TWELFTH YEAR. THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 15, 1891—EIGHT PAGES. ONE CENT.

THEIR ORGIE ENDED IN DEATH.

FORTY-THREE LIVES SACRIFICED AT THE ALTAR OF BACCHUS.

The Officers and Crew of the Cattle Ship City of Rome Were Drunk and the Vessel Went Down in a Calm Sea With All on Board Save One—Fuller Details of the Hurricane in Britain.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 14.—A man named John Brennan, belonging to Sligo, Ireland, arrived at Trepassa this morning from Peter's River. He says he is the only survivor of the crew of 43 men of the cattle steamer City of Rome, which became a total wreck Monday night at Marine Cove, St. Mary's Bay. He says the captain and crew were all drunk and unable to save themselves. He was thrown upon the cliff and was rescued on Tuesday morning by a man named Sandrigan.

The City of Rome had on board 575 head of cattle, a quantity of flour in sacks and Indian corn. The man tells a most pitiful tale about the struggle the crew had among the bullocks trying to save themselves. The steamer was commanded by Capt. John Thomas Nelly and left Montreal Oct. 7 for Dundee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—In answer to an inquiry, Messrs. Henderson Bros., agents in this city of the Anchor Line, have received the following:

"CAPE RACE, Nfld., Oct. 14.

"To Henderson Bros., New York:

"Your City of Rome passed east Tuesday afternoon. All well."

Is it a Fish Story?

DUNDEE, Oct. 14.—In reply to telegrams concerning the steamship City of Rome, said to have been wrecked off the coast of Newfoundland, while on a voyage to this port, it is proper to state that there is no record here of any such vessel.

Considerable excitement was occasioned in the city when a bulletin announcing the loss of the City of Rome was posted, as it was generally believed from the tenor of the despatch that the Anchor Liner City of Rome, which left New York Saturday, was the vessel which had been wrecked. Among the passengers on board the Anchor Line vessel were Douglas Pelly of Birchall trial fame, Mrs. Horne of Winnipeg, sister of Mr. A. Nairn of Jarvis-street; Miss J. McAndrew of this city and Rev. Alex. McMillan and wife of Auburn, Ont. Naturally their relatives and friends were much alarmed until further reports of the disaster dispelled their fears.

THE HURRICANE IN BRITAIN.

Immense Damage Occasioned in England and Ireland by the Storm.

LONDON, Oct 14.—The gale, which had quieted last evening, resumed the force of a hurricane at midnight. The area of the storm extends over the whole of Ireland and England and the southern portion of Scotland. A large number of coasters have been lost. The valleys of the Severn and the Dee and the low lying parts of the Midland Counties are flooded. At York the roof of a circus tent was blown off, killing a boy in the street. At Dublin the magnificent draperies of mourning displayed upon the occasion of the Parnell funeral have been entirely blown away, and the same is true of the floral decorations that have adorned the grave at Glasneven. At Cardiff and its vicinity 11 coasting vessels are ashore. The crews were all saved.

At Folkestone, one of the landing places for trans-channel steamers, the sea did great damage.

At Helensburgh, a watering place on the Frith of Clyde, the furious waves poured into the streets, flooding the houses and driving the inmates from their homes.

Two passenger trains running between Glasgow and Helensburgh were brought to a standstill by the water, which washed over and threatened to demolish the track; the fires of the locomotive were extinguished, completely stranding the trains and placing the lives of the passengers in peril. Escape from the cars was impossible, and all attempts made up to the present to reach the travelers have failed.

It is impossible as yet to give even an approximate idea of the damage.

Despatches received here from Dover, Kent, say that the hurricane is worse than the fearful weather experienced during the blizzard of March last.

The military camp at Shornclife suffered from the storm, buildings being partly or entirely unroofed. At Sunderland the hurricane unroofed a factory, the chimney of which fell upon a house and seriously injured four persons.

A telegram received at 3 p.m. from Folkestone says that a steamer flying signals of distress has been sighted off that port and seems to be in danger of becoming a total wreck. The local lifeboats have repeatedly attempted to put out to her assistance, without avail.

