WAS FINED $30 FOR STARTING FOREST FIRE

A rather peculiar case was decided before Justices George T. Seeley and Theodore Holder, at Kingston, Kings county, yesterday. A. Gibson, of St. John, was accused and convicted of having on May 24th last at Kingston, Kings county, N. B., started a forest fire by dropping a burning match and neglecting to extinguish a fire caused thereby. A fine of $30.00 and costs were imposed. The information was laid by Odbur Flewelling, fire warden. G. H. Belyea appeared for Mr. Flewelling and C. S. Hanington for the defendant.

DEATHS

Mrs. Wallace.

The death of Mrs. Geo. H. Wallace, widow of the former sub-collector of Customs at Sussex, took place yesterday morning at Fairville in her 77th year. She is survived by two sons and two daughters—Mrs. A. D. Sharpe, Halifax; Mrs. B. E. Quigg, Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. F. W. Wallace, Sussex, and Mr. W. H. Wallace, Campbellton. The remains were taken to Sussex on the 5 o'clock train.

Hon. J. R. Thibaudeau.

Montreal, June 16.—The death took place somewhat suddenly this morning of Hon. J. R. Thibaudeau, Sheriff of Montreal. He was appointed senator in 1878, and has been sheriff since 1890. He came of Acadian stock and was born in 1837. He was for many years interested in the wholesale dry goods business. He also for many years took a prominent part in politics in the Liberal interest.

Mr. A. M. Bulton.

Nashville, Tenn., June 16.—Alfred M. Burton, once a well known race track bookmaker, died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday in a sanitarium. He was 67 years of age.

Mr. Guy C. Barton.

Omaha, Neb. June 16.—Guy C. Barton, former president of the American Smelting and Refining Company and one of its organizers, died at his country home here last night. Mr. Barton retired from business several years ago. For the last two years his mind was affected and his death resulted from this affliction.

Mr. Robinson.

FINE ADDRESS AT METHODIST CONFERENCE---LATEST CHANGES IN THE LOCATION OF MINISTERS

Woodstock, June 16—The twenty-sixth annual session of the Methodist Conference of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island entered upon its work this morning at 9 o'clock, the Rev. Samuel Howard, B. D., in the chair. About an hour was spent in the usual devotional exercises, in which several ministers and laymen took part. After this a new and very proper departure was inaugurated in the order of procedure by the administration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The administrators in this case and order were Revs. W. W. Lodge, George Steel, Dr. Wilson, Charles Comben, Dr. Evans and Thomas Marshall.

The roll was then called and sixty-nine ministers and twelve laymen answered to their names. The election of president was then proceeded with, and on the ballots on the first vote being counted, it was found that out of sixty-two, Rev. A. D. McCully, B. D., received forty-two.

President Howard warmly welcomed him to the chair, when he delivered a very neat and appropriate address. Rev. M. R. Knight was re-elected by a vote of fifty-one out of sixty-seven.

At this stage, Rev. Dr. Sprague moved a resolution tendering to the Rev. Dr. Flanders a hearty welcome to the conference, and to which the Dr. responded in a humorous and telling speech. Various matters of minor importance were attended to, and at 11.40 the conference adjourned.

In the afternoon session the brethren M. C. Rice and J. ... Shanklin were appointed sub-secretaries. Then came the memorial service of which the following is a brief synopsis:

In Memoriam.

As the Rev. Fletcher W. H. Pickles had during the year been called to join the great majority, the event was suitably recognized. Business was suspended, a solemn hush fell upon the meeting and each thought of a day when he would be the one being spoken of. A hymn was sung, prayer was offered, a brief memoir of the deceased was read, which will appear in the minutes of the conference. Addresses were delivered in which kindly and appreciative mention was made of his zeal and earnestness in the work of the ministry, and to the success which had attended his efforts. But the passing tribute paid, work was again resumed, and duties again discharged. Such is life; we come, we go, drop out of the ranks, our places are filled by others, but the work goes on notwithstanding.

A request was received from the Sackville quarterly meeting that the next conference be held next year in the University town.

On motion Rev. Dr. David Johnson, editor of the Wesleyan, was introduced, and gave an interesting address on matters pertaining to the Wesleyan and Book Room. The sales for the year at the latter were considerably below those of last year, and the need of a large increase in the number of Wesleyan subscribers was very clearly shown. The Methodists of the Maritime Provinces should certainly give these departments of church a much larger support, but for some reason or another though frequently requested it has never yet been given. The work of the Editor was again kindly commended, but time will tell what the result will be.

