DUKE IS READY FOR SOME HARD WORK IN CANADA

Energetic Man Who Detests Anything Like an Ornamental Job

A MAN FOR THE PEOPLE

New Governor-General as Soldier and Prince—Characteristics of The Duchess and Princess Patricia — A Family Picture

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, Sept. 23—Probably the Duke of Connaught has often found his "royal highness-ship" a hindrance for he is above all things a soldier, an energetic man who detests anything in the nature of an ornamental job, and I am told by a close personal friend of his and of the late King Edward's that he is looking forward to his stay in Canada as a chance to do some real hard work.

The duke's great opportunity came when he went to South Africa last year to open the first parliament of the union, and he took hold of it with both hands. From the first, he made friends by his simple, unaffected manner, with which just the right amount of royal dignity is combined, and this was the secret of his success—not a complimentary success because of his blood; but a real success that helped knit the empire.

"He was always so human," said a friend to me the other day—a friend who was in Africa with him. "He used to look as if he really liked laying foundation stones, and even the deadly business of receiving addresses did not bore him. He must have had dozens presented to him yet he always looked intersted and I more than half believe he was, though it sounds incredible. When he spoke, it was not for the formal utterance of a representative of the king, but real live sentiment spoken in a musical voice and containing not seldom some arresting phrase that struck in his hearer's minds.

"Before he had been in Africa long, it got about that at wayside stations where his train stopped, it was his custom to get out and walk up and down the station chatting with any one who happened to be about, getting glimpses of the real condition of things in all ranks in the new colony. Consequently farmers and miners would come for miles on the off-chance of having a chat with him. It's surprising how many of them succeeded."

The duke dislikes being addressed as "Your Royal Highness." Some time ago a fussy colonel used this form of address on parade, and the duke finally said: "On military parade, I am 'Sir' and nothing else."

Influence With The King

Perhaps it is not generally known that the Duke of Connaught has an extraordinary influence over King George, who consults him on almost every subject of any importance. During the life of the late king, the younger brother had practically no influence at all and was in the background altogether. It is well-known that the duke chafed very much against not being allowed to go out to South Africa during the Boer war. But Queen Victoria was adamant no doubt made doubly determined on the point as she had already lost one son in the Ashanti war.

The Duchess of Connaught, though not of such a simple nature as her husband, will get on well in Canada. She is the daughter of a great German prince, and is always very much on her dignity. She found things rather difficult here, but in Canada there will be no question of precedence, so her greatest trouble here will be over.

She is, however, one of the shyest women in the world, and her daughter, Princess Patricia, told how, on one of their foreign tours, she almost had to push her mother into the room for the receptions. The more easy-going life in Canada will probably lessen her embarrassment on these occasions.

The Pioneers

There is no shyness about Princess Patricia. A more charming girl it would be hard to find anywhere. She is the lucky possessor of a sunny disposition and always becomes immensely popular wherever she goes. She is fond of all outdoor amusements, rides well and plays a first-class game of golf. She is quite a clever water-color artist, and of course, a fine linguist.

A rare quality possessed by this interesting princess is that called odic force—a power which tells its owner when he or she is near water or metals. Her hobby is collecting uncut and semi-precious stones, of which she has quite a large number of considerable value. She is quite "unprincessy" in ways and looks. She has gone about pretty much where she chose—in fact, King Edward thought she ought to have a lady-in-waiting of her own on account of her independence and her taste for going about incognito on the tops of omnibusses. She has traveled nearly all over the world and being quick to imbibe new ideas is unusually broad-minded.

In fact, an entire absence of "side" from all the three members of this good-looking Connaught family should insure their quick popularity among the people of Canada. As an indication of this I can tell a story of them. Some friends of mine were invited to spend an afternoon with them some years ago when the Connaught' children were youngsters. These friends were much beloved by the princesses, and were asked in especially on their account. One of them told me about it next day. "And, my dear,' said she, "what do you think we did? The whole six of us spent the afternonn playing hide and seek! The duke seemed to enjoy it most of all, but I can assure you I was utterly worn out.

Notables Take Land in Canada

It is quite "the thing" nowadays to go for a holiday trip to Canada, and a number of notable folk have been setting this good example this year. Some of them go only for a trip, but some others have a more serious end in view—taking up land, or making a permenent home in the dominion. Of the latter, are George and Lady Ileene Campbell, who will have arrived in Canada by the time you read this.

