SUNDAY BILL A TOUGH PROBLEM

Parliament Still Wrestling with All Sorts of Amendments.

AMUSEMENTS LEGAL

House Strikes Out Clause Preventing Base Ball and Other Games Where No Admission Fee is Charged—N. B. Judicature Act Gets Third Reading After Opposition Protests.

Ottawa, July 6—The flag question was raised in the commons this morning. Peter Elson criticized the government for not having the flag flying Monday. Mr. Hyman said the flag was flying on Dominion Day. It was not, however, on Monday, which was the second of July.

The New Brunswick Judicature bill was given a third reading, after Dr. Stockton had stated his belief the government was trying to legislate Chief Justice Tuck out of his position. R. L. Borden supported his views.

The prime minister said there was no intention of legislating the chief justice out his place.

On the Sunday observance bill being offered for third reading, Duncan Ross offered an amendment declaring it would not be unlawful to do on Sunday any unavoidable work to save life or property.

W. F. MacLean declared Sunday legislation should be a provincial matter. He advised the holding over of the bill until next session. The matter could then be considered by the provincial conference to be held during the summer.

Mr. Aylesworth said the bill was not a perfect one. He like most of the other members, would have liked to have seen changes in it. However, it was a workable act. It was the duty of the house to make as little objection as possible. He did not favor delay. The bill should be put through now. If when it was put into operation it was found to work badly, it could be easily enough amended at future sessions. Mr. Alysesworth said he was willing to have Mr. Ross' amendment considered again in committee. Mr. Aylesworth said there had been an omission on his part. He had intended to include telegraph and telephone operators among those who were entitled to 24 hours' rest during the week if they were employed on Sunday.

The bill was returned to the committee of the whole. Mr. Ross then offered his amendment, and it was adopted. He then moved another amendment, providing that the compulsory 24 hours' rest should not apply to men regularly employed only eight hours each day. He did this for the benefit of the owners and men of the smelters. The men had obtained an eight hour day after a good dealt of difficulty. They only worked fifty-six hours a week. To compel the smelters to be given 24 hours during the week for eight hours work on Sunday would be bad for the men. The owners of the smelters would compel them to work 24 hours on Sunday.

"Not Time to Say Lord's Prayer"

When the house resumed at 3 o'clock Dr. Black, who was speaking at 1 o'clock in favor of the bill, said that if all the time asked for on Sunday were given to manufacturers, enough of time would not be left to say the Lord's Prayer.

Mr. Borden said it would be an inducement to adopt the eight hour day.

Mr. Guthrie replied that if this was so he would support it as the trade and labor organizations of the country desired it.

Mr. Borden answered that the labor party did not want eight hours for seven days in the week.

Mr. Guthrie accused the leader of the opposition of doing nothing to assist the passage.

Mr. Borden resented this by saying that he was criticising the government, not the bill.

He said that the premier and the leader of the opposition were day after day voting against each other.

Mr. Aylesworth said that the premier and the leader of the opposition only voted against each other on the clause relating to the Jews which was not in the bill to begin with and for which the government was not responsible.

Mr. Fielding pointed out that on the same occasion, Mr. Borden was voting against his own colleagues.

Charge Borden With Obstruction

The leader of the opposition was advertised as vice-president of the Lord's Day Alliance and therefore ought to lend a helping hand instead of throwing obstacles in the way.

Mr. Martin (Wellington) moved an amendment that members of clubs or associations for which a fee was charged could not play games on their grounds on Sunday.

The amendment was carried, 52 for to 42 against.

Mr. Galliher moved an amendment to make it certain that smelting works would be able to carry out works continuously.

Mr. Aylesworth said that this matter was discussed at length already and decided. It was held that the clause contained all that was necessary to carry on the industry as a continuous one.

The adding of the words which Mr. Galliher desired, it was feared, would make Sunday a general repair day.

Mr. Galliher's amendment was defeated.