The Evening Service.

The service of the evening was devoted to Sabbath school and Epworth League work. The chair was occupied by the president, prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Hartman. The Rev. Neil McLaughlin read the 19th Psalm and then the Rev. Ernest Styles was called upon to speak. His address was really admirable, far above the average, replete with instruction and punctuated by appropriate and telling anecodotes. The speech was based upon the question What Manner of Child Shall This Be? He was followed by Rev. Neil McLaughlin who as is usual with him, spoke earnestly and eloquently on the work of the Epworth League. The theme was one for the discussion of which he has a peculiar aptitude and he handled it in masterly manner. It had to be heard to be appreciated.

The service was a profitable one and was much enjoyed by a large number. One of the lay delegates, J. T. Mellish, D. C. L., of Charlottetown, a barrister of distinction in that city, paid a visit to the public school of which Principal Richards is the efficient head. In the school there are ten departments and about 400 pupils in attendance. Mr. Mellish delivered an excellent address in which he gave valuable counsel to the men and women of the near future, and to which the young people gave good attention. Speaking to your correspondent concerning the visit he expressed the pleasure it afforded him to have been there and what he heard and saw during his visit and remarked upon the brightness of the young people as well as upon their vigorous and healthful appearance.

The conference was photographed this afternoon, the members being seated in front of the church. As several committees had been called for that hour it is likely some may have been absent.

Difficult to Furnish Suitable Supplies.

The Stationing Committee finds it difficult to furnish suitable supplies for the places to be provided for. The cause of this is by the retirement of some from active service, the going to college of several probationers who have been engaged in circuit work, by what is termed "Leave of absence," and belonging to this class is Rev. R. J. Fulton, of Woodstock.

The withdrawal from the conference of a Mr. Turner, a young Englishman, who came here about a year and a half ago, and who has since been laboring in Carleton County, who has gone over to the Methodist church in Maine; and of Mr. J. Pugh, a probationer recently transferred from the Newfoundland conference, who seeks a home in the Methodist Episcopal church in which unordained men are granted larger liberty in certain matters not allowed on this side of the line, and of the dropping out of the list of Mr. Fred Crisp, son of the Rev. James Crisp.

To meet these losses there is coming to the conference from the West Indies the Rev. Gilbert Earle, a minister of the Wesleyan Methodist church, who for family reasons is seeking a cooler climate. He brings with him testimonials of an excellent character. Rev. Mr. Orman, a minister of the Reformed Episcopal church is seeking admission to the conference, and will in any case, accepted or not, be available for work. He was employed last year on the Vernon River circuit, P. E. Island, and has been invited to return for another year. And young men as probationers and candidates will be sent to circuits. But the exact condition of things will not be known until the station sheet is read at the close of the conference.

By the transfer to the conference of Nova Scotia of the Rev. George M. Young, this conference loses a very valuable member, whose departure is universally regretted. We expect to see him back again ere he grows much older. In the Rev. W. R. Weddall, whose return we welcome, the Nova Scotians are the losers. Mr. Weddall is well and favorably known all over this province.

THIS ELOPING COUPLE MAY BE IN CANADA

Boston, June 16.—Now that Bernard L. Tarbox and Gertrude Mae Devine, his former stenographer and present alleged second wife, are safely over the line in Canada or lost in the West, Chief of Police Lowell J. Boston, of Woonsocket, R. I., where the marriage was performed, is preparing to ask for a warrant against the wealthy young man of Boston and Bath, Me., on a charge of bigamy.

Father Demands Action.

William P. Devine of Cottagestile street, Dorchester, father of Miss Devine, or Mrs. Tarbox, No. 2, went to Woonsocket yesterday and demanded a warrant. The Chief of Police said that the city solicitor was away and besides he was very busy, but that he would get out a warrant within a day or so.

Worried over his pretty 18-year-old daughter's adventure, Devine pursued the eloping couple across New York State, but they eluded him at Buffalo. In the meantime he had called Chief Boston by long distance telephone and requested that official to send out a request for the detention of Tarbox and the girl until warrants could be obtained and extradition proceedings begun.

The police official declared that he could do nothing until affidavits had been placed in his hands in person by Devine. So when the latter failed to catch his daughter he hurried back here and off the first court day since his return went after the warrant in the hope that it might be still in time.

"Waste Of Time."