Mr. Campbell has lived on his estate in Argyllshire ever since he came of age and the greatest regret is felt there at his departure. He and his wife have always taken a lively interest in Tarbert and its people and the esteem in which they are held was shown by the gift of a gold watch-bracelet to Lady Ileene before she left and a check for her two sons to buy whatever souvenir they liked. The Campbells will be away for two years at any rate.

The Marquis of Stafford and Viscount Castlereagh are also breaking fresh ground in Canada. The young marquis' father, the Duke of Sutherland, as you of course know, has considerable estates in Canada, and he has gone out to inspect them, the duke wishing him to have a personal knowledge of his possessions. The marquis will have some big game shooting in British Columbia before he comes home.

Following on these two, the announcement is just made that Lord Somers has resigned his commission in the 1st Life Guards and will proceed soon to Canada. This young man is a bachelor and a grandson of a former lord high chancellor of Great Britain.

Canadians in England

There are still a number of Canadians in England, tempted to linger no doubt by the unusually beautiful autumn which has followed on the first real summer that England has seen for many years. Miss Nordheimer of Toronto is staying with her uncle, Colonel Taylor in Cheltenham, and Miss G. Rolph of the same city is staying at Ryde in the Isle of Wight. George H. Wilkes, government commissioner for Victoria Park, Niagara Falls and Norman Gurd, K. C. of Sarnia, will return by the "Corinthian" this week.

The engagements of interest to Canadians have just been announced. The first is between Hugh Malet, only son of the late Lieut. W. Boileau Charter, R. N., and Josephine, daughter of the Rev. David and Mrs. Holmes of Duncans, B. C. The second is that of John Ulick Scotney-George, fifth son of the late E. C. George, I. C. S., and Evelyn Morgan-Smith, second daughter of Frederic William Smith of Weybridge. The wedding will take place early next month at Kamloops, B. C.

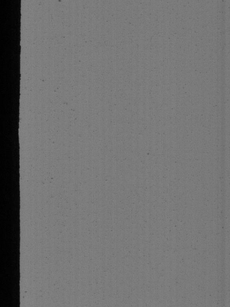
Uses Only Cuticura Soap for Prize Baby

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and ointment for my baby and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even cry like as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'" (Signed) Mrs. G. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Although Cuticura Soap is sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a postal to "Cuticura," Dept. 2M, Boston, U. S. A., will secure a liberal sample, with 32-p. book on the care of skin, scalp and hair.



REASSURING MOROCCO

"Don't be afraid, my colored friend. We shall only each take a little bit."—Kikeriki (Vienna)

DEFENCE BEGUN IN THE RUSSELL CASE

Montreal, Oct. 3—The defence in the Russell case started this afternoon, their chief witness being Chief Carpenter, of the Montreal detective department. Chief Carpenter gave a detailed statement of his relations with Mr. Russell, and his actions in connection with the case.

In various respects his evidence differed from that given by Mr. Russell. He denied having told Mr. Russell that his life was in danger, but said that this had been stated by Mr. Russell himself. He, however, admitted that he had given Mr. Russell his own revolver, when the latter had told him he was being dogged by tough-looking men, and thought his life was in danger.

As to his connection with the alleged "asylum plot," Chief Carpenter said that he had been communicated with by Moses Cochenthaler, David Russell's friend, who told him that Russell seemed to have lost his reason and that something must be done to prevent him from going to Pittsburg, and that he (Cochenthaler) had wired David Russell's brother at St. John to go to New York and try to look after him.

Earlier in the afternoon the deposition of Sir Donald Mann, which had been taken at the Windsor hotel, owing to his continued illness, was read. Sir Donald's evidence was merely to the effect that he had been in New York on the dates indicated by previous evidence, and that he had gone there via Buffalo, not Montreal. Sir Donald Mann said he did not know McNamara or the Pinkertons.

Dr. Roddick Apologized to Russell

The evidence of Dr. T. G. Roddick, as taken at Atlantic City by a commission, was also read. It consisted of a series of questions, in the course of which Dr. Roddick said he had been consulted by one of David Russell's brothers when he attended a conference with him, Cochenthaler, McNamara and possibly Carpenter, with a view to his going to New York to meet David Russell and see him professionally. Dr. Roddick said he had not gone to New York, but had given them a letter of introduction to an eminent nerve specialist.

Under cross-examination, Dr. Roddick stated that he had not prescribed for or seen Mr. Russell for some time previous to this conference. Nor had he made any examination of the plaintiff. He also denied that McNamara had consulted him regarding Mr. Russell's condition.

