Conversation Fest Shows Great Advantages of a Little Hardship That Increases Man's Appreciation of His Privileges.

"Don't hurry away, Bud; sit down and talk; that's the popular recreation nowadays," said Leonard V. Whenne, the village philosopher, to the interested listener, Glenn M. Farley writes in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. "We have progressed so fast and so far in the last two or three decades, and arrived at such a complicated and finely organized system of civilization, that we are practically tied up in a web of our own weaving; the war has thrown us into confusion, so the world has called a square man's meeting, and we are trying to talk ourselves out of it. Everybody has a remedy for repairing the system, and we are all standing around giving our views, and the resultant chorus is something to make angels weep."

"Three-a-day, a place to sleep and a little amusement is all I want of it," said the Interested Listener. "What are they arguing about? My idea would be for the whole gang to stop talking and go to work."