"I suppose I shall have to get a warrant," said Chief Boston last night, "now that Devine has turned over such positive evidence to me. I may not get to it tomorrow, but as soon as I have had the papers prepared by the city solicitor and the warrant is issued, I shall send out the regulation police cards over the country. The pictures of Tarbox and the girl will appear on the card and the fact that he is wanted for bigamy.

"I guess it is a waste of time now, anyway, for I understand they have got over the line into Canada."

HAUNTS THE GRAVE OF HIS FIANCEE

Boston, June 16.—Frank L. Cushing, a Boston business man, instead of proudly leading his bride down the aisle of St. Patrick's cathedral yesterday afternoon, broken-heartedly spent what would have been his wedding day at the grave of Emma Gregory, the opera singer to whom he was engaged, who was buried Sunday.

For 17 long days and nights Cushing watched at the bedside of the singer, who lay dying from heart strain brought on while singing. All the preparations for the wedding had been made before Miss Gregory entered the hospital from which she was to be carried dead.

When she died last Thursday, Mr. Cushing fell exhausted at the side of her bed. During the funeral Sunday it was impossible to console him. The sight of his fiancee, her face as pale in death, as the bridal gown in which she was buried, drove him to distraction.

Early yesterday morning, long before the residents of Forest Hill were awake, the young man distractly sought the newly made grave in which his lover had been placed. Heartbroken, he threw himself on the wreaths of carnations and sweet peas he had placed on the fresh earth.

Three times during the day he returned blindly to the new grave, refusing to leave it when found by Miss Gregory's parents.

The score of presents which had been received have been packed for return, and flowers which were intended for a bride were sent to the cemetery.

Mr. Cushing who was bereaved almost on his wedding day, is a member of the firm of the Royal Typewriter Company, and lives at 185 East Fourth street, South Boston.

COUNSEL MAKES PLEA FOR MORSE

New York, June 15.—The appeal of Charles W. Morse, from his conviction of misapplication of the funds of the National Bank of North America, of which he was an officer, was heard today by the United States Court of Appeals. Morse was not in court, but Mrs. Morse and her son, Benjamin Morse, listened to the argument of Martin W. Littleton, his counsel. The Government was represented by Henry L. Stimson, formerly United States District Attorney, during whose term of office Morse was convicted of violating the national banking law.

Mr. Littleton concluded his argument by declaring that Morse was sentenced to 15 years for transactions which, although supposed to have caused the failure of the bank, actually resulted in every case in a large profit for the institution.

Mr. Stimson began his argument for the Government as soon as Mr. Littleton concluded, but court adjourned for the day a short time afterward.

SCHOONER INJURED.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., June 16.—Schooner William B. Palmer, Portland, for Norfolk, reported yesterday with bowsprit and head gear carried away in a collision with a steamer, supposed to be the Noordam, off Block Island on Monday, sailed from here today under her own sail for Bath, Maine, where she will undergo repairs.

MORE STARTLING EVIDENCE OF SOCIETY WOMAN'S IDEA OF LIFE; HARD FACTS ABOUT MRS. GOULD

New York, N. Y., June 16.—Howard Gould did not go on the stand today as had been expected to testify against his wife, Katherine Clemmons Gould, whose suit for separation he is opposing. Instead there was a continuation of servants' accounts of their former mistress' alleged fondness for alcohol and of her manner when under, what the witness said, was the effect of liquor. And indications are that the plaintiff must endure for another day, possibly for two, the embarrassing ordeal of listening to the testimony of former servants, all of whom have been called at the instance of her husband to sustain, if possible, his contention that living with his wife was impracticable and decidedly unpleasant, hence that the charge of abandonment, the mainstay of Mrs. Gould's case is not borne out.

What Mrs. Gould heard today was but a reiteration and in some respect an amplification of yesterday's testimony, the substance of which was that at various times at the big Long Island show place, Castle Gould, she was intoxicated, abused menials, gave arbitrary and unreasonable commands to the servants and used rather severe language in altercations with her husband.

Swore At Servants.

A carpenter, Herbert Trotter, was the last witness of the day. He said when he was working in the servants' house, Mrs. Gould rushed in there and swore at and abused the servants.

"Her voice was shaky and incoherent, her hair disheveled, and she was very profane. She was decidedly drunk," said the witness.

"At another time she came into the stables while I was working there and swore at the grooms and was so drunk that everyone could tell she was drunk," he continued.

"She tried to go up stairs to the harness room, but couldn't navigate the steps," he added emphatically.

