her manufactures. Let England deprive them of the power to furnish her with grain, and we trow they will right soon abandon their narrow-minded and contemptible device for ostracizing the rest of the world. Their financial position is already about as bad as it can be, but should they be unable to sell their surplus produce in Europe it would be worse.

FRESH FRUIT FOR THE ENGLISH MARKET

The fruit farmers of Ontario will await with interest the result of a recent shipment of fruit and vegetables to Great Britain by Mr. G. E. Fisher of Burlington, Ont. The shipment, which consists of a splendid selection of plums, pears and tomatoes, was only rendered possible by the adoption of cold storage facilities on the ocean steamships. There is no reason to doubt that this consignment will be delivered in a perfect state of preservation, as the cold storage system is equally as effective on sea for preserving perishable products as on land. There ought to be an immense field for fine Canadian fruit and vegetables in the markets of Great Britain. The production of fruit in Ontario is exceeding the demand, and an outlet for the surplus is badly needed. The exportation of fruit in its natural state ought to be much more profitable than canning it. The fruit business in Toronto is increasing every year. The Grand Trunk has been obliged to increase its facilities for handling the large consignments that come to the city daily by rail. Every effort should be made to establish a permanent trade between Ontario and Great Britain in fresh fruits and vegetables. There is simply an unlimited market in England and Scotland for the many excellent varieties of fruit and vegetables that Ontario produces.

The cold storage system, if properly equipped and taken advantage of, ought to make it an easy matter for us to get the same foothold in England for our fruit that we already have secured for our cheese and bacon.

MORE EVIDENCES OF THE BOOM.

The export and import statistics for July last confirm the evidences of returning prosperity that greet us on all sides. Particularly satisfactory are Canada's exports. In July, 1897, we exported $17,424,786 worth of goods, being an increase of $5,443,000 over the exports for the same month last year. The increases are principally in animals and their products, forest and agricultural productions and manufactures. This increase in the country's business accounts for increasing receipts and growing traffic of the railways. So large a volume of traffic awaits the Canadian Pacific that it has been obliged to place an emergency order in the United States for freight cars. Five hundred such cars are now being constructed in Michigan and will be ready for delivery next week.

MEN AND THINGS.

It's a pity to Americanize our language. An otherwise educated and thoughtful minister of one of our large Methodist churches displayed a very noticeable fondness last Sunday for purely Yankee idioms. In fact he seemed unable to keep out of them, using them as if they were part of his mother tongue. He reminded his hearers that they were now home from their vacation, pronouncing the latter word as if it began thus "vay." In his sermon he "located" a temple, "located" a stage in it, and "located" a statue on that stage all within the compass of one sentence. The nation to the south of us, which used to be called great, has invented new pronunciations and words without number, but we should set our faces against them when they offend against the dictionaries and the ordinary rules for the construction of words.

It ought to be part of our assessment commissioner's duty to lay out a scheme to manage our Island on a comprehensive basis. Any visitor can suggest one or two broad lines to work on that would transform that delightful seaside resort. In the first place sanitary regulations of the most complete and stringent sort should be passed and provision made whereby the Islanders can find means to keep their surroundings clean and sweet. This is the first and best commandment. Then a ferry along the north shore from east to west should be maintained and provision made for the transportation of provisions and all articles at a cheap rate. If a 50 cent parcel is to be sent to the Island it costs 20 cents to have it delivered. Any company that can transport provisions, baggage or other articles to and deliver them at the Island for 5 or 10 cents will make a fortune.

It seems a shame that so little effort is really made to beautify and utilize the Island. The city corporation is largely to blame for this. Security of tenure is an essential if improvement is desired. The rents should be fixed at a reasonable rate—lower rather than higher, if there is to be any difference, and the city should do as other ground landlords, and give long leases with the provision that they will buy the improvements (with a maximum limit of say $1000) if they do not renew. Renewals should be easy and reasonable, so as to encourage improvement. In a word the city should be a liberal landlord and stimulate expenditure instead of making people afraid to spend a cent. At present tenants will not do so because they know that the city wont pay for the improvements, nor will they bind themselves to renew by arbitration. Either course is absolutely necessary if money is to be spent on the houses and their surroundings.

R. J. Fleming will, perhaps, make a good assessment commissioner, but he will want to be a very very good one if he expects to make the public forgive his method of getting there. It was human nature, of course, but that is something that representative government is supposed to leave to despotism. We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that he was our Mayor, and that he sold his elective position for the assessment department. He might have got it as plain R. J. Fleming, but he had it "in his mit" as Mayor. It is another nail in the coffin of our municipal system, but there are so many office seekers that they decline to have the funeral at the proper time.

On holidays in England two parties of men or boys will frequently get hold of opposite ends of a rope and pull on it, as a test of the strength of the two parties. They call it the "tug of war." Many a hardworking man and woman in each day's toil, is pulling a "tug of war" with death for an antagonist.

They fail to take proper care of their health. When they suffer from indigestion or a slight bilious attack they "wear it out." After a while these disorders wear out the reckless man or woman and the result is consumption, malaria, rheumatism, or some blood or skin disease. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser tells all about these diseases. It is free to all. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all the maladies named. It cures the cause. It makes the appetite hearty, the digestion perfect, the liver active and the blood pure. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. Don't let a druggist impose on you with a more profitable substitute.

"I had a very severe pain in the small of my back, where my hips join on to my body, and it hurt so that I thought I was going to come apart," writes Wm. Z. Powers, Esq., of Erin Shades, Henrico Co., Va. "My doctor came and pronounced it rheumatism. He gave me a prescription, but I got no better, but worse. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from my druggist and commenced to use it. I began to improve at once and got well. Now I am in perfect health,—no pain, no rheumatism."

Nearly every disease known to doctors and the treatment is described in Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. One thousand and eight pages and over three hundred illustrations. FREE. Send thirty-one one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y., for paper-covered copy. French cloth binding, fifty stamps. This book is a veritable medical library in one volume.

Massachusetts Benefit Wound Up.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—The affairs of the Massachusetts Benefit Life Association were wound up this afternoon. The temporary receivers, Alfred Lord and A. S. Woodworth, have been made permanent by the court to-day. The assets of the association, it is said, are about $500,000.

A Handsome Shoe Exhibit.

The only exhibit of shoes at the Toronto Industrial, made by a retailer, is that of S. M. Clapp, successor to the Clapp Shoe Co. This enterprising and extensive shoe house have done themselves proud in the present display, which quickly catches the attention of visitors as they do the rounds of the second floor. One on examining the contents of the large and handsome glass enclosure, 14 feet square, where the goods are exhibited, will be impressed with the high class of footwear sold by this house. The finest in shoes are there, for men, women and children. The specials in styles, that mark the manufacture of shoes in the present day, are likewise prominent—all going to show the front position this house occupies in Toronto retail shoe trade. The headquarters of the firm, as almost everyone knows, are at 212 Yonge-street.