The list of vessels which have foundered during the gale is only beginning to be made out. Two coasting vessels, it is known, have foundered in Lochlong, a branch of the Firth of Clyde, and six men of their crews were drowned.

All the incoming steamers which have been able to make port report having encountered fearful weather.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The gale has subsided. The passengers by the White Star steamer Majestic, which could not put ashore her mails at Queenstown yesterday because of the violence of the storm, arrived safely at Liverpool to-day.

Lord Airlie Will Guard His Sister.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The action of divorce brought for a second time by Capt. Hozier, secretary of Lloyds, against his wife, Lady Henrietta Blanche, has again been settled out of court through the efforts of the Earl of Airlie, who promises to guard his sister and prevent the occurrence of further scandal.

It is not believed that any money consideration was paid this time to the gallant Captain, who threatens to pursue his wife relentlessly unless she reforms

Kissed Waitresses and Shot Himself.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—A sensational suicide occurred to-day in the crowded Thiergarten. A dissipated youth who had taken five beer-garden waitresses out for a drive in a carriage gave each of them three marks for a kiss and on arriving at the Thiergarten alighted, and telling the coachman to take the girls home, drew a pistol as his companions were waving their adieux and shot himself dead.

A paper was found pinned inside his coat bearing the following inscription: "Max Hildebrandt, Berlin. Having spent my fortune, this is the best end."

ANGLO-CANADIAN TRADE.

Steady Expansion of Exports and Imports Between Britain and Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Board of Trade returns show a steady expansion of Anglo-Canadian trade. Exports to Canada expanded 32.55 per cent. during September and 1.53 during the nine months compared with last year. Imports from Canada expanded 3 and 1.36 per cent. during the same period. The aggregate trade for the nine months was £10,492,637 against £10,343,483 for the same period in 1890. The increases are fairly general through the list. There were enormous increases in British imports of Canadian wheat and flour in the nine months, namely, £1,412,205 against £568,073. Wood imports decreased from £2,738,000 to £1,890,000.

Its lining is of the most delicate tint of blue, with an adjustable canopy top of a darker shade, the whole set off with a dainty edging of lace, giving the effect of a fleecy cloud-lined bower.

PACAUD'S PRICE WAS HIGH.

BUT HE APPEARED TO BE A NECESSARY EVIL.

How He Acted as an Agent for the Commissioner of Public Works—The Quebec Boodling Investigation Now in Progress—Threatening Letters Sent to the Commissioners.

QUEBEC, Oct. 14.—An immense crowd attended the sitting of the Royal Commission this morning. Hon. Mr. Mercier was among the many present.

Judge Jette announced that two of the commissioners had already been the recipients of threatening anonymous letters. "We are accustomed," he said, "to receive anonymous letters as judges, and I suppose we should not be surprised to receive them as commissioners, but though the commission may be revoked it cannot be intimidated or ruled."

Gustave Grenier, Clerk of the Executive Council, who, while acting as Deputy Lieut.-Governor, signed two warrants for $100,000 and $75,000 respectively, produced copies of orders-in-council authorizing these payments.

The next witness was C. N. Armstrong. The celebrated railway contractor then gave the story of his connection with the Baie des Chaleurs Railway as already published at length during the Senate inquiry. He spoke of the sub-contracts he gave, and produced his original claim against the company for $298,000, which he was afraid to lose, and only agreed to file after a solemn promise given him that it was to be returned. He also told of his difficulties in collecting the money due him, and said that when he was approached for a settlement he expressed his willingness, but agreed to be satisfied with $175,000, of which $50,000 was to be in cash.

In his recital he gradually came down to the point where he approached Mr. Cooper and told him that for about $280,000 all claims could be settled.

He stated that though he knew Mr. Garneau, Commissioner of Public Works, he did not approach him personally, but thought it was better to do so through an agent.

At this a titter went all around the courtroom, Mr. Pacaud, to whom it referred, remaining perfectly impassive, however.

