BAREFACED FRAUD,

Confiding Citizens Swindled Out of Their Gold Coin.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 21.—One of the most astounding swindles in the history of the country has just been brought to light here by Federal detectives, who have arrested Henry Ash and George Y. Rose, two of the three ringleaders. Robert F. Lively, the man who originated the scheme, escaped to the mountains. Some weeks ago these three men organized at St. Albans, this county, a branch of what was alleghd to be a patriotic aid by the conspirators to be a patriotic order, having for its object the relief of the National Government. It was proposed to put into possession of the Government the gold coin hoarded by the people to the end that the Government might be enabled to meet its obligations and be saved from national repudiation. The Treasury Department it was explained had plenty of paper money and had agreed for all the gold coins paid into the assembly and certified by the officers they would be paid five times the sum in paper currency Nothing less than $200 would be accepted.

The thing took in a surprising way; the country was scoured for gold. One man paid in $1,200, another $600 and scores gave $200 to $500 for the worthless certificates. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad paid its employes in gold, and large sums of this money went into the hands of the swindlers. Poor men borrowed, begged and mortgaged that they might realize gold, and many a dollar of hard-earned savings went into the local assemblies for the relief of the Government. The post-office authorities got wind of the thing a week ago, and on Saturday arrests were made. The excitement over the swindle is great. It is estimated the swindlers obtained over $50,000 from their dupes, many of whom are left penniless.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

Sir John E. Gorst on the Land Question.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Sir John E. Gorst, political secretary of the India Office, in an interview to-day upon the English land question, declined to commit himself to any definite plan for the settlement of this grievance. He said: "Something must and will be done, or a revolution is certain. I do not mean a bloody revolution, but I mean that the people will demand possession of the land they live upon. They have not

THE POWER TO DO SO,

and they are dissatisfied with their present lot, consequently they will have things altered. Allotments may palliate, but they will not solve the difficulty. The Conservatives ought to attempt the solution of anything that would stop emigration and help people from flocking into the towns, give them an interest in the soil—that is true conservatism.

"I am now inquiring into the condition of rural laborers and the smaller class of farmers. I am a learner and am gleaning by personal contacts facts which will justify me to form a definite policy upon the English land question."

BIDDING FOR THE RURAL VOTE.

The Star to-day predicts that Sir John E. Gorst will be the leading Tory Democrat, and intimates that he is preparing to bid high for the rural vote.

A FEARFUL CONFESSION.

A Father Murders His Little Daughter at a Seaside Resort.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A confession of murder has just been made by Mr. Herbert Arthur Green, a respectable young man of good social position, who lives in the Buckingham Palace road. He declares that he murdered his little daughter Louisa, who was 5 years old. The child, it was thought, was drowned while swimming with her father at Brighton, and, to add to the horror of the situation, in full view of her mother and her sister, who were standing on the shore looking on. Green himself was arrested after the child's death, and he tried to commit suicide when he was discharged by the magistrate. On his return to London he confessed to a clergyman that it was his intention to destroy both his children, and that the one which died really succumbed to the effects of chlorodyne, which he administered to her on the beach in the little tin pail which she carried.

New Departure in British Military Management.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Hitherto the British household troops have been exempt from provincial and foreign service, but it is learned now that the War Office authorities have decided that in future they must, with the other portion of the army, take their turn in this duty. This decision is believed in military circles to be another sequel to the Wellington Barracks incident.

Toronto College of Music.

This institution has opened the year with a large list of pupils and otherwise under most favorable auspices. During the summer Mr. Torrington visited the principal music schools of Europe, notably those of Berlin (the Hoch School) and Leipsic Conservatorium, the Royal Academy and the Royal College of Music, London, being received in the most cordial manner by eminent musicians in both countries. The Toronto College of Music has evidently earned for itself a worthy reputation in the musical centers of the old world. The Musical News, London, Eng., Sept. 4, has the following: "Under the able and zealous direction of Mr. F. H. Torrington the Toronto College of Music is doing right good service for music in Canada, and its recent affiliation to the University of Toronto in connection with the preparation of candidates for degrees will ensure that these distinctions must be honestly earned. Indeed a perusal of the course to be gone through and the tests to be passed is a proof of the regulations has just reached England) shows that the curriculum does not materially differ from the standard exacted by our English universities. Besides being the director of the college, Mr. Torrington is conductor of some musical societies in Toronto and organist of one of the chief churches there, so altogether he is a busy man. We are indeed glad to see such a promising music school established in the chief city of the Dominion; the systematic course of teaching adopted shows that the school is working on the right lines. Mr. Torrington has just been paying a flying visit to the continent and England, gathering fresh ideas for carrying on his work in the best and most experienced way."

It will be of great interest to the music-loving in Canada to know that the eminent solo pianist and composer Frederick Boscovitz has joined the staff of the College of Music and will teach pianoforte playing. Mr. Boscovitz studied under the great Maestro Liszt, and is now the only living pupil of Chopin; as an exponent of Chopin's music, he has few rivals. It is hoped that during the season he may be heard in our western cities. b

ONE WOMAN'S HUSBAND.

(From Wives and Daughters for September.)

A man may be admirable in every other walk in life—he may even be famous and deserving of his fame—and yet fall short in his home. A press report of Henry M. Stanley quotes him as saying, in reference to his wife's talent: "I think she does better work with her pen than with her brush; what she puts on paper is a better picture than what she puts on canvas. Will she write a book? If it pleases her. But it will be printed for us—her family and friends, and not for the public. I hold that a man's wife is too sacred for the world to know and discuss."