Trotter said he was ordered to go to Blue Cap farm, the Gould place in Virginia, and saw Mrs. Gould intoxicated upon his arrival there. On several occasions, he added, during the first ten days he was there, he saw her drunk and heard her swear a great deal at the workmen.

Trotter went on to say that he refused finally to work at the Blue Gap farm on account of Mrs. Gould's abusiveness.

Trotter testified that Mrs. Gould was only "occasionally intoxicated" during her stay of ten days at the Blue Gap farm when he was there.

"You mean not as often as at Castle Gould?" queried Mr. Shearn on cross-examination.

"Yes," replied Trotter.

Often Intoxicated.

"How many times do you think she was intoxicated during that ten days?" asked Mr. Shearn.

"Every other day," was the reply.

The witness testified that Mrs. Gould once fell off her chair when intoxicated and for several days at a time at Castle Gould seemed to be drinking all the time.

Referring to the time Trotter said Mrs. Gould fell off a chair and lay on the floor helpless, Mr. Stearn pointed his finger at the witness and shouted:

"Didn't you put something in Mrs. Gould's coffee that night at Blue Gap farm?"

"I certainly did not," replied the witness.

"Didn't you get Better Foster, the hired girl in the kitchen, to put something in Mrs. Gould's coffee?" asked Mr. Shearn again.

"No, I did not," said Trotter.

"Don't you recall that Mrs. Gould accused you of poisoning her at Blue Gap farm?" asked Mr. Shearn.

"I certainly do not," replied Trotter.

"She was taken sick and fell to the floor directly after she had been eating something, wasn't she?" asked Mrs. Gould's lawyer.

"No, it was two hours after she ate," replied the witness.

Looked at Witness With Disgust.

During the cross-examination Mrs. Gould eyed Trotter with a piercing look of disgust.

Court adjourned until 10.30 o'clock tomorrow morning, after Trotter left the stand. After adjournment Mrs. Gould's counsel argued on a motion in another part of the Supreme Court for $20,000 counsel fees, and $3,900 for extra expenses. Mr. Gould's lawyer opposed the motion on the ground that the plaintiff has funds sufficient to defray the fees of her counsel without levying on the husband.

In his argument, Mr. Shearn made it clear that the Gould trial will go on for at least week more and will probably be prolonged ten days. He declared he had fifty witnesses ready to rebut the testimony of the defense. Thus, before the close of the trial, it may be necessary to hold night sessions.

HAMILTON TO HAVE A NEW DAILY PAPER

Special to The Standard.

Hamilton, Ont., June 16.—Hamilton is to have a new daily paper, an official Conservative organ that will support the government hydro electric project, and be strongly anti-temperance in its views.

This is the outcome of the attitude pursued by the Spectator in bitterly opposing the Government's power scheme and knifing Conservatives who fought the Cataract Power Company, of which William Southam, president of the Spectator, is a director.

GOLD KING MEETING WAS TO REORGANIZE

Ald. Elkin, F. A. Jones and Col. Geo. W. Jones, came in yesterday from Portland, Me., where they had been attending a meeting of the Gold King Mining Company. All three gentlemen were reticent as to the meeting, but it is learned that a re-organization was effected.

There were four million shares represented and the new scheme was carried unanimously. Reports from the property were of an entirely satisfactory nature and showed the mines in a splendid condition. C. W. Young was elected president, J. M. Johnston, vice-president, and J. D. Chipman, secretary-treasurer. Twelve directors were also elected, two of which are Col. Jones and R. C. Elkin.

PLEADS THAT THE DECEIT WAS PRAISEWORTHY

New York, N. Y., June 16.—A New York court began an inquiry today in a coup d'etat whereby $11,000 worth of firearms and ammunition purchased in New York city for the alleged purpose of upsetting the peace of Central America, was transferred between this city and their tropical destination into a thousand cases of harmless pine shavings and sawdust. The defendant is James D. Hallen, charged with grand larceny because of the disappearance of the munitions of war which, as is set forth, he contracted with an agent of the Nicaraguan Government in 1906 to deliver at their destination.

Admits Deceit.

Hallen admits that he shipped shavings and sawdust in place of rifles and powder, but defends his action on the ground that thereby he prevented a general uprising in Central America.

Entirely Praiseworthy.

His counsel today maintained that Hallen's action was entirely praiseworthy, and that any other course would have been a violation of the United States law providing that anyone who "begins on United States territory to provide or conspire for a revolution against a country which is at peace with the United States," is guilty of high misdemeanor. The trial will be continued tomorrow.