Mr. Armstrong recounted how he had come to an agreement with Mr. Pacaud and how the latter arranged the whole affair with the Government. He thought that $75,000 would reward Mr. Pacaud's service towards the new syndicate, and later on in a Pullman car on the Hudson and Delaware Railway, Mr. Pacaud hinted that he would give his services as agent for $100,000. Mr. Armstrong did not think it improper to give such a large sum, as he thought it would advance public interests as well as his own.

Hon. Justice Davidson: Did Mr. Pacaud suggest this method of making business to you?

Witness: No. I suggested it to him.

Judge Davidson: Did you know how this money was to be used by Mr. Pacaud?

Witness said he understood it was for his personal use.

Mr. Armstrong said that he went with Mr. Chrysostome Langelier and Mr. Thom to the National Bank in order to negotiate a letter of credit. He thinks it was Mr. Thom who told him that they (the Government) were ready. The bank was closed but the back door was kept open by special request.

Hon. Judge Davidson: How do you expect to get your money?

The Disposition Made of the Checks.

Witness: Why, from Mr. Langelier. He holds my receipt for $175,000, and I intend to get $175,000.

Speaking of his (Armstrong) going to Pacaud's office, witness said that he went to Pacaud's office because it was the most convenient place. He very likely had previous arrangements with Mr. Pacaud before Mr. Chrysostome Langelier was there. He was not quite sure whether he had the check ready. He received five checks of $20,000 each.

Hon. Justice Davidson: Were there any instructions given you?

Witness: No.

Mr. Langelier had the checks ready made out. Witness declined to say what he did with the checks after Mr. Langelier had given them to him.

Hon. George Irvine objected to the manner in which Mr. Armstrong was examined. He claimed as Mr. Armstrong had a sum due which was uncontested he had the right of accepting the money and do with it whatever he pleased. If the amount due him was too high it was nobody's business but those who paid it.

Hon. Judge Davidson: Then you object to any enquiry being made into Mr. Pacaud's acquiring the money?

Hon Mr. Irvine: I do.

At 4 o'clock the commission adjourned.

More Big Scandals Coming Out.

QUEBEC, Oct. 14.—Ugly rumors are afloat in the Lower Town as to further boodle transactions on the part of the Mercier Government. It is said that another scandal that far surpasses that of the Baie des Chaleurs will be exposed as soon as the Legislature meets. It is in connection with the Montreal & Sorel Railway, which became insolvent and was taken over by the Grand Trunk. It will be remembered that when Sir Henry Tyler arrived here Mr. Mercier went and called on him, and, if current report is to be believed, begged him not to let the Montreal officials say anything about the matter. Sir Henry was compliant, the story goes, and nothing was said.

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED.

An Indian Murder of a Quarter of a Century Ago Reprieved.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—The Minister of Justice has decided to commute to life imprisonment the sentence of death passed on the notorious Indian Emia, of the Stone tribe, in the Chilcotin country, B.C., for the murder of a Chinaman named Ahqua some 20 years ago. The authorities have been in search of Emia ever since the murder, but till lately he has baffled them. Thousands of dollars have been spent in several unsuccessful attempts to capture him. He was convicted mainly on his own admissions, having told the Chilootin magistrate that he killed the Chinaman about 27 years ago, although the real date was 1872.

The Chinaman lived and mined in a lonely spot on the Fraser River, just below the mouth of the Chilcotin. The prisoner and a companion named Quilt reached the Chinaman's cabin at sundown in the month of June. They slept in one corner of the cabin, and during the night Emia arose and shot the Chinaman. The two Indians went back to the Stone Country, the prisoner boasting of the above facts.

The prisoner was found guilty of murder by the jury and was sentenced by the judge to be hanged on Oct. 29. He was perfectly stolid and indifferent from end to end of the trial.

He did not confess until after his capture. He stabbed another Indian lately, which caused the revival of the search for him. The captor got a reward of $600.

Peter Sharbot Acquitted.

KINGSTON, Oct. 14.—Peter Sharbot, an Indian charged with the murder of his infant child, was to-day acquitted. The only evidence against him was that of his squaw, who claimed to have seen Sharbot kill the child.