Dr. Roddick, however, admitted that without having examined Mr. Russell at all he had prescribed for him. This he did, he said, because he knew Mr. Russell's constitution and condition, having prescribed for him before, and the prescription he made was one which could not possibly do him any harm.

Dr. Roddick also admitted having subsequently written a letter to Mr. Russell apologizing for his action, stating that he had doubtless been misinformed as to his condition.

J. R. Gilliland, formerly of St. John, testified that on October 20, he went to the Windsor to meet John Russell, Mr. Racine, Mr. Cochenthaler, and Mr. McNamara. The latter said D. Russell was not in his right mind and should be placed somewhere to get treatment and a rest.

LEAVES FRIEND $100,000 TO BE SPENT IN CHARITY

Dr. Augusto Reed Entrusts Large Sum to Woman to Carry on Her Life Work

New York, Oct. 3—With an absolute belief that her friend, Mrs. William Grant Brown, would spend $100,000 exactly as she would spend it, Dr. Augusta Reed, wife of Charles B. Reed, left this sum to Mrs. Brown, to carry on Dr. Reed's life work. Dr. Reed died on February 9, Her husband's death followed a few week's later.

Dr. Reed's life was an intensely interesting one, according to Mrs. Brown. She was a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons but never practiced professionally, although she applied her knowledge and skill to relieving distress. As her home was in Greenwich she became particularly interested in the public school system of Connecticut. Through her efforts "humane education" became a part of the curriculum there. The humane treatment of animals was her particular hobby, and she started the movement for the animal fountain at Riverside Drive and 116th street.

Dr. Reed was also a stockholder in the Federation of Women's Club Hotel, of which Mrs. Brown is a director. It will be in the interest of this hotel that Mrs. Brown will use a part of the Reed fund. Mrs. Brown is president of the Federation of Women's Club of this city.

It leads to indigestion, biliousness, impure blood, bad complexion, sick headaches, and is one of the most frequent causes of appendicitis. To neglect it is now suicide. SANDY POINT ROAD FOR A PRISON FARM

Councillors to Go Abroad to Look At Work Elsewhere

COURT HOUSE MATTER

Report on Market Square Proposal Referred Back — Order For Plebercite in Lancaster on Liquor Question is Passed—General Business of The Council

Some important matters engaged the county councillors yesterday.

The prison farm committee reported that the most favorable location for a prison farm on city property was on the site of the isolation hospital on the Sandy Point Road, and also recommended that a delegation be sent to Guelph (Ont.), and to Mansfield (O.), to gather information on the scheme. The committee also advised that the system of confining boys in the Industrial Home was conducive to reformation, and suggested that after a certain time they be allowed to go out upon farms in the province.

Warden Connoly was in the chair when the session opened. The reading of the finance committee's report by Councillor Curren was the first business, and several bills were ordered paid. A bill for $115.94 from F. E. Jones for wiring the court house was cut down to $100, the contract price. Dr. Berryman's bill for $20 for summoning the grand jury in his capacity as acting sheriff was held to await further information.

In answer to Coun. Hayes, the county secretary said that the present sheriff had drawn salary only from the time of his assumption of his duties and the county would be saved the amount accumulating in the lapse of time since the late sheriff's death.

The high sheriff's salary was fixed at $1,000.

James Dow was granted $15 for his services in capturing the lunatic running at large in the vicinity of Spruce Lake.

An order was passed requiring the county tax bills to be made up and sent out from the treasurer's office instead of by the tax collectors. On motion of Coun. J. B. Jones a section was added requiring the collectors to make returns and pay in the cash collected at least once a month.

A recommendation requiring junk dealers doing business in the parishes to take out licenses, provoked some discussion.

Coun. C. T. Jones objected to the section and it was agreed that in case of dealers proving they had paid the license fee of $35 in the city that they should be relieved in the county.

Peddlers' Licenses.

The next section dealt with the collection of the peddlers' licenses and Coun. J. B. Jones suggested that the money collected be sent at once to the county treasurer and that he should apportion it among the highway boards.

Coun. Frink said the secretary's salary had been fixed and it was understood should cover all fees which might be collected.

Coun. Curren explained that the enforcing of the laws was not necessarily a part of the county's secretary's duties and that he might be asked to act for the county in his private capacity.

