THE DEATH OF MR. JOHN MOODY.—The death, which occurred last evening, of John Moody the well known and popular book keeper of Outram & Co's business house, was heard not only with surprise but with the profoundest regret by his many friends and acquaintances. Mr. Moody was so far recovered from an attack of influenza on Monday last that he was able to be abroad. He was taken again with a more serious attack yesterday and died at 5.30 p. m. He was in his 31st year, and was in every sense of the word a St. John boy.

MR. C. C. CARLETON, Souris, P. E. I. is the owner of an immense grey eagle, which measures seven feet from tip to tip of the wings. He has had the bird in his possession about a year. McLellan sold the captive eagle to Mr. Carleton, who, being American Consul at Souris, keeps him as a fitting emblem of the land of the stars and stripes, "the land of the screaming eagle."

His horse which was stabled in one end of the green house building was burned to death. The green house was nicely situated in a hollow a short distance back of T. Connor & Son's rope walk, and the owner had in it a very fine collection of flowers and plants. Mr. Hopkins is a well known figure in the market. He had no insurance and the loss to him is a very heavy one. It is not known how the fire originated.

THE "MESSIAH."

Mechanics Institute Tuesday Evening Jan. 28th.

The coolness of the atmosphere (in spite of red hot furnaces down below) in the Institute last evening apparently had the effect of chilling the audience into an apathy that was not removed until nearly the close of the performance and even then not warmed up to enthusiasm. This could be the only reason that an audience as large as that of last evening should accord only a feeble hand clapping to such performances as Mrs. Carter's How beautiful are the feet and I know that my Redeemer. Miss Hea's He shall feed his flock and He was despised, and the Rev. Mr. Davenport's recitatives throughout, with the arias Every Valley, But Thou didst not leave and Thou shalt dash them. The only number that was applauded vigorously was the Bass aria Why do the nations, which was splendidly played by the orchestra and effectively sung by Mr. Mayes.

Pressure of space will not allow for a lengthened criticism of the Oratorio as given last evening. The public performances of the four soloists are so well known it is needless to say that they acquitted themselves in a manner, that showed the board of management made wise selections.

The chorus was evidently suffering from paucity of number and also poorness of tone which is not to be wonderedat when the large amount of members that have been or who are laid up with the prevailing sickness is considered. The sopranos carried the palm for brightness of attack, purity of tone and especially good work in runs. The best choruses were "All we like sheep" and "Lift up your heads," both of which were sung briskly and with a fair volume of sound, well balanced.

Miss Bowden, the talented pianiste of the Society, performed magnificently and her precision and splendid time went far to save several critical passages in some of the choruses.

Mr. Ford did good and effective work his choice of combinations according capitally with the Orchestra.

Too much praise cannot be given to the Philharmonic club. The strides they have made since their last public performance of Oratorio, are great, and there seems now to be no reason why they should not be able to always fill the bill and that most acceptably. For amateurs, the playing of the Pastoral Symphony and also the accompaniment of "Why do the Nations" was something quite exceptional.

Mr. Morley took his proper position last night as conducter for the first time having hitherto always been at the organ, It was gratifying to find this clever musician so ably handling his chorus and orchestra and thus securing another success to the Oratorio Society and to know that his months of indefatigable labour in rehearsals of all kinds were culminating in as fine a performance of Handel's masterpiece as has been given in St. John for some years.

Who is This?

[Bangor Commercial].

Several events occurred on the night Pullman from Boston to this city last Thursday that relieved the passengers in the smoking car of all ennui occasioned by a long railroad trip. Among the passengers was an old gentleman who was bound home to St. John from New York. He got into a little game with three strangers. The old gentleman played a fair game but somehow the three opponents had very large coat sleeves and soon the old man was relieved of $140 by the sharpers. Word was telegraphed ahead to Portsmouth to have officers at the depot upon the arrival of the train. When the train arrived the conductor went to detain one of the sharpers who turned on the night of the punch. A hardware drummer swung his grip and down went the sharper. The officers soon had him under arrest and the old gentleman stopped over to prosecute the case.

Thy Will be Done.

If I or live or die,
God knoweth best.
In His love let me lie,
And be at rest.

Let not my heart be fraught
With anxious fears;
By Christ the Saviour taught,
His are my years.

He knows what is most meet
For mine and me,
Led by His blessed feet
My own shall be.

Where'er His love shall guide
I'll follow on,
Be the road dark or bright
His will be done.

And in His own good time,
Mine eyes shall see
The home in heavenly clime
Prepared for me.

Where with the loved ones
I on earth have known,
My soul shall worship
At the great white throne.

SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.

The Turf.

THE ENGLISH SPRING EVENTS.

The Derby of 1890 has received a very flattering acceptance for the first time in which it is to be decided under the new conditions. The original entry was 235, 63 of which paid the minor forfeit of £10 on the first Tuesday in January, 1889. This left in 172, of which number upward of 60 have finally accepted, the remainder paying £15 forfeit. For the first time in the long history of the race the winner of the "blue riband of the turf" will be guaranteed the sum of £5,000 which is considerably in excess of the average of late years.

The Epsom Oaks Stakes, to be run on June 6 has also met with a capital acceptance. They were originally 168 subscribers, of whom 38 paid 10 sovereigns each last year. Of the 130 then remaining between 40 and 50 have decided to leave their nominations undisturbed. The value of the Oaks (which, like the Derby, will this year be run under new conditions) is 4,000 sovs. to the winner, 400 sovs. for the nominator of the winner, 300 sovs. for the owner of the second, and 200 sovs. for the owner of the third.

The City and Suburan, to be decided on April 23 at the Epsom spring meeting has closed with the gratifying entry of nearly 70. The old established Great Metropolitan Stakes (April 22), which is run under slightly different conditions this year, has been supported to double the extent it was last year, the entries numbering between 50 and 60. So far as class is concerned, the City and Suburban is well represented. Among the older horses nominated are Veracity, Sheen, Reve d'Or, The Baron, Ringmaster, Felix, etc. The four-year-olds include Vasistas, the winner of the Grand Prix, and Miguel, who was second to Donovan for the Derby. Many good class three-year-olds have also been entered.

With the value of the prize increased to 2,000 sovs., says a late despatch, it would have been surprising, even in the present dearth of steeple-chasers, if a strong entry had not been secured for the Liverpool Grand National. The conditions stipulate for fifty entries, and this number has been increased, but still the 61 subscribers are three less than last year. Nor can it be said that class is particularly well represented, although most of the best known chasers are engaged. Last year's heroine, Frigate, once more appears in the lists, and others that have already gained national honors to be found are Roquefort, Gamecock and Voluptuary. Many of the other horses have on previous occasions taken part in the contest, and Why Not and M. P., who were second and third last year, have again to be handicapped, while other familiar names that crop out are Hettie, the sole nomination of the Prince of Wales, Battle Royal, The Sikh, Ballot Box, Sanctuary, Bellona, Parasang, Johnny Longtail and Usna. Taken altogether there is plenty of material for an interesting contest, and the Grand National should be as successful as ever.

CARD.

To the public and our numerous patrons. As our business has made great strides during the past year and greatly exceeded our expectations we find it impossible to keep track of such a large number of small accounts unless we keep a large staff of book-keepers and collectors constantly employed which we cannot afford to do, therefore we have been compelled to notify you all that in the future we intend to do a strictly cash business. Parties wishing accounts rendered monthly will be accommodated, but all such accounts will have to be paid when the last parcel for the month is sent. All other parcels will have to be paid for on delivery. Hoping that all will see the justice of our course and soliciting a continuance of patronage.

We remain yours truly,