Henry Bedoe, charged with rape, was found guilty and sentenced to seven years imprisonment.

A HUNTER ON POLITICS.

Mr. Erastus Wiman Gives His Views on Various Topics.

Mr. Erastus Wiman of New York passed through the city yesterday on his way to Huntsville, where he goes to slaughter deer, this being his 26th annual visit. He is accompanied by Messrs. H. P. Dwight, W. C. Matthews, B. G. Walker, W. Dwight Wiman, A. C. Matthews and T. T. Tomlinson. He left last night to occupy the Dwight and Wiman club house for a fortnight.

Mr. Wiman chatted pleasantly with a World reporter for half an hour.

What do you think about the New York and Ohio elections? The World asked.

Mr. Wiman said: "The contest is confined to state issues. If the Republican party obtain power in New York State it is believed a new charter will be enacted which may have an important bearing on the political patronage of New York city and eventually have a bearing upon the presidential election. In Ohio," Mr. Wiman continued, "McKinley being a candidate, his tariff will be approved or rejected by his election or by his defeat. In the meantime it will be seen how important the contest is so far as reciprocity with Canada is concerned."

Do you take any interest in Canadian politics? asked The World.

"Well, I read the papers and keep posted. I think if the Government were to adopt a liberal policy towards the United States and secure for the farmer a market which they so much need, the Conservatives would lay the foundation for a perpetuation of their power for the next quarter of a century. There should be no difficulty in offering such terms to the manufacturers' party in the States as would enable them to force the Republican Government into terms favorable to Canada." Mr. Wiman did not enter into the question of annexation any further than to say that "He believes today as he has always believed, that it is unnecessary, undesirable and impossible." Continuing, he said the States are always looking for outside markets and Canada was the greatest attraction, especially so in regard to minerals and the development of the Northwest agricultural lands. "And so far as I am concerned I would like to see the day when the question of relations between the two countries would be entirely eliminated from political discussions."

It was said to-night that Mrs. Haggart has been collecting evidence both in Ottawa and New York, on the strength of which she may make application in the Senate next session for a bill of divorce.

IT WAS A RED-LETTER DAY.

JUBILANT DOINGS AT UPPER CANADA COLLEGE.

The First Public Function in the Magnificent New Pile at Deer Park—Annual Distribution of Prizes — A Brilliant Gathering—Some Admirable Speeches —All Were So Jolly.

Large was the gathering, successful the proceedings, laudatory the speeches at the first public meeting in the new home of the Upper Canada College boys at Deer Park yesterday afternoon. There was not the slightest hitch in the proceedings; all went merry as a marriage bell, and the success of the first prize distribution is a good augury for the future career of the Canadian Eton.

Shortly after the arrival of the Belt Line train the proceedings in the magnificent hall began. There was the largest gathering of friends of the college since its establishment. Amongst those present The World noticed: Hon. John Beverley Robinson, who presided; Sir Daniel Wilson, Principal Caven, G. R. R. Cockburn, M.P.; Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Dr. Larratt Smith, Rev. Dr. Scadding, Professor Goldwin Smith, Hon. R. Harcourt, Rev. Dr. Potts, Professor Ashley, Mr. W. B. McMurrich, Principal Free of Toronto Church School, Mr. H. Brock, Rev. Dr. Parsons, Librarian Bain, President Mills, Ontario Agricultural College; Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot, Rev. A. H. Baldwin, Rev. H. C. Dixon.

The chairman gave a characteristic speech. It was genial, enthusiastic, reminiscent. Once again the story of the old Blue School was told and the steps that led to the formation of the King-street college. The glorious success in every sphere of public life of Upper Canada boys was noted and aspirations for continued and increased prosperity were thick as leaves in Vallambrosa.

The Principal's Address.

Principal Dickson was greeted with loud cheers. He said: It will be my aim to preserve the best traditions of the college and all that is good in its methods and fitted for the times in which we live; it shall be the aim of the college to foster among the boys the spirit of manliness and honor that has always characterized it in the past.

