STEINWAY,

The Ideal of the World.

The piano by which all other pianos are judged and found wanting. It is not a matter of chance that has placed the Steinway piano foremost among all nations of the earth. It is the inventive genius of Steinway & Sons, carried out by workmen who are artists, working with materials of higher grade than employed in any other pianos. Prices and terms arranged to suit customers.

Send a postcard or call and get our printed lists of some of the finest and most fertile farms in Western Ontario, "the Garden of Canada," which we have on hand for sale or exchange. These lists give full description of the farms, their size, location, price, etc. These farms can be obtained at fair prices and on reasonable terms; interest from 4 to 5 per cent. Make your selections of the farms which you think will suit you from our lists, and see them as soon as the snow goes off the ground.

Those having farms for sale will find it to their advantage to put them in our hands right away. We intend placing these lists in the hands of more than 20,000 people before the 1st of March, 1902. Over 100 farms have been sold off our list during the year 1901, and we expect to sell a great many more than that number during the year 1902.

GREAT LOSS BY STORMS

Every Cannery on the Fraser River Is Damaged,

And Several of Them Have Been Entirely Demolished.

Serious Effects of Gales in Other Sections—Nine Vessels Missing From One Port.

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 27.—It is estimated that nearly a million dollars' worth of damage has been done by storms along the Fraser River. Sea and Lulu Islands are reclaimed farm lands, and are bordered by canneries. The violence of the wind and waves broke the dykes, and the water rushed over the islands, covering them with four feet of water. Houses were swept into the raging flood, and those that remained standing were flooded to the top windows in many cases. boats have to be used entirely.

The North Arm, Alliance, and Labrador Canneries were demolished, and every cannery on the River Fraser was more or less damaged. Stacked crops were destroyed over a wide area, and the Cleve Canning Company's station, a very large concern, with a cold storage plant adjoining, was swept away.

All wires being down, the new is coming meagrely, but the total loss by the storm on the Canadian Pacific coast to shipping, buildings, crops and dykes is said to be fully a million dollars.

So fierce was the storm that British Columbia was cut off from the United States to the south for two days, and will be cut off from Victoria for one week, as the cable is torn up at both ends.

IMMENSE DAMAGE OCCASIONED IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

St. Johns, Nfld., Dec. 27.—Furious gales swept the coast of Newfoundland last night and wrought much destruction among the shipping and fishing properties at Bay of Islands, Newfoundland, where several American vessels were seeking cargoes of herring.

At Placentia, on the west coast, the fishing boats suffered great damage, and the wharves and water-front buildings were destroyed. It is feared that the seas will inundate the entire hamlet. Both the breakwater and the railroad pier have been partly demolished.

AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 27.—A violent rain and wind storm is in progress here tonight. The streets are blocked with snow and the Tramway Company had to abandon the service on all but the main line. The Spanish steamer Ballesteros, from Bilboa, Spain, for Philadelphia, with a cargo of iron, went ashore at Meteghan, on the coast of St. Mary's Bay, during the storm this afternoon. The steamer is lying in a dangerous position. The steamer is 1,581 tons net.

NINE VESSELS MISSING.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 28.—The saddest story of marine disaster in the history of the North Pacific is expected by local marine men from Clallam Bay. The fate of nine vessels caught by the Christmas storm in that body of water is not known. Old mariners say that one or all may be lost. Sound tugs have gone on the lookout for these crafts.

These vessels are: American ship William H. Macy, American ship Banalore, British ship Oweenee, British ship Ivema, American barkentine Katy Flakinger, American bark Carleton, three American schooners, names unknown.

All were seen at anchor in Clallam Bay Christmas Day, and none of them is known to have left before the storm broke. That no vessel caught in the bay during the storm could have escaped is the opinion of marine men.

GREAT HAVOC.

Port Townsend, Wash., Dec. 28.—Reports of havoc brought by the storm down the straights are being brought in by boats and confirm the first reports of disaster to shipping, with the exception of the ship Packard which, according to reports brought here by the steamer North Pacific, is not ashore on Trial Island, but, after dragging from her anchorage in Royal Roads, brought up near the entrance to Victoria harbor. She is not in immediate danger unless another storm should come up.

The schooner Minnie A. Caine is high and dry on the north side of Smith Island.

The British bark Bankburn is reported missing. She was anchored in the Royal Roads, and her captain, who was ashore when the storm came up, was unable to get aboard. During the night the bark broke from her anchorage and nothing has been heard from her since.

LOSS OF LIFE.

New Whatcom, Wash., Dec. 28.—The storm of Thursday wrought great damage to property along the water front here. J. B. Leonhard was drowned while attempting to take a sailboat to shelter. A large portion of the Great Northern's new water front, south of this city, was destroyed by the action of the waves.

THE SHINARO MARU.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 28.—The Japanese steamer Shinaro Maru, which returned to Port Townsend with her cargo on fire, has arrived here. Her 107 passengers have been landed, and her hold has been filled with water. When the fire was discovered steam was forced into the hold, which kept the fire in check. It has been found that the fire made little progress. Capt. Cope thinks that most of the cargo can be saved.