Coun. Cochran spoke very strongly of the injustice which the peddling business was to the merchants of the county who paid heavy taxes and said that if they could not get justice from the council they would go to the legislature.

After some discussion, Coun. Frink's motion to make the collection part of the secretary's duties was adopted.

The turnkey in the jail was granted two weeks leave of absence.

An order was passed directing the civic assessors to return the county assessment warrents to the secretary.

The commissioners of the Municipal Home were asked to call for tenders for any expenditures over $50 and to open their accounts for the outside relief fund to the county auditor.

The buildings committee reported that they had been unable to secure any masons to figure on the repairs to the front of the court house, and also recommended minor improvements in the court house, including the lowering of the judge's desk in the court room, and the rearrangement of the tables. The report was adopted.

Coun. Dean then read the report of the special committee on the municipal building, which gave figures to show the cost as compared with the cost of maintaining the city departments in the separate buildings under the present arrangement.

The figures follow:

Cost of Maintenance—Present System.

Average cost court house and jail	$ 1,910.97
Board of health	202.00
City hall, figures furnished by Director Wisely	4,000.00
Water works building and land occupied	1,040.00
King street lots	60.00
Ferry building	500.00
Equity court and law library	1,450.00
Government rooms	600.00
Total	$ 9,762.97

Receipts From Sales.

City Hall	$ 50,000.00
Water and sewerage building	6,000.00
Six lots occupied by water and sewerage building	6,000.00
King street east lot	1,500.00
Court House	20,000.00
Total	$ 83,500.00
Cost of new building	$300,000.00
Less sale of city properties	83,500.00
Amount to raise	$216,500.00

Annual Cost of New Building.

Interest on $216,500.00	$ 7,577.50
Sinking fund	2,559.03
Heating, two firemen	1,000.00
Two janitors	1,200.00
Coal	1,400.00
Repairs	1,000.00
Total	$ 14,736.53

Coun Dean then figured out that with the revenue derived from renting office space to the government that the new building would cost the taxpayers only $955.56 more each year.

Coun. Dean moved the adoption of the report which gave the building committee power to dispose of the city properties and call for tenders for the construction of the new $300,000 building in Market square.

In moving that the report be referred back, Coun. Hayes said the councillors should not be hasty in such an important matter and he was decidedly opposed to using Market square as a site.

Coun. Donovan, in the course of a stirring little speech, said that he did not consider the present court house fit to stable a calf. He was heartily ashamed when he went to the little town of Woodstock and saw a handsome building there. He thought the city aldermen should either say they did not want a building or else go ahead at once. Coun. Cochran supported Coun. Donovan, while Coun. Codner favored the consideration of the report after striking out the provision to have Market square as the site.

Coun. Frink reminded the councillors that the adoption of the section would add nearly $300,000 to the bonded indebtedness of the city, which had already assumed large proportions. The amendment of Ald. Hayes was adopted.

Coun. Cochran reported for the prison reform committee along the lines stated above. The Municipal Home property and the Industrial Home farm were not found to be suitably located for the purpose but the Sandy Point property surrounding the Isolation Hospital fulfilled all requirements. Coun. Cochran submitted a plan of the farm and the councillors received the report and expressed approval of the progress made.

On motion of Ald. J. B. Jones the petition for the plebiscite on liquor license in Lancaster was read and the order passed. Ald. Hayes moved that the county secretary be the returning officer and this was adopted. Coun. Fox asked the council to sanction a change in the route of the Lancaster sewerage system on the eastern side of the C. P. R. track, and this was granted.

Barnhill, Ewing & Sanford wrote on behalf of the estate of George Gilbert notifying the city it was removing gravel from the estate without any right, Margaret Sullivan having no right or title to the property when she sold the same to the city. This was referred to Coun. Donovan and the secretary.

Duck Cove Complaint.

D. R. Jack wrote on behalf of residents of Duck Cove and the Bay Shore complaining of disorderly characters bathing without costumes and otherwise making themselves disagreeable, asking that two policemen be engaged to patrol the shore instead of one as at present. The request was laid over until the spring when the constables are appointed.

The directors of the Fernhill cemetery wrote asking that the name of Marsh road be changed to Fernhill avenue.

It was at this point that Coun. Hayes called attention to the fact that there was not a quorum present and Coun. C. T. Jones gave notice that he would move at the next session that any member not present without a reasonable excuse would be docked of his pay for that session.