A boy can get as much mathematics and science in any good day school as he can get in Upper Canada College. It is something more than a teaching machine and differs from the day school in its functions. Residential school does what the day school cannot well do; in the former the boys associate with their fellows and with the masters in school as well as out of it; it is here that formative influences are at work. It is in such schools that peculiarities of manner are toned down and independent self-reliant strong character built up.

The chief object of a residential school should be the development of character. Advanced scholarship is needed in but few callings, but they do need, in whatever walk of life they enter, industry, honesty, common sense, self-respect and regard for the rights of others.

School education should never degenerate into a race over a text-book in which nobody cares for the hindmost, and all attention to the great number is forgotten in the admiration of the few brilliant ones who lead. Scholarly attainments are not the only tests of a teacher's work, but rather the good influence exercised on the life and character of his boys. In all of our schools more stress should be laid on discipline than on the higher attainment of knowledge.

The whole influence of our Ontario schools (and Upper Canada College is pre-eminently an Ontario school) is on the side of morality as distinctly as that of the churches themselves and the best training for the Canadian citizenship is surely in a Canadian school, not one belonging to a class or section of people, but in one composed of all classes and of all denominations. In U.C.C. all Christian denominations and all the races composing our Canadian nationality are represented. In our enrolment we have boys from every county of Ontario and from every province of the Dominion, so that they go out into the world with a knowledge of our country, her institutions and the spirit of our people that cannot well be obtained in schools patronized only by a section.

In order, if possible, to carry this scheme a step farther than is usually attempted in schools, I have arranged for a course of Friday afternoon lectures on practical subjects of great interest to us as Canadians. In November next the course will begin and will be continued during the winter and spring months. The following are some of the subjects definitely arranged for: "Our Canals and Our Waterways," "Our Postal System," "Our Mineral Resources," "Our Forest Trees," "Our Agricultural Resources," "Our Railways," "Our Militia System and Coast Defences," "How We Are Governed."

Several important changes have been made in the curriculum of the college in order to meet the demands of the times. We retain the old classical course, in which the chief studies are Latin, Greek, French and German, mathematics, English and the elementary sciences. A new departure is made, however, in instituting a commercial department that will combine, as far as possible, the culture of a classical course with that of the practical training required in a business education: Mathematics and English bookkeeping and commercial studies generally; a knowledge of banking as far as it can be taught in schools, phonography and typewriting, commercial geography, beginning with the physical features of Canada, showing the distribution of our mineral, forest and agricultural lands. Already we have 73 taking this course, 55 in phonography and 24 ready to begin typewriting as soon as the room is in readiness for the work.

Under the direction of Mr. W. Elliott Haslam, who has already secured the services of efficient professors of the various instruments which any of the pupils have expressed a wish to study. I hope to see music hold the same important position in U. C. C. that it holds in the great English colleges, such as Rugby, Harrow, Eton and Uppingham.

In the department of physical culture much has been done in the past, but with better facilities now for carrying it on we hope for better results. College sports, properly organized, playgrounds of ample proportion so that hundreds can engage in health-giving and strengthening games; the hearty co-operation of the masters in this as well as in all other departments, a large gymnasium equipped with all the necessary apparatus are some of the means for carrying on the work.

BETTER THAN THE OLD WAY.

That Is What the Real Estate Men Say About The World's Real Estate Guide.

The World has made a canvass of the real estate men in order to get the opinion of practical real estate men as to what they think of the "Guide," and their opinion is almost unanimously in favor of it, as it enables them to keep their property before the public in a convenient form and at a reasonable cost. The World extends its thanks to the real estate fraternity for the hearty support they have given it. It is customary to take hold of a new idea rather gingerly, and now that the steady growth of the Guide has assured its success we feel confident of receiving in the future even more hearty support than in the past.

To those in search of houses either to rent or to buy we will say The World's Guide has more houses listed than any other paper in the city of Toronto. Consequently The World is the paper for house hunters. We have started a separate list of stores and offices for sale and to let and of property wanted.

To the public we would say keep your eye on the Guide and watch it develop.

ARRESTED AT PRESTON.

