TO SERVE WRITTEN NOTICE ON GAS CO.

J. M. Donahue Receives Instructions From Municipal Board.

J. M. Donahue, solicitor for the trades and labor council, who recently entered action under the Ontario municipal and railway board on behalf of George Murphy and other gas consumers, asking for an injunction restraining the City Gas Company from imposing "ready-to-serve" charges, has been notified by the board to serve written notice upon the defendants. This formality complied with, the gas company will have ten days in which to file a reply.

City Clerk Baker has written to Mr. Donahue, announcing that for the present the city council will take no action in the matter. It is understood, however, that the city will be obliged to enter the action either as co-plaintiff or co-deefndant, the individual gas consumers not having any direct agreement with the company.

WILL SPEAK TO MASS MEETING OF VETERANS

J. Harry Flynn Will Be In London Next Week to Talk on Bonus Question.

J. Harry Flynn, Dominion organizer for the Grand Army of United Veterans, will speak to a mass meeting of the veterans of the city some time next week on the bonus question. No definite arrangements have been made as to the date, but it is thought that if the meeting cannot be held in conjunction with the band concert the G. W. V. A. is holding, when C. Bowie of Toronto will speak to them on the bonus question, a special meeting will be called the night after.

Mr. Flynn purposes speaking on the question of whether the bonus the soldiers asked for should be accepted in a lump sum or in monthly payments. The scale the soldiers presented provides that each man who served in France must receive $1 a day for the time he was in the army. For those who served in England 75 cents per day is asked for the whole time they were in the army, and those who were unfortunate enough not to leave Canada to receive 50 cents per day for the number of days they were in the army. It is understood that a man who served in France and is not discharged yet will receive $1 for every day he has been in the army. The same applies to those who went to England, and for those who stayed in Canada.

The G. W. V. A. is expecting Mr. Bowie to speak at a band concert in the Majestic Theatre on Sunday, November 28. It was suggested by the G. A. U. V. that the band concert be postponed till a later date, and that Mr. Bowie and Mr. Flynn speak at one meeting.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—There was further contraction of business on the stock exchange this morning, traders hesitating to place orders for the more speculative issues, and Atlantic Sugar finished the morning with no transactions marked to its credit. Abitibi led in point of activity, and even in this issue only 200 shares were marketed. Opening weakly at 57, buying sent the price up to last night's closing price. B. C. Fishing lost 1½ at 36⅝, while Dominion Canners was extremely weak at 29⅞@29. Changes in other stocks were limited to fractions.

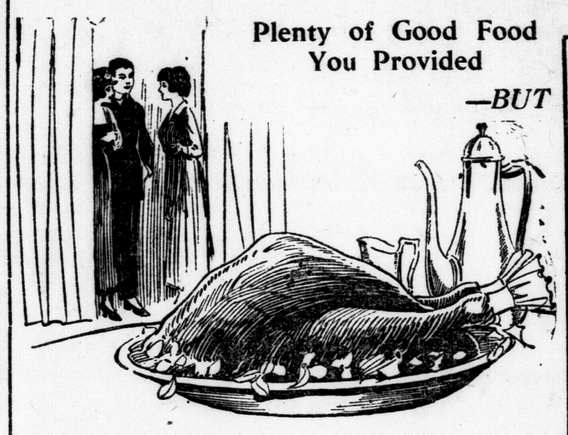
"Thomas' On-to-Christmas Drive"

To Place Live Stock Ahead of Children Wasn't Your Intention!



Plenty of Good Food You Provided —BUT

Don't you suppose that blushing bride of years ago still has cherished hopes of a real fine home?

They'll Hate To Go Back!

When Tom, Dick—the boys, and the girls—come home for the holidays this Christmas what will their impressions be? Sure, they'll be glad to see the old folks, and the old home, too.

Will the fact that the live stock has been shown the preference be imposed on their minds. Will they realize the simple reason why they left home?

Now, what about a surprise for them? Let's fix up the old home with all new furniture. When they see just how grand it all is they'll hate to leave it. Like as not you'll see them staying a day or two longer, anyway. The closer relations between parents and children, for which you have longed for, will then be established, and it'll be "back to the farm."

Should you not wish to invest the full purchase price right now, any furniture may be purchased on the Club Plan, which provides for a payment of one-third when purchase is made, balance within one year.

Give Them a Real Surprise!

Did Your Boy Leave the Farm---Your Farm?

HOUSEHOLD EFFECTS $500?

Recently a farmer died, leaving an estate valued at $25,000. Of that sum, $500 represented "household effects."

Before his death he frequently deplored the fact that his grown-up children had left home and gone to the city. His disappointment was not that he had lost money by their desertion, which had compelled him to leave part of his farm unworked for want of help. He was an affectionate father, who liked to have his children near him. He could not understand why they should want to drift away one by one.

Strangers may have wondered also until they read that item in the inventory of the estate—"Household effects, $500."

There were four sons and two daughters. A piece of furniture had been added to the house from time to time, generally the second-hand furniture store supplied the need. For years the family managed with just as little and as cheap furniture as could be made serve their turn. The stable and barn were comfortable, but inside the old farmstead there was neither comfort nor beauty.

