Whereas, The government of Newfoundland has recently imposed a tax of $1 per ton on all Canadian vessels visiting Newfoundland ports for bait, such tax to be paid on each and every entry into such port and ports; and

Whereas, Such legislation on the part of the Newfoundland government is most objectionable, so far as it may effect the tonnage of British vessels; and

Whereas, The trade and commerce of this dominion may be seriously affected by such tonnage; therefore

Resolved, That the dominion government be requested to take such immediate action as may be necessary towards the abrogation of so objectionable a tax on Canadian shipping seeking bait, etc, in Newfoundland.

Considerable freight was taken in, both at Cottage City and Rockland, and everything has a prosperous aspect for the new line.

MRS. TERRY ON THE WARPATH.

She Demands Money and Threatens to Kill a Lawyer.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

FRESNO, Cal., May 2.—Sarah Althea Hill-Terry made her appearance in the law office of C. G. Sayle, administrator of the estate of David S. Terry, yesterday and demanded some money. Sayle said he had none belonging to the estate, but there were law-books that might be sold. She then went into the adjoining office of Mr. Caldwell, attorney for the administrator, and, after wrangling with him, was ejected from the office. She returned and smashed the windows. Sayle then left his office and she followed, threatening to shoot him.

Sarah Althea Hill-Terry is the woman whose efforts to secure a share of the estate of the late Senator Sharon culminated in the tragic death of ex-Judge David S. Terry at Lathrop, Cal., last Fall. She had claimed a common law marriage with Sharon and produces a contract in his handwriting when suing for a division of the Sharon estate. In rendering a decision adverse to her in that case in September, 1888, Judge Field ordered her to surrender this marriage contract for cancellation. She created a scene in court by declaring that the Judge's decision had been bought by the other side to the case, and became so disorderly that she was committed to jail for contempt. Her conduct so affected Judge Terry, her husband and her counsel, that he drew a bowie knife and threatened to kill the court officers who attempted to lead her away. He was disarmed and was also committed for contempt.

Soon after this Mrs. Terry assaulted Judge Sawyer, who had been interested in the Sharon contest, on a railway train in the San Joaquin Valley, pulling his hair and striking him with her umbrella. Whom her husband made the assault on Judge Field for which he was killed by United States Marshal Nagle in the railway dining station at Lathrop, Cal. Mrs. Terry left the dining-room to get her revolver, which had been left in the train. She was met and disarmed at the dinning-room door a few seconds after Judge Terry was shot. She made an impassioned appeal to the bystanders to lynch both Judge Field and the Marshal, and falling in this, threatened to kill the Judge with her own hands. She has since reiterated her threats to avenge her husband's death, and is regarded as a very violent women. It is generally believed that her troubles have driven her insane.