Mr. Bourassa moved an amendment to prevent the use on Sunday of the beverage of any alcoholic liquors in railway or tramway or steamboats, in railway stations, on streets or any public place.

Mr. Aylesworth said that there was as much need of preventing it on other days of the week as Sunday.

It was voted down.

The bill was reported from committee after which Mr. Aylesworth moved that the bill be referred back to the committee to reject the amendment which was inserted by Mr. Martin regarding golf clubs.

The minister of justice said that the principle of the bill was not to interfere with amusements unless played for gain. The amendment was opposed to golf, cricket, etc. It was opposed to the principle upon which the bill was framed. He appealed to the house to strike out the clause.

Several members of the opposition and Armand Lavergne opposed this. The house divided on the motion which was carried by 79 for to 37 against.

The house then went into committee on the bill.

Mr. Aylesworth said that the clause affected some base ball club throughout the dominion. But the reason for rejecting the amendment was that it was against the principle of the bill.

Mr. Borden said that he did not see the necessity of playing base ball on Sunday although the minister of justice seemed to think so.

Mr. Aylesworth said that the leader of the opposition misinterpreted his remarks and he could not help thinking it was intentional.

The clause was struck out and the bill was reported.

The twenty-four hour rest was extended to telegraph and telephone operators.

STOWAWAYS ON THE DIGBY BOAT

Two Men Handed Over to the Police Yesterday--Rejected by Millman at Tusket.

John Dyce, aged 21, and James Irwin, whose age is given as 18, secreted themselves aboard the Dominion Atlantic steamer Prince Rupert previous to her leaving Digby Friday and it was not until the steamer was out is the bay that they were discovered. Consequently, on arrival here, Capt. Potter handed them over to the police.

The story told by First Officer Lawson of the Prince Rupert, is that the men had been engaged by a North End barber, who is agent here for Richard McGraw, a millman of Tusket (N. S.), to work in the latter's mill. They went from here via D. A. R. on Monday for Tusket. On arrival Mr. McGraw declined to take them as according to First Officer Lawson they did not come up to expectations.

It is then told that they traveled from Tusket to Digby by "easy stages," walking part of the way and riding on trains were possible. On arrival at the latter town they managed to get aboard the steamer. It is said that the railway people are willing to drop the matter, providing the men's fares from Digby are paid. They are looking to those responsible for sending them to make the amount good. Both men are penniless.

FINED FOR TAKING FISH FROM FISHWAY

Case Before Justice Bowes--John Duffy Pleaded Guilty; Fine Allowed to Stand.

For removing fish from the fishway at the Loch Lomond dam John Duffy, of this city, was Friday fined $20 and costs. The case was heard before Justice Bowes, in the parish of Simonds. The defendant pleaded guilty and the fine was allowed to stand.

Justice Bowes heard the case at his residence, Golden Grove Road, at 10 a. m., and on opening the proceedings read the charge that on or about June 9 Mr. Duffy took fish from the fishway. In reply to the usual question the defendant pleaded guilty.

It is understood that Fishery Inspector Johnston, who was present, had two witnesses—David Garnett and Edward Thomas in waiting to be called, and that Mr. Duffy had also two witnesses—T. Brown and S. Black. Owing to the defendant pleading guilty, no sworn testimony was necessary and the justice thereupon imposed the fine of $20 with costs, the former being allowed to stand.

It is said that since the dam has been finished numerous complaints have been made by fishermen that the fish were being illegally taken from the fish-way and from the pool at the head of the structure from which they found their way into Robertson's Lake. There are reports of men going to the spot with sacks and buckets and removing the fish wholesale. The charge heard yesterday was the first action taken in regard to the matter, and it is hoped will have a deterrent effect.

EMPRESS OF IRELAND MADE GOOD TIME ACROSS

Montreal, July 6—The new C. P. R. trans-Atlantic liner the Empress of Ireland arrived at Rimouski today at 4.30 upon her initial voyage. The vessel, although being detained both off Newfoundland and the gulf, made a fast run across.