An item in the inventory showed $6,000 invested in securities paying 6 per cent. Part of that money invested in comfortable, artistic furniture would have transformed the farmhouse into a real home and would have paid the farmer infinitely better, both in cash and moral dividends.

The house furnished with suitable and moderately priced furniture, instead of its scattering of cheap odds and ends, would have attracted the children. Children naturally love the beautiful, and their natures crave for its presence. Some of the boys might have been inclined to remain on the farm and the mother might not have been left alone to carry on the dairying and other duties.

Waiting For Better Days

For a generation that family had lived in a house with an irreducible minimum of furniture. When as a young fellow the farmer had taken his blushing bride home, he did not have a great deal of money to put into furniture. Both were content to wait for better days. But when better days came, and there was a modest sum available, it was spent on better accommodations and furnishings for the live stock. That was fine. That was humane. It was also good business.

One of the Best In Several Counties

In time the farm came to be one of the best equipped in several counties. The machinery was of the very latest and best description. The live stock were glad and content to stay on the farm. But the young folks were not content to stay.

A Hard Chest Against the Wall

Bare walls and scantily covered floors, a hard chest against the wall in lieu of a couch, offer feeble counter-attractions to the lure of the luxurious city.

The children who deserted the farm probably did not blame the lack of home comforts for their desertion. They were not jealous of the cows and horses because of their more comfortable quarters. They carried away with them many happy memories of the old homestead.

But they went, and can you wonder, when you read that illuminating item?—"Household effects, $500."

---Was It, Now, Mr. Farmer?

PLENTY OF WORK THEY HAD, —BUT

Well—Take a good look at the Furniture yourself. In truth

Is It Your Ideal?

Thomas' idea is not to sell furniture, and furniture only. We go further than that. The endeavor is to sell the idea of better homes—for, do they not mean greater happiness?

Listen! You say it takes you away from the farm to come into the city. Of course it does. It certainly is time well spent. Indeed, how can you spend it to better advantage right now—you have the money. The family will vote you the most popular man in two counties if you do.

So that you'll feel Thomas and you are great friends. Sit down now and write a card saying you are coming, say next week. Here's the reply you'll get by return mail:

Mr. Farmer, R. R. 4, Ilderton:

Dear Sir, Thank you kindly for your letter of yesterday. Mrs. —— will be more than interested in the completely-furnished bungalow, so that altogether you'll spend a delightful day.

Your letter has been turned over to the sales manager, whose card is inclosed. Just present this card on your arrival and he will see that you receive careful attention.

Again thanking you, we are

Besides selecting their house leader, the Conservatives decided to remain intact, refusing to form any coalition with either the government or the farmers' party in the Legislature, though, on the matter of selecting a Speaker for the coming session, they will support the choice of the government.

EMPLOYMENT ISSUE UNDER CONSIDERATION OF LABOR LEADERS

Executive Council Plans to Meet Conditions Arising From Readjustment.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Facing an increasingly serious problem in unemployment in the United States and conditions contributing to it, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor continued its sessions here today looking to the formation of a policy of action to safeguard labor's interests in the present industrial situation.

While threats of radical elements to undermine conservative leadership in the organized labor movement are understood to have been the primary concern of the executive council on convening last week, its attention has been more and more claimed during the sessions by increase in unemployment consequent upon industrial readjustment. Although it became known yesterday that direct steps to eliminate radicalism from any control in labor councils, and to meet the menace of increasing unemployment had been determined upon by the United States labor leaders, there has been no definite revelation of the measures and policies thus far agreed upon.

U. S. FARMERS PLAN STRIKE

Claim They Are Being Robbed of Just Profits by Low Prices.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 18.—A nationwide producers' strike to combat the falling prices of farm products was urged in a call sent out today by the National Farmers' Union to its local unions throughout the country.

The call, in the form of a resolution adopted at the national convention of the organization, which represent producers of grain, cotton, wool and livestock, said to number 800,000. The proposed strike was urged in retaliation for what the convention considered abnormal deflation in prices of farm products, through which, it was asserted the farmers of the United States have been robbed of one billion dollars in reduced value of products now on hand. All farmers were urged to hold this year's production from the markets until "profit taking levels" were restored.

Wheat Being Held.

The action of the National Farmers' Union was in line with a "wheat strike" called several weeks ago by the Wheat Growers' Association of the United States. Delegates asserted a considerable quantity of this year's wheat crop was being held off the market by farmers.

Reduction of production in the future was threatened "unless the prices of our products are fairly readjusted to the end that we may obtain just returns for our labors and investments" is another resolution approved by the convention.

Officials of the organization pointed out that members were not under obligation to obey the terms of the strike, but expressed the belief that such a movement would be effective. A conference of representatives of all farmers' organizations of the United States was called to meet in St. Louis December 16 to consider the creation of a national farm marketing board.

Contrary to expectations, "Curley" O'Neil, though brought to the city yesterday from Moose Jaw, where he was arrested, was not called to give evidence. It was stated that he will probably be called at the inquest into the death of Constable Uttley next Tuesday evening.