County Secretary Kelley made a vigorous protest at being required to do all the work for the municipal elections and plebiscite. He had paid out all his salary last year excepting $900 for clerical work and he could not do it any longer.

Coun. Cochran moved that a male clerk be employed for three weeks, but this motion was not put on account of there being no quorum. Ald. Hayes made a few pointed remarks about the matter. He said that the county secretary had agreed to accept the position at $1,000, but through conniving and scheming outside the door at the time he was appointed by some aldermen who had not voted for him at first he had been paid $2,000. This was supposed to cover all fees and office help and if there was to be an application for extra salary it must come in the regular way.

There being no quorum the council adjourned automatically just at 6 o'clock.

Wonderful Change When Health Was Restored by

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Headache is a symptom and not a disease in itself. It acts as a danger signal to warn you of serious trouble.

By reading Mr. Donneral's letter you will be satisfied that there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of building up the system and removing the cause of headaches, sleeplessness and indigestion.

Mr. Charles Donneral, Glenburg, Ont., writes: "I wish to communicate to you the great cure which I received from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I took medicines from physicians, but the headaches persisted, and I was rarely free from them.

"Reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I began using it, with little idea that I would be benefited. I had become thin and weak, but the very first box helped me, and with continued treatment I have been cured and feel like a new man. NE TEMERE DECREE RESOLUTION SENT TO A COMMITTEE

Presbyterian Synod Session in Charlottetown Yesterday Afternoon — Rev. Dr. Archibald New Moderator

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 3—The members of the Presbyterian Synod held a conference on Sunday school work this afternoon, preceding the regular meeting which will open tonight. Dr. Duncan, of Toronto, the first speaker, emphasized the value of graded lessons. He said the problem of Sunday school work would be solved if we had trained teachers.

Rev. W. A. Doss, secretary of the P. E. Island and New Brunswick Sunday School Association, outlined the standard of excellency which schools should aim to reach.

The discussion was continued by Rev. J. W. Nicholson, of Dartmouth; Rev. A. M. McLeod, of Clifton (N. B.); Rev. J. H. Brownell, of Port Elgin (N. B.), and Rev. R. G. Strathie, of Charlottetown. Mr. Strathie said that although the church has provided an excellent series of handbooks, teacher training had not been taken hold of to any extent. The objection among young people to systematic application and the exodus of so many to the west are discouraging features of the situation, although there are many counterbalancing elements.

The conference on evangelism was then resumed, and the following recommendations submitted:

(1). Wherever practical Presbyterians should be encouraged to continue evangelical effort.

(2). Ministers should use all diligence to lead children in the congregation to definitely accept Christ.

(3). Where suitable leaders can be secured, ministerial conferences should be held for the deepening of spiritual life.

(4). The committee on evangelism be instructed to confer with the faculty of Pine Hill College as to the feasibility of holding examinations on certain special courses of lectures.

Rev. Dr. Clarence McKinnon, principal of Pine Hil, spoke on Some Ministerial Problems. These included church discipline, how to deal with drunkenness in church members, breaking up of fallow ground that is bringing all reserves of church life into action by means of systematic visitation. He favored holding a ministerial conference for mutual spiritual stimulus and inspiration.

The retiring moderator of the synod, Rev. John Murray, preached tonight. The new moderator is Rev. Dr. W. P. Archibald, of Springhill (N. S.) Other nominations were Rev. Anderson Rogers, Halifax; Rev. Dr. T. C. Jack, North Sydney.

Rev. W. M. Rochester, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, spoke on the work of the society which, he said, was steadily gaining in prestige.

A resolution, moved by Rev. Dr. W. H. Smith, of Fredericton (N. B.), condemning the promulgation of the "Ne Temere Decree," on five different grounds, was referred to a committee for consideration.

BONES OF MAMMOTH ARE DUG UP ON A FARM IN ONTARIO

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 3—Parts of a skeleton of a mammoth animal have been found on a farm in Aldborough township, near Rodney, by the owner, William Lipon, who, with a companion, was digging a large ditch. A lower jaw of some animal was unearthed, which measured more than four feet in length. The teeth were in splendid condition and four inches and eight inches long. Later there were brought to light two ribs seven feet long, a shoulder blade and the "atlas" or bone which connects the spine with the skull, all in good condition.

The last portion of the skeleton measures ten times as large as that of the biggest horse. It is a tusk. Fragments of such a skeleton were found on the farm close to the present place some years ago and also on a farm near Clachan twenty years ago.