Regarding her speed the Empress of Ireland demonstrated by her first three days at sea that already she is the fastest steamship in the St. Lawrence route, eclipsing slightly the speed of her sister ship, the Empress of Britain, her runs being 451, 460 and 450 knots respectively.

After landing the English mail the steamer left for Quebec.

BALLAD OF VEGETABLES.

A potato went out on a mash
And sought an onion bed;
"That's pie for me!" observed the squash,
And all the beets turned red.
"Go 'way!" the onion, weeping, cried;
"Your love I cannot be;
The pumpkin be your lawful bride—
You cantaloupe with me."

But onward still the tuber came,
And lay down at her feet;
"You cauliflower by any name
And it will smell as wheat;
And I, too, am an early rose,
And you I've come to see;
So don't turnip your lovely nose,
But spinachat with me."

"I do not carrot all to wed,
So go, sir, if you please,"
The modest onion meekly said,
"And lettuce, pray have peas!
Go, think that you have never seen
Myself, or smelled my sigh;
Too long a maiden I have been
For favors in your rye!"

"Ah, spare a cuss?" the tuber prayed;
"My cherryshed bride you'll be;
You are the only weeping maid
That's currant now with me?"
And as the wily tuber spoke
He caught her by surprise,
And giving her an artichoke,
Devoured her with his eyes.

Of course, six weeks' calculation cannot be depended on implicitly." Mr. Golden estimates it will take 25,000 men to garner the harvest. Last year there were 17,000 from Ontario and the west, and he thinks the acreage and yield are sufficiently increased to require 8,000 more hands.

WOODSTOCK SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSED

Woodstock, N. B., July 6—The Summer School for Sunday School Workers, which opened on Sunday, July 1, closed tonight. Dr. Falconer delivered the closing address of his series on the Gospel and the Life of Christ. He took us to the raising of Lazarus and led us through the eventful days that followed—eventful, for they saw the gathering clouds of sadducean opposition which were soon to break in fury on His head. The sorrow of the Saviour deepens. He weeps for His people. The Jews would not have Him, and so the city must fall. To the Jewish mind the destruction of Jerusalem meant the end of the world. It was believed that God had no more to do with the world with them, His chosen people, gone.

Jesus must teach His disciples that after the fall of Jerusalem and Judaism there will still be much to do. But they must suffer. Outward suffering often causes apostasy, and He tries to steel them to faithful endurance. They must not become involved in the politics of the Jews. Christianity is to pass out from Judaism and become a world religion. The wreck of the Jewish nation will be but the breaking of the bonds that might narrow the religion of Christ to a mere national cult. Jesus had only rebuke for speculation as to the end of the world. Let men spend their energy on something else. He looked out in optimistic faith to the victory of His kingdom over the world. In the trying week preceding His death, He speaks to His disconsolate disciples. They must not lose faith in Him. They must trust. They must love one another in their time of waiting. He will come back to them. His spirit will come to lead them into all truth. The past has not all the truth. The church may expect to grow and know more as the years go by. In His resurrection Christ has given the supreme pledge of His victory. He lives, not as a mere influence, but a living, loving presence to be with His people always even unto the end of the world.

The school has been a decided success. Those who have been in attendance have no hesitation in stating that it stands alone compared with anything of its kind that has been held in this part of the province.

The interest never once flagged, but rather increased as the days went on. Those who have attended, and several of them have come a long way, return to their homes with new inspiration, thoroughly delighted with the profitable time they have spent at the school.

O. G. T., with reference to organizing a Kings county branch of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation.

A resolution was passed expressing the sympathy of the district division with the friends and relatives of Jacob I. Kierstead, P. G. W. A., who had died since the last division and many expressions of the appreciation of the temperance work done for so many years by him were heard.

In the evening a well attended public meeting was held and was addressed by Messrs. Z. Gaunce, Kerr, J. W. Chapman, Francis Kierstead and Grand Scribe Edward A. Everett.