Suppose that the husband of Elizabeth Barrett Browning and the husband of Harriet Beecher Stowe had also chanced to hold that a man's wife is too sacred for the world to know and discuss, what might have been the result? Merely this, that the book which did more than any other to emancipate the negro race would never have been heard of, and the greatest poet among English-speaking women would have died mute and inglorious. Why is it that the highest heaven does not hold the sunlight as too sacred for the world to know and discuss? And why have not all the world-known philanthropists among women had the forethought to provide themselves with husbands who would hold that they were too sacred, etc? It would have saved them an immense amount of hard self-denying work, and if the world was by so much the worse off, what of that? The world has been hopelessly spoiled by benevolent millionaires who have foolishly relieved its want and suffering when they ought to know that a man's money is too sacred for the world to know and discuss!

There are some odd old-fashioned remarks which run in this way: "Do all the good you can, to all the people you can, at all the times you can, in every place you can, in all the ways you can, and as long as ever you can." These remarks apply to everyone in general—with the trifling exception of men's wives. They are "too sacred."

GODERICH, Ont., Sept. 21.—E. Messett, of Seaforth, a man 73 years of age, was tried on Saturday charged with the abduction of Catherine Kennedy, a girl of 12, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The prisoner intended marrying the girl.

HIS CONSEQUENTIAL LEGS.

[Longman's Magazine.]

On one of Bishop Tait of Cantebury's latest visits to a certain country house in a Scottish county he went alone to the post-office to send a telegram to his brother. He wrote it out: "The Archbishop of Canterbury to Sheriff Tait," and handed in. The skeptical old postmaster read it aloud in contemptuous tones: "The Archbishop of Canterbury!" and added: "Wha may ye be that taks this cognomen?" The Archbishop, taken aback, remained silent for a moment. The morning was cold, and he had a woolen comforter wrapped round his neck; but, on second view, the postmaster thought he looked more respectable than on a first, and added: "Maybe ye're the gentleman himsel'." Tait replied, modestly: "For want of a better, I am." On which the good old Scot hastened to apologize for his first suspicion of imposture, adding: "I might have seen you were rather consequential about the legs." Then he added words of cheer, which Tait said truly were vitally Scotch: "I have a son in London, a lad in a shop, and he gaed to hear ye preach one day, and was verra weel satisfied."

A Victory in Manitoba.

We favor our readers to-day with the following extracts, selected from a letter which we recently received from a gentleman in Winnipeg, Manitoba. He has traveled extensively over the whole Province, knows the country well, and is therefore in a position to speak from experience. He has had ample opportunity of becoming thoroughly acquainted with the best druggists, who have not hesitated for a moment in giving their opinions when requested to do so. Our correspondent says: "I have been ever this Province several times, and the more I see of it, the more do I recognize its immense possibilities. It must become the granary of this northern continent, and supply its inhabitants with food. Its people are hardy, thrifty, industrious and healthy, and the climate of the country is in every way conducive to good health and longevity. There is no country in the world of the same population which can show as good a health record. I find the people in the cities, towns, and country districts have a holy horror of the hundreds of common patent medicines and preparations so extensively used in the east. I cannot say that in this favored agricultural land they are entirely exempt from ailments. Its men and women, like their eastern brothers and sisters, are often owing to overwork of body and brain, rendered weak, nervous and irritable. I have met with such cases, and have had occasion to come in contact with the dyspeptic, and those whose digestive vigor had become sadly impaired, and others suffering from complicated liver and kidney troubles; but I invariably found that one great remedy was used; and had become exceedingly popular owing to its grand healing and renovating properties; I refer to Paine's Celery Compound. All other boasted preparations were eschewed and considered as useless. I became somewhat interested, and was curious to know why this should be, and asked the opinion of several druggists of high repute. By them I was told that such a feeling really existed throughout Manitoba, and that Paine's Celery Compound was indeed the great home remedy whenever a reliable medicine was wanted. These druggists spoke to me of most remarkable cures it effected in their districts, and predicted for it a great future."

We may here inform our readers that Paine's Celery Compound to-day is quite as popular in the older Provinces as it is in the Northwest, and continues to do its good work to the joy and satisfacion of all.

The hen doesn't seem to have much trouble in picking up a living.

Histogenetic

System of Medicine.

All diseases successfully treated by a new system of non-poisonous and tasteless medicines. Send for free book explaining system and testimonials of the most remarkable cures on record.

I have been a great sufferer from a female weakness of long standing, and have been treated by several physicians, and have also been under treatment in the Toronto Hospital, and all failed to cure me. I saw a medical book explaining the Histogenetic System, and resolved to give it a trial. I consulted Dr Rear who prescribed these remedies and assured me they would cure me. I had my doubts, but was determined to try once more. I took treatment two weeks, and am utterly astonished at the results. I am nearly well, and no language can describe how thankful I am that my life is spared. This testimony is voluntary, and I give it hoping that hundreds of my sex may try the medicines and receive the same marvelous good that I have. They are good to take, and, unlike any medicine I ever took before, leave no bad effects.

MRS. J. FAWCETT,
June 5, 1890. 102 John street, Toronto.

I was attacked with congestion of the liver and inflammation of the kidneys, attended with excruciating pains in my side and back. Could not lie on either side—could scarcely breathe. The slightest movement caused agonizing pain. Nothing gave me relief. I sent for Dr. Rear, knowing he had cured by daughter of a dangerous illness with Histogenetic Medicine after she had been given up by four skillful physicians. In one week my pain was gone and liver and kidneys acting as well as ever. The cure is complete. It acts the most like magic of any medicine I ever took. I sincerely hope that the suffering ladies of Toronto and elsewhere may try the superior merits of these pure and tasteless medicines. My object in giving this testimony is purely through sympathy for the sick and dying.