An Alleged New York Abscouder Who Was Enjoying the Mineral Baths.

PRESTON, Ont., Oct. 14.—In September last the firm of Cohn, Schoman & Co. of New York, dealers in drygoods, got into financial difficulties. Their liabilities were $200,000. It is said that a warrant was issued against Walter J. Cohn, one of the partners, on a charge of grand larceny, but it was never executed, as Cohn left the country. He was suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, and he came to Preston, having heard of the mineral baths there.

The creditors employed Louis A. Newcombe, proprietor of Newcombe's detective agency in New York, to hunt up Cohn. The detective tracked him to Preston. Cohn remarked to his lawyer that he intended to go to Europe. The lawyers then arranged to have a capias issued against Cohn, and he was arrested yesterday.

GUILTY OF AN AWFUL CRIME.

A Case Tried at Cobourg Yesterday Almost Without a Parallel.

COBOURG, Oct. 14.—At the Assizes do-day George Washington Hearns was placed on trial on a charge of incest, the complainant being his sister, Malvina Jane Hearns, who yesterday was acquitted on a charge of murdering her infant. The girl testified that on the night of Aug. 10, 1890, her brother entered her room and forced her to submit to him. A letter written by the prisoner to his sister while in jail was produced, in which Hearn tried to induce Malvina to say that one Jack Wicks was the party who committed the assault upon her. The father, mother and brothers of the prisoner attempted to prove an alibi, all swearing that George was not at home on the night in question. The jury found the prisoner guilty and he was sentenced to four years' confinement in Kingston Penitentiary.

THE CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

The Royal Commission Appointed to Correct Abuses at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—The Royal Commission to enquire into the management of the civil service promised by Premier Abbott during last session has been appointed. The members are George Hague, manager of the Merchants' Bank, Montreal; E. Barbeau, manager of the Credit Foncier, Montreal; Judge Burbidge of the Exchequer Court, and J. M. Courtney, deputy minister of finance. The secretary is D. Mathieson, chief of the money order branch of the Postoffice Department. It will be noticed that the commission is in nonsense a political one.

The C.P.R. Extension.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 14.—A letter has been received from Mr. Van Horne by Mr. Robert Henry stating that the money market is so much easier now that the directors of the C.P.R. hope to be able to float their securities for the cost of constructing the line from Woodstock to the Niagara River at an early date and upon favorable terms. It is understood that Mr. VanHorne is particularly anxious to have the line built in time to carry passengers and freight to and from the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893.

All Hail! The Hunters.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., Oct. 14.—The Gazette says: Every train and steamer brings in a fresh lot of hunters, with guns and dogs, and soon the woods will be full of them. Our people give them a hearty welcome, as they generally bring more here than they take away. Even the most successful of the hunting parties never pay expenses out of the hunt, and but few of them expect to. However, they do, generally at least, derive benefit to the health from the tramp in the bush, and return to their city homes enabled to do their work with greater ease and relish.

Killed By the Fall of a Cage.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 14.—The cageman at shaft No. 2 of the Niagara Falls tunnel lost control of the cage at 1 o'clock this afternoon and it fell, descending into one of the elevator carriages loaded with men. The names of the killed are Abraham Brown, a negro, and Saverio Chiavello, an Italian. One of the injured, John Brown, a negro, cannot live. The cage-tenders were in danger of being lynched by the tunnel men and they were locked up in the police station for safety. Two topmen have been arrested, as it is thought the casualty occurred through their carelessness.

Yesterday's Cabinet Meeting.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—The Cabinet sat today and had for consideration, among other questions, that of the suspended clerks. It is understood that in all cases of extra pay for extra work the clerks will be restored where no other offence was committed, on the ground that heads of departments under Liberal and Conservative Governments alike were aware of and permitted the practice As regards a reconstruction of the Cabinet nothing was done.

Both Feet Amputated.

Some time ago he was inflicted with decay of the bone, and first the foot and then portions of the leg, as the disease worked its way upward, were amputated, till four successive operations had been performed. Then the trouble broke out in the other foot. That, too, has been amputated and the old man is still alive.
